Mr. McCallum, speaking to a Belleville service club Tuesday, said, "One reason the CNE does not hire Canadians to headline the grandstand show is that established radio and television stars are afraid to work in front of a live audience and possibly destroy what they have built up on radio and TV."

He referred to two of Canada's highest paid radio comedians who "laughed at us when they were approached to headline the grandstand show."

London Traffic

LONDON (CP)—London's traffic system was praised by 34 German road engineers here to study British road-building methods. "It says much for a city that was planned more than 200 years ago," said Ortwin Berghaus, city engineer of Bremerhaven.

Janet Gaynor Takes Another Fling At Acting

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Janet Gaynor, who won the first Academy Award for an actress, is taking another fling at acting. But she says it won't become a habit.

Tonight Miss Gaynor does her second television drama, enacting the role of a mother on Lux Video Theatre. When I saw her before rehearsals at CBS, she seemed excited over the role.

"It's fun to do a part that is intriguing," she remarked. "But I don't plan any full-scale return to acting. After all, I've had my share of the acting life. From now on anything I do will be for pleasure alone. I have no ambition to resume my career."

This is actually Miss Gaynor's third return to acting since she did her last film, "Young in Heart," in 1938. (It now is playing on TV.) A few years ago, she joined her long-time co-star, Charles Farrell, in their classic "Seventh Heaven" over Lux Radio. Recently she did her first TV drama over Medallion Theatre in New York.

LETTERS POURED IN

Both those shows drew an amazing mail reaction. Fan letters numbered 10 times the usual amount.

Miss Gaynor has a solid appeal for those in their 30s and over, who remember her winsome performances in the '20s and '30s. She rose rapidly to fame in Hollywood, winning the Oscar in 1928. She was chosen not for one role, as is the custom today, but for three films: "Seventh Heaven," "Sunrise" and "Street Angel."

She, Will Rogers and Shirley Temple kept the old Fox lot from bankruptcy in the early '30s. After such hits as "Sunny Side Up," "The First Year" and State Fair," she moved to the David Selznick banner. One of her last films was the classic "A Star is Born." In 1938, she disappeared from the screen.

"I never announced that I was retiring or anything like that," she recalled. "I simply moved into another phase of my life. My husband (designer Gilbert Adrian) was tremendously busy, and I felt I should help him. I was perfectly content to be a wife and mother." They have a son, 13.

She still has the freckle-faced beauty and baby voice of her movie days. I asked her how she managed to maintain her youth.

"I don't have any formula," she replied, "unless it's to keep interested."

Eager Helper

LONDON (CP)—Janice Watson, 6, ran to the aid of Mrs. Ellen Fry, 32, locked out of her apartment. Janice put her arm through the letter-box to open the door from the inside—and got stuck. Firemen released her.

HOW A&P HELPS YOU LOWER YOUR FOOD BILL

A&P

1 By saving you money on scores of necessary items every day — instead of on just a few "specials" occasionally.

2 By passing all price reductions on to you promptly — instead of waiting until supplies on hand are exhausted.

3 By reducing prices whenever possible on the foods for which most people spend most — meats and fruits and vegetables.

4 By pricing the dozens of fine products made by — or expressly for — A & P lower than other brands of comparable quality.

Alleged Collaborator Now Citizen

OTTAWA — (CP) — A former French national accused of being an inspector in Hitler's storm troops during the Second World War has been granted Canadian citizenship.

The information was contained in a return tabled Wednesday in the Commons by Citizenship Minister Harris for Alistair Stewart (CCF—Winnipeg North).

The return said Canadian citizenship has been granted to Dr. Michel Seigneur, who was convicted by a French court of collaborating with the Germans and sentenced to death in absentia.

Mr. Stewart charges that Seigneur during the last war was an inspector of the Waffen S.S., the German storm troopers or Blackshirts.

To Bar Operations

COPENHAGEN (AP)—A justice ministry spokesman said Wednesday Denmark intends to bar any more Americans coming to this country for sex operations. His statement was prompted by a dispatch from San Francisco Tuesday reporting a decision of John Breckinridge, a 50-year-old millionaire, to visit Denmark in August "to be transformed into Catherine Cabell."

ADDRESSES CONGRESS — In an historic address, Governor-General Vincent Massey speaks to a joint session of the United States Congress. It was the first address delivered by a Canadian governor-general in the Washington legislative chamber in 17 years. He received a standing ovation after telling Congress the U.S. can depend on Canadians as faithful comrades and friends. Seated behind him are Vice-President Richard Nixon (left) and speaker Joseph Martin.—(CP from AP).

New Commander Pays Visit To Legion Branch

He spoke to the members, reminding them of the aims and objects of the Legion and the duties of every comrade in carrying out the pledge made in the initiation oath. He also reported on the progress of the membership drive, which appears to be attaining the desired result and should by the end of the year increase the strength and speaking voice of the Legion considerably.

The district meeting is being held this year in Belleville on May 23, and Commander Broughton requested that all members who could, attend. There would be a number of important resolutions being brought up, and for their own benefit, the Comrades should hear these first-hand.

During the business portion of the meeting, it was decided that the branch would assist the Salvation Army in their "Blitz" campaign on Thursday, and volunteers were asked for.

On Friday evening, an effort will be made to clean up the grounds around the Legion hall, and hoses, rakes, shavels and wheelbarrows will be needed to make the premises as presentable as they should be.

Fred Merritt was elected to the executive, and will now be in a position to give his advice on many of the jobs that are required to keep the hall in first class condition. Mr Merritt is a maintenance man.

George Bibby reported for the sports committee, covering the activities of the winter months. The bowling team did not bring home the provincial championship, but they made a creditable showing for Campbellford. The Trent Valley Cribbage Trophy, donated by Molsons, has been engraved and is now in the possession of the branch for 1954. Mr. Bibby has spent a great deal of time in looking after the various sports events during the winter, and a hearty vote of thanks was given in appreciation of his efforts.

Reserve Decision In Case Of Libel Against Paper

WINNIPEG (CP)—Decision has been reserved in a civil action for libel and defamation brought by a Winnipeg man and his wife against the Winnipeg Tribune in connection with its publication of a picture of their daughter which had been provided by the Community Chest.

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Dennis said they felt an accompanying article gave the impression the child was a delinquent and was neglected. They asked unstated damages.

The child was not identified in the newspaper, which denied the charges.

A Community Chest official said the child was photographed as a typical Winnipeg youngster at Children's Hospital, an organization helped by the Chest. The photographer was not connected with the newspaper. The picture was provided to the newspaper with story suggestions intended to spur donations to the Chest.

SAYS HORRIBLE

L. St. George Stubbs, the parents' counsel, said the story was horrible and the picture published with it connected the child with the story. He said it was agreed the Tribune did not deliberately and maliciously defame the family.

"We are not claiming malice in fact, but malice in law," he said.

Defence counsel G. S. Thorvaldson said anyone but a careless reader would know the article could not refer to the girl in the photograph. He said it would be unfair to base libel actions against newspapers on what careless readers thought.

Mission Band Meets

KEENE (ENS)—The United Church Mission Band met Saturday in the basement of the church, with 35 members present.

Gayle Anderson led in prayer and the Worship Service opened by repeating the Purpose Pledge. The inseparable twins were Arlene Short and Betty Godfrey. The scripture reading, Mark 6, verses 34-44, was given by Betty Godfrey. Wesley Irwin and Julie Nelson dedicated the offering and Mrs. Roy Richardson gave the study book.

Ask Europe Relax Ban On Imports

PARIS (Reuters)—Canadian and American finance and trade experts Wednesday called on European countries to relax their restrictions on imports from the dollar area.

Speaking to the Organization for European Economic Co-operation, Canadian delegate Dana Wilgress pointed out that countries which recently removed quantitative restrictions on dollar imports found that imports from the dollar area had not gone up appreciably, and in some cases had gone down.

Harold Stassen, U.S. foreign operations administrator, said continued stringent restrictions on dollar imports could hardly be justified "given the present and prospective rate of increase in European gold and dollar reserves."

Railroad Thefts High

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's nationalized railroads have lost more than $50,000,000 worth goods through theft and pilfering since the government took them over in 1948, a House of Commons committee was told Wednesday.

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS
by Byrne Hope Sanders

MONTREAL, May 6th—D'you like facts about the household needs you buy—so that you can use them more effectively? I do! For instance . . . O-CEDAR DOUBLE ACTION CREAM POLISH is labelled "Double Action" for a very definite reason. Not only does O-CEDAR Cream Polish clean as it polishes, but better still, it removes both kinds of dirt. . . . There are two, you know, one can only be removed with water, and the other only with oil. Truly it's right to be called the "Cleaner-Polish". Excellent for dark or light furniture, woodwork, porcelain and baked enamel. . . . Won't dry white! Ask for the special offer . . . a large economy bottle of O-CEDAR Cream Polish with a velvety-soft dust-cloth for 79c. Regular value, $1.00.

It's A Magic Symbol—So Make A Note Of It: REX EQ-53 is a new, wonder-working liquid chemical which safely and effectively moth proofs woolens while they're in the wash! This spring, just add a few spoonfuls of Rex EQ-53 to the water in tub or washing machine and washable woolens like sweaters, blankets, etc., will be protected against every insect pest for a year or more. If the garments aren't washable the answer's almost as easy. Get a FLY-TOX MOTH PROOFER. This handy, push-button Aerosol spreads a fine, protective film over furs, overcoats, etc., completely preventing moth damage for months to come! Both products are available at drug and department stores.

That Swagger Look which the smartest sports clothes have, is due to perfection in line and finish. And that perfection can be yours with the flawless LIGHTNING SLIDE FASTENER . . . that's why it's the long-time favourite of designers and home-sewers alike. Lightning Fasteners are as flexible as your fabric—and as inconspicuous as a seam. The vigorous life you live in sports clothes makes the famed double prong automatic lock—found in all Lightning Fasteners — specially important! It glides smoothly at the touch of your finger—yet is absolutely slip-proof. You'll find Lightning Fasteners in colours to match your smartest golf skirts or slacks—or any sports wear. Decorator's Colors—those lovely, muted shades which match your curtains and rugs so perfectly — can be yours, so easily with All-fabric TINTEX. For there are 36 colors in which you may buy Tintex—from the most exquisite, pastel tints, to rich tones that will delight you. Smart women are using Tintex for bringing new life to their wardrobe (blouses — scarves—gloves—frocks). For tinting unpainted furniture. (Fascinating to do!) For preparing a summer-fresh wardrobe from last year's tired dresses. Regular package 15c — The economy size — containing twice as much—25c. Bring spring's colors indoors—with Tintex!

If You Haven't Used Laundry Blue in your rinse water lately, your white wash has probably taken on a yellow tinge that you may be the last to notice. No matter what you may have heard to the contrary, your white wash will be its whitest when you use Laundry Blue. Soaps and detergents — regardless of colour—take dirt out. Bleach takes out stain. But Laundry Blue makes your wash really white. Try it in your next wash. It's easy to use, and it costs less than two cents a wash. It does white wonders for white clothes.

Plan To Build Curling Rink In Cobourg

COBOURG (ENS)—Cobourg curling fans are going to have regular curling for the first time in many years. Back in the days long ago when winters were cold here, ice for curling could be depended on; but in recent years the curlers never knew when the weather would moderate and ruin the ice.

Now they are going to build a new rink beside the recreational centre so they can use the ice-making plant of the arena. A letter to town council advised the members of the intentions of the curling club and asked permission to build. The communication was referred to the recreation centre board by council Tuesday night.

The town just about broke even with the department of highways in regard to road work.

A communication from the department announced it would pay subsidy on only $55,000 in 1954, the road bylaw passed by the town being for $62,000. However, another letter from the department stated that a cheque for $6,732.22 was being forwarded to the town, covering the overexpenditure in 1953.

PLAYGROUNDS

Councillor Roy Dodge asked if the matter of adequate playgrounds was being kept in mind in planning housing subdivisions. Mayor Jack Burnet replied council was not forgetting the playgrounds.

The new housing areas in the west end of the town were not large enough as yet to contain playgrounds, and anyway there was plenty of land up there for that purpose when the need arose, the mayor said.

Council gave three readings to a bylaw to authorize the construction of a 12-inch sewer up Division St. to Elgin and a six-inch main from Elgin out White St., total cost to be $30,000, financed under the Local Improvement Act.

Board Calls Tenders For School Addition

COBOURG (ENS). — Tenders will be called within a week for the addition to the east-end public school, it was decided at Tuesday night's meeting of the school board.

The $70.000 addition follows within a year the completion of the east-end school. Growth of the town, particularly by the influx of personnel for the ordnance depot, made the new school too small.

Four more classrooms are being added. This will enable one class to be moved from the basement of the central public school and the manual training class will again be able to move back into the basement. Three more teachers will be engaged for the new classrooms.

MAY DAY—Telephone linemen labor to maintain service as Denver, Colo., gets a snowstorm out of the grab bag of bad weather which plagued the nation in the first week of May.

Mrs. John Meier

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS).—Funeral services were conducted here on Tuesday afternoon for the former Emily Kunz, widow of John Meier, who had been in failing health for several months. She was 73.

A native of Switzerland, Mr. Meier came to Campbellford in 1927, and Mrs. Meier followed in 1929. Her son, Jack, also came over at that time. Another son, Hans, came to Canada in 1939, and for the past number of years, has lived in Denver, Colorado. Her two sons, Jack of Campbellford, and Hans of Denver, survive. Mrs. Meier also has two half-sisters in Switzerland.

She was a member of St. John's United church.

The Rev. Dr. D. M. Smith of St John's United church conducted funeral services from the Bennett funeral home on Frank St Pallbearers were Ralph Nuttall, Keith Bailey, Victor Hay, Claude Fairman, Mel McKeown and Mort Sayers. Flower-bearers were Cecil Hopkins, Loyal Chrysler, William and Richard Vandervil.

Among those attending the fueral were Mrs. Knopfel and Mr. and Mrs. William Sutter of Toronto. Burial was in Mount Pleasant cemetery.

20-Ton Piece Of Glass

CORNING, N. Y. (AP)—The Corning Glass Works has on display at its museum what it says is the largest single piece of glass in the world. The glass—a round, experimental casting of a mirror to be used in the Mount Palomar, Calif., observatory telescope—is 10 feet in diamater, more than a foot thick and weighs 20 tons.

Van Fleet In Korea

SEOUL (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet arrived today on a tour to assess United States military aid to South Korea, Japan and Nationalist China. The former U.S. 8th Army commander was greeted at the airport by scores of dignitaries, including President Syngman Rhee, and 150,000 cheering Koreans lined the road to Seoul to welcome Van Fleet.

Brothers Die

GUELPH (CP) —Two brothers who had worked most of their lives together as iron-moulders died 11 hours apart in hospital Tuesday. They were Andrew Fulton, 65, and Charles Fulton, 63. Both were married.

Stories Conflict Revolution Details

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Paraguay was blanketed today under official silence, but unofficial reports trickled out to Argentina that army elements have staged a revolt against President Federico Chaves' regime. It still is not clear who holds control.

Government radio stations in Asuncion, the Paraguayan capital, remained off the air, but private sources gave varying accounts of the revolt which apparently broke out Wednesday.

A private radio station said loyal government forces succeeded in quelling the revolt. It added that police chief L. Petit was killed in the fighting.

SAY CAPITAL TAKEN

An account from Clorinda, on the Argentine side of the Paraguayan border across from Asuncion, said the insurgents had taken the capital, and Chaves and his ministers had taken refuge in Asuncion's military academy after the rebels seized control of communications.

The Clorinda report said the rebels had set up a three-man government in the capital.

Other reports said several government leaders were killed in Wednesday's fighting, including Gen., Alfredo Stroesner, commander of Paraguay's armed forces.

These reports said a cavalry division, about 500 men, had sparked the revolt and that loyal troops and police had rallied to Chaves' defence.

Paraguay had enjoyed relative calm since 1950, but there were recent reports of harsh government measures against political opponents.

Move To Prevent Riots

MADRID (Reuters)—The Spanish government has instructed university authorities to prevent any possible student demonstrations against Queen Elizabeth's visit to Gibraltar Monday, reliable sources said Wednesday night.

Hockey Rears Head At Geneva Parley

BY ALAN HARVEY

GENEVA (CP) — Hockey has reared its head at the Geneva conference on Far East problems.

The Canadian delegation Wednesday received a query about artificial ice conditions in Moscow, and promptly tossed it back to London.

The query came from Conn Smythe, boss of the Toronto Maple Leafs. Smythe, now in London wants to arrange a match between his National Hockey League team and the best club in Moscow.

It is expected Canadian diplomats in London will pass on the question to the Canadian embassy in Moscow.

"I think you can take it for granted that hockey is not likely to find a place on the agenda at Geneva," a spokesman here said.

Fears Loophole In New Code

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator Salter Hayden (L—Ontario) Wednesday suggested that the proposed new Criminal Code may have a loophole through which a person could commit sabotage and be prosecuted only for the less serious crime of breach of contract.

The 58-year-old Toronto lawyer urged the Senate to consider carefully the situation created by insertion in the Commons of "saving" clauses in the proposed code. Senator Hayden explained the changes made by the Commons to wording suggested by the Senate in previous sessions.

He said he sees no objection to a clause exempting from prosecution for breach of contract union members who strike after complying with all legal requirements for settlement of industrial disputes. Maximum penalty for breach of contract is five years in prison.

However, he said, a different type of "saving" clause was inserted in sections concerning sabotage and committing a mischief. There were objections to these.

OTTAWA (CP)—Howard Green (PC — Vancouver - Quadra) said Wednesday the external affairs department is trying to keep up with the Joneses in construction of Canadian missions abroad.

He asked in the Commons external affairs committee how the department could justify proposed expenditure of almost $600,000 for an ambassador's residence in Rome.

R. M. Macdonnell, assistant deputy minister for external affairs, said the department is considering alternatives such as renovation of an existing residence already on the property purchased by Canada for $186,000. Renovation might save $300,000.

GIVE TAXPAYER BREAK

"I suggest you give the taxpayer a break and use the alternative," Mr. Green said.

Mr. Macdonnell said the department is not engaged in any competition with other countries to build the finest or biggest embassies.

Michael Starr (PC—Ontario) said the sites for embassies cost a terrific amount.

Mr. Macdonnell said property values in many places are a great deal higher than in Canada, either for renting or purchase.

Plan Evening Tea

Arrangements for a Candle Light Tea to be held on the evening of June 2nd in Mark Street church parlor were made by the Baby Band Mothers of the church at their meeting Wednesday evening. It will be under the convernership of Mrs. Keith Brown. President Mrs. H. Hamley presided for business. Mrs. K. Sheeran gave a chapter of the study book and devotions were in charge of Mrs. E. Manley and her group. Guest speaker was Miss E. Phyllis Braund, florist, who demonstrated arrangement of flowers for table centres and also for hospital bouquets and corsages. At the conclusion she gave the flowers to several of the mothers. Lunch was served during a social hour following by Mrs. B. [illegible], Mrs. E. Aitchison, Mrs. D. Tom, Mrs. E. Manley, Mrs. W. Beggs and Mrs. W. Parnell.

Complete Bale

Announcement that the supply bale allocation is completed was made at the Helen Roger Evening Auxiliary meeting in Knox church parlor Monday. President Mrs. Don Richardson was presiding. Mrs. J. Wright reported on the Bible Society. Appointment of Mrs. E. Pearse as third vice-president and Mrs. J. Newmaster as Christian stewardship and fiance secretary was made. Mrs. Ray Gillies, Baby Band superintendent, advised of a picnic supper to be held on June 7th to which mothers and children will be invited. Mrs. E. Tape had charge of worship and was assisted by Mrs. Gillies. The theme was "A church in their house." Study chapter was taken by Mrs. Charles Ross with Mrs. Wright assisting, and took the form of a dialougue between Mrs. U.S.A. and Mrs. Canada with "Our own back yard" as the topic. A social time concluded the evening.

Tea At School

An informal afternoon tea was held Wednesday in the kindergarten room at King George School when the Home and School Association executive had as guests teachers and room mothers to whom they wished to extend thanks for co-operation throughout the past year. President Mrs. Hugh Morrison and Mrs. E. Bradshaw received at the door. The tea was convened by Mrs. R. Hayden and Mrs. E. Aitchison assisted by Mrs. H. Mesley and Mrs. F. Darwin. The lace-covered tea table was most attractive with yellow candles beside a bouquet of gay spring flowers.

Men's Club Entertains

The Men's Breakfast Club of St. Luke's Anglican church entertained members of the Church Year Wednesday evening with a very enjoyable program in the parish hall. Mr. Woody Roberts was commentator for the highlight event, fashion show with gentlemen modelling women's fashions of "today and yesterday". The models were Bob Harvey, Fred Darwin, Milt Mesley, Don McIntyre, Rollie Krant and Tom Gracie. Piano accordian duets and solos were given by Misses Shirley Hubbard and Rose Marie DeCarlo and the Peterborough Barbershop Quartette and the Note Wits pleased with various selections. Several comedy skits were put on by men of the breakfast club. The master of ceremonies was Mr. George Meade. Mrs. R. Harvey thanked the club on behalf of the guests and then refreshments provided by her and her assistants for the month of May were served by the men.

Meet At Leader's Home

Miss Jessie Schaffer, Elias Avenue, was hostess Wednesday afternoon to Group Six of the WMS of George Street church. Miss Shaffer is leader and presided for the opening exercises and business. The program had Motherhood as the theme and some lovely thoughts were given in answer to roll call by 15 members. Mrs. E. Shaw gave an interesting paper on christian stewardship and Mrs. King read the scripture lesson. Mrs. F. Horton's reading was titled "To our Mothers." An article printed in the Missionary Monthly by Miss Jean Sheppard, member of the George Street church attending training school, was read by Miss Shaffer. Two chapters of the study book titled "The Widening Circle" and "The low Ceiling" were presented by Mrs. S. Ward. Mrs. W. K. McGee gave a reading on "Building a personality." Mrs. A. Fitzgerald, finance convener, invited the members to her home at 283 King Street for the June meeting. Dainty refreshments were served by hostess, who was told of the ladies' appreciation by Mrs. Horton.

Show Keen Interest

Annual meeting of the Mary Nicholl's Mission Circle of Murray St. Baptist church was held Tuesday evening in the church parlors. Good attendance gave evidence of the interest in the very fine reports presented by the officers and group leaders. Average attendance at the monthly meetings was 42 and home and hospital calls made by members totaled 542. The financial statement showed an increase, with $1,486.57 given for the work carcarried on by the Baptist Women's Missionary Society of Ontario and Quebec. Miss E. Garbutt read the report of the nominating committee and Mrs. H. H. Graham presided during the installation of the incoming executive. Mrs. S. Malsch was re-elected president. Other officers are Mrs. J. D. Dayton, first vice-president; Miss I. Scott, second vice-president; Mrs. H. Welch, treasurer; Mrs. G. H. Frise, secretary. Refreshments were served by the members of group five at the conclusion of the meeting.

Play Teaches Alcohol Effect

Nettie McKenzie Mission Band meeting at Knox Church on Wednesday was attended by 23 members and 3 visitors. The children enjoyed a period of handwork before the opening exercises. Mrs. C. Ross reported to them on the mission band rally held at Trinity Church last Saturday. They were reminded of their invitation to a picnic given by the WMS, to be held on June 7th. A play titled "Firewater" which taught the harmful and dangerous effect of alcoholic beverages was presented by Richard James, Billie Henley, David MacMillan, Dennis Genge and Wallace McCracken. Mrs. Ros conducted their worship period with Mrs. Don Richardson assisting at the piano. Linda Shadgett and Donna Curtis were work and worship twins, and read Bible verses and took the offering. There was also a reminder that penny gift boxes are to be returned on the day of the picnic. John Douglas and Sharon Burkholder were appointed the inseparable twins for the May 18th meeting. Each child was given a copy of the paper, World Friends.

Buy Tent For Scouts

St. John's Cub and Scout Auxiliary met Wednesday with 14 members present. Two new members were welcomed by president Mrs. B. Baker A tent has been purchased for the Scouts for their forthcoming week-end trip to Ganaraska and other Cub-Scout Camping trips. Mrs. F. G. Ongley gave the report on the Scout activities for the month, and Mrs. H. Lewis gave the Cub report. Scouts are holding parents' night on May 21st when the auxiliary will serve refreshments.

The annual picnic is to be held on June 2nd at St. John's with all auxiliaries invited to participate. The fall tea was planned for September with Mrs. R. Irwin to be convener. Mrs. A. Fort gave an interesting reading on the skills of tying knots, with mothers demonstrating. Those taking part were Mrs. S. Lake explaining the reef knot, Mrs. Sargent the sheet bend, Mrs. F. Ford the bow-line, Mrs. F. Willison the clove hitch, Mrs. B. Baker the sheep-shank, and Mrs. W. Gunn the round turn and two half hitches. Lunch was served by social convener Mrs. A. Barber assisted by Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Irwin.

Daughters Attend H & S Tea With Mothers

Mothers and daughters, with possibly more daughters than mothers, were both tea guests of the Home and School Association at Confederation School on Wednesday afternoon. It was the annual Mother and Daughter Tea of the Association and was pleasingly convened by Mrs. Clarence Porter.

The mothers' tea room was attractive with a table set with dainty, pink and white sweet peas in a silver basket at the centre and trios of pink, mauve and green candles in silver candelabra at the sides and it was covered with a very handsome handdone cutwork cloth.

Tea pourers were married lady teachers, including the very recently wed Mrs. Howard Hempstead to whom a cup and saucer was presented in honor of the event. The others were Mrs. E. Campbell, Mrs. H. Morrow and Mrs. C McIntyre.

The other lady teachers, Misses O. Johnson, E. Garbutt, E. Carroll, R. Parker and O. Day, were serving the guests.

Principal Mr. Jack Nicholls made himself useful in the children's tea room by showing them a film. Girls from his room looking after the small guests were Mary Curtis, Patricia Anderson, Shirley Sutton, Aileen Carrol, Carol Ann Moore, Karen Wood, Audrey Tripp, Leslie Williams, Carol Gallogher, Betty Wicks, Helen Brooks, Ethel Baird, Diane Martin, Beverley Wilson and Silvia Waldie.

Serving sandwiches and fruit juice to the children were Mrs. Jack Wineberg, Mrs. C. Beatty and Mrs A. Watkins.

Mrs. Don Wood was the tea room hostess and other ladies assisting with the tea were Mrs. W. H. Powell and Mrs. J. Grierson.

President Mrs. Harvey Sutton received at the door, and was assisted by Mrs. Jack Nicholls and Mrs. Vert Reynolds, president of Home and School Council, in turn. Mrs. Leslie Moore was taking tickets.

A bake table in the hallway was in charge of Mrs. W. Darby and Mrs. W. Dawson and a candy table by Mrs. J. Rexe and Mrs. W. Warren.

Mission Bands Attend Rally

About 200 members of Mission Bands of Peterborough Presbytery of the United Church met in Trinity Church Hall last Saturday for their spring rally. An opening period of quiet music soothed restless spirits. Mrs. M. McIndoo, Presbyterial secretay of Mission Bands, led into a reverent attitude with her call to worship and wise choice of children's hymns. Mrs. A. E. Metcalf, WMS Presbyterial president, brought greetings from the "Mother Auxiliary."

Worship service was in charge of Fairview, a Band only a year old. Helen Kimball, Marilyn Heard, Sandra Farthing Faye Sharpe, Jean Lewis, Aileen Mann, Jean Junell and Shirley Sharpe ably led in singing, prayer, and Bible reading, and Mrs. Carmen Bell told a story.

Roll call by Mrs. Ross of Knox Church show a good representation from most bands.

An interesting review of the study book, "The Round Window," was given by George St. Band. Mrs. C. E. Potts introduced characters of a number of stories, each in his native costume.

"A Cure for Homesickness," was played by Mark St. Band under the direction of Mrs. Harry Green, clearly illustrating the title.

Lorne Hooton of Fairmount Band thanked all who helped make the afternoon pleasant and enjoyable.

190 Children In YW Review

One hundred and ninety children who have been attending classes in the YWCA gym this past season will be giving a review of the work covered this Friday evening in the Brock Ballroom.

A circus theme has been developed for them by gym director Miss Bea Pelsis, and they are going on stage in the guise of all sorts of animals, including the kings of the jungle, lions and leopards. They are also going to have a commanding ringmaster—big, tall George Ludgate of the radio station staff.

Hula dancers and magicians have also been worked in to complete the circus atmosphere.

The 190 costumes were designed by Miss Pelsis and all were cut out at the Y, then issued to the parents with instructions for making up.

Guest performers from the Bluestone School of Dancing in Port Hope are to entertain during the evening.

ST. ANNE'S SCHOOL

St Anne's Parent-Teacher Association met in the school auditorium Monday evening with president Mr. Gordon Burns in the chair. Correspondence was read by secretary Mrs. Harry Bartlett and Mrs. Albert Laton read the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Frank McCarthy spoke on behalf of the Red Cross gamma globulin clinic for polio which is being held May 18th at the Legion Hall and asked for donors to assist the Red Cross in this project.

Chairman of the nominating committee, Mr. Frank Hickey, announced candidates for next season's executive.

Feature of the evening was a humorous play presented by the Sacred Heart Dramatic Club. Parts were capably taken by Mr. Neil Collins, Mrs. Mary Marytn, Mrs. Vic McDougall, Mr. Joe Slattery, Miss Maureen Masterson, Mrs. Mary Flynn, Mr. Tom Murray, Mr. John Davidson and Mrs. Frankie Collins.

The Sacred Heart triple trio directed by Mr. Heribert Michel favoured with three selections during the first intermission. There was also a piano duet by Miss Suzanne Martyn and Mr. Michel.

Mr. Edgar Boland extended a vote of thanks to the Dramatic Club for their splendid performance.

Attendance prizes were won by Miss Sheehy's room, grade 1B and Mrs. Moore's room, grades II and III.

Lunch was served in the kindergarten by Messrs. Frank Hickey, Gordon Burns, Harry Bartlett, Gerard Primeau, John Russelle, Chas. Hartnett, Walter Smith. Convener of the lunch comittee is Mrs. W. B. Smith.

Mother's Day Tea Held By Rebekahs

A Mother's Day Tea is an annual event on the social calendar of the Golden Link Rebekah Lodge of Peterborough and it was held on Wednesday afternoon in the Oddfellows' Hall, Water street.

Colors of the lodge, pastel pink and green, keynoted the decoration of the tea table with flowers and candles, with the setting enhanced by a centre reflector on the beautiful tea cloth of handcrocheted lace medallions. The flowers were in a silver basket and the candles in gleaming silver candalabrae.

Present Noble Grand Mrs. James Ridyard and the Vice-Grand, Mrs. Conrad Hildenbrand were receiving guests and the hostesses and tea pourers were all Past Noble Grands of this chapter. Miss Isabel Brealey was in charge of tickets and estimated that about 200 attended the tea.

Hostesses were: Mrs. R. Gurney, Mrs. Harry Beatty, Mrs. James Price, Mrs. W. Hotson, Mrs. R. Wellman and Mrs. B. McLeen, and the tea was poured by Mrs. K. Throop, Mrs. J. Londerville, Mrs. P. Fuller, Mrs. Fred Mowry, Mrs. Herb Youngs and Mrs. Roy Juby.

Mrs. Alf Pink and Mrs. Youngs collaborated on the tea arrangements and they had small tables arranged for the guests, each with a centre bouquet of daffodils, jonquils or tulips.

A special table was called the "Mothers' gift table" and it was laden with interesting personal and household items, so nice in fact that mothers were buying them for themselves. Mrs. Eric Goodwin, Mrs. Wm. Bull and Mrs. Alf Barber took care of their wants.

A home baking table was attended by Mrs. Clarence Fairbairn, Mrs. R. Colmer, Mrs. Mary Baker and Mrs. H. Cruikshanks, and a candy table by Mrs. W. T. Alberry, Mrs. E. Miller and Mrs. G. Faiers.

The ladies who served the tea guests were Mrs. H. Burrows, Mrs. E. Pruner, Mrs. H. Jay, Mrs. E. Sheppard, Miss Evelyn Bailey, Mrs. K. Hoard, Mrs. Jack Cuffe, Mrs. O. Simonsen, Mrs. G. Edwards, Mrs. E. Fowler, Mrs. E. Hatherly, Mrs. C. Turnbull, Mrs. I. Tyler, Mrs. Fred James, Mrs. A. Dearing, Mrs. Sid Ray, Mrs. Fred Batten, Mrs. C. Murray, Mrs. M. Pearson, Mrs. J. Carter and Mrs. Grace Wood, and Mrs. Elizabeth Rowe was the tea maker.

CONFEDERATION SCHOOL

Annual meeting of the Confederation Home and School Association meeting was held Tuesday evening. President Mrs. Harvey Sutton was re-elected and duly installed with the other officers by Mrs. W. Thompson, secretary of the Home and School Council.

Vice-presidents are Mrs. Howard Powell and Mrs. Clarence Porter; secretary, Mrs. John Rexe; treasurer, Mrs. W. Darby; corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. Watkins; executive, Mrs. G. Beatty, Mrs. E. Poole, Mrs. J. Grierson, Mrs. L. Moore and Mrs D. Pilling.

Mrs Powell read a report of the year's activities. Mrs. Porter reported on the recent Home and School convention. An appeal for parents to offer themselves as blood donors at the clinic on May 18th, when blood for gamma globulin to fight polio will be collected, was made by Mrs. Darby.

Bobbie Cuffe entertained with piano solos.

Mrs. W. Dawson was in charge of the social hour.

BANCROFT

BANCROFT (ENS)—A report submitted by school nurse Mrs. Beth Hattin at the regular meeting of the Home and School Association indicated 300 of the 345 pupils at the school required some form of medical attention.

Dental care was needed by 272 children and there were 191 cases of enlarged tonsils. There were 22 cases of eye-strain, 12 requiring immediate attention and 6 pupils suffered defective hearing.

Mrs. Don Creighton gave a report on her attendance at the 1954 H. and S. convention in Toronto. Mrs. Jack Brown spoke on her visit to the Lakefield Home and School fair, commenting particularly on the exhibitions of weaving and leather work and the children's fashion show.

All members who helped in making the hockey banquet a success were thanked by Mrs. Alex Smith, who had a special word of praise for the teachers.

High school principal Gordon Wragg showed films of the students educational tour to New York state. He was thanked by Mrs. Gordon Fresque.

President Mrs. Art Hewitt announced that it was hoped that district chairman Mrs. Coons of Lakefield would be present at the next meeting when a new executive would be installed.

Room roll call was won by Mrs. S. Bronson with 9 points.

GROVE SCHOOL

The new slate of officers for the Grove Home and School Association was completed at the annual meeting Tuesday evening when nominations from the floor appointed a secretary and an executive member.

Mrs. Stan Whitfield was re-elected president. Vice-presidents are Mr. John Holt and Mrs. R. Page; recording secretary, Mrs. J. R. White; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. Druery; treasurer, Mrs. G. Stuart; executive, Mrs. D. Moore, Mrs. F. Garside, Mrs. H. J. Patterson and assistants.

Economic Power "Wears Skirts" CAC Is Told

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The housewife consumer is largely responsible for present-day prices, Madame H. E. Vautelet of Montreal told the annual meeting of the London branch of the Canadian Association of Consumers here Wednesday night.

Madame Vautelet, national president of the CAC, a nationwide women's organization for consumer protection, said economics in Canada today "wears skirts, not trousers."

"Today 'buying' is Canada's biggest single business — and we women manage it," she said.

How the housewife spends her dollar was the lever which determined Canada's economic health. Each time a woman enters a store she has the power, through her taste, to decide what it will pay Canada's manpower most to produce, Madame Vautelet said.

Handcraft Guild Elects Mrs. J. G. Wharry

Annual meeting of the Peterborough Handcraft Guild was held at the Dixon House Wednesday night with Mrs. E. R. Frost, retiring president, in the chair.

Secretary Miss Lilly Taylor gave a report of the year's work, and Mrs. M. G. Niblett read the treasurer's report. Reports were by Miss Alma Dobbin for the potters' guild, Miss Ethel Smedmor for the weavers' guild, Mrs. J. G. Wharry for the metalcraft guild and Mrs. R. H. Parker for the leathercraft classes.

Miss June Fraser, display and program convener, gave her report on the guild booth at Peterborough Exhibition and the display at the Dixon House for the Ontario Recreation Commission conference.

Mr. Wilfrid Langan, chairman of the recreation commission, took the chair for the nomination of officers. Mrs. C. Stanton gave the report of the nominating committee and the following officers were elected for the coming year:

President, Mrs. J. G. Wharry; 1st vice-president, Miss June Fraser; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. E. Thompson; secretary, Mrs. John Whyte; treasurer, Mrs. R. H. Parker.

When Mrs. Wharry took the chair, plans were made for a June picnic to be held at Mrs. Wharry's cottage. Convener of the picnic is Miss Alma Dobbin.

Coulson

Mrs. Frank Gray represented the Home and School Council at the meeting, and installed the officers.

Annual reports of all officers and conveners were read, and a vote of thanks for their good work and especially for the fine leadership given by the president was voiced by Mrs. R. Page.

A picnic for the school children was planned for June. Next executive meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Page, 748 Gillespie street on May 10th.

A cheque from the Association to pay for the recently purchased projector was presented by Mrs. Whitfield to Principal Mr. J. Barnard. The cheque was then presented to Mrs. C. A. Corbett, representative of the board of education who then handed the projector to the teacher.

It was moved to go on record as supporting the proposal that an auditorium be built in connection with the memorial centre.

A report on the recent Home and School convention compiled by delegates from King Edward school was read by Mrs. Stuart.

The meeting opened with the Parents' Code of Ethics being repeated in unison, followed by devotions read by Mrs. Alf. Johnston.

Attendance prize was won by Miss Rose's grade 4 class.

A social hour followed with refreshments being served by Mrs. J. Patterson and assistants.

DOROTHY DIX

Has Plan For Stepchildren Widow, After Remarriage,

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a widow, and in the near future plan to marry a widower with two children, 5 and 6 years old. Since the death of his wife, the children have lived with their maternal grandparents, to whom the youngsters are devoted. However, I am considering taking the youngsters from their present home because I can't bear the thought of my husband's in-laws having any share in his life.

If the children stay where they are, naturally he'll visit them and will come under the influence of his first wife's family. After we have the children, I intend to break all ties between them and their grandparents. It may take time for me to win their love, but I know I can do it. Is there a sure way to handle this situation satisfactorily? T. A.

CHILDREN'S HAPPINESS IS PARAMOUNT

ANSWER: My idea of a solution would be for everyone connected with these youngsters to pray frequently and fervently, "God help them!"

I hope sincerely that your future husband will not permit you to get away with this cruel scheme. You have no love or even affection for the children; your only thought is jealous spite. You are willing to sacrifice the welfare of two little children simply because you're jealous of your predecessor's parents!

Doesn't that sound petty and mean? You should be willing, and eager, to take the little ones so that your husband would have his children with him. But there ought not to be any thought of breaking all ties between them and the people who have given them such loving care almost since birth. Either you take the children because (1) you love them, honestly believe you can win their love through your own unstinting devotion and patience in an effort to establish a true home for your new family, or (2) you leave them with their grandparents, whose care has been inspired by love.

DEAR MISS DIX: I've been dating Naomi for almost a year and we are making plans to be married this fall. She was married at 18, is divorced and has two little boys. She is now 24, and I am 26, so I feel we are old enough to know what we want. However, she has been going out with other young men, though she says her love for me hasn't changed. She says she has missed something in life, and is trying to make up for it.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Naomi is certainly being honest with you as far as divulging her restlessness and her manner of assuaging it, but it is most unfair of her to continue as your fiancee if she has no intention of bypassing other dates. She was too young to marry at 18, and is still too young to settle down—though her years may belie the fact. As long as she feels one beau isn't enough, it would be better for you to break the engagement and indefinitely postpone all marital plans.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 15 and in love with a married man of 29. I know I shouldn't be going with him but I really do like him. My parents have forbidden me to see him. Can I change their minds? LOLA

ANSWER: Your parents apparently will have to do more than forbid you. Since you have not the sense to give up something so very wrong for you, it's up to them to see that you have the protection you need, even if they seek recourse in law. Too bad tar and feathers are out of style.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Many People Concerned About Wedding Procedure

The amount of food to be provided for wedding receptions is a mystery to many of the mothers of brides-to-be — including me.

In one column I cannot cover this subject, but since wedding time is coming up in all its glory and confusion I have to start somewhere, sometime, and now is the hour.

Since some weddings are small, others very large, I shall make my quantities of food for fifty guests. Those ambitious hostesses who invite one hundred or two hundred and fifty guests will have to multiply these amounts I am giving by two or five, etc.

RECEIVING LINE

Another good rule: As soon as first guests go through receiving line start serving, or reception will drag on interminably. Do not wait for all guests to arrive before starting to serve the food.

The simplest menu would include two varieties of cold dainty sandwiches (chicken and lobster), dainty cookies such as pastel macaroons and petit fours, Wedding cake, coffee, reception punch.

THE BUFFET RECEPTION

Cold Chicken OR Lobster OR Shrimp Salad OR Hot Chicken a la King or Lobster Thermidor.

Jellied Vegetable Salad
Assorted Dainty Sandwiches OR Small Buttered Hot Rolls
Ice Cream with Fresh Strawberry or Rasberry Sauce.
Pecan Cookies Angel Cake
Coffee Salted Nuts
Wedding Cake Reception Punch

I am hoping that the mothers of brides-to-be will CLIP THIS COLUMN NOW because I am going to give you recipe for Reception Punch and Chicken a la King for fifty people — for there will be hundreds of gallons of both of these items served in Canada this June.

WEDDING RECEPTION PUNCH (for 50)

One and one-quarter cups water, 2½ cups sugar, 1 7-oz. tin lemon juice, 1 20-oz. tin unsweetened orange juice (OR 1 can frozen orange juice and 2 cans water to dilute it), 1 484-oz. tin grapefruit juice (unsweetened), 1 16-oz. bottle grape juice (for those who insist on an alcoholic content substitute it for the grape juice), 1 cup sliced maraschino cherries and their juice, 1 cup freshly brewed very strong tea, 1 26-oz. bottle ginger ale, 1 26-oz. bottle soda water, 3 trays ice cubes. Boil sugar and water together 5 minutes and cool. Add all other ingredients EXCEPT ginger ale and soda water and ice. (These ingredients may be mixed 24 hours before wedding.) Thirty minutes before serving add ice. Just before serving add CHILLED ginger ale and soda water.

CHICKEN A LA KING (for 50)

Ten cups well-packed diced cooked chicken (a 4½ lb. chicken yields 4 cups diced cooked meat), 1 cup chopped drained canned pimiento, 2 tablespoons salt, 2 teaspoons pepper, 1 lb. mushrooms, 4 tablespoons butter or margarine, ½ cup well-packed chopped parsley, 12 cups white sauce. To make white sauce melt 1⅓ cups butter in top of double boiler and stir in 1⅓ cups flour until blended, then stir in 10 cups hot milk until thick. Add 3 teaspoons salt. Scrub and slice mushrooms and saute them in the 4 tablespoons butter gently for 5 minutes or until limp and butter-soaked. Add diced chicken and mushrooms to white sauce and all other ingredients. But if chicken a la king is made 24 hours ahead of time do not add the parsley, until it is reheated for serving. Serve on tiny halved biscuit shells, or in toast cups or pattie shells.

Watch for more wedding information next week.

6—In Memoriam

BROWN—In loving memory of mother, Mrs Ada Brown, who passed away May 6, 1953.
A wonderful mother, woman and aid,
One who was better, God never made
A wonderful worker, loyal and true,
One in a million
That, mother, was you.
Just in your judgment, always right,
Honest and liberal, ever upright,
Loved by all your friends and all you knew,
A wonderful mother,
That, mother, was you.
—Sadly remembered by son Jerry and daughter-in-law Jane, and grandson Billie.

ROWAT—In loving memory of my dear father, Lester H. Rowat, who passed away May 6, 1950.
Today recalls sad memories
Of a dear father gone to rest,
And the one who thinks of him today
Is the one who loved him best.
—Sadly missed by daughter Marie.

BROWN—In loving memory of Ada Jane Brown, who passed away May 6th, 1953.
Sweet memories will linger forever;
Time cannot change them, it's true;
Years that may come cannot sever
Our loving remembrance of you.
—Ever remembered by husband, Keith, Eleanor and family.

MacMURRAY—In memory of a loving husband and father, Thomas H. MacMurray, who passed away May 5, 1952.
Asleep in God's beautiful garden,
Sheltered from sorrow and pain,
Asleep in God's wonderful keeping,
Until we meet again.
—Ever remembered by wife, son Bob and family.

McLEAN—In memory of Mrs. H. McLean, who died May 6, 1935.
Some sweet day we'll meet again,
Beyond the toil and strife,
And clasp each other's hand once more
In heaven, that happy life.
—Always remembered by husband and family.

WELLER—In memory of a loving wife, Muriel Eliza Weller, who passed away May 6th, 1952.
I have lost my soul's companion,
A life linked with my own;
And day by day I miss her more
As I walk through life alone.
—Lovingly remembered by husband George.

7—Card of Thanks

Delayed through illness.—We wish to express our heartfelt thinks to all the fathers of the Sacred Heart parish for their many calls to see her in her illness; also the Catholic Women's League for their prayers and kind words of sympathy; and all others who sent mass cards, flowers and helped in any way in their sad bereavement. — The Brothers and Sisters of the late Bridget Winn.

Education On Track

the rose, dreams," said Dr. Martin.

It will not be long until much of the population will be confronted with the problem of locating something to do. The 30-hour week may soon be a reality, Dr. Martin quoted G. B. Shaw as saying the British know only three diversions — eat, drink, and sex. It is the responsibility of modern educationalists to teach an appreciation of the finer things of life. Although mass participation in sports, drama and other enriching diversions is certainly expensive, these things must come if progress is to be made.

The old method of forced education must give way to creating interest in things of value. Unpleasantness is only endured so that more unpleasantness may be removed: It is not an end in itself.

Malan Blasts Premier Nehru

CAPETOWN (Reuters) — Prime Minister Daniel Malan Tuesday said Indian Premier Jawaharlal Nehru is "the enemy of the white man."

He also attacked the "utter stupidity" of the United Nations, and listed UN interference as "continental Africa's greatest present danger.

In a foreign policy speech in the House of Assembly, the Nationalist party leader also threatened to lead his country out of the UN Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization if UNESCO made any more "serious attacks" on South Africa's internal policy.

The Malan government's policy of "apartheid" (secregation of natives) has long been under attack in the United Nations, and from Nehru.

Nehru, Malan said, had his eyes on Africa and wanted the white man out of Africa.

Nehru has protested Malan's attitude toward South Africa's large Indian population.

Don't Need Big Cheque Book To Be Interesting Hostess

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP) — Take it from Mrs. Perle Mesta: "You don't need a cheque book or a bank account to entertain."

"Look at the Europeans," she said, fingering a heavy pearl necklace. A big square diamond ring sparkled on her finger. "They haven't much money, but they entertain beautifully. They have a certain quiet air, a certain culture. . . .

"Of course," she added, "Americans do very well. They are on a sort of equal footing with the Europeans."

FORMER U.S. ENVOY

Mrs. Mesta, former United States minister to Luxembourg, touched on Washington's social life during an interview in her fifth floor Sheraton-Park hotel suite.

The seat of government surrounded by heavy diplomatic representation, Washington is one of the bright spots in the U.S. social world.

And for many years Mrs. Mesta, widow of a wealthy steel industrialist, has been one of Washington's leading hostesses. But now there is a rival on the scene. Mrs. Morris Cafritz, wife of a well-to-do real estate dealer, is reported getting a lot of bigwigs at her social "dos."

"No comment," said Mrs. Mesta when asked about the competitor. "No comment," she added when questioned about rumors that Mrs. Cafritz may succeed her as Washington's leading hostess.

"Those reports are ridiculous. There can be only one leading lady and that is the first lady of the land, Mrs. Eisenhower."

PARTY FOR 18

And Mrs. Mesta is far from out in the social whirl. Just that night she was having a small dinner party for 18 persons, including a titled woman, an ambassador, a senator and a U.S. Supreme Court justice.

And what do they do after dinner? Well, Mrs. Mesta might play. There is a grand piano in one corner of the well-appointed living room and Mrs. Mesta loves Chopin and Bach.

Or they might talk. She has travelled all through Europe and has just completed a three-month, 12,000-mile tour of Russia. She found the steel plants good, the standard of living "secondary" and the theatre scenery "pathetic."

"The best thing I found about Russia was the exit visa."

House Speaker Enjoys Birthday

They sang "Happy Birthday" after Mr. Beaudoin invited members to his chamber when the House adjourned at 6 p.m.

He did not describe the nature of the gathering but it was held in honor of his 42nd birthday.

Stomach Disorders, Gas, Headache, Rheumatic Pains

MRS. ELIZABETH GARDNER

Here's good news for sufferers from functional stomach, kidney and liver disorders and their many associated symptoms. Thousands of men and women say Syntona Herbal Compound has given them prompt relief. Such is the experience of Mrs. Elizabeth Gardner, Campbell Street, Strathroy, Ont., as reported recently.

Felt Sick All Over

"I suffered so bad with stomach trouble that I would get awful gas, indigestion, sour acid risings after eating the lightest foods. Headaches and dizzy spells plagued me from day to day and my nerves were so on edge I couldn't sleep. More recently rheumatic pains set into my limbs, joints and muscles and I felt extremely fatigued from the time I'd get up in the mornings.

Friend Advised Syntona

"Medicines that I took didn't seem to help me any, so a friend suggested that I try Syntona. In only a short time after I began taking this medicine I felt like a changed person. My food was digesting better, gas, heartburn and sourness had cleared up and my appetite improved. As I continued with Syntona the aches and pains went away, dizziness and headaches stopped and now I feel good again."

Over and Over Again

Many thousands of men and women have used Syntona time and again when they were not feeling well and say it has always given them the same good results. Why not let Syntona help you, too? It is pleasant to take and results are quickly felt.

Lindsay Community Chest Sets 1954 Quota At $13,000

LINDSAY (ENS)—Directors of the Lindsay Community Chest held a lengthy, and at times stormy, meeting Tuesday night when the quota and allocations for the 1954 campaign were set. Election of officers for the year was also held.

The campaign objective this year for the Ocotber drive was set at $13,000. Of this, $1,000 is earmarked for expenses.

Discussion arose over the requested increases from four of the organizations participating in the chest. The Red Cross asked for a $500 boost from $3,500 in 1953. The Canadian National Institute for the Blind requested $$00 extra showing a deficit of that amount for 1953 operations. The Salvation Army asked for $400 more, and the VON $200, a total of $2,000.

The Lindsay Recreation Centre, one of the most controversial agencies participating, asked for the same figures as in 1953, $1,000. No request for increase was received from the St. John's Ambulance Society. The Navy League was taken out of the chest and placed on a contribution basis.

After the requests had been totalled, Jasper Forman, campaign manager and representative of the Red Cross, stated he could not conduct a campaign in Lindsay if part of the $900 asked for the CNIB was to go to county work. In making its requests, the agency asked the chest to live up to an agreement, not recalled by any of the directors, to supply one-third the maintenance cost of county work.

Secretary M. J. Cunningham, who also represented the CNIB took issue with Mr. Forman, poining out that part of the grant to the Red Cross was sent to national headquarters for distribution. A warm debate ensued over the respective merits of the various agencies participating in the chest, during which the Salvation Army's request was also questioned briefly.

A compromise proposal to grant the increases to all groups on a percentage basis, taking the Red Cross as a basis, was turned down by the directors.

Finally, the various agencies were received piecemeal and the grants voted individually. Requested increases were granted to the Red Cross, Salvation Army and VON. The $900 increase requested by the CNIB however was cut by $500.

Total allocations will be $12,000 for the six participating agencies. The Navy League, voted out of the regular participation, will receive a contribution from the surplus if any.

Harold Pollock was elected new president of the chest, with the Rev. Don. McQueen and Leslie E. Houck vice-presidents. M. J. Cunningham secretary and J. G. Baldwin treasurer. Campaign manager is Jasper Forman, F. W. Weldon is to be his assistant.

Compromise On Street Name

A storm in a teacup over the naming of the boundary road at the south end of Monaghan Rd. has abated.

One North Monaghan faction signed a petition in January asking that the road be called Grove. This was countered by another faction that wanted it called Johnston drive and, as a matter of fact, a "Johnston drive" sign was erected.

Today the suburban area roads commission, acting on a suggestion of the North Monaghan council, decided on a compromise. They called it Crawford drive.

The road is the responsibility of the commission — a joint city-county body. Their decision must still be confirmed by the Peterborough county council when they meet in June.

North Monaghan council, in suggesting Crawford drive, felt that this would be a good compromise. The road, running west from the south end of Monaghan Rd., passes through what is known as Crawford's Grove.

ENEMY TROOPS OVERRUN FRENCH FORT

'Fire On Me' General Orders Post

Defenders Fight Hand-to-Hand As Rebels Pour In PARIS (CP)—Dien Bien Phu has fallen.

A little fortress named Isabelle, site of the French Union garrison's main artillery, was still holding out three miles south of the bastion that had epitomized the Indo-China war for 57 days.

One of the last orders Brig.-Gen. Christian de Castries, the lanky commander in chief, sent to Isabelle was to fire on his own command post when the Communist-led rebel riflemen finally cut through.

NURSE'S FATE UNKNOWN

There was no immediate word as to the fate of Gen. de Castries, commander of the fallen garrison, nor that of Genevieve de Galard Terraube, a French nurse and the only woman in the besieged fort. She had been decorated for gallantry twice within the week.

Premier Laniel told the National Assembly counter - attacks had been launched in a vain effort to block the rebels from making a juncture in attacks from the northeast and the southwest, but the defence efforts failed.

Thirty thousand Vietminh rebels smashed through French Union defences today to capture the mountain stronghold.

The final, deciding assault began with a punishing four-hour artillery barrage Thursday. Then the Communist-led troops scrambled out of their trenches to fling themselves on the battle - weary defenders in their fourth all-out assault since March 13.

The strongpoints — a muddy tangle of trenches and barbed wire —fell one by one, as the insurgents chopped down the French Union troops with grenades and knives. The defenders tried desperately to counter - attack with bayonets, but were forced backward by superior numbers.

The fall of Dien Bien Phu came on the eve of the Indo - China peace talks at Geneva. The fortress had become a symbol for both sides: The rebels were determined to capture it at all costs, while the 12,000 French Union troops, outnumbered 4 to 1 or more, were just as determined to hang on.

They did hang on, for 57 days that captured the imagination of the world.

Laniel interrupted a discussion of routine legislation in the National Assembly to make the announcement.

FIRE ON ME

FLAMES BRIGHTEN THE SKY—Shortly after 3 a.m., fire, following a mysterious explosion, gutted the frame building of the Pittsburgh Industries Ltd. (Hobbs Glass Division) on Sherbrooke St. A CNR engine watchman, Wayne Kellett, 728 Stormont St., heard an explosion just after the town clock struck three and then the building was engulfed in flames. Firemen (above) brought the blaze under control about 4:30 a.m. but the building was then only a shell. Plans are already under way to rebuild. See other pictures below and on Page 17.

By DAVE WHITE

A mysterious explosion and then a fire early today destroyed the frame warehouse and offices of the Hobbs Glass division of the Canadian Pittsburgh Industries Ltd., located on Sherbrooke St. between Aylmer and Bethune Sts. F. J. Doyle of Toronto, vice-president of Canadian Pittsburgh Industries Ltd., today estimated the company's loss at more than $150,000.

An explosion ripped through the building at 3:05 a.m. and then flames swiftly spread through the interior destroying the stock of paint and glass. Firemen had the blaze under control by 4:15 a.m. and prevented the flying brands and intense heat from igniting nearby buildings.

They were actively fighting the fire till 5:37 a.m.; then they kept four hoselines going until noon, and at press time they were still dampening down the smoking rubble with water from two hoselines.

Fire Chief William Sorrie said at noon that the cause of the outbreak was still undetermined. As there are no inspectors available today from the fire marshal's office in Toronto he is having to go on with the investigation himself.

Nobody was injured in the explosion which was heard by Wayne Kellett of 728 Stormont St., a CNR engine watchman who was shovelling coal across the railway tracks, just west of the plant.

"The town clock had struck three o'clock just a few minutes before and I was shovelling coal when I heard a snapping and crackling sound coming from the Hobbs Glass building," said Mr. Kellett. "Then there was a whoosh—like the explosion you hear when you throw a shovel of soft coal on a hot fire—and flames shot up in the air.

"These flames must have gone up 25 or 30 feet anyway and seemed to come from the Aylmer St. side and half way down the length of the building. They billowed up and lit up the whole neighborhood.

"Then they seemed to die down and everything was real quiet. I didn't notice any more flames until after the firemen came. But heavy smoke was pouring from the building and it was hard to see."

GOOD NEWS

Vice-president Doyle had cheering news for the 18 employees at the plant who were anticipating an extended layoff. Plans are being made for another building in Peterborough, probably on the present site.

Today company officials are casting around, looking for temporary quarters. By extending themselves, branch plants in Oshawa, Belleville and Kingston will service customers in the Peterborough district.

"I hope to be in full swing by Monday," said James S. Hendry, manager of the Peterborough plant. "Perhaps this is a little optimistic but I think we can do it —up to a point, anyway.

Contents of the warehouse were chiefly paint and glass. Mr. Hendry said that the fire came at a particularly awkward time for business because this is the com-

200 Policemen In Cities Needed On Roads

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario provincial police need the 200 policemen, currently tied up in municipal patrolling, on the province's highway for patrol work, commissioner E. V. McNeill said today.

Testifying before the Ontario legislature's select committee on highway safety, Commissioner McNeill said he would like to see the provincial police out of the 88 municipal detachments.

"I feel if we had the 200 officers who are tied up in municipalities, we could concentrate a lot more on patrol work."

In reply to a question by Peter Manley (L—Stormont), Commissioner McNeill said he would not agree with the suggestion that men of lower qualifications be placed in municipal work.

"I wouldn't want to lower the standards," he said.

MUCH TIME IN COURT

The commissioner agreed with W. M. Nickle (PC—Kingston), committee chairman, that court appearances by provincial police take up "a tremendous lot of time."

During 1953, provincial police had 42,000 prosecutions. "If that was worked out in man-hours . . . the result would be staggering," said Mr. Nickle.

Radar screens to trap speeding motorists are expected to go into use within the next few weeks, Commissioner McNeill said.

Tests being made at the University of Toronto will be completed within a few days and the two machines purchased by the department should be in operation shortly.

Reactions Mixed As Congress Passes Seaway

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Reactions were mixed in Canada and the United States following approval by the House of Representatives Thursday of the controversial St. Lwrence seaway bill.

Despite Montreal's fear of being by-passed as a terminal between Great Lakes and ocean shipping, shipping and business officials gave the bill's passage qualified approval.

J. P. Boyle, president of the Shipping Federation of Canada, termed U.S. approval "inevitable."

"The seaway will be for the good of the whole country," he said.

"Although there still is strong sectional opposition to it we can't impede progress. I would say the seaway will benefit all of Canada."

The reaction of at least one city in upper New York state, however, was more enthusiastic.

Mayor Stowell Fournia of Massena, N.Y., ordered the fire department to "blast the whistle until the air runs out." The Massena Observer published an extra within minutes of the siren blast.

In New York, Austin J. Tobin, chairman of the New York port authority, saw the project's approval as a grim challenge to New York City and the "greatest boondoggle" ever perpetrated in the U.S.

"It's like a dream. We've been waiting for something like this for 50 years. As soon as the United States supreme court gives a ruling on the power question—and we are confident it will be a favorable one—you can expect the seaway and power projects to get under way at once."

Charge Inmates Abused At County Home

OWEN SOUND (P) — A special one day session of Grey county council opened today to hear a report on the affairs at the Grey county home in Markdale.

The report will be made by the Grey county home board of management which suspended the manager and matron, Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn Gould, following a special meeting in Owen Sound April 27. The suspensions followed charges by girls on the staff of the home that there had been drinking and "wild parties" and other irregularities there.

Besides drinking and drunkenness the affidavits charge abuse of at least one inmate of the home by one of the staff with no apparent interference by the management and further that there was neglect to carry out the proper medical treatment of an inmate.

The affidavits also state that girl members of the staff kept their doors locked in fear of intrusion.

SAW BLOOD ON MAN

An affidavit by one young woman said that on one occasion she and her boy friend, attracted by screams, went to the men's ward and saw an employee with a cane in his hand and one of the residents covered with blood. There was blood on the floor, she said.

The statement of another girl said:

"I had to attend Mrs. — and dress scratches on her abdomen which she said had been caused by an attack."

The same statement, dated April 23, said:

"I know that a record player that was donated for the use of the old people has been retained by the Goulds for their own use and is at present in their apartment and is used for their parties. I

St. Laurent Tells U.S. Hurry

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent says Canada is prepared to build the St. Lawrence seaway alone but will talk over a joint job with the United States if the U.S. will hurry up.

He told Parliament Thursday night Canada's stand has not changed since it undertook in 1951 to build the $300,000,000 ditch by itself, despite the U.S. House of Representatives' action Thursday in approving a bill calling for joint Canada-U.S. participation.

He went no further than to say that the Canadian government is still willing to discuss any specific proposal the U.S. administration may put up, provided this does not delay the hydro-navigation project.

Altogether, the prime minister's carefully-drafted 500-word statement—rewritten at least once Thursday—was regarded by observers as a lukewarm reception to the Washington move.

The Canadian government for the last few years has been pushing for an all-Canadian seaway that would put the deep waterway's canals on the north side of the international rapids section of the St. Lawrence, where the major part of the $900,000,000 power-shipping works are to be built.

ROOTED FOR DEFEAT?

The government here is believed to have been quietly rooting for the joint-participation bill to be defeated in Congress, and Mr. St. Laurent's statement added some support to this belief.

"We are still prepared to undertake alone the construction of the seaway," he said, noting that the government gave an undertaking to this effect three years ago.

He added:

"The government . . . still is willing to discuss any specific proposal the United States government might wish to put forward once an entity is designated and authorized to proceed with con-

Wasting No Time

TORONTO (CP)—Expansion of Toronto harbor has already started as part of a program which municipal leaders see tied in with seaway development of the St. Lawrence as North America's Rhine. These leaders see Toronto as the capital of a Canadian Rhineland and Hamilton ranking as a deep-sea port whose industrial strength has already been proved. Under way in Toronto's central harbor section are the first units of a $4,750,000 project to make that stretch of waterfront the main terminal west of Montreal for ocean-going ships. It will increase the present harbor capactty from nine ships at a time to 21.

Quakes Rock Greece Again

Lamia and Domokos were reported badly hit.

The tremors were less violent in other parts of the disaster area, in which 26 people were reported killed and thousands made homeless last week.

Ships, Planes Hunt Aircraft

HALIFAX (CP) — A navy Avenger aircraft carrying four persons vanished at sea off western Nova Scotia Thursday, and planes and ships have been mustered for a search against seemingly hopeless odds.

The single-engined plane disappeared while en route from Bermuda to Summerside, P. E. I. The navy identified the occupants as:

Sub-Lt. John A. MacLeod, 22, Ripley, Ont., pilot of the plane.

PO. John E. White of Summerside. His age was not given.

The Avenger was last seen 70 miles off Yarmouth, N. S., battling 25-mile-an-hour winds and driving rain. Seas were rough and visibility was poor.

20 Firemen Believed Dead

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Twenty Brazilian firemen were reported missing and presumed dead today after explosions and fire wiped out powder and petroleum storage facilities on a small island in nearby Guanabara bay.

Eight other firemen were seriously injured in the disaster on the island of Braco Forte, about eight miles from the city. The depot belonged to the Rio port administration. Damage was estimated at 3,000,000 cruzeiros ($165,000).

Frost Suffering From Old Wound

TORONTO (CP)—An old war wound, suffered 37 years ago, has forced Premier Frost to cancel all his engagements, his office announced Thursday.

He was ordered to cancel his engagements for 10 days.

Mr. Frost was scheduled to attend a Masonic convention in Hamilton Thursday. His last official engagement was the annual convention of the Western Ontario Progressive Conservative Association in London Wednesday.

Denies Fire Loss Out Of Proportion

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton Thursday denied that loss by fire of defence property is out of proportion.

Mr. Claxton made the statement in the Commons in reply to questions by Gordon Fraser (PC—Peterborough). Mr. Fraser asked whether new defence buildings will be fireproof in view of recent fires in defence establishments.

Mr. Claxton said "the loss (in defence property) is much lower than is the loss in respect of corresponding civilian properties in Canada."

Royal Family Leaves For Gibraltar Visit

VALLETTA, Malta (Reuters)—Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh leave today on their royal yacht Britannia for Gibraltar, last port of call in a Commonwealth tour which began last November.

On their way the royal couple will play a 90-minute visit to the tiny neighboring island of Gozo, famous for its lace-making industry.

Stove Fumes Kill 2 Tourists

WINDSOR (CP)—A man and woman were found dead Thursday night in a tiny tourist camp about 12 miles east of Windsor, just off No. 2 highway. Police said they were accidently gassed by fumes from a stove.

Police identified the man as Earl (Flat) Chase, 43, a well-known Chatham baseball player. The woman was Mrs. Perzeda Arnold, 27, of Detroit.

Police said the bodies were found by a friend of Chase who saw the car, a late-model, blue sedan, at the cabin Thursday morning and dropped over Thursday evening to say hello. Robert Baylis, 42, said he knocked on the door and received no answer. He looked through a window and saw the bodies in bed.

Walter Carter, 89, caretaker of the three tiny cabins for owner Land McQueen, told police he rented the place to Chase about 8 p. m. Chase said he wanted the cabin and would return. Both the dead are Negroes.

Carter said Chase returned with the woman about 9 p. m. but she did not leave the car. He said he lit the fire and took the rent from Chase before he left for the night.

Big 3 Agree On Peace Plan

GENEVA (CP) — The United States, Britain and France today were reported to have reached broad agreement on an Indo-China peace plan to put to the Communists.

Authoritative sources said the leaders of the Big Three Western delegations hope the talks on Indo-China can start Saturday, by which time the main representatives of the three French-associated states of Indo-China will be on hand.

The plan is expected to be presented when the talks start. However, China threatened to upset the talks at their outset by asking representation of more countries.

Details of the new Western plan still are subject to final consultation, Reuters news agency said, but it follows the terms laid down for an armistice by the French government in March.

MacLean Remanded Until May 14

WELLAND (CP) — Bruce MacLean, 23, charged with murder in connection with the death of his wife Aug. 22 while they were canoeing, was remanded today until May 14.

The body of Mrs. Elizabeth Doreen MacLean was exhumed Thursday and reburied after a post-mortem examination by Dr. G. E. Colpitts, pathologist at the Welland County General Hospital.

There was no announcement on the findings of the examination of Mrs. Elizabeth Doreen MacLean's body. She died when a canoe she and her husband were paddling upset last Aug. 22.

Bannister Celebrates Record In Night Club Till 5 a.m.

LONDON (Reuters) — Roger Bannister slept until lunch time today, all tuckered out from running the first four-minute mile in history and then celebrating the event in a night club until 5 a. m.

The telephone rang ceaselessly at his home this morning; lights flashed on the hospital switchboard; telegraph boys found themselves sadly out of training as they trotted up and down the Bannisters' garden path at the rate of about one a minute; newspaper reporters hunted him in perspiring packs.

When at last he appeared he collected a pile of congratulatory telegrams from the hospital letter rack and was surprised to learn that an even bigger pile was waiting for him at home.

At 5 a. m. Roger had all the breath back that he lost during the run and was crooning "Time on My Hands" into a microphone in a West End night club.

It had been a night of celebration with Chris Brasher and Chris Chataway, the two pacemakers who helped set the record time of three minutes, 59.4 seconds.

With three girl friends, they went to a night club where Roger was recognized and greeted with a rousing cheer. He dragged Chataway and Brasher into the spotlight with him and smiling shyly, said: "I have got two better boys."

The band stopped playing at 3:30 a. m. and the night club officially closed. But the band leader and the drummer stayed on to play for the three athletes and their partners.

The 25-year-old Bannister waived all rules. "A late night and champagne now and then does not hurt," he said.

Work Closely On Research

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain and Canada will work more closely on research into new war planes and guided weapons shot from planes, Minister of Supply Duncan Sandys said today.

The minister, who had talks with the Canadian government and defence chiefs in Ottawa recently, said in a written parliamentary statement:

"We reviewed the arrangements for co-operation in scientific and technical development as well as methods for securing a still closer integration of the defence research programs of the two countries, particularly in regard to aircraft and air-to-air guided weapons."

He said adoption of the Belgian FN .300 rifle is being considered by Canada and 2,000 of the weapons had been ordered for troop trials.

He added: "Should the Canadian government adopt this weapon, they would propose to manufacture in Canada the rifles required for the Canadian forces. This would necessitate converting the design to inch dimensions."

Canadian Delegation In Indo-China Talks

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said Thursday the Canadian delegation at Geneva is engaging in informal talks on the tense situation in Indo-China.

He repeated in the Commons, however, that Canada is not participating in formal discussions. Canada was not invited to take part because it is not involved in the fighting.

He said Canada is not complaining about not being asked to take part in the official meetings. However, informal discussions were taking place continuously at Geneva on Indo-China and External Affairs Minister Pearson and other members of the Canadian delegation were attending these.

STILL FIGHTING FIRE—Firemen were still pouring water into the gutted Hobbs Glass building at 7:30 a.m. today, four and a half hours after flames first started to lick through the frame building.

U.S. Ready To Join In Seaway

Congress Approves Plan 241-158 After 2-Day Debate

WASHINGTON (CP)—Complete participation by the United States with Canada in development of the St. Lawrence river-Great Lakes power and seaway project now is virtually assured.

The House of Representatives Thursday voted 241 to 158 for a Senate-approved bill authorizing the U.S. government to become a partner of Canada in the seaway phase.

Development of the power phase of the multi-million-dollar project—a subject of negotiation for more than 35 years—already has been arranged, with the New York power authority authorized to go ahead in co-operation with the Ontario hydro-electric power commission. However, this has been in dispute in U.S. courts.

Thursday's vote came after a two-day debate limited by arrangement between the parties. It followed a 173-to-79 defeat of an amendment which would have required the U.S. government to finance the seaway cost share by issue of bonds to the public.

SECOND VOTE

There was a second vote of 242 to 157 to defeat a last-ditch opposition motion to send the bill back to the public works committee.

Some obstacles remain. The House bill was given some minor amendments which must be approved by the Senate. Senator Homer Ferguson (Rep. Mich.) said at once that he will move to give the amendments summary approval so that the bill may go to President Eisenhower for signature without delay.

Eisenhower, like every president since Woodrow Wilson, has strongly advocated the partnership development and will sign it without delay when he gets the bill.

The president, in a statement issued after the vote, hailed it as the "end of a long and historic effort." He said the seaway would "contribute materially to the economic well-being and security" of both the U.S. and Canada.

Opponents of the power development, notably the Pennsylvania Coal Producers Association, have litigation in the courts aimed at preventing the New York power authority from exercising its assigned right to co-operate with Ontario in the hydro-electric project.

It has lost in the lower courts, and the deadline for appeal to the Supreme Court expires May 19. Some observers here think the strong congressional approval will discourage any further delaying tactics.

N. R. Danielians, long-time manager of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Association which has been pushing the project here, said Thursday night that there never was any question about the majority of Americans, including congressmen, favoring the project as an obviously worth-while development.

The fact that Canada had decided in 1951 to go ahead alone if necessary was what brought a breakdown of opposition here, he said, and eventually influenced congressmen to vote their convictions.

Too Preoccupied To Worry About Defence

Domestic defence tactics such as keeping the soup hot and the kids content seems to be far more pertinent to the average housewife than the continuance or disbandment of the local civil defence program.

"Hello. This is The Examiner calling. We are conducting a survey concerning the disbanding of the local civil defence program and would appreciate your opinion."

"Civil defence???"

Usually a puzzled silence followed this query: "Oh. Yes . . . well I don't know. Goodbye."

"Thank you."

"Well, I really haven't given it any thought," said one lady. "I leave those things for my hubby and since we went out last night, we just haven't had a chance to talk this thing over."

Another impatient, and reasonably so, lady protested: "Look. Its more important that I get my husband's dinner."

"Yes. Well I've been thinking more about housekeeping than civil defence," replied one conscienscious woman. "Just what is it, anyway?" We didn't tarry to explain.

On the other hand there were a few who replied: "I don't feel we should abandon this project. I don't think we have been doing enough about it and with the situation of the world today, I feel we should definitely have it."

One attractive young voice, hesitantly, then whole-heartedly agreed with the continuance of the program. "I think it gives young men something to do with all their spare hours, and the military training probably helps them develop a better out-look on life in general. Although I don't know too much about it, I think it should be continued, if for that reason alone."

Another young lady, absorbed in other civic matters, regrettably acknowledged only superficial knowledge of the matter. "I've been so interested in the outcome and importance of this zoning by-law, that I haven't given it much thought. I do think it to be a very important issue, however."

Probably one housewife summed up the general opinion quite adequately with the comment:

"If things go on as they are, no defence will be any good, anyway."

Music, Food May End Feud

TRENTON—Dance music, coffee, sandwiches, euchre and bridge may be the panacea for a three-month feud between the 50 teachers here and the board of education.

The party will be an attempt to halt the unrest at the board's introduction of new pay listings in February.

But the board, which proposed the party, is divided 6-3.

Chairman Grant Rathbun has threatened to resign over his colleagues' entertainment plan for the end of the term. With him are the Rev. R. C. MacLean and farmer John Reid, Hastings County appointee to the board.

The idea came from Douglas Whitley.

W. G. Spencer, principal of the high school said, "Well, three or four times a year we invite the board to the school to eat our food. We'll be happy to eat theirs any time they say."

As an afterthought, he added: "A little reciprocity goes a long way." V. P. Carswell, supervising principal of Trenton public schools, said his teachers would be pleased to accept.

So, music may provide the food for love to settle the hassle.

Fire Sweeps Northern School

SUDBURY (CP) — Fire swept the $300,000 MacLeod road public school in adjoining McKim township Thursday night.

It destroyed all but four rooms. Officials said water damage in the section left standing was so severe that all the interior will have to be rebuilt.

Nearby residents saw and smelled smoke for three-quarters of an hour before they saw flames in the school. During that time, some checked their own homes to see if they were on fire.

Firemen said the blaze, of undetermined cause, started at the rear of the building where a six-room addition was three-quarters completed. They said the absence of hydrants in the area and lack of sufficient water hampered fire-fighting efforts.

No 40-Hour Week For Men In Ministry

MONTREAL (CP)—Dr. C. E. J. Cragg, minister of Sydenham United Church, Kingston, Ont., said Thursday night a minister is expected to turn out every year four times as much material as the average novelist.

Addressing graduating students at the United Theological College's annual convocation, he said "there's not much prospect of a 40-hour week" in the ministry.

He doubted if anything of real importance was ever accomplished on the basis of a 40-hour week.

Leo McManus Widely Mourned

The village of Lakefield and entire surrounding district was saddened and shocked to learn of the sudden passing of Leo McManus. Leo had lived his entire life in the village and was a highly esteemed and energetic business man. Mr. McManus had a friendly, retiring disposition, and his chief interests were his home and the lumber mill which he owned and operated with his two brothers, Victor and John. He was a skillful mechanic and worker and will be greatly missed in his business.

Mr. McManus' passing is especially sad because he had recovered from a very severe injury suffered almost four years ago which had kept him confined to hospital for almost four months.

Leo McManus was the son of the late James McManus and Johanna McCliggott, and the beloved brother of John, Thomas, Victor, Ernestine and Bregetta, who survive him.

Leo's popularity in the community was evidenced by the hundreds of friends and relatives who attended from Peterborough, Toronto, Lindsay, Ennismore, Smith and Lakefield to extend their sympathy and comfort to the bereaved family.

Mr. McManus was a member of St. Paul's church, and was always ready to lend assistance and co-operation in any of the parish enterprises. The solemn requiem mass was sung by the Rev. Dr. J. V. Masterson. A niece, Miss Barbara Leonard, presided at the organ.

The pallbearers were three cousins and three late employees of the deceased. Interment was in St. Peter's cemetery, Peterborough.

COUNTER-ATTACKS FAIL

The Vietminh, in their fourth great assault on the little fortress, swept over four outer strongpoints and seized the southwest corner. Then they broke into the southwest and eastern sectors.

Counter-attacks were launched there in a vain effort by de Castries to block the rebels from joining forces through the heart of the barbed-wire fortress.

Gen. de Castries ordered French artillery batteries at "Isabelle" to fire on his own headquarters if necessary and to keep firing.

After the new Vietminh assault was launched, French fighter planes entered the combat but could give little aid at the points where fighting brought the opposing troops into hand-to-hand combat.

BARGAINING POINT

Laniel told the assembly that the "adversary" wanted to win a military success before the opening of the Geneva conference.

"The adversary wished to deal a death blow to France and was willing to sacrifice unlimited numbers of its soldiers to overrun the unfortunate defenders of Dien Bien Phu."

After Laniel's brief statement, the assembly recessed out of respect to the defeated defenders of the little Indo-China bastion.

Laniel said, "The French reaction will be the reaction of the virility of a great nation."

SAYS NOTHING CHANGED

He added that France will confirm its instructions to its delegates at Geneva without admitting that the Dien Bien Phu fall can change anything.

"France will recall to its allies that during seven years it has never quit defending alone a great region of Asia," Laniel told the assembly.

All the deputies in the assembly except the Communists stood while Laniel announced the fall of Dien Bien Phu.

pany's busy season. Much of the paint and window glass was to go into buildings now under construction in Peterborough and district.

A stocktaking was only completed Saturday. The warehouse contained at least four carloads (each 25,000 to 30,000 pounds) of window glass. And there was also a heavy inventory in paint.

MINIMUM LOSSES

Minimum losses, Mr. Hendry estimated, would be $30,000 on paint and $40,000 on glass. Then, included in the loss is other equipment and records. He wouldn't hazard an estimate on how much the new building will cost.

Like Fire Chief Sorrie, Mr. Hendry is at a loss to know what caused the explosion and fire.

"The men were working overtime, until 9 o'clock last night, but everything was all right when they left. As a matter of fact I was here myself," he said.

The chief still doesn't know exactly where it broke out. When firmen arrived, about 3:15 a.m., they realized at a glance that the frame building and its combustile contents were doomed.

Smoke was pouring from the eaves around the plant and it burned as though it had been building up for some time. Flames re-appeared after the firemen threw open the shipping room doors (letting in a blast of fresh air) and moved two trucks that had been locked inside for the night.

EVERYTHING FINE

The explosion came 10 minutes after Police Constables Bert Howden and J. P. Gillis gave the plant a visual check. Nothing was wrong when they went by at 2:55 a.m. But 20 minutes later, when alerted about the fire, they found smoke pouring from the building.

"Most of the smoke seemed to be coming from the north east corner of the building," said Constable Howden. "It was building up under the eaves. But the flames didn't break out until after the firemen came."

(The police drove up in the interval between the explosion and burst of flame that Kellett reported and the arrival of the fire department.)

Constable Howden also noticed that all the lights of the building were on at 2:55 a.m. but they were dead when he returned.

After the explosion, followed by the lull, the fire mushroomed rapidly throughout the building. At 8 a.m. today firemen were still dampening down the ruins inside the shell of the building.

Only the shell remains. The two-storey front, housing the office records, safe, a quantity of paint and other equipment is the most intact section. But the whole will have to be rebuilt.

Though they knew from the first they would be unable to save the warehouse they had no trouble controlling it. It is the only building on the north side of the short block between Aylmer St. and the tracks; so it is comparatively isolated and the firemen were able to pour water on it (from as many as 10 hoselines) from all sides.

SAVE ICE HOUSE

At the height of the blaze it looked as though the flames would spread to the CNR ice house that almost touches the north end of the warehouse. However two groups of hosemen managed to play a steady stream of water at the junction of the two buildings and the ice house was saved.

Also threatened was a shed running along the north side of the home of Henry Jay, 249 Aylmer St. and extending well into his back yard, close to the rear of the Hobbs Glass building. The intense heat from the burning and exploding paint was sufficient to have ignited the shed but firemen kept playing water on it until the flames from the burning plant died down.

The Jays live in a double house on Aylmer St. that will soon be torn down to make way for a service station. Though the nearest residents to it, the Jays were not the first to see the fire.

At first Fred Jay, a son, attributed the exploding sounds he heard to engines in the nearby railway yards being fired up. But the barking of the family dog caused him to rouse himself and investigate. He noticed the smoke and woke his parents as the fire trucks came up.

The warehouse and offices have a modern front facing south on Sherbrooke St., but most of the building is a renovated CNR grain warehouse. Before Hobbs Glass bought it, in about 1940, it was used by Dewart Milling Co.

Hears Ford Dispute

WINDSOR (CP) — Mr. Justice W. F. Schroeder of the Ontario Supreme Court, Thursday was appointed chairman of a conciliation board to settle a dispute between Ford Motor Company of Canada and Local 200, United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL). Negotiations for a new working contract broke down a few weeks ago. The 1953 contract expired last February.

Shouldn't Sell Magazines In City Schools

Secondary school students shouldn't sell commercial magazines in school to supplement their extra-curricular activities, the Peterborough Trades and Labor Council (AFL-TLC) contend.

This isn't just a whim of theirs. It has the backing of the Ontario department of education.

Henry Nokes, secretary of the labor council, quoted from a letter received from L. S. Beattie, superintendent of secondary education:

"This department is strongly opposed to this practice, but the matter is one which comes within the jurisdiction of local school authorities."

Mr. Beattie said that earlier this year the department had notified school authorities of their attitude.

Now that they have the moral support of the department, the labor council are again writing to K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, asking for magazine selling in the schools to cease.

In reply to an earlier protest by the labor council, Mr. Wightman said that the board of education didn't supply funds for some student activities outside classrooms. Without paid admissions to games Kenner collegiate students have to seek some other source of revenue; inter-school activities cost money.

"They might have instituted a begging campaign," said Mr. Wightman, "but chose instead to cast about for earning this necessary money themselves. I think their action was very much to their credit."

A similar letter was sent to the separate school board, who are passing it on to the principal of St. Peter's high school. Labor council delegates charged that magazine selling caused a "commercialization of loyalties."

Farm Council Requests Bank

OTTAWA (CP) — The Interprovincial Farm Union Council proposed Thursday that Canada create an easy-credit agricultural development bank, supported largely by federal funds and designed to encourage family farming.

The proposal, made before the Commons banking committee, was criticized by W. J. Henderson (L—Kingston City) who suggested the new venture would create a "monopoly" of credit, tending to work against the established chartered banking system.

Olaf Turnbull of Kindersley, Sask., council member, disagreed. Experience has shown, he said, that non-bank credit has been extended in Canada without throwing other forms of credit "off the market."

The Farm Union Council represents the farm unions of the three prairie provinces which believe that Canada's welfare is best served by family farming.

Industrials Continue To Forge Ahead

TORONTO (CP)—Industrials continued to forge ahead narrowly on the stock exchange today. Most other groups lagged in light early afternoon trading.

Constructions were hard hit by profit-taking. Senior base metals and uraniums were strong, but western oils, golds and Manitouwadge issues were down. Bathurst issues were steady. Volume at 1 p.m. was a light 1,198,000 shares.

Canadian Dredge lost $2.50. Other construction losses were Canada Cement, down $3, Standard Paving, down 50 cents, and Foundation Company, down $1.25.

Rising industrial groupings were steels, foods, liquors, refining oils, and financial institutions. Papers, utilities, and manufacturing were down. In steels, Vickers dropped 37½ cents.

In western oils Anglo-Canadian's 20-cent drop was the greatest. Bailey Selburn and Consolidated Western Petroleum gained 10 cents.

Miss Lottie Hogan

Requiem mass was celebrated by the Rev. Joseph O'Sullivan in Immaculate Conception church today for the repose of the soul of Miss Lottie Hogan, 51½ Hunter St., who died in Toronto Tuesday. Present in the sanctuary were the Rt. Rev. P. P. Butler, the Rev. Joseph Collins and the Rev. G. J. Weis, who also assisted at the graveside service.

Pallbearers were: Joseph, Robert and Bernard Kelly, Joseph Torpey, Clifford Jackson and Clarence Bacon. Burial was in St. Peter's cemetery.

Timothy J. Corkery

Funeral of Timothy Joseph Corkery, 77, of Harwood, who died Monday in St. Joseph's hospital, was held from his home to Sacred Heart church, Harwood, for requiem mass, 9.00 a.m., Thursday. The Rev. James Greenan celebrated mass and was assisted by the Rev. Joseph Collins at the graveside service. Burial was in St. Michael's cemetery, Cobourg.

struction of the U.S. share of the power works, and provided that such discussions do not delay either the power or the seaway project."

The entity reference was an indication that Canada doesn't want even to start talks with the U.S. until some blocks south of the border have been cleared up.

ENTITY DESIGNATED

The New York state power authority has been designated by the U.S. federal power commission as the U.S. "entity" to co-operate with the Ontario hydro-electric power commission to share evenly in the $600,000,000 cost and the 2,200,000 horsepower of electricity to be developed in the Long Sault rapids of the river's international section.

The New York body's authority is expected to be challenged before the Supreme Court of the United States. Informants here say the appeal will be filed May 19 in Washington. They also expect the court will throw out the appeal promptly.

Meanwhile, however, further delay can occur in Washington because bills approved by the two Houses of Congress—Thursday's in the House and an earlier one in the Senate—do not coincide exactly. House leaders will have to get together to whip up a joint bill that must be approved by both chambers. It will have administration backing and should not be held up long.

Ex-Detectives To Die For Kidnapping

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two former private detectives condemned to death for a kidnapping in which the victim was rescued and no ransom was paid face the San Quentin gas chamber with radically different attitudes.

Dapper, 52-year-old Harold Jackson and Joseph Lear, 43, were convicted late Thursday under California's "little Lindbergh law" of kidnapping Leonard Moskovitz, 36, a real estate broker, Jan. 16. They demanded $500,000 ransom but later reduced it to $300,000.

The jury of six men and six women found that Moskovitz had suffered bodily harm in being chained and threatened with a knife before he was rescued by police after 61 hours in captivity. The jurors automatically condemned the two to death under the state law by not recommending leniency.

The verdict didn't seem to bother Jackson, a one-time sailor who operated a wartime private guard agency on the San Francisco waterfront.

Brought into court in handcuffs to hear the verdict late in the 33rd day of the trial, the convicted mastermind of the Moskovitz kidnapping cracked to his lawyer:

"Cheer up, pal, the worst is yet to come. Here's where we get that old rocking chair."

Then he laughed aloud at Lear, whose face was strained and taut.

When an identical guilty verdict was read for Lear, Lear broke into tears.

Mental Health Judged By 3 Standards

When people are mentally healthy they must feel comfortable and at ease with themselves; with other people; and, must be able to reasonably meet the demands of living.

Should an individual fail to meet any of these three standards he is suffering from some sort of mental disorder. Statistics show that one out of every five require some emotional aid sometime during their life, Dr. John Pratten told Kiwanians, Thursday.

"A good definition of health," said Dr. Pratten, "is when the individual is able to work and live up to his particular capacity in reasonable accord with reality."

Community aid for the mentally ill has been growing in efficiency for many years. It first consisted of mental hospitals, which were nothing more than a place of confinement, protecting others from the mentally ill. Since then, many advancements have been made in the fields of diagnosis and remediation, and now the mental health plan includes trained vocation and avocation consultants, recreation directors, and confindants, such as the clergy.

One of the largest fields yet to be developed is the training of people to appreciate and enjoy worthwhile entertainment; to be able to constructively entertain themselves in their ever increasing number of leisure hours.

TO GET LAW DEGREE—D. Leo Dolan, director of the Canadian Government Travel Bureau will receive the honorary degree of doctor of laws at the University of New Brunswick later this month. A native of Fredericton, Mr. Dolan served as tourist travel director for New Brunswick before he organized the federal bureau in 1934. A former newspaperman, he worked on daily newspapers in Fredericton, Sydney, N.S., Halifax, Saint John, N.B., Regina, Saskatoon and Windsor, Ont.

Knox Congregation Plans Programme Of Renovation

Renovations at Knox United Church should be completed by August 1, the annual congregational meeting of the church decided Wednesday.

Wiring, insulation and heating, expected to be done in that order, are projects still pending in Knox's renovation campaign. Insulation will cost $1,825 while a local firm has quoted $20,000 as a tentative figure to renovate the heating system.

Building committee chairman Gord Morrison was authorized to call for tenders for wiring locally if possible.

The Rev. H. G. Douglas, Knox minister, suggested that lighting costs might be underwritten by individual families. Units could be purchased as memorials at an estimated cost of $150 each.

Church pews also need repairing, Mr. Morrison reported. There was also some discussion of renovating the orga nat an estimated cost of $5,000. Cost of repairing pews would range from $1,000 to $5,000 depending on the amount of work done.

Earle Nelson Heads Campbellford Club

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Earle Nelson was named leader of the Campbellford 4-H club at a meeting held at West's school on Highway 30 near the town this week. Other officers elected were: president, Bill Petherick; vice-president, Gerald Fry; secretary-treasurer, Lyle Blane; press reporter Bob McCulloch.

Sidney MacDonald, assistant agricultural representative, was the speaker, and gave record feeding books and club manuals to each member present.

Believe Higher Speed Limit Cuts Accidents

TORONTO (CP)—Several members of the Ontario legislature's select committee on highway safety have endorsed a suggestion that the accident rate can be cut down by stepping up the speed limit.

The speed-up suggestion came Thursday from Peter Manley (L—Stormont). He proposed the speed limit for automobiles be increased to 60 miles an hour from the current limit of 50 miles an hour, but that the 50-mile-an-hour limit for commercial vehicles be retained.

W. M. Nickle (PC-Kingston), committee chairman, said the group will meet next month with highway safety officials in New York, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Pennsylvania and possibly Conecticut and Indiana.

The committee, scheduled to sit again today, will hold a third session May 27 and 28.

SUGGESTS OOLORED LINE

Mr. Nickle suggested the present solid white line on highways be painted red 500 feet before railway crossings as a warning. However, C. A. Robbins, chief maintenance engineer for the highways department, said colored lines could not be seen as easily as white ones.

John Root (PC — Wellington North) said level crossing accidents might be reduced if railways were compelled to paint a luminous stripe on the side of their running stock.

John Yaremko (PC — Toronto Bellwoods) proposed the establishment of a re-examination of drivers involved in accidents and a periodic examination of automobiles. J. P. Bickell, registrar of the motor vehicles branch, pointed out that with more than 100,000 persons involved in accidents last year, such a project would be a tremendous undertaking.

Drop Charges Against Three In Lottery

OTTAWA (CP) — Charges laid more than a year ago against three members of the Carleton county Orange Lodge of selling lottery tickets were withdrawn Thursday by the Crown.

Freed of the charges were Burton Wellman, John Holt and William F. Holf, all of Ottawa.

Withdrawal ended a highly controversial case. It began in 1953, when Donald J. Sutherland, of Ottawa, an official of the lodge, was charged with conducting a lottery.

Mr. Sutherland was directing the sale of tickets for a draw held at the Mountain, Ont., fair last autumn. The lodge was co-sponsor.

APPEALED FINE

He was convicted last summer and fined. He appealed and the prosecutions against the other three lodge members were adjourned.

When Mr. Sutherland died suddenly, the court ruled that his appeal had died with him, and the city court scheduled the case against the three to proceed.

As the charges were withdrawn Thursday, magistrate Glenn Strike said it was not a case of a lottery for personal gain. He said those selling the tickets and those conducting the draw had no intent of making profits for themselves.

The only car in the world to drive 10,000 miles without stopping ... even for gas!

Mobile "service station" was specially built for non-stop test. When car entered mobile station both vehicles synchronized their speeds. Workmen fueled and serviced test car while crews changed.

10,148.3 miles, to be exact . . . and every mile a gruelling test of endurance. The Morris Minor covered this distance at an average speed of 45.3 miles per hour, and at no time did the wheels stop turning or the engine fail. An ingenious mobile "service station" refueled, re-tired and re-crewed the ever-moving Morris.

During the nine days and eight hours of continuous running on a circular track, the Minor averaged 43 miles per gallon, an amazing feat since the perpetual turning was equivalent to climbing to a height of 66 miles on a road 10,000 miles long. But for this turning strain, gas consumption would have averaged 7 miles more to the gallon.

The car was powered with the new high compression OHV (overhead valve) engine. This engine is now standard equipment in all Minors at no sacrifice to gas economy or increase in price.

Your local dealer invites you to drive a Morris . . . you be the judge.

The Cup Of Hemlock

The sheriff of York County, Mr. J. D. Conover, and a prison doctor, W. H. Hills, have been giving evidence before the Parliamentary Committee on capital punishment. Dr. Hills made the interesting suggestion that criminals under sentence of death might be killed by a lethal injection of a drug, and as it would be hard to get a physician to administer such a dose, the prisoner might be induced to handle the lethal needle himself. The objection to this, as we see it, is that injections require a certain skill, and presumably a lethal injection must be given in the best possible way, or it may half-kill the victim, or kill him in a prolonged and agonizing manner. It is to escape the agonies associated with hanging that the suggestion has been made.

* * *

Reading what Dr. Hills said, many people will be strongly reminded of the famous description of the death of Socrates, who was given a cup of hemlock to drink by his Athenian jailors, and who died slowly and peacefully by a form of paralysis which began at his feet and worked upward. Socrates drank off the cup without protest, for he was a law-abiding man, and the wish of his city was as a command to him. But we wonder if all Athenian executions were so peaceful, and all criminals so obliging? Socrates was not, after all, the equivalent of an axe-murderer or a violent robber.

* * *

It is well known, also, that some people do not die as easily as others. The monk Rasputin, when he was murdered by friends of the Russian royal family, consumed a whole plateful of cakes, each one of which contained enough cyanide to kill a strong man. Even when this was over he drank a lot of poisoned wine, without visible effect. He had to be shot several times before he would die. We should not like to think of scenes like that being enacted in our Canadian jails. Even the horrors of hanging are preferable. When a man's neck is broken he will die, be he Rasputin or anyone else.

The merciful killing of criminals has much to recommend it. But we must be sure that the method is fool-proof. Not everybody is a Socrates.

Gibraltar

During the First World War, again in the Second World War, and with a visit from Queen Elizabeth impending, attention is focussed on the Rock of Gibraltar. In former days when control of the Mediterranean Sea meant the control of Southern Europe, the strategic importance of Gibraltar as a naval base was well understood and appreciated by both Spain and particularly by England. Nowadays, planes can fly over Gibraltar and, while its importance as an impregnable fortress has somewhat diminished, the strategic value of Gibraltar remains.

The first appreciation of the strategic value of Gibraltar was in 711, when the 1,390-foot rock was fortified by the Moors. Spain succeeded in wresting control of "the Rock" from the Moors in 1462, but were ousted by a combined English-Dutch fleet in 1704. From 1779-1783, the Spanish tried continually to regain the fortress, but the Long Siege finally petered out with the English still in possession.

Many traditional ceremonies, as well as many superstitions have grown around the "Rock". For example, during the Long Siege, it was customary to lock the gates to the City, and to admit only friends. On her visit, the Queen's party will halt outside the gates, when the Queen herself will prove her right to enter the City by producing the keys to the gates.

Also, among the most noted of Gibraltar's inhabitants are the Barbary Apes. These Apes are the descendants of those brought by the Moors, and became such a nuisance by 1923 that they were ordered exterminated. However, somebody remembered an old saying: "When the apes leave the Rock, so will the British". Today, they are fed and cared for by "The Keeper of the Apes". They are the only wild monkeys in Europe.

Generalissimo Franco, still trying to persuade the British to return the fortress, remarked: "The British people need to understand the uselessness of Gibraltar as a fortress-base under present-day conditions." But the British believe Gibraltar has served them well—as a key anti-submarine base in World War I, and as an important naval base in World War II. It is battle-scarred but as solid as ever.

Student Travel

In many "soft currency" countries, travel by students and others engaged in cultural pursuits, is restricted by foreign currency regulations. The UNESCO has now issued a series of Travel Coupons in denominations of $10, $25, and $100, which are backed up by UNESCO's dollar reserves.

The purpose of the Travel Coupon is described aptly by Dr. Luther H. Evans, Director-General of UNESCO. "Understanding between people is of prime importance for world peace and progress. However, the chances for educational travel are hampered by all sorts of official formalities and above all by currency restrictions. It is to overcome these limitations on sojourn abroad that the UNESCO Travel Coupon Scheme has been introduced for purposes of educational, scientific, or cultural travel".

The eligibility of applicants for Travel Coupons will be determined by a national authority in each country where the scheme operates. Eleven countries: Cambodia, Canada, El Salvador, France, Israel, Laos, the Netherlands, Switzerland, Uruguay, the United States of America, and Viet Nam.

They Were Not Abused

The Government will not ask to have the Emergency Powers Act extended, and it will expire on the 31st of May. We wonder if many of our readers are aware how extensive the arbitrary power of the Government has been during the duration of this act. Among other things it gave the Government the power to arrest anyone without warrant, to deport anyone without explanation, to impose the widest censorship upon the press and all other agencies of information, and to spend any amount of money without asking Parliament. These are great powers indeed, and many people feared that they might be used unjustly, or to put the Cabinet in the position of a dictatorship. But they were not so used. We know of no instance in which these great powers were used arbitrarily or in contempt of our concept of democracy.

Because the powers vested in the Government by the Emergency Powers Act were not abused, we do not argue that they should be continued. Such power is not democratic, and it lessens the prestige of Parliament. It is altogether fitting that the Act should now lapse.

But we have argued many times in these columns that no Government is any better than the men who comprise it, and has no sense of honour or justice greater than their collective regard for these qualities. Good men can be trusted with great powers; bad men cannot be trusted with any power at all. We do not suggest that the members of the Governments which have enjoyed the great authority contained in the Emergency Powers Act were men without fault, or that their ideals of honour and justice are a beacon to all the world. But we do point out that their sense of honour and justice was very strong, and that they have used their powers with the utmost discretion,—with such discretion, indeed, that we doubt if most Canadians knew that such powers existed.

Power, according to a popular phrase, corrupts, and absolute power corrupts absolutely. The great powers enjoyed by the Canadian Government during several years past have not resulted in any visible corruption. That is something to take note of, and in which we may all take pride.

Reasonable Salaries For Judges

It seems very likely that Parliament will shortly consider the matter of raising judges' salaries. We hope that something will be done about it, for judges' stipends have not kept pace with other rewards for service of equal importance.

We can only persuade first-rate men to accept judgeships if they do not lose too much by doing so. It will probably always be the case that a brilliant lawyer can make far more money in private practice than he will get on the Bench. But there are always men who will accept judgeships because they are impelled toward public service, because they like the honour and prestige that goes with the position, and because they feel that they will enjoy the very special sort of legal work which a judgeship involves. However, we must not expect them to make ridiculous sacrifices for these things. They have a standard of living which they do not want to relinquish; they have obligations to their wives and children; they know very well that the prestige of a position and its salary are linked in the public mind.

If we want good judges we must pay them reasonable stipends. And if we do not have good judges we may expect our standard of justice to decline, for it is not a good thing when all the cleverest men are below the Bench, and men of ordinary or sub-ordinary capacities are sitting on it. The Canadian judiciary has a good reputation, and it will cost us something to maintain it.

Congressman Hosmer says that the U.S.A is way out in front in the atomic race. And if we may ask an apparently stupid question, just what are they racing toward? And don't say Progress until you have counted to ten.

From The German Underworld

By SEBASTIAN HAFFNER

FOR the last two weeks the German public has been kept excited by two stories of a kind normally found in the pages of a Phillips Oppenheim novel rather than on the front pages of serious newspapers. Both are connected by the fact that members of one of the rather numerous Russian emigre organisations in this country figure prominently in them.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE week before Easter the East German State Security Service announced that a leading member of the Russian emigre organisation, a Dr. Truchnovic had gone over to them and placed himself at their disposal, taking with him "as proof of his bona fides" an agent of the Gehlen organisation, an American-sponsored and German-staffed intelligence service. Allegedly, Dr. Truchnovic, a Russian emigre of pre-war vintage, had no longer felt able to stand the increasing misuse of his organisation by American intelligence, and had decided to make a clean breast of it and end his days as an "honest Russian citizen."

✧ ✧ ✧

IT TURNED out that on the night of April 13 Dr. Truchnovic had visited one Herr Glaeske, an official of the German Ex-Prisoners' League in West Berlin, and that both men had since disappeared without trace. The wife and mother of Herr Glaeke, who had gone to the cinema that night, came back to find Herr Glaeske and his visitor gone, one carpet missing, their little dog bleeding and whimpering, and some traces of blood on the walls of their living room. Tenants of the block of flats where Herr Glaeske lived later told the West Berlin police that they had seen a somewhat extraordinary group of people move down the stairs: Glaeske himself carrying a carpet, one other man carrying an apparently unconscious figure (who might have been Dr. Truchnovic), and a woman. When they asked what was the matter, so they told police, Glaeske merely put his finger on his lips, and the woman in the group said something about going to a first-aid station.

✧ ✧ ✧

A Car of a certain make had, according to these witnesses, been waiting in front of the house. But no car fitting their description, or indeed no car with a suspicious-looking load, was noticed by the West Berlin police that night at any of the crossing points from West Berlin into the Soviet Sector of Berlin or Zone of Germany.

✧ ✧ ✧

FROM the published reports that is about all that can be considered as well-established. Some persons, whose identity has not been disclosed, but whose stories have been given wide and uncritical Press publicity, have since come forward to tell the West Berlin police that Glaeske was a man of well-known Communist sympathies and connections; but this is doubted by independent sources, and hardly in keeping with Glaeske's antecedents and official life story. It is of course possible that Glaeske, whose official and professional activities were certainly strongly anti-Communist, was in reality a secret East German or Russian agent who had trapped and kidnapped Dr. Truchnovic.

IT IS also, on the strength of the known facts, not impossible that he and Dr. Truchnovic both became the victims of unknown kidnappers. Finally, the possibility cannot be entirely excluded that the East German version is true and that Dr. Truchnovic is indeed the kidnapper and Glaeske the victim. The East Germans have since published a longer statement allegedly emanating from Dr. Truchnovic, but they have so far failed to produce Dr. Truchnovic in person which seems odd if he really went over to them of his own free will. About Glaeske there has been no further word from the East German authorities.

A week later an even odder story broke at the American headquarters near Bonn, where the American Information Service produced a man who introduced himself as a Russian captain and MVD (secret police) agent, by name Khokhlov, and told a most extraordinary story. According to this story, for which there is no outside corroboration of any kind, Khokhlov had for many months since the autumn of 1953—been going to and fro in Germany, Austria, Italy and Switzerland with two German Communist accomplices and a little arsenal of ingenious weapons and with orders to murder another member of the Russian emigre organisation NTS, a certain Mr. Okolovich in Frankfurt.

THIS murder never took place; rather, Captain Khokhlov — according to his own story — at the end of his many wanderings visited his intended victim, told him of his nefarious purpose, and thereafter went with him to the American intelligence authorities in Frankfurt (with whom Mr. Okolovich was apparently well connected) in order to repeat his self-accusation there. He also persuaded his two German accomplices (allegedly old German Communists who are said to be still, at their own request, in American custody, and who were not produced in person) to do the same, and they also gladly gave themselves up and came clean.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN contrast to the Truchnovic case, where something rather curious has certainly happened (though it is hard to say exactly what), nothing at all has happened in the Okolovich case, and the alleged story of the alleged Captain Khokhlov may not be true.

✧ ✧ ✧

THREE odd details make the story appear rather less than fully trustworthy at first sight. One is that the captain and his story were produced by the Americans only on April 22, while his alleged desertion and confession took place as early as February 20. Another is that the captain, who speaks German with the most striking Russian accent, has, according to his story, for months travelled aimlessly about Germany and Austria on a faked Swiss passport without ever arousing suspicion.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE THIRD and oddest detail is the matter concerning his wife. The captain used his Press conference for a moving appeal to the conscience of the world to save his wife — who, he says, is still living in Moscow — from MVD vengeance. In the same breath he volunteered a story which can only make certain, that this wife (if she really exists) will attract the utmost attention of the MVD; for, the captain said, it was his wife who persuaded him to desert his service and betray his country rather than become a murderer.

✧ ✧ ✧

IF this were true, and if it were also true that "Captain Khokhlov" really wanted to save his wife in Moscow from the MVD, he would bite off his tongue rather than blurt out such a thing for the whole world to overhear. Yet for all one can know, the odd story of Captain Khokhlov may indeed be true. If so, the question still arises of what is the reason for the extraordinary publicity given by the East German State Security to its equally suspicious-sounding story about Dr. Truchnovic.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS well known that all major States have their intelligence services, and that in the secret world of intelligence and counter-intelligence rather dirty things do happen not excluding occasional kidnappings and murders. It is also only too well-known that Germany, and particularly Berlin, are — perhaps inevitably, under present conditions —hotbeds of this underworld of agents and double-agents, and that many outwardly respectable-look organisations here have an underside which does not bear looking at.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT what do the Eastern and Western intelligence services intend by suddenly breaking into the field of propaganda, boasting publicly of their catches and publicising their murky business? Among the public they certainly do achieve a certain succes de scandale; they draw attention to themselves, and their heighten passions, excitements, fears and hatreds. But to what purpose?

An American Opinion: "WHAT, I WONDER IS THE OMINOUS NOISE I HEAR?"

The Aga Khan's Horses

By PENDENNIS

THE fact that the Aga Khan is planning to sell a large number of his bloodstock does not mean that he is giving up racing and breeding.

One of the most successful breeders of the last 25 years, he bred the Derby winners, Bahram, Mahmoud and Tulyar — the Aga Khan is, nevertheless a dealer at heart (as well), and a very shrewd one at that. He has owned, either wholly or partially, five Derby winners (his other two were My Love and Blenheim), and has sold them all. He received the staggering price of £250,000 for Tulyar (after announcing at the end of the horse's three-year-old career that he would not be sold, but would race as a four-year-old); a feat of salesmanship of which he can be justly proud.

On several occasions, the Aga Khan has commented in the Press upon the uneconomic state of the English Turf, which makes it impossible for a private owner-breeder to keep going without periodic successful sales.

A few years ago he bought practically all the stock of a large stud in a private deal, and he has probably now found himself with too many horses. Consequently, apart from the "other interests" which he quotes for the reason for his reducing his bloodstock interests, it would probably be wise, from the point of view of the welfare of his stud, to have a good weed-out, even if it means selling a possible Derby winner among the yearling colts submitted.

A large number of the bloodstock is owned in partnership with his son, Prince Aly Khan, a bold (and not always successful) gambler on the Turf and at the tables.

Why Should We Subsidize Quebec?

(CALGARY HERALD)

THE current row between Premier Duplessis of Quebec and the Dominion government on the subject of Quebec's income tax bodes ill for the unity of this nation. It bodes ill for a number of reasons — not the least of which is the fact that Mr. Duplessis' attitude, if pushed too far, would lead to the balkanization of Canada.

Most of the provinces have agreements with Ottawa whereby they accept a capitation grant from the Dominion, in return for which they refrain from imposing, or limit, provincial income taxes. Quebec has no such agreement, and continues to impose an income tax on a provincial basis. In the absence of a tax-renting agreement, the Dominion allows Quebec taxpayers to deduct the amount of tax they pay in Quebec, up to 5 per cent of their income, from the amount for which they are liable to Ottawa.

Mr. Duplessis now proposes to levy a 15 per cent provincial income tax in Quebec, and has been insisting that Ottawa should allow a 15 per cent rebate on the federal income tax payable by Quebec residents. Mr. Abbott has declined to do this. He says he is quite prepared to discuss the whole matter with Mr. Duplessis, but that Mr. Duplessis has not so far shown himself willing to discuss anything. Thus, matters appear to have reached a deadlock.

In essence, Mr. Duplessis' scheme is a device to compel tax-payers in other provinces to subsidize Quebec. Let us suppose, for the sake of argument, that Mr. Abbott has to raise $1,000,000,000 from income taxes. Let us suppose, further, that he expects to get one-fifth of this, or $200,000,000, from Quebec, after allowing for the existing 5 per cent rebate. An increase in the rebate to 15 per cent would, let us say, reduce the revenue from Quebec to $150,000,000. But Mr. Abbott still has to raise $1,000,000,000 from income tax; the only difference now is that instead of having to get $800,000,000 from the nine provinces, he must now increase the rates of tax so that the other provinces will pay $850,000,000. In other words, the other nine provinces will be subsidizing Quebec to the extent of $50,000,000 a year.

Mr. Duplessis, we have no doubt, is well aware of this; he probably sees no reason why the other provinces should not contribute to the support of the province of which he is premier. He must, however, excuse the other provinces if they do not see matters in quite the same light. If he persists with his savage 15 per cent provincial income tax, the only result he will achieve in the long run (apart from a temporary increase in revenue) will be to drive out of Quebec many people who now contribute to Quebec's prosperity. If other provinces can get along without provincial income taxes, it is hard to see why Quebec should not. In any event, there is no sign that Mr. Abbott intends to budge from his present, and wholly reasonable, position.

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

I Nebuchadnezzar was at rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace: I saw a dream which made me afraid, and the thoughts upon my bed and the visions of my head troubled me . . . This dream I King Nebuchadnezzar have seen. Now thou, O Belteshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof, forasmuch as all the wise men of my kingdom are not able to make known unto me the interpretation: but thou art able; for the spirit of the holy God is in thee.

Then Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, was astonied for one hour, and his thoughts troubled him. The king spake, and said, Belteshazzar, let not the dream, or the interpretation thereof, trouble thee. Belteshazzar answered and said, My lord, the dream be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies . . . Wherefore, O king, let my counsel be acceptable unto thee, and break off thy sins by righteousness, and thine iniquities by shewing mercy to the poor; if it may be a lengthening of thy tranquillity . . .

The king spake, and said, Is not this great Babylon, that I have built for the house of the kingdom by the might of my power, and for the honour of my majesty?

While the word was in the king's mouth, there fell a voice from heaven, saying, O king Nebuchadnezzar, to thee it is spoken: The kingdom is departed from thee. And they shall drive thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eat grass as oxen, and seven times shall pass over thee, until thou know that the most High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever he will.

The same hour was the thing fulfilled upon Nebuchadnezzar . . . And at the end of the days I Nebuchadnezzar lifted up mine eyes unto heaven, and mine understanding returned unto me, and I blessed the most High, and I praised and honoured him that liveth for ever, whose dominion is an everlasting dominion, and his kingdom is from generation to generation . . . And I Nebuchadnezzar praise and extol and honour the King of heaven, all whose works are truth, and his ways judgement: and those that walk in pride he is able to abase. (Dan. 4:4, 5, 18, 19, 27, 30-33, 34, 37.)

A Sale to the Soviet Union

(Ottawa Citizen)

An order for some $1,000,000 worth of dissolving pulp from British Columbia mills for shipment to the Soviet Union has been approved by Ottawa. Rayon pulp is used for making fibers that are spun into yarns for textiles. The reported deal evidently ties in to Premier Malenkov's promises of more consumer goods for the Russians, and it indicates that Canada may have some unexpected opportunities for sales to the Soviet Union.

Public Disbelief Growing Sales Probem

TORONTO (CP)—An American advertising executive told the Association of Canadian Advertisers Thursday that advertisers are faced with the growing problem of public disbelief and apathy because rival firms strive to outdo one another by piling claim upon claim for their products.

Henry O. Pattison, Jr., of the New York firm of Benton and Bowles, Inc., said: "We are engaged in far too many epic games of follow the leader and the public is really bored with the game."

He said he found a monotonous sameness to advertising messages.

NO IMAGINATION

"Each product is better than all its competitors because it does exactly the same thing that all the other products do. We must get back to more creative imagination in our ads, less sameness of appeal and promise."

W. A. Campbell, assistant advertising director of the Toronto Star, said Canada is becoming a comics-reading nation.

"Men are more ardent comics readers than women," he said. "A higher percentage of people in the two top income groups are readers than in the bottom income level. There seems to be a moral in all this if you have something to sell."

Senate Plans Inquiry Into Drug Traffic

OTTAWA (CP) — The Senate will launch an inquiry next fall into the illicit narcotics traffic and its effects in Canada.

Solicitor - General Macdonald, government leader in the upper chamber, is understood to be planning to propose the inquiry soon after the fall session of Parliament starts.

The proposal first was made in the Senate during the present session, by Senator Thomas Reid (L—British Columbia) who lives in the New Westminster-Vancouver area which the RCMP says is where more than one-third of Canada's narcotics addicts are concentrated.

CBC To Re-open Negotiations With TV Workers

The decision led to cancellation of a special meeting called for today by members of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and Moving Picture Operators (AFL-TLC).

Union leaders said the 200 members planned to walk off their jobs to attend the meeting to discuss the wages-hours dispute. They said the action would have cut rehearsals for several shows, left the film department without staff and hampered the news department.

The union was certified in August and negotiations began in November. Negotiations broke down Tuesday when the CBC presented its wage offer: A four-per-cent salary increase to casual workers and no increase to permanent employees.

The union said the television production staff if supposed to work a 40 or 42-hour week but must stay on the job up to 80 hours to get shows completed.

Swiss Guards Have 427th Anniversary

VATICAN CITY (AP) — With squeal of fife and beat of drum, the Vatican's colorful Swiss Guard today observed the 427th anniversary of their historic "death stand" in defence of Pope Clement VII.

On May 6, 1527, during the sack of Rome, the guards stood before the onslaught of German mercenaries, giving Pope Clement time to reach safety. Of the 189 guards, 147 were killed.

Board Rejects Wage Increase

A general increase of 20 cents an hour had been sought by the 90 employees of the Oshawa Railway Company, a CNR subsidiary.

The board recommended:

1. Eight paid statutory holidays per year. The men now get seven holidays but are not paid for them.

2. Two weeks vacation with pay after three years' service and three weeks after 15 years.

It turned down a request for paid sick leave but recommended that the company and men negotiate a contributory plan.

The majority report was given by judge W. S. Lane of Picton, board chairman, and D. F. Hamilton of Toronto, union nominee. The company representative on the board was R. V. Hicks of Toronto.

Labatt's 10th Gift Carload Despatched to Canadians in Korea

The tenth gift carload of beer from John Labatt Limited since Canadian servicemen went to the far east, is shown being formally presented at one of the London brewery's rail sidings. On behalf of the Army, Brigadier T. C. Gibson, C.B.E., D.S.O., C.D., comander, Western Ontario Area, accepted the gift from Hugh F. Labatt, company president.

This latest shipment of 40,000 pints will be issued to old and new units serving with the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade in Korea where over 6,000 Canadians are on United Nations duty guarding the neutral zone. Labatt's has contributed almost 400,000 pints to help brighten the rest periods of Canadian troops stationed in Korea and Europe.

Rival Of Perle Mesta Not Interested In Meals

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP) —A vivacious beauty, reported to be rivalling Perle Mesta as Washington's leading hostess, says she finds talk about food "moderately boring."

Mrs. Gwen Cafritz, whose parties are the talk of the town and her home the gathering place for top diplomats and policy makers, says she plans menus as "routine."

"I write out the list; I decide whether there will be light soups or heavy soups; I decide what wines; and the other courses; and then I hand the list to the chef and he does the rest.

"I am not very interested in food. I am far more interested in art, in community life, in good citizenship and in sports. I was trained in school to fence, swim and ride. I swim and ride almost every day."

STATELY FIGURE

The raven-haired Mrs. Cafritz, whose figure is moulded along hour-glass lines, talks with a slight European inflection, reminder of her Budapest birthplace.

She lives in a strikingly modern home, filled with thick rugs, a treasury of modern and traditional furniture, Mexican murals and the latest in oils, a huge sunken living room and lavish playrooms for overflow guests in a so-called basement.

We drank Martinis served by a handsome butler, also born in Budapest. Mrs. Cafritz tossed aside queries about the Mesta-Cafritz rivalry.

"Then why don't you invite her to some of your parties and why doesn't she invite you?" this reporter asked.

"Well, we just don't. Perhaps we will."

POISE, PERSONALITY

The talk quickly turned to other subjects. Mrs. Cafritz, who just the previous day had some 400 guests at a huge Easter party, appeared perfectly relaxed though she had gone through a "trying" day, riding, receiving huge bouquets of orchids and other flowers from the diplomats, and calling cards.

What turns a woman into a Washington hostess? Well, said Mrs. Cafritz, there is a lot of community work to be done, such as Red Cross and charity works, and money must be collected and parties given for those who work in the various groups.

Gold Mining Difficulties International

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP) — Federal Mines Minister Prudham says the "difficulties of the gold mining industry are primarily of an international nature."

He told the Kirkland Lake Chamber of Commerce Thursday night that Canada, along with other big traders like Britain and the United States, is employing gold toward the settlement of international trade balances. He added:

"As long as gold continues to perform this essential function, it is unwise that Canada take any measure on its own to allow the minting of gold coins or the hoarding of gold in this country.

MUST DEVELOP RESOURCES

"In Canada it is essential that our savings and capital be available for investment in the development of our natural resources."

Mr. Prudham said that although an extension of the Emergency Gold Mining Assistance Act would probably assist mines in the planning of operations, it is necessary to "look at it from the point of view of the government's responsibility to Parliament."

"Because the annual cost to the taxpayer now amounts to $15,000,000, we feel that the temporary nature of the measure must always be emphasized."

Michael L. McManus

Requiem mass for the late Michael Leo McManus, who died in a drowning mishap Sunday, was held in St. Paul's church, Lakefield on Thursday. Dr. J. V. Masterson was in the sanctuary. The interment was at St Peter's cemetery, Peterborough.

Jewel Thieves Raid Dunimarle Castle

CULROSS, Scotland (Reuters)—Jewel thieves have raided forbidding and lonely Dunimarle castle near here, the reputed scene of the murder of Lady MacDuff and her children by agents of MacBeth, Scottish king in the Shakespeare tragedy.

Valuables and art treasures worth several thousand dollars were stolen by thieves who broke into the castle, on a remote promontory by the sea.

More than 100 years ago, the castle was transformed into a museum of treasures by a Mrs. Madeline Erskine Sharpe, whose marriage at the age of 57 to an admiral who had been her childhood sweetheart ended in his death after three days.

Thieves broke into it Wednesday and stole Mrs. Sharpe's diamonds and emeralds.

To Unveil Tablet For Early Novelist

OTTAWA (CP)—A bronze tablet commemorating Julia Catherine Hart, Canada's first native-born novelist, will be unveiled at the University of New Brunswick convocation in Fredericton, May 11.

The resources department erected the memorial on the recommendation of the historic sites and monuments board.

Dr. Lillian Maxwell, a grandniece of the novelist and an author and historian in her own right, will unveil the tablet.

Julia Catherine Beckwith was born in Fredericton in 1796. She moved with her parents to Kingston in 1820 and two years later married George Henry Hart. In 1824 she published her first novel, St. Ursula's Convent. Later she published Tonnewonte, or the Adopted Son of America in the United States. She returned about 1831 to Fredericton, where she died 36 years later.

Returned In Mail

BRANTFORD (CP) — An opal ring valued at $1,400, stolen recently from the home of Dr. C. L. Rogers, was found in a pile of mail in a street letter box here Wednesday. A single ear ring valued at $40 also was found in the box.

Board Recesses

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 10-day recess was taken Thursday by the special board considering whether scientist J. Robert Oppenheimer should be restored to access to government atomic data. Chairman Gordon Gray said the board's recess was "to enable its members to review the record of its proceedings."

Minor Ball Tie-up Agreed Upon In Loop and School

The Peterborough Boys Baseball Association and the Peterborough Baseball School will work hand-in-glove together this summer, it was agreed at a meeting of the minor ball organization last evening in the City Hall conference room. At the well-attended gathering various plans for the coming season were discussed.

PETES' PITCHER—Tall Tony Kotowski, coach of the local grid Orfuns, and a former U.S.A. college baseball twirler, will pitch for the senior Petes this season in the Viaduct League. He has been looking quite impressive in workouts with the squad recently. Tony throws from the right side.

The Boys Baseball Association officers are: President, Wimp Borland; vice-president, Pat Calladine; secretary, Joe Gatfield; custodian-treasurer, Bill Bennett, and the team managers.

It is expected that an umpires' school for the minor setup will be staged here again in the near future, Ken Robinson, recreation director, making this announcement. Such a class proved successful last season.

KNOWS HIS STUFF

Bill Sisler, experienced teacher of baseball fundamentals and of advanced phases of the diamond sport, addressed the meeting and made a good impression. As the association president remarked later: "He certainly seems to know what he's talking about regarding baseball, and we'll be glad of his assistance in our association throughout the summer."

Mr. Sisler promised to work with the Boys Association when he isn't instructing his own school—which will have most of the players who perform in the regular system—and will be on call at any time by PBBA officers or team managers or coaches. The suggestion has been made to have loosening-up sessions and lectures each Saturday morning from now on for all boys interested in ball, with Sisler and other officials on hand, until the schedule begins about the middle of June.

NEED MANAGERS

The big need now is for managers and coaches to handle the teams, there being sufficient equipment on hand for the 12 to 15 teams expected in this season, but not enough men available to manage the squads. Parents and older boys, in particular, are asked to help out in this respect.

Indications are that the Boys Association will play on three diamonds, two on the field by Dominion Woollens and one at Brinton field. The organization operates teams in the peewee, bantam and the midget-juvenile sections, with OBA affiliations if winning city teams wish to proceed into provincial playdowns.

The first players' rally is tomorrow morning from 9:30 until noon at the Ashburnham Bowl, and all boys interested in the game—as well as officials and others—are asked to attend the opening session of the association.

Smythe Seeks Challenge Data

LONDON (CP) — Conn Smythe, boss of Toronto Maple Leafs, says that the Canadian high commissioner is still looking into the proper procedure involved in laying down a full-blown challenge to Moscow's best hockey club through diplomatic channels.

Smythe took up the matter personally with Norman Robertson, the high commissioner, last Monday. "But I have no idea how long it will take him to get the necessary information," Smythe said Thursday.

A spokesman at Canada House said that Robertson had notified External Affairs Minister Pearson at Geneva regarding the request. The Canadian embassy in Moscow now will be asked to look into the matter.

"The key question is whether Moscow has artificial ice," the spokesman said. "The challenge game would have to be played before or after the National Hockey League schedule. That's why we have to find out whether Moscow has artificial ice."

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Big Tony Kotowski will be one of the Petes' pitchers in the V-O senior baseball loop this season. The husky righthander, coach of the grid Orfuns and a good softballer, pitched college baseball in the States before coming here, and should be a regular on the mound for Joe Lowrey's squad this coming campaign. Junior West, Jerry Frizzelle and Brian Wade (latter two ex-juniors) are others on the hurling staff, and a pitcher from Quebec is coming in for a tryout next week. All of which sounds promising from a pitching point of view with a couple of relief flingers available if needed, too, in Gunner Whitehill and southpaw Joe Lowrey, the playing manager.

* * * * * *

Catching? Well, Jack Donlevy (hockey goalies catch a lot, also) and Bill Huntley are working out with the club, and Al Menzies may forget retirement. In other words, there'll be at least two catchers around, and one of them can also take an outfield post, when not back of the bat. Don Bigford is another possibility we can think of offhand. Some of the prospective infielders are Bill Edger, Freddy Garvey, Eddie Redmond (puck ace in the winter), and former juniors Gary Kearns and Clare Ferguson. Outfielders include Lowrey, Byron Young Keeler of Port Hope, Larry Foley, and one of the catchers. Joe Stewart apparently has retired after playing a lot of good ball for the senior Petes.

* * * * * *

Prepping For Openers

There are other prospects, no doubt, as well, but these chaps have been working out regularly and their names come readily to mind. They'll be drilling tomorrow aft in Riverside, prepping for the VOBL opener week from Sunday in Toronto. The Petes play the two Toronto teams that day in Millen Stadium, a double-header. Local opening will find Belleville Batas here on May 24. A pre-season check indicates that the local club will be a real contender in the six-team circuit, having a lot of hitting power, good fielding and steady pitching. A balanced outfit of youth and experience. But more on 'em again as they get shaken down in spring training next week.

Alpha Club has lined up another amateur boxing card for the Brock Arena on Monday eve, possibly their last show of the season. Main bout puts welter Emmett Crough of Alpha in against John McKinnon of Toronto, a five-rounder. Peterborough's Bill Cridland faces heavy Dube Mason of Toronto in a five-round semi-final on the card. Johnny Angers and Bill Twomey of this city meet Ray Bloom and Jack Roe of Toronto, respectively, in three-round bouts, and there'll be four other scraps to round out the mitt program. Plenty of keen fistic action was served up at the last boxing show here, and this one promises lively leather-pushing, too.

Big-Shouldered Boys

Annual meeting of the Orfuns Football Club will be held next Monday night at 7.30 when the election of officers will take place, a check made on TV tickets sold, and new rules discussed. Probably other matters on the agenda, also. Orfuns have the odd distinction of being ORFU intermediate "A" champions the past two years—Eastern Canada victors once, too—and still being in the hole financially. But they plan to carry on next autumn. Present slate of officers includes: President, Dr. Don Aitken; vice-prexy, Gord McGavin; secretary, Dr. Wilf Preston; treasurer, Denny Fitzgerald; co-managers, Gord Beatty and Wally Farr; as well as Stan McBride, Dr. Ralph Smyth, Bill Shadgett, Dan O'Connell, Dr. Les Calvert; and publicity representatives.

* * * * * *

The proposed Peterborough Baseball School, under Bill Sisler, seems to be pretty well set at the moment, and 'twas announced last eve at a meeting that Sisler would work closely, with the established Boys Baseball Association, formerly known as the PMBA. This is a good move and will remove doubts from the minds of the minor ball loop officials as to varying methods of teaching the inside game to the boys. Bill has the experience and instructional ability, plus major league training to back him up. He will aid these officials and team managers to keep boys' diamond play in one pattern from peewee right up through juvenile. First Saturday morn rally for the young prospects is tomorrow at the Bowl from 9.30 till noon.

School Students Plan Relay Carnival

HAMILTON (CP)—The Ontario interscholastic relay carnival to be held here May 8 is the first of its kind to be held in Canada, says J. R. Cornelius, meet director.

Approximately 850 students from Ontario public, private, separate and high schools are entered on the 32-event card.

Proceeds from the competitions will go to the Ontario Society for Crippled Children.

Schools from Windsor, Ottawa, Toronto, the Haliburton area, St. Catharines, Fort Erie, Belleville, Guelph, Sharbot Lake and London are among those who have sent in entries.

See Assault On Bannister's New Record

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—The barrier of the legendary four-minute mile is down, and track authorities throughout the world predict a wholesale assault on Roger Bannister's 3:59.4 record.

Medical and track men once said this feat was beyond human powers. Now the new theme song—in the wake of the bashful Briton's tremendous race Thursday at Oxford—is: This is only the beginning.

"Bannister's 3:59.4 mile was a great performance, but it will be broken," said Dean Cromwell, dean of American track coaches.

"Wes Santee (of Kansas) can do it any day under favorable circumstances. What's to keep John Landy of Australia and Ingvar Eriksson of Sweden from doing likewise?"

Santee, the supremely confident, almost cocky young collegian who holds the American record of 4:02.4, was not inclined to disagree.

SEES LOWER TIME

"That time is still not as low as it can be run," Santee, who had been the American hope to win the international four-minute sweepstakes, said resolutely.

Landy, the loose-armed Aussie whose 4:02 previously was the closest approach to Gunder Haegg's world record of 4:01.4 and Arne Andersson's 4:01.6, said in Helsinki, where he is running this week:

"I am sure many more will achieve similar results. Personally I believe Wes Santee will be the next—but not I. I am not in shape."

Haegg, the swift Swede, was proud that it had been he who predicted Bannister would be the first to crack his own great record which stood for nine years.

"Personally," Haegg said, "I have always thought the four-minute mile was more a psychological problem than a test of strength. I never considered it an impossibility."

Penticton, Sudbury Poised To Snap Up Third Game

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP) — Penticton V's and Sudbury Wolves move in on this fruit-growing centre tonight for the third in the best-of-seven run to the Allan Cup, and it's anybody's hockey game.

Each team, fighting to become the top senior amateur puck squad in Canada, has won one and this is the game where one or the other is going to prove it wasn't just an accident.

Sudbury, greeted with bands and banners when they arrived in Penticton, showed their appreciation Monday by taking the first game 2-1. V's and Wolves moved over to Vernon Wednesday and both were greeted with pomp and circumstance.

SHARE HONORS

Sharing honors with both clubs are two men from Montreal, Syl Breen and Mel Snowden. These two referees handed out 17 penalties in that first game, just to show the clubs who was boss.

But nobody listened and Wednesday's game was a carbon copy of the first contest, with a total of 17 penalties being assessed.

V's are bidding to take the title of "most colorful hockey club in Canada and will be playing tonight's game again clad in another club's uniform.

GARB IDENTICAL

If the Penticton club gets past the hard-checking easterners this game, they will be in the driver's seat, since the fourth game is scheduled for Penticton's Memorial Arena Saturday night and no Penticton team would dare lose a hockey game on their own ice before a Saturday night crowd—not after having lost one of the current series there earlier.

Both clubs are hungry for an Allan Cup—Sudbury to balance up the one they won in 1937 and Penticton to wipe out the stigma of their defeat in last year's final by Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

Line-ups were expected to be similar to those used in the first two games as neither club has yet picked up any injuries.

Quebec Edges Calgary In 2-1 Triumph

CALGARY (CP)—Quebec Aces, showing a sharp reversal of form edged Calgary Stampeders 2-1 here Thursday night to move back on even terms in their best-of-nine playoff series for the Edinburgh Trophy.

Stampeders took the first game of the series 8-1. Third contest is scheduled for Edmonton Saturday night.

A crowd of 7,314 watched as Aces, apparently rested from their trip west, played it well throughout to be full value for their victory. They moved into a 1-0 lead in the first period and after Stamps tied the count midway in the second they moved ahead with what proved to be the winning goal.

GOOD DEFENCE

In the last period they tossed up a stout defensive system to thwart the goal-hungry Calgary club.

Ray Powell and Ludger Tremblay scored for Aces while Steve Witiuk notched Calgary's lone goal.

The game was played at a smooth clip and tempers were unruffled. Six penalties were handed out by referee Scotty Morrison—three to each club.

Cincinnati Reds Shade Giants 5-4 Move Up To Second

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

Johnny Temple, who aims for first base instead of the fence is proving the sparkplug of Cincinnati Redlegs' fight for [illegible] in the National League.

Temple has been personally responsible for the winning run in 25 per cent of the Reds' victories this spring. He drove in the deciding tally again Thursday as Cincinnati shaded New York Giants 5-4 and moved into second place, half a game behind Philadelphia Phillies.

Cincinnati's rise to second came as Brooklyn Dodgers fell before Chicago Cubs 8-7 in 11 innings and Milwaukee beat Pittsburgh 3-0. The Phillies were rained out at St. Louis.

In the American League, Chicago White Sox stretched their lead to a game and a half over Detroit and Cleveland by edging Washington 5-4. The Indians won their seventh game in eight eastern starts, 3-2, over Philadelphia. New York Yankees trounced Baltimore Orioles 9-0.

LOSE TO WEATHER

Boston and Detroit again lost a decision to the weather. The Red Sox haven't been able to play a home game since last Saturday.

Faulty fielding in left field—a sore point with the Dodgers for two seasons—helped Chicago to its winning run. With Randy Jackson on first in the 11th, Ernie Banks doubled to left. George Shuba couldn't find the handle and Jackson scampered home.

The Braves beat the Pirates behind the five-hit pitching of Lew Burdette, who scattered five hits in turning in the first shutout by a Milwaukee pitcher this season. Their third straight victory over Pittsburgh moved the Braves into fifth place.

STAGE RALLY

At Washington, the White Sox waited until two were out in the ninth before staging their winning rally. Nellie Fox doubled and rode home on Minnie Minoso's fourth single. Minoso scored after an error and Willard Marshall's single. Minoso drove in four runs.

The Orioles, hitless wonders of the American League, managed only one hit. The Yanks battered Joe Coleman for four runs in the first inning with Yogi Berra's homer the big blow.

Will Not Consider Change In Site

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP)—Otto Mayer, chancellor of the International Olympic Committee, declared Thursday that it is "absolutely out of the question" that the committee will transfer the 1956 Olympic Games from Melbourne.

With the IOC due to open a meeting in Athens next Monday, new talk arose this week over the possibility of changing the Olympic site—a point that has been kicked around almost from the time the award was made to Australia.

The newest pressures stemmed from the break in Australian-Russian diplomatic relations over the Petrov case and the speculation that the Iron Curtain countries might join with the let's-skip-Australia forces in voting to move the games.

However, Mayer's strong statement on his departure for the Grecian city added new strength to Melbourne's position.

Syracuse Whips Havana 4-1; Half-Game Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Syracuse Chiefs are fattening themselves up in the International League because they capitalize on clusters.

Big innings, it seems, have characterized the Chiefs' play so far this young season and the boys had another one—a four-run seventh—Thursday night to whip the Havana Sugar Kings, 4-1.

The victory gave Syracuse a one-half game lead over the Rochester Red Wings, beaten by Montreal 4-2. In other games, the Richmond Virginians grabbed a 7-5 decision from Buffalo and the Ottawa Athletics pounded five Toronto pitchers to win 9-3.

At Montreal, lefty Tony Lasorda pitched a six-hitter to give Montreal the verdict over Rochester. Ham Hamric hit a two-run homer to help the Montreal cause.

Richmond also uncorked a big inning—a five-run affair—in the seventh against Buffalo. Joe Lutz brought in three runs with a double to spark the uprising. Angelo Nardella got credit for the win although he worked only six innings.

Walt Kellner pitched his second victory for Ottawa as the Athletics pounded out 14 hits. Sam Jethroe hit a two-run homer for Toronto.

SAYS WILL FREEZE

VICTORIA (CP) — Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the British Columbia Museum, said Thursday that in his opinion Florence Chadwick, the world's top woman swimmer, "will freeze" when she attempts her Victoria-Port Angeles swim next August.

Dr. Carl, thoroughly familiar with coastal waters, said "I'll be very much surprised if she makes it."

Temperature in the 18¼ mile stretch in August will be around 52 degrees, he said.

Ask Fire Marshal To Investigate Blaze

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario fire marshal's office was called in today to investigate a $75,000 blaze in a four-storey York street building Wednesday night after firemen expressed surprise at the rapidity with which the flames spread.

District chief Eugene Torpey said the cause has not been determined.

The building housed a printing business on the ground floor and a sportshirt firm on the top three floors and damage to the contents was another $50,000, he said.

Harry Solomon, one of the three partners who own the shirt firm, was questioned by fire chief Joe Waterman about locked steel bars over the windows leading out to fire escapes.

Valdmanis Granted Bail Of $50,000

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Dr. Alfred Valdmanis, held on fraud charges totalling $420,000, was granted bail by magistrate Hugh O'Neill Thursday.

Magistrate O'Neill said he would be released on $50,000 personal bail and two sureties of $25,000 each.

Bail was granted after Dr. William Black, a psychiatrist who examined the former director of economic development for Newfoundland, said he seemed to "be in full control of himself—with his normal powers of concentrations upset by the gravity and threat of the present situation."

Valdmanis will appear in court today, and if the bail is posted, will be released.

Joseph Lancashire

MILLBROOK (ENS)—The funeral of Joseph Lancashire, who died suddenly at his home here on Sunday, was conducted on Tuesday from the G. T. MacPherson funeral home. Mr. Lancashire, who was in his 91st year, was a grandson of John Deyell, the original settler of Cavan township.

The Rev. W. H. Heustin of Grace Presbyterian church officiated at the service. Pall bearers were Walter H. Coombe, Howard Toms of Newcastle, Wilfred Elson, A. R. Payne, David Fowler and Douglas Sheppard. Interment was in Millbrook Presbyterian cemetery.

U.S. League Ties Up Players

SARNIA (CP)—Norm Perry, outgoing president of the Canadian Rugby Union, told a service club meeting here Thursday night the United States professional league has tied up every likely-looking young football player in sight.

He said this was a result of last season's wrangle over U.S. football players coming to Canada.

Although Canada's gridirons may not be any greener than those in the States, "young players here have some prospects of playing on them rather than growing old on the bench," he said.

He said he knew of a young Nebraska player contacted by Sarnia Imperials who has been offered a sixth-string quarter position with an American team already carrying three experienced men in the position, as well as two college players of outstanding calibre.

Perry said television has helped football "rather than hindered it." In addition to the publicity boost, television, radio and motion-picture rights are annually bringing in a large amount of money to the CRU treasury, he said.

Cut Gas Prices, Predict Price War

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Service stations of three major gasoline companies Thursday cut their prices of standard gasoline to 37½ cents a gallon and many dealers predicted a drawn-out gas-price war.

Sun Oil Company Wednesday dropped its one-grade, premium, price two cents to 37½ cents. Thursday most Shell and Texaco stations and some White Rose dealers cut their standard gasoline to the same price.

NEW PROOF

THAT MILLIONS CAN END THE NEED FOR LAXATIVES

With all the progress of medical science over the past 30 years, authorities say there is no longer any reason why irregularity should be our most widespread human malady.

Nor is there any reason for developing the habitual use of harsh laxatives—of dosing with one preparation after another in the vain hope of finding, in some potion or pill, the "secret" of lasting relief.

Long-continued study of the problem has shown that one of the most common causes of irregularity is lack of bulk in the diet. And when this is the case, the common-sense correction is to be found not in the drug store but in your food store!

IT HAS LONG BEEN A MEDICALLY RECOGNIZED FACT THAT NATURE HAS PROVIDED, IN THE NATURAL FOODS MEN WERE INTENDED TO EAT, ALL THE ELEMENTS NECESSARY FOR THE LIFE-LONG AVOIDANCE OF COMMON CONSTIPATION.

In no natural food is this natural bulk so ideally found as in the outer layers, or bran, of the whole wheat kernel which, as you know, is lost in modern milling.

Because of the known value of bran in promoting regularity the Kellogg Company has produced a complete, whole bran—with nothing taken away to lessen its effectiveness—sold under the name of Kellogg's All-Bran, the natural laxative cereal. How effective is All-Bran? This has been demonstrated in a series of systematic clinical studies reported in leading medical journals.

In one study, 135 people with known delayed bowel function were given one ounce of All-Bran daily for one week. They were studied clinically and with X-ray with tests made before, during and after they ate the All-Bran.

IN A FOLLOW-UP STUDY, BETTER THAN 6 OUT OF EVERY 7 PATIENTS WHO WERE GIVEN ALL-BRAN IMPROVED.

The greatest advantage of All-Bran is that it corrects the cause of irregularity due to insufficient bulk. Chemical or drug-type laxatives, on the other hand, are intended only for overnight relief of a temporary stoppage.

When people use these products habitually—in a way that laxative makers never intended—they punish their digestive system in a way that nature never intended. Instead of correcting the cause, they often actually make their condition worse.

If you think you must take a laxative preparation occasionally, do so. But do it wisely. Read the instructions completely. AVOID EXCESSIVE USAGE. But for natural and lasting relief put your trust in nature. Just eat daily a one-ounce serving of All-Bran for breakfast and drink plenty of water.

This All-Bran plan has helped millions to re-establish and to maintain healthful regularity. Why not you?

Bannister Breaks 4-Minute Mile Record Chalks Up Dazzling 3:59 In Severe Cold

By MILT MARMOR

OXFORD, England (AP)—Roger Bannister, the master miler who crashed the four-minute barrier, drew back into his shell of shyness today while the athletic world acclaimed his feat of the century.

The quiet, 25-year-old medical student shattered the world record with a dazzling 3:59.4 clocking in the blustery cold here Thursday night and thus won the race to the peak of trackdom's Mount Everest—the four-minute mile.

"I think the four-minute mile has been overrated," he said quietly as if trying to justify his feat. "After all it's only a time. The essence of athletics is racing against an opponent rather than a clock."

Today, with rapturous congratulations and cheers of 1,000 spectators there for the memorable moment in track and field history still in his ears and heart, Bannister drove to London and went on television for millions to see and hear him.

He said he was tired at the end of the race and that he knew he'd just about make it to the end.

"I think people have been frightened of this four-minute mile," he said. "Now that it's been broken, I'm sure other runners will break it, too."

HE RELAXED

"Relax, relax."

"That call made me feel really good," he said. "I felt then I had a great chance. As I neared the end of the third lap for the first time I felt really confident I could do it.

"When I got to that last bend, I wasn't thinking of anything in particular. I just couldn't think. I saw the tape faintly ahead, put everything into getting there and that was the last I knew about it."

That's how the slim, six-foot one-inch speedster broke Gunder Haegg's record of 4:01.4 that had stood since 1945. His quarter-mile clockings for the four-lap track were 57.5, 60.7, 62.3 and 58.9.

Although the slight 157-pounder was unimpressed by his great effort, he did acknowledge that the 15-mile-an-hour wind in the Iffley road track might have cost him two seconds.

"I think the 3:56 mile is within reach," he said. But he didn't say he'd be the one to do it.

FIRST SINCE FALL

This was his first race since last fall and his mother and father were among the spectators. It was on the very cinders where eight years ago he ran his first mile race as an Oxford freshman—in more than five minutes.

When he sprinted those last 300 yards to the finish line and sporting immortality, experts wondered only what new worlds are left for him to conquer.

Only a few weeks ago he commented somewhat diffidently that he felt he was a better half-miler than a miler. That means he could set out after the 880-yard world record of 1:48.6 now held by Mal Whitfield, or possibly the wonderous mark of 1:46.6 for 800 meters established in 1939 by Germany's Rudolph Harbig.

The world 1,500-meter record of 3:43—held jointly by Haegg, Lennart Strand of Sweden and Werner Luegg of Germany—seemed easily within Bannister's reach. He tied it unofficially in his record-shattering mile. It was unofficial only because there was but one clocker at that point and the rules require three for official marks.

RARE CLOCKING

Thursday's competition was an unpublicized track meet between the Oxford University track team and the Amateur Athletic Association.

Bannister trailed his competitors, Chris Chataway of Oxford and Chris Brasher, former Cambridge hurdler, for the first three laps and then put on his great finish. Chataway, who finished second, was timed in 4:07.2, his best time to date.

A survey of the Iffley road oval immediately after the race showed that it measured a half-inch more than the required quarter-mile. The International Amateur Athletic Federation must approve Bannister's record before it is official but there appeared little doubt that approval will be granted.

Immediately ahead lies a year of military service for Roger. He gets his medical degree in a few months. But before he joins the service, he will run for Britain in the British Empire Games in Vancouver and the European championships during the summer.

Then, when he is finished with his tour of duty, he will begin training for the 1956 Olympics hoping to make up for his failure in the 1952 games when he finished fourth in the 1,500-meter test. That still rankles him.

A GREAT FIRST

His record may be bettered any day—and observers around the world won't be surprised if it is—but this smooth running machine always will be remembered as the man who pushed aside the seemingly impregnable barrier of the four-minute mile.

He aimed at it with scientific precision. He knows all there is to know about his own heart, lungs and circulation. He has done outstanding medical research in physiology and control of breathing. Medical publications have carried his treatises on problems of human runners.

His great heart has a pulse rate of about 50 in repose as against the average for his age of 72. His long body takes a pair of trousers with 35-inch legs. He carries the strong force of character needed to punish himself religiously during his workouts all winter.

As for the race itself, the weather had been so bad right up until a half hour before the starting time that he debated whether to make an effort at a real fast mile. But when the weather cleared, he announced:

"I'll try."

He took the fourth position from the pole and the starter fired his gun. Chris Brasher, formerly of Cambridge, dashed into the lead. Bannister stayed at his heels as he led past the 440 and 880.

EFFORTLESS STRIDE

Then Chris Chataway, an ex-Oxford student, took over and Bannister moved in behind him with a smooth, effortless stride. Chataway drove himself around the far bend and into the back stretch.

With 300 yards to go, Bannister exploded.

He left Chataway in his wake and forged into the rough wind leading to the last turn. He was straining, but he never faulted. His head wobbled slightly as he drove toward the tape in those last, agonizing 50 yards.

When it was over, he dropped exhausted into the arms of two officials. But he regained his breath seconds later and rushed over to thank Chataway and Brasher.

He said he thought the first quarter was too slow and he called on Brasher to go faster, faster. He apparently heard incorrectly when the announcers called the first quarter time of 57.5. That was fast indeed.

Then, while his parents embraced him, an Oxford youth led a group of congratulators in:

"Three cheers for Bannister."

The British newspapers, naturally, splashed his achievement in huge headlines on the front pages, for it has been a long time since this country has had much to cheer about in sports.

JOCKEY HURT

TORONTO (CP) — Apprentice jockey Bob Cormack, suffered a broken back and broken collarbone in a spill at Dufferin race track Monday, was in fair condition in hospital Thursday night. Doctors said he won't be back in the saddle for at least eight months. Cormack [illegible] of western Canada, was trampled when his horse, Bitterroot, stumbled.

THE DANCER RETURNS

NEW YORK (AP)—Native Dancer, the people's horse, will return to racing wars today in the $15,000 Commando Purse at Belmont Park against a sharp field of sprinters in a six-furlong event.

The great grey four-year-old, fourth leading money-winning horse in the world, hasn't raced since last Aug. 22 when he won the American Derby at Chicago's Washington Park. Shortly after his return to New York it was discovered he had suffered foot bruises that prevented him from meeting the Greentree's Tom Fool in Belmont's Sysonby Mile. Alfred Vanderbilt retired the Dancer for the season Sept. 19, a week before the Sysonby.

The Dancer has won 18 of his 19 races—his only loss being to Dark Star in the 1953 Kentucky Derby.

SNEAD, SECOND

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va. (AP)—Joe Taylor sneaked in from Charleston, W. Va., Thursday and horned in on Sam Snead's Greenbrier open golf tournament by beating par by five strokes with a 65 and the first-round lead.

Snead, who is out to win the tournament on his home course for the fourth straight time, ended a stroke behind.

HUTTON NAMED

LONDON (AP)—Britain's cricket selectors Thursday confirmed veteran Len Hutton as the country's number one cricketer by naming him to head the British team for the season's first test match series against Pakistan, opening at Lords June 10.

They indicated he would also lead Britain's team out against Australia for the vital test matches later in the year.

Judy Holliday Finally Gets New-Type Movie Role

By BOB THOMAS

Billie is the squeaky-voiced dumb gal from the wrong side of the tracks who makes her way up in society via her looks and her illogical logic. Judy started playing Billie in "Born Yesterday" on the stage. She lasted for three years, stopping in the middle to play an almost identical character in "Adam's Rib."

Then, after much manoeuvring, she came west to play the film version of "Born Yesterday," and won an Oscar in her first starring picture. She did two more pictures, "The Marrying Kind" and "It Should Happen To You," but the roles plainly smacked of Billie Dawn.

Now she is appearing in a movie with the unique title "Phffft." When I watched her rehearse a scene, there were no overtones or undertones of Billie. It was all Judy.

She no longer has the short-bobbed hair. She wears an attractive bun, and her once-plump figure is now wasp-waisted. Instead of her garish costumes she has an assortment of chic gowns. And the squeak has been replaced with her now modulated, lightly inquiring voice.

"Yes, this is about as far from Billie as I can get," she remarked. "After all, you can't go on playing the same role all your life."

The odd title describes the status of Miss Holliday's marriage in the new picture. It is the story of a woman who tries to adjust to divorce.

Admits Fire

OTTAWA (CP) — A jail farm prisoner, Joseph Egoshen, 38, Thursday pleaded guilty to setting fire to one of the farm's dairy buildings "to get even for the six-months rap they gave me for vagrancy." He was remanded for mental examination. Egoshen admitted starting the $20,000 fire last week at Burritt's Rapids jail farm.

Lands Safely

NEW YORK (AP)—A transatlantic Stratocruiser with 62 persons aboard landed safely at Idlewild airport Thursday, after being hung up above the field two hours with a bad nose wheel. One of the passengers was an infant.

Quebec CCF Supports Premier Duplessis' Claim

MONTREAL (CP)—The Quebec CCF party Thursday night backed Premier Duplessis' claim that the new provincial income tax should be fully deductible from federal income tax payments.

In a radio address only a few hours after CCF National Leader Coldwell had told the House of Commons his party is "thoroughly in support" of the federal government stand in the income tax issue, Michel Chartrand, a member of the provincial party executive, said:

"The provincial CCF council feels that every effort should be made to have the tax at the present rate fully deductible from federal income tax payments."

Speaking on the CBC program "La Politique Provinciale," Mr. Chartrand criticized both Premier Duplessis and the St. Laurent government for the handling of the issue.

Mr. Duplessis had made "no effort to consult with federal authorities regarding the deductibility of the tax" and was responsible for "much of the misunderstanding" that existed.

The federal government had also "acted in an irresponsible manner in the whole problem of federal-provincial relations."

Raps Attitude Toward French Canada

MONTREAL (CP)—A university professor roundly criticized Thursday the "narrow, unjust, self-righteous" attitude to French-speaking Canadians in some parts of Canada.

Murray G. Ballantyne, lecturer at the French-speaking University of Montreal and a former professor of history at the Roman Catholic English-speaking Loyola College, said English-speaking Canadians have failed to follow the British example of respect for "the rights and even the sensitivities of French Canadians."

"Canada is the French-Canadians' home and they ought to be able to feel at home from the Atlantic to the Pacific," he told a Montreal Lions club.

An example of British policy was the placing of education under provincial control and the principle of separate schools.

SAYS STRAYED

But educational practices in Ontario had strayed away from this ideal. There "Catholic schools can be carried beyond the primary level only at the cost of double taxation."

While the English in Quebec were perfectly free to teach in their own tongue, French in Ontario was recognized only "as a subject of instruction."

"They (French-Canadians) do not trust us," he said. "They feel we do not accept them as partners in building Canada.

"Therefore they cling tenaciously to the one safeguard they know—the constitutional rights of the province of Quebec."

Pakistan Allows Planes To Land

KARACHI, Pakistan (Reuters)—The Pakistan government will allow American transport planes carrying French paratroop reinforcements to Indo-China to refuel at Karachi, it was authoritatively stated today.

India refused to allow the troops to be flown over Indian territory. The current airlift will also refuel in Ceylon, as with the first one.

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP) — Guards trying to prevent the escape of 10 inmates from the Maryland state reformatory for males Thursday night shot and wounded seven prisoners, none seriously. All 10 were recaptured.

Visit Defence Posts

OTTAWA (CP)—Some 35 leaders of churches, universities, industry, trade unions and other national organizations will visit some defence establishments next week at the invitation of Defence Minister Claxton. He said Thursday: "We can best build up and maintain our defences to meet requirements of the 'long pull' if there is as wide as possible an understanding of the objectives and of the progress being made to meet its requirements."

Cabinet Minister To Gate-Crash Park Pasture

OTTAWA (CP)—Will a cabinet minister or a Social Credit member of Parliament from Alberta be the first to gate-crash a park pasture? And who is responsible for damages to farm crops by foraging wild animals from national parks?

No man can answer the first question, posed Thursday as the Commons considered estimates of the department of northern affairs and national resources, until the summer.

As for the other, Fred S. Zaplitny (CCF—Dauphin), who asked that the federal government pay for damages to farm crops by wild animals from national parks, was told the government has no responsibility in such cases.

In a varied debate, Banff park in the Rockies of Alberta was much discussed and F. D. Shaw (SC—Red Deer) said he figured he'd defy "no trespassing signs" on an 18-square-mile tract outside the park just to see what happens. Albertans referred to the government tract as the "iron curtain area."

Called Ya-Ha-Tinda, it was set aside 20 years ago to graze 150 horses of the parks branch.

Mr. Shaw said he does not see why the public is barred from the property. He believed it should make an interesting test case for the courts when he trespasses.

MIGHT BE JAILED

Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) suggested he might be jailed. Mr. Shaw replied: "All I can say is, if I am not back here again, it has been nice knowing all of you."

Northern Affairs Minister Lesage whose department administers national parks, said he plans to visit Banff this summer and will try to crash the tract gates before Mr. Shaw. He said, too, that wardens will have to be hired if the area is opened to the public.

Mr. Zaplitny said farmers near Riding Mountain national park in Manitoba suffer heavy crop damage from the nibbling of park animals off their preserve. Neither the federal government nor the province would give compensation.

Mr. Lesage said the government is responsible for the animals only while they are within the parks. If elk, deer and other animals wandered on to farm lands, the responsibility was provincial.

EYE-EYE-EYE-YIPE! — Joseph Cannarioto isn't taking any chances. He's using all the eyes he could get to take in the charms of Scheril London, at a ball held by the Art Students League in New York City. All but one of Cannarioto's eyes were painted on, and are of little use in enjoying the sights.

CANADIAN PEAT

The bulk of Canada's output of peat moss comes from British Columbia and Quebec.

Ask Larger Grant For Miner Foundation

OTTAWA (CP) — The government was asked Thursday night to increase its annual $5,000 grant to the Jack Miner Foundation, which operates the Kingsville, Ont., bird sanctuary founded by the late Jack Miner.

Both James McBain (PC—Elgin) and C. W. Hodgson (PC—Victoria, Ont.) asked for a larger grant. Mr. Hodgson suggested $6,000.

Mr. McBain said the foundation has faced rising costs and had a $5,000 deficit last year. The grant had been unchanged since 1946.

Woman Fined $424 For Bingo Cheating

CHATHAM (CP) — Dorothy Graves, 26, of Detroit, was fined $424 and $90 costs Thursday when she pleaded guilty to a charge of cheating at a bingo game with intent to defraud.

Miss Graves had been found with a card which had not been issued by members of a Wallaceburg club for a bingo game. Club officers found the discrepancy when they checked the card's serial number.

Kept In Dark Six Weeks McGillis Says

Reply Made To Mayor By Former Chairman Of Centre Committee

"The mayor must have known who the cap fitted or he wouldn't have named the wearer."

This was the substance of a reply today by D. A. McGillis to Mayor Norman Graham's statement Thursday that Mr. McGillis' criticism of city clerk E. A. Outram was unjustified.

When he announced his resignation from the chairmanship of the Memorial Centre general committee Wednesday, Mr. McGillis said, "I figure there's only one man in Peterborough running the show."

MENTIONED NO NAMES

"When I made that statement, I didn't mention any names whatsoever," Mr. McGillis told The Examiner today. "It must have been very obvious to His Worship who a cap of this distinction would fit, because he was not long at making an identification public."

Mr. McGillis also made reference to the mayor's suggestion that he had made his decision to resign too hastily. Mr. McGillis said his decision was "not hasty at all" but that he had been kept in the dark for six or seven weeks while many meetings had been held.

(Mr. McGillis had taken particular objection to a report that the site for the Memorial Centre had been sanctioned by the exhibition board, although he had not heard anything about it until he read it in The Examiner. Mr. Outram is chairman of the site committee.)

NOT AT MEETINGS

"As general chairman of the Memorial Centre, I felt that after the public had elected me, I should have been at all meetings or at least informed of their results, because it is the public who donated to this project", Mr. McGillis told The Examiner today.

"Furthermore, when the mayor decided to resign as an alderman of our fair city on two rather hasty occasions, I had no remarks to make regarding His Worship's hasty actions. People who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones.

FOUND UNDERCURRENTS

"Ever since coming to Peterborough, I have endeavored to promote and help sport in every way possible. My one main hope has been to see the Memorial Centre constructed and operating; but, due to undercurrents I was unable to compete with, I deemed it advisable to resign in the hope that someone could choose some person who could overcome these undercurrents."

Mr. McGillis also made reference to the mayor's reminder that the city clerk had taken on the chairmanship of the site committee on his own time and that it was costing the citizens of Peterborough nothing.

"It would appear from the mayor's remarks that a certain gentleman was the only one giving his own valuable time," Mr. McGillis said "Was the mayor under the impression that anyone connected with the Memorial Centre received a salary or any expenses of any kind?"

LET MEMBERS SPEAK

The mayor had added that the members of the site committee felt the same way as he did about the committee chairmanship. Mr. McGillis thought that if he were mayor, he would let the members of the committee speak for themselves.

His simultaneous resignation from the board of directors of the Peterborough Exhibition had nothing to do with the selection of a site for the Memorial Centre.

Mr. McGillis added.

"It was for other reasons known to the president and directors of the board," he explained.

Mr. McGillis said he had been misquoted by The Examiner when he was reported as saying, "There are a lot of nice people on the board and a lot of very stupid people."

"I stated there were a lot of nice people on the board and a few of the others," Mr. McGillis

Foremen Plan Niagara Visit

A special CPR train will leave here at 7:15 a.m. Saturday for Niagara Falls with CGE employees to see the big hydro electric power commission project known as the Sir Adam Beck generating station No. 2.

The foremen's association will be represented by 175 of the CGE party, with 125 other employees. They will have lunch at the refectory of the Niagara parks commission whose manager, H. R. Bain, was the first steward of the Kawartha golf and country club.

Much of the electrical equipment of HEPC project is being manufactured by Canadian General Electric Co. Part of their contract is the No. 1 generator that is on the line ahead of schedule. Installation of the power producing plant is advancing, and the extent of the entire project is reflected in its capacity of 1,428,000 horse power.

The Peterborough visitors, after seeing in part the product of their own works, return to Niagara Falls at 4:30, and their train leaves at 7 p.m., due here at 11:25 o'clock. An added attraction is the expectation of seeing the beauty of blossom time in the Niagara country.

Small Girl Suffers Burns And Bruises

A nine-year-old girl was injured late Thursday afternoon when she was struck down by a car on Monaghan Rd. Marion Buchanan, who lives at 657 Little St., suffered road burns and bruises to her legs, back and head. She was treated at her home by a doctor.

Driver of the car was David H. Brown, 740 Orpington Rd. He was driving south on Monaghan Rd. when the child stepped out from the sidewalk. He applied his brakes, but was unable to prevent colliding with the youngster.

No other accidents were reported in the city Thursday.

Sloggett Wins

Chalmers Told to OK Motel

Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of the Ontario High Court Thursday granted an application for an order of mandamus requiring city engineer A. E. Chalmers to issue a building permit to Neil R. Sloggett to erect a motel at 390 George St. S.

Mr. Sloggett, whose 45-day fight for a building permit was finally crowned with success in Ontario Supreme Court Thursday, said today he expected to have the permit by next Tuesday.

He intends to get construction started on the nine-room motel as soon as he gets the permit. The building will stand on the edge of his George St. property and is expected to take about six weeks to complete.

Mr. Sloggett originally applied for a building permit March 22 but was turned down by the city planning board. He then applied to city council, who recommended to the planning board that they classify motels as commercial enterprises, similar to hotels, and that if Mr. Sloggett's application met the conditions fixed by the board, he be granted a permit to erect a motel.

NEIGHBOURS POLLED

The planning board then took a poll of George St. residents within a 200-foot radius of the proposed site of the motel. Six opposed the motel, eight were unopposed and two did not answer. The board also received a petition from residents on Lake, Romaine and Crescent streets, consisting of 16 or 18 people, objecting to the motel.

The planning board accordingly decided, by a 4-2 vote, not to recommend a permit to Mr. Sloggett "based on the fact that motels were not initially included in central commercial in the zoning by-law and that as a result of the poll that was taken that indicated a split of about 50-50 of the views of residents that we reject the application."

Mr. Sloggett and his legal counsel, John Corkery, then appeared before city council and asked for a formal notice as to whether or not the city engineer was to be authorized to grant the permit so they could use it in "future proceedings."

Mr. Corkery told council he understood the planning board intended to reclassify the site as residential, although it was commercial at the time.

In consideration of Mr. Sloggett's request, council voted an "outgright refusal" to grant the permit, to enable him to seek his desired remedy in the courts.

Thudrsday's hearing of Mr. Sloggett's application for an order of mandamus was heard by Chief Justice McRuer in judges' chambers at Osgoode Hall, Toronto.

Cromie Must Stand Trial At June Sessions Of Peace

At the conclusion of a preliminary hearing Thursday, Magistrate W. R. Philp QC, committed Lorne Cromie for trial at the next general sessions of the Peace in June. Cromie is charged with breaking and entry and theft.

Along with two other Peterborough men, James Atkins and Gerald Hogan, he was arrested at the scene of a break-in at the Steinkruass warehouse March 15. Hogan earlier pleaded guilty to the offence and was sentenced to six months imprisonment. Atkins has been committed for trial by a higher court.

Since his arrest, Cromie has been in jail, because he has been unable to obtain the bail. The amount, which was Thursday reduced to $1,000, carried with it the stipulation of two sureties.

Defence counsel Gordon H. T. Farquharson asked Magistrate Philp to consider one surety and thereby enable Cromie to obtain bail. After hearing submissions by Crown attorney John A. Bradshaw, the magistrate decided to demand the two sureties.

Detective Dennis Traynor told of arresting Cromie in his car which was parked in the alleyway at the rear of the Steinkrauss warehouse at the time of the break-in. The detective had seen a man, later identified as Hogan, throwing cartons of cigarettes into the car.

Detective Traynor said that Cromie, who had a girl, Noreen Ferguson, in the car with him, had attempted to drive out the alleyway when he approached.

GIVES EVIDENCE FOR CROWN

Hogan, testified for the crown. He told of meeting Cromie and Atkins at 4 p.m. on March 15. They had later picked up the Ferguson girl and had then spent some time drinking in a beverage

Exhibition Board Studies Two Proposed Sites For New Memorial Centre

Members Would Place Proposed Building In Extreme Northeast Corner; Two Sites Recommended By Morrow Trust

The Peterborough Exhibition board Thursday night decided on a suggestion for the site of the proposed Memorial centre in Morrow Park. The board's suggestion, which will be forwarded to the Morrow Trust, places the building in the extreme northeast corner of the exhibition grounds.

The board met at the Exhibition grounds and spent about an hour looking over the two suggested sites recommended by the Morrow Trust. Later members crowded into the small board office to conduct their meeting.

The two suggestions for a site were both situated in the northeastern section of the grounds. The first placed the centre next to Lock St. with the building's frontage parallel to Lansdowne St; the second situated the centre with it's frontage still facing and parallel to Lansdowne St., but next to the George St. extension.

The proposed Memorial centre has a frontage of 168 ft. and a length of 294 ft.)

Ross Dobbin touched off a lively debate by moving that the building be placed flush with Lock St. and with a 20-ft set-back from Lansdowne. The only thing was that he switched the building round and had it fronting Lock St.

FRONT LANSDOWNE

Hugh Stewart was a ready seconder to an amendment by Melville Johnston that the building's longest axis should be parallel to Lock St. Other members voiced various views and for a few minutes the proposed Memorial centre was moving very rapidly about the park. However, after a vote, with only four dissenting voices, it came to rest fronting Lansdowne St. and with its longest axis parallel to Lock St. The frontage in this case would have a set-back of 20 ft. from Lansdowne.

Donald Bark advised board members that he thought their proposal as to a site should not be too rigid.

"You have what might well be a million-dollar building and you have jammed it up into the northeastern corner", he said. "This centre should be one of Peterborough's nicest buildings and it would be a pity to spoil it. I think, perhaps it would be best to tell the building committee that the northeastern corner is suitable to this board and from there they will be able to work with a little lee-way".

Hugh Stewart: "They will probably make changes anyhow. The only thing we can do is to put our motion forward and then they can come back at us with any changes."

The members generally agreed to recognize the fact that there would have to be some compromise.

The board's resolution will be forwarded to the Morrow Trust.

OFFICIAL OPENING

The 1954 exhibition will be officially opened on the evening of Wednesday, August 11. In deciding this Thursday night, members felt that there was a need not to delay the official opening. It is not known yet who will be invited to open the exhibition. This matter has been left in the hands of the appropriate committee.

Children's day will be on Wednesday also, and on that date all public school children will be admited free of charge. On the other exhibition days public school children will be admitted free only up until 4 p.m.

It was decided not to supply free hay or bedding for cattle and horses at the exhibition. Supplies will be available at all hours, but will have to be purchased.

The board sanctioned an executive recommendation that Tory Gregg be appointed announcer and ringmaster at the 1954 exhibition.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Glen Larmer of Durham County Wins Multiple Honors At Kemptville Agricultural School . . . . Herefords Average $510 at Elgin County Sale . . . . Special Program for Peterborough Swine Club Tuesday, May 11 . . . . Weather Delays Spring Seeding.

Glen Larmer of Nestleton RR-2, who has been prominent in 4-H Club work in Durham county, and also in Junior Farmer activities, has been awarded four of the special prizes at Kemptville Agricultural School. The school year is now completed and most students have returned home to help in the spring work. Graduation Day will be Saturday June 5.

The awards won by Mr. Larmer are:—$25 in agricultural books for general proficiency in first and second year work; $25 in animal husbandry books, for livestock judging; the J. F. Fraser prize to the student taking highest in poultry husbandry during two years; the Brockville Co-Operative Association $25 to the senior student ranking highest in agricultural economics dealing with co-operatives.

Richard Van Camp, also of Nestleton RR-2, is another of the Durham boys who have been prominent in Club work and judging competitions. He won the Stanley G. Anderson Shield, awarded to the senior student for greatest proficiency in agricultural engineering. The standing of Walter Clark, Norwood, was 79.7%.

Harry Sirett, Cobourg RR-5, received the Kemptville Agricultural School Alumni Association award to the junior student in agriculture to the student who, in the opinion of his fellow classmates, made the greatest contribution to the educational, social and athletics activities of the class and school during his junior year.

Standing of Peterborough district students in the junior group included: Neil Moffat, Oroho, 82.1 per cent; Ross Moorcroft, Madoc RR-3, 80.5 per cent; Paul Jopling, Lakefield, RR-3 74.2 per cent; Harry Sirett, Cobourg RR-5, 67.9 per cent.

Juniors in the home economics course included: Betty Chamberlain, Norwood RR-4, 82.3 per cent; Joan Little, Campbellford. RR-4, 77.5 per cent; and seniors: Margery Finnie, Port Hope, RR-1, 77.4 per cent.

Herefords Average $510

Herefords averaged $510 at the dispersal sale of the show herd of Chris Schollenberger of Wallacetown, Elgin, last Saturday. The best price was $1,200 for the No. 1 herd sire, Royal T. Helsman 8E, born May, 1950, paid by Carman Lyons. This bull was the grand champion at the CNE in 1951.

William J. Clark, Goderich RR 5, paid the top price $1,060 for a female, Lada Baca 24F. His purchases included the second high female, the imported cow, Noe's Lady Larry 31st, at $900; and also CH Helsman's Lady 4th, six years old cow at $610. These two were both from the Clovelly Herefords of Cincinnati, O., acquired by Mr. Schollenberger in March, 1950.

Mr. Schellenberger said his health and farm responsibilties compelled him to retire from the breeding of Herefords. W. S. O'Neill was auctioneer.

Top Holstein $360

High price at the auction of 70 Holsteins at Glanworth was $360 for a cow, and next was another cow at $350 bought by a Michigan farmer. Cows averaged $273; bred heifers $190; three bulls $255. The top bull brought $355. Buyers were present from New York, Michigan, Ohio and Maryland.

Fear Loss Of Calves

"Cows are scattered all over the foothill country in search of some shelter in which to calve."

That is quotation from the Calgary Herald one day last week when the thermometer was 8 above zero, and the spring the coldest in many years. Ranchers fear their loss may be heavy. With wet snow and blowing conditions nightly for a week, it is impossible for cows to dry off their new born calves.

"Old time ranches says that not since the trerible winter of 1907-08 have calving conditions been so bad on Alberta rangelands.

Another western note from Saskatchewan: "With 285,000,000 bushels of the bumper 1953 crop still on farms, the farmers of Saskatchewan are expected to seed around 16 million acres of wheat this year, according to agricultural authorities in Saskatoon.

Conservation Trip

Frank Weldon, Lindsay, chairman of Zone 4 of the Ontario Conservation Association, has arranged for a trip through the Ganaraska watershed June 18. It will probably set out from Pontypool.

Progress of the plantations in the Ganarska countryside will be of interest, and the itinerary will include calls at the farms of Everett White near Elizabethville, Roy Sanderson and John Nurse of South Monaghan. The company will also look over some of the farm ponds that have been developed.

Competition For Juniors

Under the auspices of the Ontario Milk Distributors' Associations teams of Junior Farmers will have an opportunity of being judged the winning county team for proficiency in quality milk production at the Ontario Dairy Day on the W. G. Murphy farm at Lindsay, June 16.

Objects of the competition are to create an interest in the care and production of better quality milk; to demonstrate efficient methods of milking and the preparation and care of milking equipment.

Each county may select one team of two Junior Farmers, two boys, two girls, or a boy and a girl. They must be between the ages of 17 and 24 years on June 16 and must have completed five 4-H Club projects. They must be members of Junior Farmer Association and residents on dairy farms.

Contestants will be asked to answer a brief set of questions relating to milk production. Each team will be required to demonstrate milking methods. This will include care of the milk house and the proper care and storing of milk. Cows will be milked, the milk filtered and stored and equipment washed and sterilized. A commentary will be given by one member of the team.

Entries are to be mailed to M. G. Simpson, executive secretary, Ontario Milk Distributors' Association, 134 Bloor St., W.

Weather Stalls Farming

Adverse weather this week reduced farm industry to spotty cultivation of the land. Farmers were forced to marking time while the calendar was daily reminding them they should be getting in the spring crop . . . Grass was getting ahead of delayed cultivating in some fields . . . Forage growth is about a foot high, and Melville Johnston reports one Monaghan field of spring grain that is sprouting actively . . . Cattle are edging a little further from the barns, ditches were nearly brimming Thursday, but across Otonabee only the occasional tracotr was in motion . . . Quite a number of farmers have still some hay on hand, and the new grasses, clover and the fall wheat crop are promising . . . The country needs sunshine and warmth.

Meetings Next Week

Members of the Lakefield 4-H Beef Club are asked to meet Tuesday, May 11 at 8 p.m. at the farm of Elwood Dunford. Main discussion will be beef type and judging, and some of the topics in the manual. Ron Frankish is club leader.

4-H TRACTOR CLUB

May meeting of the Tractor Club will be Wednesday, May 12 at 8 p.m. at the office of the Department of Agriculture. "Everybody is happy about the large attendance this year," Ken Best says in his notice, hoping that all the boys will be on hand Wednesday. Club leaders are Irvine McIntosh and Norman Blodgett.

JUNIOR FARMERS MAY 18

The program for the Junior Farmers at Teachers College Tuesday, May 18, will include new films by Jack Roberts, door prizes, dance with Sargent Brothers orchestra, and refreshments.

SWINE CLUB TUESDAY

Peterborough 4-H Swine Club meets Tuesday, May 11, at the office of the Department. This meeting is important for organizational purpose, and is especially emphasized to all the boys who are interested. Parents are invited. The 4-H program for swine will be discussed. Jack Roberts has some educational and entertainment pictures, and the meeting will close with refreshments.

Rural Misfortunes

Only the stone foundation was left of a big barn and several outbuildings destroyed by fire on the farm of Frank Mahoney north of Tweed Friday afternoon, April 30. Cause was undetermined. Mr. Mahoney was working on a bush lot less than half-a-mile from his home, with two other men, when one of them noticed smoke and flames. Net loss was about $10,000 . . . Wiliam Wilkins, near Kincardine, Huron township, estimated at $20,000 the loss in the fire that consumed a big bank barn, 65 cattle, threshing machine and other implements last Sunday afternoon . . . John Snider, 48, of Markham township, near Stouffville, was instantly killed Tuesday while dynamiting a half-ton stone on a neighbor's property "as an act of kindness". He was decapitated at the shoulders.

Mustard "Soil Robber"

Wild mustard takes more moisture and fertility from the soil than most other weeds. It decreases grain yields and will live in the soil for years, or until it is brought to the surface by cultivation. It is rated a primary noxious by the seed laws, and will not be found in the better grades of seed.

The crops branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture recommends 2-4-D.

"Wild mustard is an annual producing up to 15,000 seeds each year. One acre of mustard plants carrying 2,000 to 3,000 pounds of living green plant material can be killed by only 4 oz. of 2-4-D acid, and at earlier stages and in good conditions even two ounces will destroy this weed."

Champion Hereford Bull At Indiana Show Joins Chas. Fisher Herd

They paid $1,850 for the outstanding sire in the State breeders' show preceding their annual sale at Indianapolis early in April. This was the top price of the auction of 37 bulls and 42 females.

"CF Repeater D. Lad 2d" is now established in the Fisher herd in South Monaghan with record and recommendations in Indiana which should give him a high place among the polled Herefords this side of the border.

The second highest price of the sale, $1,500 for the reserve champion bull, was paid by Calvin Ireland of Everett, Ont., the only other breeder from Canada.

In its report, the American Hereford Journal says the champion bull, and top-priced entry, was bred and consigned by Arthur F. Couch of Owensville, Ind.

"This outstanding junior yearling son of WF Domino Lad is a grandson of the noted MP Domino 15th and of Advanced Choice 4th. His dam is by Woodrow Mischief 3d. His full brother was one of the tops of this sale two years ago. This champion is tremendously thick, very beefy in appearance, smoothly covered and well balanced He has great depth and wonderful fleshing."

COUCH CHAMPIONS

Arthur F. Couch sold and showed both the champion male and female. Of the 79 animals, two Couch entries drew the highest awards in placing and also the top money.

Supreme honors in the female division went to his CF Lana Real D, a granddaughter of WF Domino Lad, which brought $1,200 from A. A. Diefenbach of Sellersburg, Ind. The Couch consignment also produced the first prize junior yearling heifer, CF Lana Domino, bought for $825 by E. J. Haberer of New Lebanon, O.

Charles Fisher told the Examiner he had been convinced for some time of an evident swing to the polled Hereford.

ENQUIRIES FOR POLLED

"From enquiries by prospective buyers during the year or so, I noticed that for every horned animal I sold, I could probably have sold five polled," Mr. Fisher said. He is not a man of flowing words. "And, when you feel that trend, surely it is only good sense to go along with it."

Mr. Fisher is president of the Eastern Ontario Hereford Breeders' Association.

Homer Hawkey had asked him to accompany him in trucking the Hawkey-Ireland polled bull they were selling to the artificial breeding unit at Woodstock. There he and Calvin Ireland compared notes on the polled Hereford, found their ideas tallied closely, and finally they got around to discussing the Indianapolis sale. Eventually, they decided to go and see for themselves the animals listed in the catalogue. With them were Mr. Fisher's son, Bruce, and Keith McRuer, agricultureal representative in Simcoe county.

TOPS TO CANADIANS

Hence it came about that the only two Canadians at the ring side had definite intentions and ideas of what they were seeking. The Journal says of the reserve champion bull: "HH Anxiety Domino, bred and consigned by H. L. Hoffman and Son, Anderson, Ind., brought th second high figure of $1,500. He also went to Canada, with C. Calvin Ireland of Everett, Ont., having the final bid. This herd-sire prospect is a lowset, deep-bodied senior calf with a beautiful head, and is by the noted Hoffman herd sire, Shorty Domino. His good-producing dam is a double granddaughter of Anxiety Domino 27th."

The exceptionally satisfactory result of the sale to Arthur Couch was the two championships, male and female, each of them a top-seller, and his first prize junior yearling that was the second-high-selling female. Also of family interest is the fact that the female champion is a daughter of the half-brother of the new Fisher acquisition.

CF Repeater D. Lad 2 is also a half-brother of the 1952 (Indiana) gold medal winner for rate of gain; full brother to the $1,800 third-high selling bull at the 1952 sale; and half brother to the heifer champion of the 1952 sale. Some of the Hereford breeders of this district have already been down to South Monagthan to see him.

"Repeater D." arrived at the end of the long truck trip in good condition, and Mr. Fisher says the transfer has made no difference.

This son of WF Domino Lad is out of Irene Repeater, calved April 6, 1952. Noticed in his pedigree are prominent Hereford breed names such as: Advanced Choice 4th; Woodrow Mischief 3d; Mischief Domino; MP Domino 15th, to mention a few of them.

"The sale was well conducted in every respect," Mr. Fisher said, "and we were cordially received when they learned that we were from Canada. We visited the C. E. Knowlton herd at Bellefontaine, O., which includes the CMR bull he bought in March for $25,000.

We also stopped in at the farm of H.F.L. Hoffman and Sons at Anderson, Ind., and Kenwood Farms (Kenneth D. and Mary R. Ayres, owners) also at Anderson.

Report TV Has Temporary Effect On Movies, Radio

By HARRY ECCLES

TORONTO (CP)—Television, like anything else, should be taken in moderation.

Three-quarters of Canada's population will be within TV range by the end of the year, and the advent of television in any new area arouses discussion on its possible effects.

Since first becoming popular in England, TV began to show its influence in the United States in 1946 and 1947. Some Canadian communities within reach of American stations have known it that long. First Canadian stations opened at Montreal and Toronto in September of 1952.

Now more Canadian stations are opening each month—there will be 23 before Christmas—and at least 625,000 TV sets are in operation. The Radio and Television Manufacturers Association of Canada figures Ontario has more than 400,000 sets, Quebec more than 170,000 and British Columbia more than 26,000. The rest are scattered throughout the country, and the figures increase as new stations go on the air.

Some patterns have already emerged. As the U.S. discovered earlier, moving picture distributors say movie audiences decline as soon as television comes in. But one movie chain spokesman at Toronto says movie attendances rebound after a year or so.

The movies took aggressive steps to meet TV competition, including panoramic or wider screens and 3-D techniques, with dazzling color (color-TV is still in a distant future for Canada.) The most hardened TV fan will go to the movies occasionally.

Gross box-office receipts of one of Canada's largest movie theatre chains were higher in 1953 than 1952.

MORE RADIOS

Radio set sales increased in volume even while television sales were setting records. The radio industry now sells more smaller sets, including automobile and portable models, but last year total radio sales were well behind television, on total value.

But most television owners find a radio is still needed. Around 700,000 radio sets were sold in Canada last year, more than any year except 1947 which saw the post-war boom.

Most popular television set for some time has been the 21-inch screen size, either table or console model. Sizes generally range from 17 to 24 inches, with corresponding increase in price. The 24-inch however is pretty big for the average living-room.

One question that crops up in every new TV area, is whether television is harmful to eyesight. Dr. A. Lloyd Morgan, chief opthalmologist at Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children, told a medical forum in Toronto:

"I was asked this question so often when TV first came out that I got a set and experimented. That was some years ago and apparently TV hasn't done any harm, since I now see well with weaker glasses."

Surveys in the United States indicate that in big cities, a little more than half the TV sets will be tuned in to one of the week's top programs. About a quarter will be watching other stations. The rest will be turned off.

Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto, which has televised professional and amateur hockey games for some time, still has capacity attendances.

"Television has made a lot of new fans for us," says Spiff Evans, publicity director for the Gardens. National Hockey League games there, televised every Saturday night since 1952, have had capacity attendance for eight years in a row. Attendances steadily increased at the junior hockey games televised Sunday afternoons. The Thursday night wrestling shows also are drawing bigger houses.

So Canadians are taking television in their stride. A spokesman for a large oil company at Toronto was asked if anybody had discovered whether TV was having any effect on motoring. After all, you can't drive a car and watch television at the same time; at least, not yet.

"The only answer I can suggest," he replied, "is that more cars are on the road than ever before."

TAKE TV IN STRIDE—Canadians are reported taking television — started nearly two years ago in this country — in stride. Movies, which fin l TV stiff competition, have taken aggressive steps to meet the challenge with color films, wider screens and 3-D technique. At Montreal and Toronto stations, opened by the CBC in September, 1952, variety shows are popular. This photo shows Phyllis Marshall, singing star of "The Big Revue," which originates at the CBC Toronto studios, in a production number with several dancers. —(CP Photo).

Judge Gives Approval To $3,000,000 Settlement

TORONTO (CP)—Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of the Supreme Court of Ontario gave final approval Thursday to settlement of the $3,000,000 estate of the late H. Rupert Bain, Toronto financier.

A question of interpretation of the will delayed settlement for 18 months. It provides for an annual income for Mr. Bain's first wife of $10,000.

Mr. Bain nominated "my wife" as a beneficiary but did not specify whether he meant his first or second wife. He was divorced in Idaho in 1951 and married Mrs. Reginald Watkins in Mexico, where she had just been divorced. Mr. Watkins then married the first Mrs. Bain.

The $10,000 income for Mrs. Watkins will be cut to $4,800 a year if she marries a third time. Her three children—Lawrence Bain, 21, of Toronto, Mrs. Florence Sanchez, 23, of Mexico, and Sandra Bain, 16—will each draw $6,500 a year up to the age of 25.

Between the ages of 25 and 35, the children will draw annual sums of $7,000 each. This will be increased to $10,000 when each reaches 35.

The second Mrs. Bain, who has since been remarried, is not mentioned in the settlement.

Revision Court Reduces Tax For Offices Empty In '53

Dozens of second-storey offices in Peterborough are vacant, it was indicated at the court of revision Wednesday afternoon.

The court was sitting to hear appeals for adjustments and remittances of 1953 taxes and appeals against assessments on buildings which had not been completed when the assessment roll was finally returned last year.

Altogether, the court heard 29 appeals, of which 12 were requests for remittances of a portion of taxes because the premises were vacant last year. In some cases, several offices in the same building were included in the same appeal.

RECOMMENDED

In each case, the adjustments recommended by assessment commissioner J. E. Davis were accepted by the appellants and confined by the court.

A reduction of $200 was granted in the assessment of property at 854 Philip St., owned by Errol J. Hess, because the assessment department had made a mistake in assessing the heating installation. For the same reason, a reduction of $230 was made in the assessment of Mr. Hess' property at 856 Philip St.

A similar error resulted in a reduction of $80 in the assessment of Harold Hynes' property at 451 Donegal St. The assessment of Kenneth McQuaig, 179 Dufferin St., was confirmed.

Remissions totalling $47.26 in business taxes were granted Belleghem's furniture store and funeral parlor at 188-190 Hunter St., which had been vacated in October.

Max Board was granted a remission of part of the 1953 business tax on his property at 352½ Water St. which had been vacant since 1951.

The court recommended remission of part f the 1953 business tax on five offices on the second floor of the building on the southwest corner of Hunter and George streets owned by the T. J. Braund estate. The offices were vacant for various periods last year. In such cases the amount of taxes remitted is yet to be computed.

The entire business tax, amounting to $10.32, was remitted on the property at 372½ Water St. owned by Mrs. J. Roy Brayley, as it had been vacant since December, 1952.

Canada Packers Ltd. were remitted $10 of their business tax on space in Exhibition Park for the two months during which they had vacated it.

Fred Pulver was granted a remission on the business tax on the upstairs of 370 George St. which had been vacant since A. B. Collis moved across the street into his new store.

George Hardy Ltd. was granted a remission of $30.82 business tax on an office at 184 Charlotte St. which had not been occupied last year.

Misses Agnes and Jane Horsfield were granted a remission on the business tax on five offices at 442½, 446½ and 448½ George St., some of which had been vacant since 1951.

Another remission for vacancy was granted Frank H. Jobbitt, 733 Park St. S. A remission of $35.47 was granted Harry Jopling for premises at 248 Murray St., the business having ceased in mid-July.

PERCENTAGE RETURNED

A percentage of the business tax will be remitted because of vacancies also to John Lynch at 170 Hunter St., a ground-floor store: Moriss Mandell, 181A Charlotte St., upstairs; N. A. Rishor, 383 Water St., store and upstairs office; Dr. A. R. Stevenson, office at 295 Charlotte St.

A total of $22.56 was remitted to Mrs. Edith Royea on her house at 592 Park St., which was demolished; $14.41 business tax to Dr. R. A. Sheehy on his office at 118 Hunter St. which was not used for six months; $18.06 business tax to Alvin Stoneburg, 371 Armstrong drive, having gone out of business; $56.76 to W. G. Thompson, 255 George St., who was in business one month in 1953.

Death Sentence For Murder

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia Thursday introduced the death sentence for murder for the first time in the history of the Soviet state.

Previously the death sentence was applied only in the case of serious crimes against the state, such as espionage, treason and sabotage. For a time just after the war it was abolished altogether.

Hitherto murderers in Russia, in cases where there was no political motive, have been given sentences usually of 10 or 12 years imprisonment or in a labor camp.

Imposition of capital punishment for murder was announced by Moscow radio, which quoted a decree issued by the praesidium of the U.S.S.R. Supreme Soviet.

The Kremlin's decision is interpreted here as a reflection of the increasing crime wave in the Soviet Union, as evidenced in recent reports from the Soviet newspapers.

Summer Dress Issued To Korean Troops

IN KOREA (CP)—Summer dress and mosquito netting are back in fashion in the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade in Korea.

Bush jackets have been discarded in favor of light shirts as the 6,000 troops settle down for five months of Korean heat and dust.

All excess clothing and footwear is going back into storage. Any left exposed to the Korean summer soon turns to a mouldy mass and even leather boots and shoes fall apart.

In June and July, the rains will come and after the rains the dust.

Suggest Formal Ceremony For Granting Citizenship

OTTAWA (CP) — Two senators Thursday suggested different methods to enhance the value of Canadian citizenship in the eyes of new citizens.

Senator John T. Haig, Progressive onservative leader in the upper chamber, said that one way would be for the government to encourage more than it now does the practice of holding a formal ceremony at which citizenship papers are given.

Solicitor - General Macdonald, government leader, said he will bring this to the attention of itizenship Ministen Harris.

"KEEP IT DIFFICULT"

The second suggestion came from Senator Thomas Reid (L—British Columbia) who said that Canada mustn't go too far and issue citizenship certificates too lightly. It didn't add to the pride of the new citizen to make it too easy to obtain citizenship.

The ideas were advanced during Senate debate on a government measure which Senator Macdonald said drops the requirement that notice must be given at least one year in advance by persons planning to take out citizenship papers.

The measure was given second reading—approval in principle. It still must receive third reading before being sent to the Commons for study.

Woman's Body To Be Exhumed

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario attorney-general's department today ordered exhumation of the body of Mrs. Bruce MacLean of Welland, whose 23-year-old husband faces a murder charge in connection with her death in a canoe upset last August.

Police charged MacLean with murder April 26 after investigating a claim that he had boasted to a girl friend that he caused his wife's death in a "perfect crime."

PORTRAYS CHARWOMAN—Mrs. Inez MacDonald, of Otatwa, spent six hectic nights playing the part of a charwoman for the National Film Board's new film. While she "just loved" the work she's glad to be able to sleep at night again. Mrs. MacDonald, a director and cameraman, and 14 charwomen, worked together from dawn to dusk on the NFB's new short, "The Charwoman," about the life of the women who clean government offices in the capital. Mrs. MacDonald has acted from time to time for the Little Theatre and the Canadian Repertory Theatre since she moved to Ottawa from Edmonton in 1950.—(CP Photo).

CCF Supports Gov't Tax Stand

He said in the Commons Thursday that the vote by CCF members Wednesday against the government's 1954-55 budget has been misconstrued.

"We voted against the budget because of the criticisms we made here," he said. "Contrary to reports, we are thoroughly in support of the government's stand on the Quebec tax issue."

Finance Minister Abbott, in his budget speech April 6, rejected Quebec's request that the province's new 15-per-cent income tax be fully deductible from federal tax payments.

During the budget debate the CCF party proposed a non-confidence motion saying the government should have raised income tax exemption levels to benefit low-income groups, and increased the tax rate on corporations and wealthier individuals.

Woman Taken Ill, Removed From Ship

HALIFAX (CP)—Victoria General Hospital described Thursday night as "not serious" the condition of a U.S. Air Force sergeant's pregnant wife who was rushed ashore by high-speed launch from an American transport at sea.

Mrs. Mary Sonner, 26, of Omaha, Neb., was taken ill aboard the transport Goethals early Tuesday as it neared New York on a trip from Germany. The Goethals was diverted to a rendezvous off Halifax with the Canadian navy launch.

Work From Dusk To Dawn Filming Life Of Charwoman

OTTAWA (CP)—Mrs. Inez MacDonald of Ottawa "just loved" the life of a charwoman, but she's glad to be able to sleep at night again.

She spent six hectic days keeping the hours of a charwoman for the National Film Board.

Mrs. MacDonald, director Leonard Forest of Moncton, 14 charwomen and a cameraman, John Roy of Montreal, worked together in the NFB's new short, "The Charwoman," in the Parliament Buildings.

"The filming end of the picture is finished," said Mr. Forest. "But there is still lots of work to be done." Now the films will be developed and "cut" into proper sequence for the finished product—a 10-minute short.

ALL-NIGHT SHIFT

While making the film, Mr. Forest, his crew of extras and the star worked from dusk to dawn to get an authentic portrayal of the life of the women who clean the offices of parliamentarians and government officials. The average shift was 11 hours.

Mrs. MacDonald has acted from time to time for the Little Theatre and the Canadian Repertory Theatre since she moved here from Edmonton in 1950.

Mrs. MacDonald was chosen after a search for talent among charwomen failed to produce a subject. Two or three women made the grade, but they refused to go before the camera.

Mr. Forest and Anne Hebert of Quebec City and Ottawa, who wrote the script, went out "at all hours of the day" in search for the right woman.

A story of the search was carried by The Canadian Press and the NFB was swamped with letters and telephone calls from people seeking the jobs. Mrs. MacDonald was among those who telephoned.

"I never realized there would be so many people willing to act the part of a charwoman," said an NFB spokesman.

Mr. Forest said he couldn't interview all the letter writers, but he will keep them in mind. The NFB will be making more pictures and some of them may be shot in the home towns of the writers.

Need More Economies On Railway—Gordon

MONTREAL (CP)—Donald Gordon, chairman and president of Canadian National Railways, said today that Canadian railways, beset by rising costs and competition, can maintain present-scale operations only by constantly introducing improvements and economies.

Mr. Gordon spoke at the 28th annual system meeting of the company's union-management co-operative movement, mechanical section. About 45 labor and management representatives from across Canada attended.

Mr. Gordon said the CNR's dieselization program involved heavy capital expenditures but already has resulted in more effective work performance at considerably lower operating costs.

While there seemed to be a "slight downturn" in volume of rail traffic, he was optimistic about long-term prospects with a growing population bringing about an increasing demand for transportation and communication facilities.

Brownell Rules Report Must Be Kept Secret

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorney-General Herbert Brownell ruled today a confidential 1951 report from the FBI to the army on possible subversion at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., must not be made public. He said its publication would be "harmful" to the national interest and to matters now under consideration. He also ruled a 2½ page letter which quoted from the report also must not be published.

The letter was introduced Tuesday by Senator Joseph McCarthy before the Senate sub-committee investigating McCarthy's row with the army.

Stratford Festival Film Previewed

NEW YORK (CP)—"The Stratford Adventure," a feature-length documentary film by the National Film Board of Canada on the development of the Shakespearian Festival at Stratford, Ont., was given a private preview here Thursday night.

Summer Theatre

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—The London theatre company of London, England, will hold an 11-week summer theatre here this year. The theatre will run from June 28 to Sept. 4. The London company, consisting of 15 players who will form a resident cast here, was recommended by civic officials from Halifax, London, Ont., and St. Catharines.

Bobcaygeon, Mrs. Hunter was the daughter of the late Thomas G. Graham and his wife, the former Martha Raye.

Mrs. Hunter moved to Peterborough at an early age and had been here for the past 60 years. She was married to the late Thomas J. Hunter, who predeceased her 12 years ago.

Three sons survive Mrs. Hunter —Herbert of Toronto, Ray of Virginiatown, Ont., and Russell of Peterborough. A sister, Mrs. M. Payne of Argyle, Ont., and a brother, William Graham of Bobcaygeon also survive.

The funeral will be held Monday at 2 p.m. from the Nesbitt funeral home to Knox United church. The service will be jointly conducted by the Rev. H. G. Douglas of Knox and Lieutenant Norm Woods of the Salvation Army. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Police Posses Hunt Killer

MINTO, N. B. (CP) — Police posses poked through surrounding woods today for a rifle-toting murder suspect whose will-o'-the-wisp movements kept jittery citizens in their homes Thursday night behind locked doors and rug-draped windows.

RCMP patrols reinforced by units recruited from other districts in central New Brunswick roamed the highways and the streets of this coal-mining town in search of Floyd Edgar Brown, 25, whom they described as "armed and dangerous."

They said Brown is wanted in connection with the slaying of Earl Thompson, 54, and the serious wounding of Rene Patris, 50.

The other day I looked into the back yard and saw my little two-year-old starting out across the fence to a bunch of big kids playing in a nearby yard. The look on his face brought a lump to my throat. You could just see the longing coming from his inner being . . . just wishing himself over the fence and away.

Seems I can remember back to another day when I, too, wanted to stray away from home . . . and mother. I was a big boy and didn't want to be tied to Ma's apron strings.

Many's the time since then I've thought back to that day and the reminiscences made me think about how foolish we were when we were kids and wished ourselves away from home and mother.

I have spent Mother's Day in many strange places. No matter where I happened to be it always brought back pleasant thoughts of home . . . and Mom.

Too, I always remembered Mom with a little something on "her day." I don't think it's too "commercial" to make Mom a little happier with a little gift in her honor. Do you?

Knox WMS Meeting

The WMS of Knox church met in the church parlors Thursday afternoon. Mrs. H. Williamson played quiet music followed with opening prayer by Mrs. Howard Clegg, president. Mrs. E. Mesley read a card of thanks from Mrs. C. Weldon and also thanked ladies for cards received during her recent bereavement. She reported 28 hospital and 30 home calls were made. Miss Bernice Garside was appointed convener of the Mission Band picnic. The committee to help at the picnic are Mrs. M. Lindsay, Mrs. H. Darling, Mrs. R. Laing and Mrs. R. Hanscom. Miss Susan Summers, Mrs. Madge Lindsay, Mrs. Roy Laing, Mrs. Fred Milburn and Mrs. Hugh Todd took part in the worship service, and presented the fifth program, "The Ministry of Radio". Five ladies dramatized a radio program on the subject of "Evangelism in South America." In Latin America radio evangelism has had a uniquely successful career because radio can reach innumerable isolated villages daily. So much of this continent is inaccessible by road or rail or water. Radio also means much in a country where thousands cannot read the simplest Bible story or message, and must depend on spoken words, it was shown.

WMS Sectional Rally Told Of Trinidad Mission Work

OMEMEE (ENS)—A WMS sectional rally was held in Omemee United church Wednesday with Mrs. Allan Blewett, president, in the chair.

About 75 ladies, representing seven societies attended. Mrs. I. A. McConnell, Omemee, WMS president, welcomed the guests. Reports of auxiliaries, circles, CGIT, Mission Bands and Baby Bands were heard.

Presbyterial officers spoke briefly: treasurer Mrs. F. Weldon; Mrs. Sproule about missionary reading; Mrs. Davies for CGIT; Mrs. Golden fo supply.

Presbyterial president Mrs. E. Free, Sunderland, gave some highlights of the recent Bay of Quinte conference at Brighton. Though Mrs. Free was impressed by the fact that conference membership exceeds 10,000 and contributions amounted to $113,000 last year, she said numbers were less important than spiritual power.

Mrs. R. W. Craighead, branch treasurer spoke briefly. The morning session closed with a devotional period conducted by Mount Horeb auxiliary, Mrs. Magahey, Mrs. T. Moore, Mrs. McAlpine. The topic was given by Mrs. Moore

Dinner was served by the Omemee branch, for which Mrs. Robert Martin expressed the thanks of the guests.

GUEST SPEAKER

During the afternoon session a duet was sung by Mrs. A. N. Weir and Mrs. T. Pogue. The speaker was Miss Florence Masters who was introduced by Mrs. Free.

Miss Masters has served under three church boards, in Palestine with the Quakers, in Burma with Methodists and in Trinidad as a United Church missionary. After describing its location and the history of its people, she spoke on the mission schools in Trinidad.

Of a 660,000 population, 300,000 are Africans, 200,000 are descendants of laborers brought from East India and the remainder are Europeans and others. The state language is a sort of English. The Christian religion prevails with Canadian missionaries the chief propagators.

There are some government schools but grants are given to the mission schools and parents prefer them because of the moral teachings. Miss Masters said the mission schols have taught people the dignity of working with their hands and have raised the standard of home-making. Many graduates go abroad to study to enable them to take their places in commercial and professional fields. Miss Masters was thanked by Mrs. Craighead.

Program Based On Mother's Day

The program for the meeting this week of Trinity Women's Federation was arranged by the group under Mrs. F. B. Smitheram who introduced the theme "Mother's Day" as a challenge to Trinity mothers to live up to this high calling. Mrs. J. Clarke read scripture passages and a portion from "Mr. Jones, the Master," both of which gave food for thought on the exacting requirements of motherhood. A prayer was offered by Mrs. J. Hamer and collection taken by Mrs. C. Gibson and Mrs. E. Harron.

Mrs. Lloyd Hales of Bridgenorth sang a beautiful song, "The Plowman," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. E. Johnson. Mrs. B. Skitch read excerpts from the current study book dealing with the growth of Christianity in India. The Indians are being trained by western missionaries to teach, to become doctors and nurses, and to preach to their own people, she explained. "Members of Syrian churches that claim the disciple Thomas as their founder now number more than a million Christians and are not only the oldest but the largest non-Roman Christian community in India."

President Mrs. W. R. Philp conducted a short business meeting. It was decided to increase the allocation to the WMS this year. A discussion of possibilities for fall projects led to the decision to have the first annual turkey dinner close to Thanksgiving Day. This will be the sole undertaking to raise money in the fall and the organization hopes to attract at least 600 people.

London Ont. Bride Former Resident

Of interest here is the marriage which took place in London, Ontario last Saturday of Marilyn Lorraine Lewintgon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Lewington, formerly of Peterborough, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hardie of 558 Weller Street, Peterborough. She became the bride of William Robert Livingston of London, a graduate of the University of Western Ontario.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was in a floor length gown of nylon tulle and slipper satin, styled with fitted lace bodice which featured a Queen Anne collar and lily point sleeves, and an overskirt of tulle and lace. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was held by a Juliet cap of white velvet and she carried white gardenias, stephanotis and ivy streamers.

Miss Marina Lewington as maid of honor for her sister, was in yellow with overskirt of orchid net and tulle and she wore an orchid and yellow headdress and carried Talisman roses, ivy and orchid sweet peas. Bridesmaid Mrs. Robert Andrew was in blue taffeta with overskirt of gray net and tulle and matching headdress and she carried a similar bouquet.

The groom was attended by his brother John Livingston of Stratford and the bride's brother Ronald Lewington of Toronto and William Vize were ushers.

Following the reception the couple left for a tour of eastern United States, the bride wearing a beige suit trimmed with brown, brown accessories and powder blue topcoat.

Mrs. E. J. Millage Hostess To WMS

LAKEFIELD (ENS) — "The Christian in His Vocation" was the theme of the meeting when the women's missionary society of the United church met at the home of Mrs. E. J. Millage.

DOROTHY DIX

2 Families In One House Cause Problem

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a mother of two children and am 20 years old. My family will soon be broken up as my husband has been drafted. Our problem is whether I should remain in my apartment, or move in with my mother and stepfather.

Here, there are some things I will have to buy and bills to be paid. Also, there will be a lot of spare time on my hands but I'll have no one to stay with the children. If I go with my mother she will be company for me, and a help with the babies. My rent would be less and I'd have a chance to save for our future home. I have so often heard, however, that no house is large enough for two families that I hesitate to make the move. I've considered the matter from both angles, but can't seem to reach a decision.

Perturbed.

DEPENDS ON CONSIDERATION

ANSWER: There is indeed much to be said on both sides of your problem. The decision depends a good deal on how well you, your mother, and stepfather get along; how willing they are to have young children around and how co-operative they would be about baby-sitting. You know, even the most devoted grandparents don't always have the energy or the patience to cope with small, active youngsters. If you have any reason to think that discord would creep into your domestic arrangements, better stay where you are.

If you come to the conclusion that everyone will be happy and agreeable about combining the two households, don't be deterred by that old saw, "No house is large enough for two families." Like every other familiar saying; where unusual circumstances make a merger expedient, with everyone being thoroughly congenial, it would be foolish to forego definite advantages because an old adage occurred to you. There's absolutely no doubt but that young couples should begin married life on their own, but since the ideal isn't always possible, next best thing can be quite pleasant if the folks concerned accept the disadvantages with a smile. Where a family is temporarily broken, as so often happens today, circumstances may indicate an arrangement such as you have in mind, with happy results for everyone. You must reach your decision after an analysis of the personalities involved.

If you keep your own apartment, don't depend on family baby-sitters to give you free time, and certainly don't ask the favor of reluctant in-laws. Whatever activity you undertake, make it something that can be done at home. Learning something constructive, like sewing, painting, furniture restoration, ceramics, upholstering, will help the time pass quickly.

DEAR MISS DIX: Genevieve and I have been going steady for eight months; we are both high-school juniors. She is an attractive girl, and I have come to love her very much. The trouble is that in the past few months she's always breaking dates at the last minute. She breaks about one out of three dates we make. She doesn't do it to go with another boy, I know; usually it's to do something with a girl friend, her family, or a crowd of kids from school.

Dennis D.

ANSWER: Perhaps the girl has become a bit weary of steady dating at so early an age and prefers to get into circulation. Her manner of making her wishes known is, to say the least, discourteous. Have a talk with her, and ask whether or not she wants to continue going with you. If she's set straight on what you expect from her, she'll give you more consideration.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Is it ethical for a man to keep his first wife's picture in a home presided over by a second wife? My fiance and I are having difficulty over the point. He also thinks the old wedding ring that he wears should be used again. We are both over 65 and would like to begin our life together with all misunderstandings settled.

T. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Surely you are both old enough to settle such minor differences with mutual consideration. The man is building a new home for you and has already been so agreeable on major issues that you'd be foolish to let a ring or a picture stand in the way of a happy future. Why not try a compromise? You'll agree to having him keep his old ring, if he'll agree to put his first wife's picture away.

ROYAL OAKS

TIMMINS, Ont. (CP) — Council agreed that two acorns from the oaks in the royal forest at Windsor, England, to be received by the Timmins Horticultural Society this year, should be included in landscaping for the aged people's home. In their first tender years however they will be reared elsewhere by the society's president.

Request From Emem: In a suppliant attitude I beg of you to enclose a 5-cent stamped self-addressed envelope with your letters and requests. This speeds up my answers to you, and because they are coming so thick and fast you will be doing your selves a favor.

QUESTION: Please help me to get recipe for "Daffodil Cake" ... it is so nice to serve at Easter ...

ANNA M. S.

ANSWER: Please help me to get recipe for "Daffodil Cake" ... it is so nice to serve at Easter ...

M. S.

ANSWER: This letter is dated April 6. I received it April 14. Since my copy for Easter was sent out 2 weeks ahead of that time, and this letter bore no address or surname I was helpless to reply in time. Sorry

DAFFODIL CAKE

(about 8 whites and 4 yolks)

One cup sifted cake flour, 1¼ cups sifted sugar, 1 cup egg whites, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cream of tartar, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 4 egg yolks beaten until thick and lemon-colored, ½ teaspoon orange extract. Sift then measure the flour and to it add ¾ cup sugar and sift together 4 times. Beat egg whites and salt with flat wire whisk on large platter. When foamy sprinkle cream of tartar over and beat until stiff enough to stand up in peaks, but not dry. Sprinkle over remaining ½ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, until all is beaten in. Sift small amount of flour mixture over whites and fold in carefully, repeating until all is incorporated. Now divide this mixture into 2 equal parts. To one add and fold in the vanilla. Into the other fold the thick and beaten egg yolks and orange extract. Spoon into ungreased tube pan, alternating the white and yellow mixtures. Bake at 275 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes then increase heat to 325 deg. Fahr. for another 50 minutes. Remove from oven, invert pan over cake rack until cold. Then loosen sides by coaxing away from pan with finger tips. Serve this in rough pieces by breaking apart with 2 forks.

QUESTION: ... I used to have an excellent recipe for Marmalade Steamed Pudding... have mislaid it and would appreciate having another... I MacB.

ANSWER: Thank you for a charming letter.

MARMALADE STEAMED PUDDING

Over 3 cups coarse soft breadcrumbs pour 1 cup milk, then stir in ½ cup melted shortening and 1 cup orange marmalade. Sift together 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoons each soda and salt and stir into first mixture. Pour into well-greased 1-quart mould which has a tight-fitting cover. Cover. Steam 3 hours. Usually served with Foamy Sauce.

NOTE: If desired 1 or 2 teaspoons cinnamon and ¼ teaspoon each cloves and allspice may be added or omit marmalade and substitute ½ cup molasses and ½ cup each chopped raisins and citron peel and include the spices.

QUESTION: I would like a diet dressing without salt or sugar please. Mrs. H. T.

ANSWER:

DIET DRESSING

(saltless, sugarless)

Soak 1 tablespoon gelatin in ½ cup cold water for 5 minutes in top of double boiler. To it add 8 sucaryl tablets, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate (accent), ¼ teaspoon of paprika. Mix well then add 1 1-3 cups boiling water and 2 tablespoons saltless butter and stir until dissolved over simmering hot water. Remove from heat and beat in 2 beaten eggs. Return to heat and stir over simmering water until it thickens a little, remove from heat and stir in ½ cup vinegar and pour into jar, cover and chill. When it is thick, beat with rotary beater until smooth in cold bowl. Cover and store in refrigerator. Everybody likes this.

6—In Memoriam

FARTHING—In memory of our father, Mr. Reg. Farthing.
How we miss the welcome footsteps
Of one dad we loved so dear,
Ott we listen for his coming
Fully sure that he is near.
Thou art gone but not forgotten
Fresh our love will ever be,
For as long as we have memory
We will always think of thee.
—Ever remembered and sadly missed by George, Anita and children.

FARTHING—In loving memory of a dear father, Reginald Farthing, who passed away May 7, 1952.
"Entered into God's holy rest."
—Ever remembered by Gordon, Gladys and grandchildren.

FARTHING—In memory of my husband, Mr. Reg. Farthing, who passed away two years ago, May 7.
Oft I think of your dear husband
And my heart is filled with pain
Oh, this earth would be a heaven
Could I hear your voice again.
Two years have swiftly passed away.
But still we don't forget,
For in my heart that loved you best,
Your memory lingers yet.
—Sadly missed by his wife.

VASS—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Walter Vass, who passed away May 7, 1946.
Those whom we love go out of sight
But never out of mind,
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
—Sadly missed by wife, son and daughter.

Cromie Must

room. Later in the evening they had all returned to the beverage room and had come out sometime after 10 p.m.

Under examination by the Crown attorney, Hogan said that Cromie had accompanied Atkins and himself down the alleway.

"Between the three of us, we broke down the door", he said. (He was referring to the rear door of the warehouse).

Hogan said he had been carrying cigarettes out of the building when someone yelled "police". He had dropped the packages and run.

Hogan did not remember the matter of the warehouse being discussed at any time during the afternoon or evening.

"I think it just came on the spur of the moment for us all", he explained.

Under rigid cross- examination by Mr. Farguharson, the witness admitted that he had been fairly well intoxicated. He said that he could not be positive that Cromie was there when the door was broken down.

Mr. Farguharson: "Could you have done it yourself?"

Hogan: "I guess so, I dont know."

Noreen Ferguson said that she and the three men had come out of the hotel together; Atkins and Hogan had disappeared somewhere while she stood arguing with Cromie near his car, which was parked outside the hotel.

Mr. Farguharson: "What were you talking about?"

Miss Ferguson: "We were arguing because he was taking another girl out".

DISAPPEARED

Miss Ferguson said that Cromie had disappeared down the alleyway for about a minute.

Then Cromie had returned and she had climbed into his car, which he backed down the alleyway.

Mr. Farguharson: "Why did you think he was parking down the alleyway?"

Miss Ferguson: "I thought we were just going to finish the argument".

She said that Cromie had seemed surprised when someone had thrown cigarettes into the car.

Mr. Farguharson thought that the only complicity which brought Cromie into the case, was the fact that cigarettes had been found in the car. According to other testimony the packages appeared to have been thrown in to the vehicle with "reckless abandon". Other evidence did not seem particularly suspicious.

Magistrate Philp ruled that there was sufficient evidence to put Cromie on trial.

DESTROYED but not lost

Homes razed by fire can be rebuilt with funds provided from Fire Insurance. It's folly to risk losing everything when low premiums can protect.

RESCUE 7 IN GAS-FILLED APARTMENT

A FAULTY STOVE DRAFT filled an Ashburnham apartment with coal gas today and nearly snuffed out the lives of Mr. and Mrs. James Reid and their five children. Firemen were called to the apartment about 9 a.m. when the gas had serious effect on the family, causing them to become sick and collapse. Holding his head in his hands, Mr. Reid (top left) kneels beside his four-year-old daughter, Sharon, while fireman Cliff Perry applies the inhalator. Infant daughter, Jacqueline, son, Jerry, two, and Mrs. Reid (top right) receive attention from Capt. Hubert Kennedy. Gail, six, and Gary, three (lower right photo), still seem a little drowsy but felt better after a "few shots" from the inhalator.

Firemen Work On Family

Parents, 5 Children Have Narrow Escape, Blame Stove Draft

Seven lives came very near being snuffed out by coal gas early today in Ashburnham. Fire Chief Bill Sorrie said the gas, which filled the western portion of a duplex apartment at 60 Hunter St., was caused by a faulty stove draft system.

The seven casualties, all of whom needed inhalator treatment, were: Mr. and Mrs. James Reid, and their five young children, Gail, 6; Sharon, 4; Gary, 3; Jerry, 2; and Jacqueline, 1.

"The kids kept coming into our room one after the other during the night," said Mr. Reid. "But, at the time we didn't think anything of it, except that they might have eaten something which didn't agree with them.

"My wife said she didn't feel too well either, but it wasn't until about 8 a.m., that I noticed anything. Shortly after, my head began to ache and when I got out of bed and stood up, I felt terrible and had to sit down again."

SOUGHT HELP

"It was the strangest sensation," whispered Mrs. Reid, lying weakly on a bed in the adjoining apartment shortly after an inhalator mask had been removed from her face. It was she who had made the first effort to get help. She had just opened the door leading into Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Copson's apartment, immediately east of her, when she fainted.

Mr. Reid said he didn't pass out, but that by the time he reached the Copson apartment, he didn't know what he was doing except that he had to sit down.

"We didn't know what in the world was the matter," said Mrs. Copson. "I came to the door leading into their (Reids') apartment, and Mrs. Reid just collapsed in front of me. We called a doctor and the police and finally the fire department."

The five Reid children were brought into the Copson apartment and placed on two beds. Mrs. Copson said the children looked stark white as they were brought in by her husband and that none of them seemed to Know what was going on.

A leaky connection of the adjoining pipe between the stove and chimney was the source of the gas, said Fire Chief Sorrie, after closer inspection of the Reid apartment.

DEADLY FUMES

"They were burning briquettes in the combination coal and gas stove", said the chief. "It's a fuel composed of compressed coal mixed with oil, and if not properly burned, can cause deadly fumes. Sometimes a heavy fog and east wind, such as last night, can cause a serious back draft. The poor connection was letting plenty of gas get back into the building".

Dr. Bob Young attended the victims, and although all the children were physically ill, there was no one in serious condition.

Britain Expelling 2 Soviet Attaches On Spying Charge

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain has accused two assistant military air attaches of the Soviet embassy here of attempted espionage and has demanded their expulsion from Britain within 10 days, the foreign office announced today.

Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd told Russian ambassador Jacob Malik Friday that the two assistant military air attaches had "abused their diplomatic status in the United Kingdom by attempting to engage in espionage."

The two were identified as Major Ivan Pupyshev, born 1918, arrived in Britain in 1951, married with one child, and Major Andrei Gudkov, born 1917, arrived in Britain in 1951, married, with two children.

NO ATOMIC SECRETS

A spokesman told reporters that atomic secrets were not involved. He emphasized, however, that Britain is not bound to make any details known whatsoever about the case, either publicly or to the Russians. He did say, however, that Pupyshev and Gudkov attempted to spy on certain unspecified military activities in this country.

The spokesman denied that information from either Vladimir Petrov or Capt. Nikolai Khokhlov, Soviet citizens who recently fled to the West, had led to the present charge.

The charge marks the second time in two years that Britain has called for the removal of a member of the Soviet embassy staff on a charge of spying.

British Detain 24,000 In Nairobi Drive

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters) — Some 24,000 Africans, a quarter of Nairobi's native population, have been detained in a new British operation against Mau Mau terrorists, Gen. Sir George Erskine, the commander in chief in East Africa, said here today.

Reviewing the first two weeks of the joint police and army Operation Anvil, Erskine said in a broadcast he is certain "a very large number of bad hats" had been rounded up in the Nairobi purge.

The number of Africans detained after screening exceeded expectations. About 40 per cent were expected to fail the screening test, but the figure was as high as 66 per cent in some areas.

Africans graded "black" after investigation would be detained for "a long time," he said, and would be subject to rehabilitation.

"Greys" of various shades would be moved into work camps where they would be given the opportunity to show they could be released without danger to the community.

Erskine said he would keep "strong military forces" in the city for some time. They would support the police and help to enforce new passbook regulations for members of the Kikuyu, Meru and Embu tribes who were mainly identified with Mau Mau.

The clean-up of Nairobi, he said, would not by itself provide a permanent solution, but it would give the colonial administration and police an opportunity to improve the situation.

Disarms Policeman, Youth Caught In 20 Minutes

TORONTO (CP)—Robert Watson, 21, of Montreal, was arrested 20 minutes after he had disarmed a policeman who sought to capture him following a holdup at a movie house here Friday night.

Police said Watson is wanted in Montreal in connection with another theatre robbery.

Watson was taken without a fight by other police officers from his hiding place in the rear of a truck, and was charged with armed robbery.

Police said Watson brandished a gun, took $100 from Donald Kinlock, manager of the Hollywood theatre, then struck Kinlock over the head with his gun and fled. Kinlock was treated for head lacerations.

YIELDS CASH, ESCAPES

After the robbery, constable Arvid Landstrom stopped a man at gunpoint at the St. Clair Ave. subway station. The man threw a wallet containing $100 at his feet and, understanding him to be unarmed, the officer holstered his gun to handcuff him.

According to witnesses, the suspect pulled a revolver, forced Landstrom to raise his hands and then took the policeman's pistol.

As he ran away he fired a shot, accidentally, police believe.

In the subsequent search—robbery to arrest took only 30 minutes—several subway trains were stopped and searched.

Open Inquiry Into RCAF Crash

TORONTO (CP) — Investigation was opened today into the crash near suburban Malton Friday night of an RCAF Beechcraft plane.

Personnel from training command headquarters in Trenton arrived today at the muddy field, where the aircraft crashed and burned after it undershot the runway. Four men aboard escaped with minor injuries.

The men, members of a search and rescue unit, were flying from Ottawa to Winnipeg by way of Malton when they ran into bad weather. They aid they were coming in on instruments for a landing when the crash occurred.

The twin-engined craft was destroyed by fire when its fuel tanks exploded after the crack-up.

It was piloted by flying officer John Gordon of Winnipeg. With him were Cpl. David Walker and LAC. Jack Florence of Winnipeg and Cpl. Kenneth Heslop, who is stationed at Ottawa.

Fire Razes Picton Mess

No loss estimate was available.

Heat Wave In B.C. Brings Flood Threat

VANCOUVER (CP)—The danger of floods in British Columbia was heightened Friday by a heat wave.

River levels started to climb as the mercury soared to the high 70s in many districts, especially in the interior.

A report from the water rights branch in Victoria indicated a serious flood danger in the southern interior and most of the lower mainland because of melting snow.

Bidault Suggests Cease-Fire

GENEVA (CP)—France today proposed an immediate cease-fire in Indo-China to be guaranteed by the nations taking part in the Geneva conference. The truce would be supervised by international commissions.

In separate plans for Viet Nam and the other two associated states—Cambodia and Laos—Bidault proposed:

1. The evacuation of all Communist-led Vietminh forces from Cambodia and Laos.

2. The grouping of regular units in zones of assembly in Viet Nam to be determined by the conference on proposals from commanders-in-chief.

3. Disarmament of elements which do not belong either to the army or to forces in charge of maintaining order.

4. An immediate cease-fire at the time of signing of the agreement at Geneva.

Won't Surrender Final Words

PARIS (Reuters) — The last words to come from the toppling Dien Bien Phu fortress were "we will not surrender"—spoken by Brig.-Gen. Christian de Castries as Communist rebel troops closed in to overwhelm the French stronghold.

It was learned here that the transcript of the garrison commander's final radio report to French headquarters in Hanoi was:

"After 20 hours of fighting without respite, including hand-to-hand combat the enemy has infiltrated the whole of our central redoubt.

"Our ammunition is failing.

"Our positions are about to be overrun.

"The Vietminh are only a few metres away from the radio post where I am talking.

"I have given orders destroy as much of our equipment as possible.

"We will not surrender. . . ."

Then the radio went dead.

U.K. Floral Society Bans Lilibet Rose

LONDON (Reuters)—An American-bred rose named Lilibet has been banned by a British floral society.

"Lilibet" is the family name by which Queen Elizabeth was known as a child. The National Rose Society has warned its 40,000 members the Lilibet rose cannot be displayed at any of the society's exhibitions and has advised them not to grow it.

The name, the society explained, is "unsuitable." Their indignation was aroused by reports the Lilibet has been advertised in the United States as having all "the charm and loveliness of England's beautiful young queen."

Plays Part Of Gunman In School Play Then Tries Shooting Real Police

BETHEL, Ohio (AP)—An 18-year-old high school student, who had played the part of a gunman in his senior class play Friday night, took the part in real life early today and fired 15 shots at police officers.

James Donley had finished playing the part of a villain in a play called Books and Crooks in which he used a gun with blank cartridges.

Police chief Paul Keller said he received a call from the boy about 1 a.m., in which Donley said:

"Come over to the furniture store. I want to shoot it out with you."

The mystified officer went to the Deitz furniture store on Main street and said Donley opened fired on him.

Keller summoned help and officers finally drove the boy from the store by using tear gas. Then he disappeared mysteriously. He was arrested seven hours later.

Car, Truck Hit Head-On Two Killed In Collision

Gravenhurst (CP)—Two persons were killed early today in a head-on collision. Police said it occurred while an automobile was passing a transport truck on Highway 11 three miles north of here.

The car crashed into an oncoming pick-up truck, police said.

Slightly injured was George Mallory of North Bay, who was with the couple in the pickup truck.

Police said the pickup truck, southbound, was in collision with a northbound car driven by Andre Legault of Toronto, formerly of Sturgeon Falls. Neither Legault nor Jack L. Mallette, a former Sturgeon Falls resident also living in Toronto, was hurt.

Mortimer and the woman were thrown 50 feet out of the truck. The impact tore off their shoes.

VISIBILITY CURTAILED

Investigators said the car apparently was passing, or had just passed, a DeLuxe Transport truck operated by Lorne Pike of Gravenhurst when it met the pickup truck head-on. After the collision, the pickup truck swerved against the rear wheels of the transport.

Pike was unhurt. He was surprised to discover that Mallory, who had been in the pickup truck, also works for DeLuxe Transport.

Fortress Overwhelmed By Tidal Wave Of Troops

NOTE: The following dispatch, filed at 9 a.m. Hanoi time (8 p.m. EST Friday) is the first dispatch Associated Press Correspondent Larry Allen has been able to get through French censorship with direct word of the fall of Dien Bien Phu.

By LARRY ALLEN

HANOI, Indo-China (AP) —The French Union fortress of Dien Bien Phu fell under overwhelming tidal waves of attacking Vietminh rebels after 56 days of heroic resistance.

The Communist - led enemy, outnumbering the defenders 6 to 1, crashed the heart of the trench and barbed-wire bastion in northwest Indo-China in savage hand-to-hand fighting.

The French high command released the first news of the fall of the fortress at 9 a.m. today, Hanoi time (8 p.m. EST Friday).

SUPPRESSED NEWS

The high command deliberately suppressed all news of one of the biggest stories of the year for many hours after it had been known throughout the rest of the world.

Not a single line of news about Dien Bien Phu and its fall was allowed to be sent from Hanoi all through Friday. Nothing had been sent up to 9 a.m. Saturday.

A French spokesman here said the end of Dien Bien Phu after a magnificent resistance against a vastly outnumbering foe was a "Red Chinese victory rather than a Vietminh victory because of the greatly increased war aid given to the Vietminh" (from neighboring China to the north).

Reliable sources said the Vietminh used a new Russian weapon during the last hours of the battle. They are called "Stalin organs," consisting of a series of 25 to 30 rockets fired one after another. The rockets burst when they hit the ground. A French officer who had seen their effect in Korea said they were very destructive.

Council Asks Judicial Inquiry Into Home

OWEN SOUND (CP) — Grey county council has asked for a judicial inquiry into the operation of the county home for the aged at nearby Markdale.

Council members made the request Friday after an all-day session. It came nine days after five former maids made charges of wild parties and indecency at the home.

No date was set for the investigation. Council members said a judge from a nearby county will be asked to conduct the inquiry.

Two weeks ago Mervyn Gould, manager of the home, about 25 miles southeast of here, and his wife were suspended. Mr. Gould's wife was matron at the 100-room home.

Australia Closes All Exits To Reds

MELBOURNE (AP) — The government today shut all exits from Australia for any known Communists pending the results of its investigation into the Petrov papers.

Immigration Minister Harold Holt said, "We do not propose to provide travel facilities for Communists who might want to hide in Iron Curtain countries."

A royal commission will check into the details of Communist espionage in Australia as revealed in papers turned over by Vladimir Petrov, the Russian diplomat who obtained asylum here.

CBC Will Broadcast End Of Royal Tour

TORONTO (CP)—The CBC will relay a BBC broadcast of the end of the royal tour around the world.

The description of the return to London of the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh May 15 will be heard on the CBC's national network from 9:45 a.m. EDT until about 11 a.m.

An edited version also will be carried by the CBC at night.

2,000 French Soldiers Annihilated In Break-Out From Last Fort Bastion

PARIS (AP) — France was plunged into gloom today by her shattering defeat at Dien Bien Phu but the military vowed to keep battling the Communist-led foe in Indo-China.

The loss of the bastion and its thousands of defenders on the eve of Indo-China negotiations in Geneva raised speculation that Premier Joseph Laniel's government might fall.

In Saigon, Gen. Henri Navarre, commander of French forces in Indo-China, issued a terse order of the day saying "the fight continues" despite the serious setback.

The Red leaders of the Vietminh won a resounding military and political victory in the savage 20-hour battle that engulfed the fortress. A rebel broadcast monitored in Hong Kong claimed the "commander of Dien Bien Phu" and about 17 companies of French Union troops fell into Vietminh hands when the last defences caved in.

The radio did not name Brig.-Gen. Christian de Castries, but the reference to "commander" indicated the leader had survived.

The broadcast gave no word as to the fate of 29-year-old Genevieve de Galard Terraube, French air force nurse who had been trapped in Dien Bien Phu since March.

The Communist radio in Peiping claimed the attacking masses annihilated almost 2,000 French Union troops who tried to break out of "Isabelle," an outpost three miles south of de Castries' headquarters bunkers.

Isabelle went on fighting after the heart of the fortress had been overrun.

An Associated Press dispatch from Hanoi said that before the rebels swarmed over Isabelle the outpost turned its guns on main French ammunition stores in the main bastion, killing hundreds of rebels. The order to fire was given by Brig.-Gen. Christian de Castries before Dien Bien Phu fell, the dispatch said.

It was not known what happened to the hundreds of wounded lying in dugouts in the heart of the fortress. The Communists had turned a deaf ear to all French pleas for a temporary truce to evacuate the casualties by air.

The French delegation to Geneva formally accused the Communists of stalling on Indo-China negotiations until Dien Bien Phu could be seized.

In Paris, the Catholic paper Le Figaro said: "One hope remains to us: That the tragedy which has just concluded gives the conscience of the free world a decisive shock and that the united front of the whole Western world will tear us away from our folly and find in its very strength at Geneva the means to conclude a peace."

The pro-Communist Liberation said: "Geneva should give us a chance to reverse our policy and negotiate an honorable peace which would greatly contribute to effacing the errors of a fratricidal war. Peace always ennobles him who offers it."

In London, The Times said: "The free world should pause for a moment to pay tribute not only to the heroic defenders of the fortress, but also to the French nation as a whole."

BULLETIN

HAMILTON (CP)—Lloyd Astley Webb, 30, formerly of the West Indies, today was charged with murder in the shooting early today of Mary Carter, also 30, who police said lived with him in an east-end apartment.

Britain Plans Elaborate Welcome

Queen's Homecoming Will Be Like Second Coronation

LONDON (Reuters)—Homecoming celebration plans for the Queen when she ends her round-the-world tour next Saturday are rapidly assuming the proportions of the Coronation itself.

The works ministry, which stage-managed the Coronation pageantry, is devoting almost as much attention to the public reception for the Royal Family. The crowds are expected to approach the throngs of last June 2 and may exceed them if the weather is good.

No official public holiday has been proclaimed but few Britons are chained to office desks or factory benches on a Saturday afternoon.

Works Minister Sir David Eccles is confident that the Mall, the broad tree-lined avenue which serves as a majestic path to Buckingham Palace, will be even more tightly packed with sightseers than it was on that cold and rainy June day last year.

On May 15, however, the big show will be on London's River Thames. Along the embankment thousands will vie for the best places to get a glimpse of the young Queen as she sets foot in her homeland after a six-month absence.

With the Duke of Edinburgh, Prince Charles and Princess Anne, she will step from a royal barge onto Westminster pier.

OFFICIAL RECEPTION

There, a distinguished company will greet her officially. Among them will be members of the Royal Family, Sir Winston Churchill, and the high commissioners for Australia, New Zealand and Ceylon. The diplomatic corps will be represented by the French ambassador Rene de Massigli.

But chances are that all the well-turned, official phrases will be drowned by cheers.

Even these cheers will have to compete with the musical din of bells which will peal from every church; the roar of Royal Air Force escort jet planes zooming overhead; the thunder of a cannon salute; the playing of the guardsmen's bands.

Four carriages, with a sovereign's escort of brilliantly - uniformed household cavalry, will form a procession which will wind past the Houses of Parliament and Big Ben, past Whitehall and the government buildings, under Admiralty Arch at Trafalgar Square and down the Mall to Buckingham Palace.

Workmen are putting up the gay street decorations, lemon-colored, green-striped poles in the Mall with emblems showing the progress of the Commonwealth tour and topped with giant seven-foot butterflies and a fresh coat of sky-blue paint for the lamp posts in Whitehall.

UPENDED ARTILLERY TRACTOR, smashed motorcycle and crumpled car was the result of a freak accident two miles east of the city limits on Highway 7, on Wednesday afternoon. The two car ocupants were brused. The accident occurred when the car of Earl Lowes, 134 Sutherland Pl., Peterborough, was in colliston with the tractor driven by Kenneth A. Graham of Lindsay. Both vehicles slewed to the ditch and the tractor flopped over on its side after skidding onto the soft shoulder. Partly under the car, is a crumpled motorcycle which had been parked beside the highway. (Examiner Staff Photo)

Abducts Girl 16, No Trace Of Killer

MINTO, N.B. (CP)—Police and dogs were still on a cold trail in the bushlands near here today in their search for an armed man wanted in connection with a murder, a wounding and the abduction of a 16-year-old girl.

Police said their hunt for Floyd E. Brown, a 25-year-old miner, is concentrated in dense country a few miles from Minto. Sixteen RCMP and two dogs have been hunting the area since Wednesday when Erle Thompson, 54, was shot to death in his home and a neighbor, Rene Patris, 43, was wounded by a shot in the neck.

Officers said Brown is believed to be "armed and dangerous." Residents in this town, 30 miles northeast of Fredericton, have been told not to expose themselves to danger and not leave cars unlocked.

The alleged abduction of the high school girl was disclosed Friday night when reliable informants said she was taken for a ride in a stolen truck by Brown shortly after Thompson was shot in the face. These informants said the girl, who was not identified, was released about eight hours after she was forced into the truck.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Early losses were reduced or erased in late trading Friday on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Flax was the weak spot.

The Winnipeg market followed the trend of United States markets, which were easier early in the session, then recovered in late stages following the announcement of the fall of the announcement of the fall of the French fortress Dien Bien Phu in Indo-China. Lakehead prices for the top grades of Class 2, IWA and domestic wheat were unchanged.

De Valera Stakes Leadership May 18

By FRASIER WIGHTON

DUBLIN (Reuters)—Eamon de Valera, 72-year-old prime minister of the Republic of Ireland, will stake his political leadership in a general election May 18.

He seeks a stronger mandate for his Fianna Fail party, descendant of the old revolutionary Sinn Fein movement. Fianna Fail has been the governing party since 1932, with the exception of a break between 1948 and 1951, when there was an inter-party administration under the leadership of John Costello of the Fine Gael party.

De Valera had been handicapped in the last House by the fact that even with help from independents, he could count on only small majorities in the 147-member Dail. Fianna Fail had also suffered reverses in a number of recent by-elections.

Fianna Fail had 72 seats at dissolution, Fine Gael 45, Labor 15; Farmers, 7, Republicans 2. There were six independents.

The election contest has revived none of the passionate issues of Ireland's stormy past. All parties agree on the one great remaining political controversy: the South's demand for a united Ireland including the six counties of Ulster which now are a part of the United Kingdom.

PUBLIC RESENTMENT SEEN

As in the last election three years ago, the campaign will be fought mainly in the economic field. Ireland, always a poor country, has been particularly hard hit by postwar rises in the world's cost of living.

The present government found it necessary in 1952 to introduce a budget imposing additional taxation and cutting food subsidies, and its opponents say that this has left lingering public resentment.

The government itself believes that it has done a good job since it took over from the coalition in 1951. Said Sean Lemass, the 54-year-old deputy prime minister and minister for industry and commerce:

"We inherited an unbalanced budget and trade depression the measures required to put that situation right were politically difficult but they have now all been completed. We hope to be able gradually to ease the burden of taxation as production continues to expand—which in itself will be the justification of these measures."

COSTELLO RAPS AUSTERITY

"All trends and all indications would seem to indicate that Fianna Fail is well on its way out. There is widespread and deep-seated resentment at all the unnecessary suffering which has been inflicted by the government policy of austerity during the past two or three years.

"Increased taxes prevented an expansion of business, and the government's policy, directed to showing that the country was living beyond its means, invited, or at least encouraged, the restriction of credit which subsequently emerged."

The Fianna Fail party includes in its members farmers, manufacturers, business men, agricultural and industrial workers and professional men.

Fine Gael has the backing of the larger farmers, the more wealthy shopkeepers and is influentially represented in the conservative professional section of the country.

Rubirosa Republic's Most Famous Export

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—The Dominican Republic is on a fertile, subtropical island in the Caribbean. Its principal industries are sugar and cattle raising. Its best-known export is Porfirio Rubirosa.

This international commodity is a slim-waisted, beautifully tailored, poised and unexpectedly reticent man of around 45, greying at the temples but with an apparently insatiable appetite for sports and night life, a connoisseur's appreciation of beautiful women and a marked ability to live like a millionaire.

After marrying, among others, two of the richest women in the world—Doris Duke and Barbara Hutton—this Caribbean Casanova found himself squarely in the public eye. Questions raised most frequently are: What has he got? Is he a fortune hunter?

Answers to the first are varied and range from the bawdy to the concise. There are a number of things, however, that Rubi indisputably has. They include a flashing white converted B-25 plane in which he crosses the Atlantic in splendor; a string of polo ponies in France; a string of languishing females strategically located from California to the Riviera; a diplomatic passport which provides pleasant immunity from routine travel annoyances; a charm that blends courtly manners, cosmopolitan savoir faire, unconscious ruthlessness and arrogance; and a reputation as a lady-killer without peer.

WOMEN WANT MARRIAGE

He also has enemies, and many of them also are enemies of his boss and former father-in-law, General Rafael Trujillo, dictator of the excitable island country in whose foreign service Rubi is employed when polo, auto races or a honeymoon do not interfere.

His marital record stands at four. There was Flor de Oro Trujillo, the general's fiery daughter. There was Danielle Darrieux, the French actress once called "the most beautiful woman in Europe." There was Miss Duke, the blonde, statuesque heiress to a tobacco fortune estimated between 200 and 400 million dollars. There was Barbara Hutton, whose five-and-dime inheritance was upwards of $20,000,000.

"I was in love with each of the women I married," he told me earnestly. "And I married them—not because I wanted to—but because women want to marry. Women don't like to be concubines."

DORIS LIKED JAZZ

Doris—Dee-Dee—Duke, the richest girl in the world, became his wife in 1947 after a courtship of about a year. A year later, Dee-Dee picked up a Reno decree, murmuring something about "mysterious forces" breaking up her marriage. Rubi, on the other hand, says it was jazz music.

"Suddenly," he explained, "she got this craze for jazz music and to play the piano. All day she practised the piano and she got this piano professor, a girl. She wanted to study so much she invited this girl to move into the house with us. I didn't like this professor and I didn't like her boy friend, either, and Doris wanted us to go everywhere together. So it was fights."

FISHING BOATS

Rubi says he makes a lot of his money as a fish monger.

"I operate fishing boats in the French Congo," he explained. "It is a good business because the natives there eat only fish—no meat—and no one ever went into commercial fishing there before."

Now that Rubi is back at his diplomatic chores in Paris, there is one more affair of the heart up for decision: Zsa Zsa Gabor. He says: "She is a very good friend of mine, sure. She likes me . . . But I give you my assurance, I will not marry again for a very long, long time."

Slight Damage Done

No injuries to persons were reported in two accidents which occurred in the city Friday. Damage to vehicles involved was slight.

Cars driven by Clark K. Horsnell, Quebec, and Leslie Dewar, 497 Patterson St., collided on McDonnel St. Constable John Williams investigated.

On Lansdowne St., cars driven by Alan E. Austin, 576 Water St., and Mrs. Reta Stevens, 33 Morrow St., collided.

Press Search For Navy Plane

HALIFAX (CP) — The search continued today for a missing Royal Canadian Navy Avenger aircraft with four aboard that disappeared in the waters off southern Nova Scotia Thursday.

Naval officials said 13 ships, with naval and air force planes, were in the search area this morning.

Naval technicians are examining the fuel of the other five planes that were with the missing Avenger on the flight from Bermuda to Summerside. The planes were grounded when sandy particles were found in one of the plane's gas filters.

Russians Training Young Scientists

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The president of California Institute of Technology says the Russians have twice as many young scientists in training as does the United States.

"If our government spent 1-20th as much for science as for weapon development, we would be fairly well off," Dr. Lee A. DuBridge told the National Association of Educational Buyers Friday night.

Methods In Malaya Praised By General

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (CP) Malaya's methods for fighting the Communists are the "best ever seen for this type of operation anywhere," Gen. John E. Hull, United Nations supreme commander in the Far East, said today.

Before returning to Tokyo at the end of a two-day visit to Malaya, he said that at the present rate of progress he had no fear of the Communists ever gaining ground in Malaya.

Obituary

MRS. WALTER H. GOULD

A sister of Mrs. Wilma Frost of Peterborough, and a former resident of this city, Mrs. Walter H. Gould died in Edmonton Wednesday after a lengthy illness.

Born in Lindsay, Mrs. Gould was the former Margaret Ethel Jones. She was a daughter of the late John Jones and his wife Mary Jane Moore. She settled in Peterborough with her husband, Walter H. Gould, who survives in Edmonton.

Other survivors include a son Gordon of Manning, Alberta, and a half-brother, Harland L. Skuce, who lives in Philadelphia.

Funeral services will be held from the Comstock funeral home Tuesday upon arrival of the CNR transcontinental at 12.15 EST. The service will then be conducted by the Rev. G. S. Maxwell at 3.30, and burial will be at Little Lake cemetery.

Canadian Fishermen Soon May Be Harpooning Whales From Helicopters

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian fishermen soon may be harpooning whales from the air. Fisheries Minister Sinclair said Friday in the Commons that possibility of harpooning whales from helicopters will be discussed in Tokyo at the next meeting of the 17-country international whaling convention.

He said during discussion of his departmental estimates that helicopters now are used to spot whales but international regulations prevent harpooning. And decision to permit harpooning from helicopters was expected to help Canadian whaling operations at the Cold Harbor, B.C., station.

Mr. Sinclair gave a detailed 50-minute review of his department's operations to the House. His speech ranged from conservation of fishery resources to efforts to increase consumption of Canadian fish at home and abroad.

COMPLIMENT MINISTER

Members of all parties representing east and west coast constituencies complimented the minister on his speech and said it eliminated the necessity of them asking many questions. Angus MacInnis (CCF—Vancouver Kingsway), among others said it was the best speech he had heard by a minister in a long time.

Mr. Sinclair said the government is trying to promote new markets for Canadian cod in the Mediterranean area. A likelihood also existed that another Commonwealth country, he did not mention which, would buy British Columbia salmon.

He said that at present there is no salmon backlog in B.C. West coast fishermen had eliminated last year's carryover of 1,000,000 cases largely through their own efforts and had netted about $47,000,000.

The fishing industry on the east coast was in a depressed condition last year but business had picked up. The market for salt cod had been strengthened with sales to Korea and Greece and it was hoped that sales in the Mediterranean area would result in further improvement.

HOPES FOR AGREEMENT

Mr. Sinclair, who represents the B.C. riding of Coast-Capilano, expressed hope there would be a Canadian-U.S. agreement soon concerning pink salmon. U.S. fishermen were taking most of the pinks in Puget sound before they arrived at the mouth of the Fraser river.

However, Canadian fishermen last year took 40 per cent of the catch by moving their boats to the west coast of Vancouver island.

He also expressed hope for an early Canada-U.S. treaty on conservation for the Great Lakes fishery. There was an alarming decline in the fishery because of the blood-sucking lamprey and nonvaluable fish which used up most of the food in the lakes.

Hope To End Hearing Soon Senator Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Everett Dirksen (Rep. Ill.) said today he will ask the Senate investigations sub-committee for a vote Monday on "a concrete proposal which, if adopted, should end the MCarthy-army hearings very soon."

Although Dirksen declined to supply details, Republican members of the inquiry group canvassed the prospects of limiting further testimony primarily to Senator McCarthy and Army Secretary Stevens.

Bidault Suggests

5. Immediate liberation of prisoners and civil internees.

6. International supervision of all these measures by international committees.

WANTS FREE ELECTIONS

Bidault also called for free elections to follow a cease-fire. He emphasized French opposition to partition of Viet Nam.

The conference recessed immediately after Bidault's proposals were presented. Vietminh Foreign Minister Pham Van Dong will be the next speaker.

The Indo - China conference opened against the background of the fall of Dien Bien Phu. Western delegates feel that the loss of the Indo-China fortress to the Communist-led vietminh will be difficult to assay. Its military significance has tended to be discounted in recent weeks. Psychologically, the impact may be incalculable.

VIETMINH PRESTIGE UP

Asid from military importance, there seems to be little doubt that it has strengthened the prestige of the Vietminh in their discussions here.

Bidault, apparently anticipating the claim to representation of the Communist regimes in Laos and Cambodia, told the conference that there is no civil war in these two Indo-China states.

Bidault said the situation in Viet Nam presents "a very different and more complex character."

"We are facing in reality a civil war. For France there exists a Viet Namese state whose unity, territorial integrity and independence must be respected."

Eisenhower Holds Special Meeting

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Eisenhower met with his top strategy advisers — members of the national security council — for an hour and a half today in an unusual Saturday session. Presumably a major topic was what the United States should do about the Indo-China crisis.

The president's office made no announcement of what decisions, if any, were reached.

State Secretary Dulles laid down basic points of the administration attitude Friday night: It is considering defence commitments which "might involve the use of armed force" but under "present conditions" the U.S. has no intention of sending fighting men to Indo-Chia.

Dulles spoke in a national broadcast a few hours after news of the fall of Dien Bien Phu reached Washington.

Dulles expressed confidence that discussions now under way with 10 friendly nations, Britain and France among them, on the defence of Southeast Asia will result in a Free World coalition that will rock Communist aggression there. But he cautioned:

SERIOUS COMMITMENTS

"This common defence may involve serious commitments by us all. But free people will never remain free unless they are willing to fight for their vital interests."

So far as the United States is concerned, Dulles said that entering into such commitment is possibly only on two conditions:

1. Congressional approval: Congress, he said, "is a full partner" with the administration in any such enterprise.

2. Other free nations would have to join the pledge and share the burden. In Dulles' words, there would have to be "an adequate collective effort based on genuine mutuality of purpose in defending vital interests."

MAKES DISTINCTION

Dulles made a distinction between the long - range problem of securing Southeast Asia generally against Red conquest and dealing now with the war which is actively under way in the Indo-China state of Viet Nam.

He said that efforts to work out an armistice at the Geneva conference could produce an acceptable settlement of the fighting. But he acknowledged the possibility that an unacceptable settlement, from the U.S. point of view, might be made.

If there is an unacceptable armistice or a failure to agree on ending the fighting, he said, the need for an anti-Communist coalition would be "even more urgent."

Napalm Bomb Order For Indo-China

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's leading economic journal today quoted Japanese government officials as saying 35,000 napalm bombs to be produced here for the U.S. Air Force "apparently are for shipment to Indo-China."

Nihon Keizai said Fuji Sharyo, large Japanese munitions company, will deliver the bombs between mid-May and November.

Intervention Needed

SAIGON (Reuters)—Gen. Henri Navarre, French commander-in-Chief in Indo-China, said in a broadcast today that foreign intervention in the Indo-China war will become necessary if the Geneva Far East conference does not produce a peaceful solution.

Artist Assaults Five Models

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—A 26-year-old commercial artist was alleged here today to have bound and gagged five shapely young models at gunpoint and assaulted them.

Police said in court that Leonard Keith Lawson took the girls in a car Friday to a lonely spot in the Terry hills near here. He first bound their hands and feet and put adhesive tape over their mouths.

Then he assaulted each girl in the presence of the others—"the whole time brandishing a pistol," the police prosecutor said.

The girls, aged between 15 and 22, were from a Sydney model agency.

Lawson was held in custody until Monday on five charges of indecent assault, two of rape and two of carnal knowledge.

Tiflis In Southern Russia Strongly Resembles Naples

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Tiflis, capital of the Soviet Socialist Republic of Georgia, is a fine city built on a long crest of land running between two sets of hills six miles apart.

"The atmosphere of Paris with a strong dash of Naples thrown in for spice," says my notebook, written by a hand jaded by five months in Moscow and startled by the Mediterranean atmosphere of the Georgian city.

Its main street is magnificent, with new apartment houses, the Marx-Engels-Lenin Institute and the building of the Supreme Soviet, all of imposing proportions in polished sandstone.

BRIGHTER STORES

There are more stores than in most Russian cities. Their wares are better displayed and the staffs are more civil.

For a moment the diversity of the shops dispels the realization that they all belong to the same boss, which is the Communist state.

Signs are in Georgian and Russian everywhere—two dissimilar alphabets, witness to the Georgians' stubborn resistance to Russification of their culture.

The people are courteous, polite and cheerful. The men are well-built, the women striking, use make-up skilfully and—for Soviet women—are thin. Their long hair is dressed up, not down their backs in braids as elsewhere. The dreary old factory dresses look better on them.

The streets at dusk and after dark are as lively as at noon with chattering crowds out for a stroll, window-shopping, theatre-bound, or just standing at the corners in little groups, talking. Here and there a voice lifts in song above the murmur of the crowd, people walk arm-in-arm—it's much like Naples.

CITY OF HILLS

Walking in Tiflis means exercise for every street is a hill. All are tree-lined, and between the pavement and the sidewalk is a strip of green.

Less impressive, but still Neapolitan, are the residential districts, reached by climbing any lane off the main streets. It is a cleaned-up version of Naples' densely populated tenement areas, except that the dwellings are only two and three-storeys high.

Even the lanes have trees but, as everywhere in the Soviet Union, whole families are crowded into one room. Through the windows you can see three or four beds, table, a wardrobe and cooking equipment.

Gangs of children play street-corner games. Colorful old men sit along the house-fronts, cracking jokes in irrepressible good humor. Buildings are illuminated by night—even new apartment houses still under construction.

The restaurant I visited was incredible for Russia. Customers sang alone or in chorus. Waiters argued cheerfully among themselves and with the customers. The customers conversed loudly and no one took the slightest notice.

HEALTH RESORT

Tiflis in Georgian means "warm" and the name comes from warm springs which make it famous as a resort for treatment of bone diseases. There are many springs, sanatoria and clinics.

Just around the corner from the Intourist Hotel is the Russian Orthodox monastery where Joseph Stalin studied theology from 1893 to 1896, with time out to organize Communist cells among the monks until he was turned out. It's now a museum of Georgian art.

In another part of town is the Mausoleum for Georgian men and women of letters. Stalin's mother was buried there in 1937. His last visit to Tiflis was for her funeral. He was born at the nearby town of Gori, son of a shoemaker who also later was buried in Tiflis.

For 50 kopeks (12½ cents) a cable car jolts you to the top of a 1,500-foot hill overlooking the city, a twinkling sight by night and impressive by day. Tiflis has grandiose plans to rehouse its people by 1970.

Georgians say vodka is not a "civilized drink" and love their native wines.

They respect their women, too. It was Russian women who dug the roads and paved the streets of Tiflis. The Georgian women refused, saying it was "not women's work."

Merger Of 2 Companies As GM Brought Earnings Of $10,000,000 In First Year

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT (AP)— Forty - six years ago William C. Durant merged Buick Motor Car Co. and Oldsmobile to create General Motors Co. The company, dealing exclusively in automobiles, earned $10,000,000 in its first year.

Last year General Motors Corp., its original two divisions grown to nearly two score, did a gross business of more than $10,000,000,000 and earned more than $585,000,000.

To most persons General Motors means automobiles. Last year it built approximately 46 per cent of all the motor vehicles produced in the United States. It turned out 3,279,440 Buick, Cadillac, Chevrolet, Oldsmobile and Pontiac cars and Chevrolet and GMC trucks.

But from its numerous other divisions came such things as ice trays, automatic home heating equipment, clothes dryers, bicycle coaster brakes, electric ironers and dozens of other products.

Employment in GM plants last year averaged 551,095 persons. These workers received $2,626,302,048 in wages. Hourly-rated workers averaged $92.27 in weekly pay. The corporation paid $1,250,000,000 in taxes.

CANADIAN GM FORMED

When Durant brought Buick and Oldsmobile together in 1908 he was generally credited with an ambition to control all motorcar production. In 1909 Oakland (now Pontiac Motors) and Cadillac joined GM. Shortly afterward General Motors Export Co. and GM's truck company were organized.

In 1912 General Motors of Canada was formed. In 1918 Chevrolet joined. The following year Fisher Body was absorbed and the corporation organized Frigidaire Corp.

Today the corporation has 121 plants in 57 communities in 19 states. It has five plants in Canada and manufacturing operations in 17 other countries.

Damp, Dull, Drizzly, Depressing Outlook Almanacs Hold No Promise Of Redemption

Such is the damp and beclouded prospect for the weeks of May in a domestic almanac, like all such predictive publications, dubiously reliable. However, as some one who evidently consults its meteorological readings of the future has pointed out for warranty of its tomorrows, it has not been far amiss in probabilities for April. In fact this booklet of the pill people has been hitting the course of spring weather mostly on the head.

Looking back over last month, some of the notations were "colder, slowly clearing", fair and warmer, then stormy and wet, becoming unsettled, colder with frosts, rain storms, fair and colder, blustery squalls. For the last half of this week, it was seeing clearly far ahead with "stormy and wet", to such an extent that the program of Ontario's agriculture is seriously upset and retarded.

So, to bring the almanac out of the kitchen drawer for all to note, the fare for next week is fair and colder followed by strong winds; middle of the month stormy, windy and wet. If that be true, agriculture in these parts will continue to be bogged down in saturated soil. Around, Victoria Day,—cooler, clear skies, turning to a relapse of "foggy and wet", winding up the month with some fair skies, switching to "becoming stormy".

"The Old Farmer Almanac", retailing at two-bits, holds out promise of a redemption of spring from the chills and rains of April. It concedes generous splashes of sunshine for May. For this week it mentioned rains, but brushes away the skies for next week: "Relax in the sun and really have fun", if that be possible with long suspended plantings of fields of grain, and in home gardens early annual flowers, rose bushes, and the odd fruit bushes that have been waiting for buyers in the fields of the nurserymen.

For May's third week, the temperature ascends from the condition suggested by relaxing in the sun to "sultry and hot all over", closing the month with more or less rain.

In the concern of people about this last month of Spring, these prognostications in the several almanacs are presented chiefly in the overall probability that the first one will be confirmed in the usual failure of people who try to visualize what's coming around seasonal corners as the calendar approaches them.

Investigate Cause Of School Fire

SUDBURY (CP) — An investigator from the Ontario fire marshal's department is expected to arrive here today to probe the cause of a fire which swept the MacLeod road public school in adjoining McKim township Thursday night.

Damage was estimated at $350,000.

The McKim fire department has posted a watch on the gutted building of which only four of the original 16 rooms are still standing.

A special meeting of the McKim area school board will be held today to discuss alternative accommodation for the 450 pupils and plans for reconstruction.

Mrs. Robert M. Holt

Funeral service for the late Mrs. Robert M. Holt, 79, of Peterborough, who died in hospital last Tuesday following a short illness, was held on Friday at the Kaye Funeral Home. The Rev. M. P. Poole of All Saints' Anglican church officiated. Pallbearers were Roy Beeler, Hal Barker, Claire Stewart, Robert Lawrie, Ken McCannan and J. L. P. Smith. Burial was at Little Lake cemetery.

Fishermen Recover

TOKYO (AP)—Eight Japanese fishermen—now radio-active only in their toe nails—will be allowed to leave hospital in a week to 10 days, their doctor said today. The eight were members of the crew of the "Lucky Dragon" fishing boat, showered with radio-active ash by the March 1 H-bomb test blast at Bikini.

Police Seek Weapon In Woman's Death

HAMILTON (CP) — Police were searching for a weapon today following the death in Hamilton General Hospital of Mary Carter, 30, found early this morning with a gunshot wound in her head.

Lloyd Webb, described by police as the common-law husband of the dead woman, called police to the apartment where he said he found the woman wounded on her bed. She was in night attire.

Police are questioning Webb.

Dies In Crash

TORONTO (CP) — Stanley Poproski of Pickering Township was killed and Audrey Rurak, 20, of Toronto was injured Friday night when the car in which they were riding slid on wet street-car tracks and crashd head-on into a moving street-car. Miss Rurak was taken to hospital with a fractured skull and a broken leg.

DOUBLE RAINBOWS are not always in the sky as Doug Nutter, of Cobourg, demonstrates. They are sometimes found on the end of a trout line; these beauties came from Shelter Valley Creek, Grafton. The larger fish weighed 5 pounds, 4 ounces, and the smaller one, 3¾ pounds. These were not the largest rainbows taken in that favorite stream this week; Morris Francis, of Grafton village, caught one that went six pounds even.—(Murray Smith Photo).

Don't Forget The Guest Of Honour

Yesterday in these columns we commented upon the suggestion of Dr. W. H. Hills of Toronto, that criminals might be given a lethal injection of some powerful drug, instead of being hanged, when sentence of death is executed upon them. The doctor also said that, as no physician would want to give such a dose to anybody, the criminal might be able to give it to himself.

* * *

Pondering on this matter we did some further reading on Friday night, relating to hangings, guillotinings, beheadings and other means of capital punishment. We read Thackeray's eloquent essay called Going To See A Man Hanged, which he wrote for Punch (then a crusading, radical paper) in 1840. And we were very much struck by one thing: all the people who wrote about hanging described at length how they felt about it; they were sickened, outraged, horrified; they prayed that they might never see such a loathesome and degrading spectacle again; they felt guilty, sullied and implicated—indeed they carried on very much in the strain of Mr. Eric Nicoll, who was recently fined for contempt of court because of his public declaration that he was responsible for a hanging.

* * *

All the writers were filled with pity for themselves, the hangman, the doctors and jail officials and the spectators when there were any. (Thackeray went to see the hanging of Courvoisier, and the crowd was estimated at 40,000, or the present population of Peterborough; we do not doubt that such a crowd could be collected today for the same spectacle.) But nobody had a word to say for the guest of honour—the man to be hanged. We think that his feelings deserve some attention.

* * *

As he must be killed, we presume that he would like to have it done as quickly and decisively as possible. He is, quite excusably, unconcerned about the feelings of those around him. Why should he run any risk of a botched job—and we have expressed some fear that a supposedly lethal injection might not be efficacious in every case. And why should he be asked to kill himself, because no physician can be found to kill him? We can imagine a criminal of theological habit of mind enquiring if the law wished him to add the crime of suicide to that of murder?

* * *

So long as we go on killing people for serious crimes we must shoulder the burden of doing so in the most humane and rapid manner possible. We are not sure that poisoning, or electrocution meets this need. But hanging is reputedly a very quick death, disagreeable though it may be to those who have watched it. We suggest that at executions first consideration belongs not to the subsidiary characters, but to the guest of honour.

The Retort Discourteous

It is now twenty years or more since the celebrated American comic magazine The New Yorker appeared with several pages devoted to a special supplement called Paunch; it was a brilliant and wicked satire on the ancient, and at that time almost comatose British comic magazine Punch. If we recall the matter correctely, Punch did nothing; never batted an eye. But in its number of April 7, 1954, Punch offers a suplement called *The N*w Y*rk*r*, which is the funniest thing we have seen in a long time. The British are said to live at a slower pace than the people of this continent, but we think that twenty years to avenge an insult creates something of a record.

The revenge, however, is as complete as it is late. It begins with a splendid reproduction of The New Yorker's famous birthday cover, but in this version Charley Knickerbocker looks through his eyeglasses not at a butterfly, but at a very tiny Mr. Punch, who looks right back at him through a telescope. Punch is smiling, but Charley is not.

The supplement is printed on the glossiest paper, in compliment to the American magazine. And it contains much of the New Yorker stock-in-trade —The Talk of the Town, a story in imitation of the endless New Yorker stories about somebody's childhood, the frenzied comic article by S. J. Perelman, a mock Profile, and a wonderful parody of one of Edmund Wilson's book reviews. There are also cartoons by Charles Addams, James Thurber, Steinberg, Richter and Soglow. But best of all, we think, are the advertisements.

Among other articles offered in this parody of American top-class magazine advertising is a Loafing Jacket, made of Scotch tweed, Irish linen, Egyptian cotton, Lithuanian bone buttons—nothing American about it at all. Nor is there anything provincial or home grown about Bangs Dandelion Wine, 'distilled with loving care in the countryside where Gracious Living is the tradition of the people'—imported from Engl[illegible] And the back cover is devoted to a large advertisement for the DeMotobile, which is an American luxury car as it appears to irreverent English eyes.

We shall not continue a description of this elaborate international joke, for jokes must be savoured at first-hand; they do not retain their flavour when described. We mention it because it gives us pleasure to think that two very civilized magazines can, twenty years apart, take a healthy swipe at each other, causing a few hurt feelings, a great deal of laughter, and a clearing of the air.

We should now like to see both The New Yorker and Punch do a parody of the Russian comic journal Krokodil. And we would like to see Krokodil reply in kind. Such an exchange would be worth at least one full-scale conference as a promoter of good international relations.

Does 50 Really Mean 50?

The Provincial Police have been given orders to watch the highways and to see that motorists observe the speed limit of 50 miles per hour. We hope that this experiment will be carried out faithfully for a period sufficiently long to provide some figures which will show whether fewer accidents happen when the speed limit is observed, than under ordinary conditions, when many drivers ignore it. We do not know what the outcome will be, for we have a feeling that a car travelling at 50 is as likely to get into trouble as one travelling at 35 or 75, but we would be happy to have the results of a test.

Motorists are often of the opinion that great speeds are safe if the driver is skillful. Indeed, they often argue that it is not fast drivers, but bad drivers, who cause trouble. But we all know what motorists are like: they love to go as fast as they can, and they hate to slow down. A driver who has been travelling at 70, feels as if he were crawling when he goes through a village at 40; but it cannot be argued that he is harmless to pedestrians at his idea of a decreased speed.

We have sympathy with motorists, but we think that they become intoxicated with speed, and are disdainful of pedestrians and slower drivers. Disdain is a bad emotion for a man to experience when he is in control of several hundred pounds of steel machinery; he forgets that he, and other human creatures, are made of far more fragile materials.

If the motorists are right, and if speed is not a main cause of accidents, the public should know it. If a strict adherence to the speed limit reduces accidents, we should know that, too. And we can only find out the truth by a test, carried out under careful supervision, extending over a period of time which will give us some trustworthy figures.

Obviously motorists should help the police in this matter. Don't drive as fast as you can when you think that you are not being watched. There are not enough policemen in Ontario to watch you all the time. Besides, it is childish to depend on the police to make you do what is desirable and right. Help them to make a test which is important to us all.

The Mood-Lifter

We are much amused by the solemnity with which some people are taking the announcement of three Cincinnati physicians that they have devised a pill which is a 'mood-lifter'. It raises the mood of those who take it, and helps them to cast off oppression, sense of insufficiency, and all the depressing ailments which we sum up as 'low spirits'. A course of treatment with these pills is apparently capable of making a hearty, confident lion out of the timidest mouse.

The reason we are amused is that any doctor can give you a mood-lifter if he wants to. His pill-cupboard is full of substances which will make you feel like a king—for a short time. They may be habit-forming, or rather harmful, but they are guaranteed mood-lifters. And of course, there is the oldest and most potent of all mood-lifters—alcohol—for those who feel a temporary depression. But there are plenty of people who would rather take a pill than a drink; pills put mood-lifting on a higher plane.

NOTES AND COMMENT

An etiquette columnist says that it is not good manners to tell people whom you have invited to a party to which you are also inviting them. No, but it can prevent many an ugly scene.

He Planted Trees

By BERNARD BRIGGS

MY grandfather was a gentleman. It wasn't that he was not made of flesh and blood like ourselves, but the mixture was finer. I've often thought about it and there is no other word to describe him.

He never did anything in a hurry. His manners were the slow expression of his personality. When he had done anything there was never any desire to do it again. Improvement seemed impossible.

HE WAS the same to rich and poor alike, except, maybe, a little kinder to the poor, especially if they had known better days.

To dogs and horses he was particular kind. But cats—well, he didn't like them. There was a reason for this, but he never said much about it. He was never cruel to them, although he was always firm. There was never any cat rubbing itself against his legs; they were always pushed on one side.

It had to do with his mother and it happened before he was born. It nearly caused the loss of her life and she was an invalid for many years.

WHENEVER I went to stay with him in the country, in the queer, sprawling cottage that he had chosen for his home, he used to take me for long walks. Every walk was a fresh revelation of himself and of nature.

We used to visit together people, old like himself, who were kept indoors by some ailment—friends of his youth. On such occasions I tasted all sorts of sweet cakes and drank all kinds of wines, homemade, of course.

THEN, after the visit, we would cut across the fields to look for birds' nests, fresh rabbit holes, and the new mounds made by the moles. It was amazing how quickly he saw the new nests and how, at such moments, his age slid off him. And how he would listen to the mole scratching away below! For this he would often lie flat on his stomach, with his ear to the ground. His face would be all lighted up and young when he was busy with these things.

He was permitted to carry a gun, but he rarely did. He was as much a gamekeeper as the professionals and used a gun as sparingly. Woe be to any man he caught poaching!

THE keepers all knew him and were ready to give him any information about new arrivals. They told him when the swallows arrived or when the cuckoo had been heard, and he told them the dates on which he had noted similar things last year.

One New Year's Day he asked me if I'd go with him to see some of his trees and I, delighted, said I would. He made certain preparations; the most important was the finding of his tree-book in which were listed all particulars about them. Then he got his stick and some sandwiches. It was rather a journey and we should probably not be back in time for lunch.

WE walked a considerable way in silence and then he said: "You know, when I was your age I began planting trees. We shall pass ever so many I planted, but not on this particular day.' These we are seeing immediately are among the first I planted. I've watched them through the years."

I asked what made him so interested in trees and he told me that when he was very young he had heard a lecture on tree planting. "The lecturer was quite an evangelist and he made a convert of me. So many people enjoy the trees without thinking how them came to be there.

WE walked on a bit and then he pointed to a young plantation up the hill side. "See those trees? They have been planted about thirty years—after the First World War. When the military wanted timber, they came and cut down an older growth and put these in. They cover up a nasty scar and they look green instead of brown, but they are not like the old stuff!"

He spoke slowly and regretfully as he repeated, "They're not like the old stuff! I believe in the oak for this countryside."

And as he spoke I noticed that most of the trees around were oak. Surely he hadn't planted all of them!

HE must have guessed what I was thinking, for he suddenly pointed to two that he had planted. "But not on this day," he added. "They were planted on the last day of March."

We were walking rather more slowly. I suppose we felt tired.

"We shall soon be there now," he said. "I used to play a lot round here. My father lived on the next farm, so we had the run of all this land. You know, sonny, I think I might have done worse than become a farmer. But farming was not then what it has been since become. It wasn't subsidised and you had to make it pay or get out."

✧ ✧ ✧

THEN he lapsed into silence for the next hundred yards. Coming to a fence he said, pointing across a field, "Now look at those four trees, how straight and noble." "Splendid," I said, looking where he pointed.

His hat was off and his face had on it the far-away, rapt expression of the devout worshipper. They were his trees. He was responsible for their being there.

THEN he forgot all about me as he went from one tree to another, and I had the sense to see that this was one of his places of worship. So I let him go. He felt their bark, cut away off-shoots and generally spent an hour on the ceremonies of the visit.

Then when he had finished he said, "Now we are going to put one in for you, and every time you come here you'll feel that you have a stake in the land."

SO he dug a hole with a trowel and gave me a seed to plant. Then he covered it up as carefully as if he were planting a seed in his own garden. So we planted another oak tree in the hedge.

"You know," he said, "I've never had anything to give me the same satisfaction as planting trees."

And looking round he continued, "I've planted more than a hundred of them round these fields here. They are my first memorial and I want no other."

Then he put on his hat and our home journey began.

An American Opinion: THE BURNING ISSUE

Oddly Enough

By PAUL JENNINGS

ONE of the books I read while I was in hospital was "Silas Marner"; it was in an old popular edition which had as a common frontispiece a picture of a Gentleman, in a wing armchair, reading and smoking a churchwarden pipe. He was rather a soppy-looking Gentleman, with thin legs; he looked rather as I always imagine that querulous old ass Mr. Woodhouse, "Emma's" father, to have looked. Nevertheless, this frontispiece did call up a pleasant anticipatory picture of my own bookshelves, of myself at home again, with my silent friends, looking up something in Theocritus while the rain beat on the windows outside.

The only snag is, I've never read a word of Theocritus (and when the rain beats on my windows there's a little place at the side where it comes in). Seeing my bookshelves afresh after this absence, I suddenly realised how different they are from the orderly and impressive collections I see in the houses of my friends. If they've got Theocritus, it means they've read him. He stands next to Catullus and they've read him, too. I've got Theocritus and he stands next to a book called, I swear, "The Art of Faking Exhibition Poultry," which I bought from a barrow because I thought it might be funny. (It is.)

But it was, perhaps, books like "Modern Radio Communications," with their suggestion of delusions of grandeur, that were most disturbing, so that to look at my bookshelves was like being taken round some mad ruins; like Baalbek, like some unspeakable top-heavy Babel whose monstrous outlines show silent in the bright sand; like those crazy plans of receding vistas in the drawings of Piranesi, there lay the abandoned ruins of a projected twentieth-century consciousness. "The Foundations of Wireless," "Colloquial Bengali," and Les Fleurs du Mal . . .

IT'S one thing to be worried by memorial lectures and editorials about the gap between science and the humanities; but it's crazy vanity to try, by reading these textbooks, to bridge the gap between oneself and those mysterious, bespectacled figures whom lay reporters always apologetically describe as being human and rather jolly, as though obscurely grateful to them for still heeding our old-fashioned laws, and obeying our comfortable policemen instead of blasting them with ray-guns. Indeed, my friends who have stuck to Theocritus probably have a better symbolic idea about positions and gamma-rays than I have, simply from reading a few talks in "The Listener." They go up in a captive balloon, and from it they see the distant icy peaks of Bohr and Einstein. Admittedly they come down again in the same place (where Theocritus is). But I, with my books, get over the first low foothill, and I am then lost in a bog. What's difference between rectifying and detecting? asks a hopeless marginal note in the "Foundations of Wireless." It's much the same as when I did chemistry at school. I never really knew the difference between Equivalent Weight and Atomic Weight; and when we used the balance I always used to lose those hateful little tin things, .1 grammes, down cracks in the bench.

✧ ✧ ✧

INDEED, looking at my shelves, I could see there was considerable need for retrenchment even after science had been abandoned. On Page 13 of Les Fleurs du Mal I found a slip of paper on which I had written, long ago.

Lesine, f.	niggardless
bourbe	mud
catin	harlot
helminthe (n)	helminth (intestinal worm)
lice	lists, arena, bitch hound, warp

This instantly recalled to me the exact moment when genuine interest in the musty splendours of Baudelaire had been overpowered (a) by a totally unjustifiable feeling that I had already, by Page 13, absorbed his essence (b) by the terrible feeling I get nowadays, in almost any book, of having jumped on to a moving platform, with signs and references to other books flashing past me, white faces mouthing soundlessly in the gloom, and (c) by resentment at having to look up words that got progressively more and more useless. I could, confronted by a very small omelette in Paris, perhaps say impressively "Quelle lesine!", and bourbe seems a smarter word to know than boue. But catin, I hoped, would be unnecessary, and I still believe in my heart that a helminthe is a delicate Alpine flower. As for lice, the French would be sure to think I ment "bitch hound," when I only meant "warp."

✧ ✧ ✧

NO, I resolved, I would be like the Gentleman in the frontispiece, like my Theocritus friends. I would stick to one subject say the Greeks. Yes, I would sit with my churchwarden, reading Grote; I would pace my lawn under the wheeling stars, pondering something in the Posterior Analytics . . .

My lawn. I suddenly remembered how brown and patchy it was. I reached down a book called "The ABC of Gardening" and looked up the chapter on lawns. I read:—

5 parts Chewing's fescue
2 parts Creeping Red Fescue
3 parts New Zealand Bent"

Popular! Ha, everybody knows about Creeping Red Fescue. You see what I mean about that moving platform, those white faces.

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

And he put forth a parable to those which were bidden, when he marked how they chose out the chief rooms; saying unto them, When you art bidden of any man to a wedding, sit not down in the highest room; lest a more honourable man than thou be bidden of him; and he that bade thee and him come and say to thee, Give this man place; and thou begin with shame to take the lowest room.

But when thou art bidden, go and sit down in the lowest room; that when he that bade thee cometh, he may say to thee, friend, go up higher: then shalt thou have worship in the presence of them that sit at meat with thee. For whosoever exalteth himself shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted. (Luke 14:7-11.)

Put not forth thyself in the presence of the king, and stand not in the place of great men: for better it is that it be said unto thee, Come up hither; than that thou shouldest be put lower in the presence of the prince whom thine eyes have seen. (Prov. 25:6, 7.)

Then shall the kingdom of heaven be likened unto ten virgins, which took their lamps and went forth to meet the bridegroom. And five of them were wise, and five were foolish. They that were foolish took their lamps, and took no oil with them: but the wise took oil in their vessels with their lamps. While the bridegroom tarried, they all slumbered and slept. And at midnight there was a cry made, Behold, the bridegroom cometh; go ye out to meet him. Then all the virgins arose, and trimmed their lamps. And the foolish said unto the wise, Give us of your oil; for our lamps are gone out. But the wise answered, saying, Not so; lest there be not enough for us and you: but go ye rather to them that sell, and buy for yourselves.

And while they went to buy, the bridegroom came; and they that were ready went in with him to the marriage: and the door was shut. Afterwards came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to us. But he answered and said, Verily I say unto you, I know you not. Watch therefore, for ye know neither the day nor the hour wherein the Son of man cometh. (Matt. 25: 1-13.)

For, lo, he that formeth the mountains, and createth the wind, and declareth unto man what is his thought, that maketh the morning darkness, and treadeth upon the high places of the earth, The Lord, The God of hosts, is his name. (Amos 4:13.)

Those English Cars

(The Prince Rupert News)

British cars enter Canada duty-free. Entering the U.S. they're subject to a 10 per cent. tariff. Yet the U.S. price to the consumer is far lower. Here's how it works out. The British manufacturer's list on one specific car is $1,400. Going to the U.S., the tariff adds another $140. The distributor takes his profit. Price to the consumer $1,695. The same car enters Canada tariff-exempt. But there's a 10 per cent. federal sales tax adding $140 to the price. There's also a 15 per cent. excise tax accounting for an additional $210. The distributor takes his profit. Cost of the same car to the Canadian buyer: $1,895.

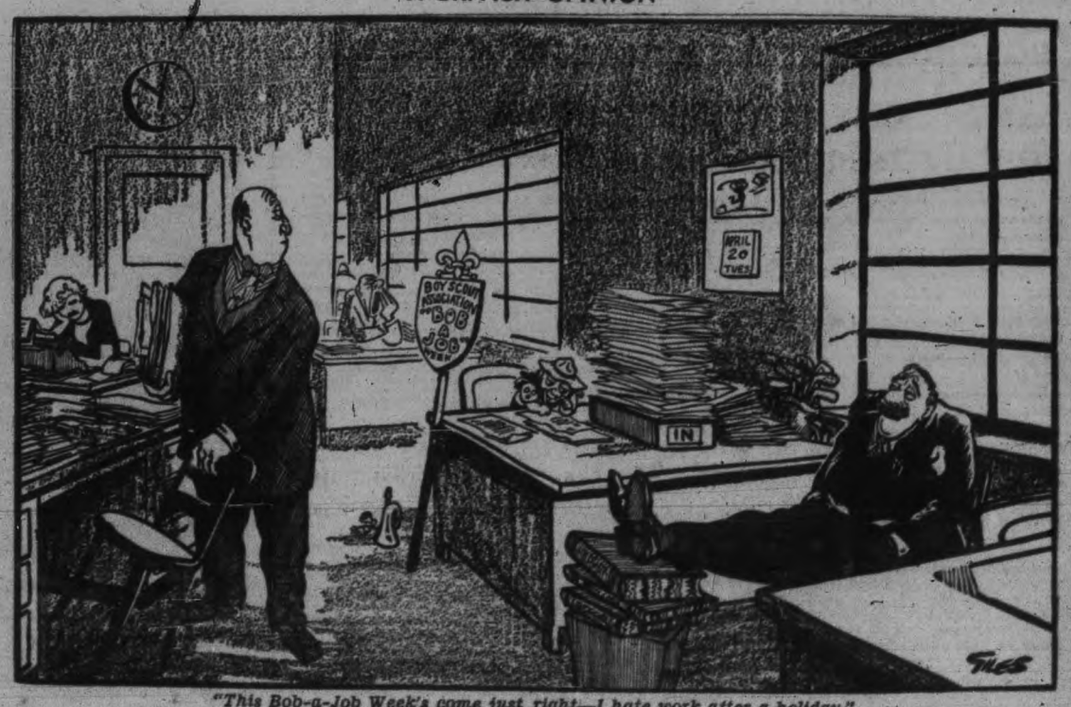
A BRITISH OPINION



"This Bob-a-Job Week's come just right—I hate work after a holiday."

Family Unable To Convince Man He Is Alcoholic Or In Danger Becoming One

By AN ALCOHOLIC

ARTICLE IV

What is one to do when trying to help problem drinkers? What is the objective of the helping person and what are the difficulties to be anticipated in making any recovery effort? Any effective, enlightened approach to a person suffering from a serious drinking problem requires consideration of these questions.

Unless the alcoholic, or potential victim, is willing to co-operate and is able to, neither you, the physician, the psychiatrist, the community welfare agency, nor a tolerant court can do anything for or with the victim. In most illnesses, the patient displays a will to recover and is co-operative, but the alcoholic traditionally offers stubborn resistance to all help extended him. This may reasonably be explained as being due to the victim's ignorance of his condition and his resultant refusal to accept the competent diagnosis of others. Loss of insight is a product of alcoholism.

WIFE CAN DO LITTLE

For the most part, the wife or the family of an alcoholic can do little toward convincing a man that he is an alcoholic, or that he is becoming one. This is due to the close emotional relationship existing, and it accounts for the failure of most of the pleadings, threats and promises which come in vain from those close within the family circle. The family forgets that alcohol is the most important factor in any alcoholic's life.

Someone outside the family will prove most effective in convincing the problem drinker of his serious condition and his need for help. If any one can counsel the drinker to recognize his plight, he may be responsible to helpful measures. The family doctor, a psychiatrist, an understanding clergyman, or a member of Alcoholics Anonymous may prove influential in rousing the drinker's concern over his drinking problem.

The alcoholic's usual defiant attitude is very apt to exhaust the patience of those wanting to help him. Out of sheer desperation, they may turn loose a stream of criticism hoping to stir the alcoholic into constructive thinking about his condition. However, such an attack is of little, if any avail. It merely produces resentment and usually prods the alcoholic on to the point where he gets drunk or drunker because of the hostile invasion on what he unfortunately considers his private life. The alcoholic's "private" drinking career, sooner or later, is most likely to become one of public concern.

STEPS TO TAKE

The first step in the proposed recovery effort is to calmly and intelligently assist the alcoholic to realize that he has a very definite drinking problem, in spite of his own personal opinion to the contrary. The second step involves guiding him to a realization that his own efforts to solve the problem will not succeed. The third and most significant phase comes when the drinker is convinced that his role as a useful human being is fast nearing a painful end through h[illegible]controlled drinking. With the arrival of this realization, he is most apt to recognize his powerlessness over alcohol and be ready to desire and accept assistance from those willing and able to help him.

Anyone trying to help an alcoholic should cultivate a spirit of tolerance, yet adopt a rather casual, but first, attitude in all contacts with him. It is certainly best to not anticipate any immediae recovery, but rather to be prepared for some resistance and possible "slips". No one can undo over night that which has taken years to develop badly. Family, friends and employer should be enlisted in any recovery program, and they should be acquainted with the underlying factor of alcoholism for their intelligent cooperation is essential.

Past experience with recovered alcoholics has revealed the wisdom of trying to influence the drinker to view his problem as being very serious, or that it threatens to become so. Once he is faced with these possibilities, he must decide that either he has a problem, or will have one, and must do something about it, or he has none and can therefore contipue his drinking. The former decision would open the door to recovery efforts, while the latter would close it, at least until he has suffered longer and become self-convinced of his helplessness.

The alcoholic can enjoy recovery as long as he never takes another drink. However, it would seem unwise for anyone to dictate complete abstinence to the victim at the very outset of a recovery approach, particularly if he is just emerging from a prolonged drinking bout. This might prove as disastrous as the waving of a red flag before a bull's eyes.

Any attempt to convince him that he must not drink again because of his drinking calamities of the past will ordinarily be ignored. He must realize from his own personal experiences that his drinking record is sufficient evidence to prove that he cannot handle alcohol in any form or quantity. One should try to convince the alcoholic that he is headed for greater disaster unless something is done to stop the drinking. Suggestions may be made that he consult a physician or psychiatrist interested in the medical problem of alcoholism. Then again, contact with some recovered alcoholic may well have more influence with the victim than any other source because of the mutual understanding existent among alcoholics.

FEEL SOLVE OWN PROBLEMS

It is well to remember that the alcoholic is a die-hard. He will undoubtedly feel that he can solve

THIS IS LAKEFIELD IN 1875 or 21 years after the first Anglican church was opened. The above picture is from a sketch by P. W. Canning in Canadian Illustrated News which appeared September 4, 1875.

Lakefield Church Marks Centennial

What a lovely old church! What is the story behind it? The little limestone church in the heart of Lakefield is a monument to pioneer generations whose way of life has passed almost beyond recall. Yet the lives of these people, their struggles and sacrifices, laid enduring foundations for the good life in this community. In the churchyard by the bank of the Otonabee were buried Col. Samuel Strickland and Lt. Thomas Traill and many of their friends and neighbours, the early settlers who strove to build homes in the forest and 'clearing' that became Lakefield. The building of the church in 1853-4 was a fitting climax to their efforts. The story of the church is interwoven with the story of the first settlement.

Very much like Peterborough, the village of Lakefield grew up because of its favourable location and the interest of early settlers in developing a centre of local industry and trade. Peterborough's beginnings stem from Charles Fothergill's enterprise in getting Adam Scott started with his mill. A few staunch colonists, the Reid and Stewart families being the most eminent, had the courage to make a start in the wilderness. The immigrants brought by the Hon. Peter Robinson in 1825 gave new life to "Scott's Plains".

Before there could be much settlement out in "North Douro" as our district was later called there would have to be a saw mill, a grist mill, and a road, since the Otonabee then tumbled and raced along for some nine miles of rapids. Hence we find that the head of the rapids where the Otonabee leaves Lake Katchewanooka was early viewed as a fine source of water power for a mill. Until such assistance was provided, few indeed would dare to establish a homestead in the wilderness, although location tickets were taken out earlier perhaps largely on speculation. For instance we find that a location ticket was taken for lot 15, concession 7 (Mr. B. Q. Dench's farm) then in "the County of Northumberland, District of Newcastle" by one "Robert Agnew, native of Ireland, township of Grantham, District of Niagara."

In November 1830 we find James Thompson petitioning for lots 16, and 17, concession 7, Douro Township, saying he "has it in view to build a saw mill in front of said lots immediately, the erection of which would be of much use to the neighbouring settlement". This took some time to accomplish of course. Strickland says in the autumn of 1831 there was no settler within miles, no road and the nearest mill in Peterborough.

Something of their early hopes and frustrations, the conflict of individual ambitions, the clash of public and private interest may be gathered from the following letter of one Sydney Bellingham in Montreal to Peter Robinson in 1833. He complains of a "Gentleman intending to build a mill on the Douro river adjoining my lot 16, Concession 8, a broken front of 60 acres (Nepheline Property to the river) to make use of the water privilege opposite. May I ask if such conduct can be sanctioned? I should hope not, as it would effectually prevent me being able to avail myself of the only advantage that lot offers. The land is bad and was only bought with the anticipation of building there myself as soon as I thought the country required it . . . and I could find an honest manager for the establishment."

"You are, I believe aware, that I was one of the early settlers in this township. I bore as much as any of the older, and far more than any of the later Emigrants, the privations and hardships of the backwoodsman. I was in that township before 20 acres of land were reclaimed and furthermore in the year 1825, when Mr. Stuart offered me part of the 12,000 acres he held in trust from Government, I declined taking more than 200 acres, and even those few acres I exchanged with an emigrant for a spot further back. I have induced a number of valuable settlers both in this country and Great Britain to proceed to the Newcastle district long before I had my interest in the place, and at present the House (?) in which I am partner, have perhaps greater business interests in Peterborough than any other party in Canada."

In short he sums up saying the building of a dam and mill would destroy the value of his lot.

MILL BUILT IN 1833

Thompson's mill was built probably in 1833, as Mrs. Traill mentions the saw mill newly-built that year. A bridge was put across the river, and soon a grist mill was in operation also, giving impetus to the new community. It was known locally as "The Falls". Semi-officially it was first called Nelson's or Nelson's Falls, from John Nelson's clearing, "within one mile of the falls." Later it was called "Herriot's Falls" after a mill operator by that name. In 1851 it went by the name of Selby.

EARLY DAYS RECORDED

The early days of Lakefield are recorded for posterity in the writings of the three Stricklands, Samuel Strickland, Catherine Parr Traill and Susanna Moodie. Professor G. H. Needler in his recent "Otonabee Pioneers" has given us a very complete account of their background in the old land and their experiences in Canada.

Samuel Strickland was but a young man of nineteen when he came to Canada in 1825. The next year he took out land and began settlement in Douro near the Reids and the Stewarts. He spent three years with John Galt and the Canada company developing the Huron Tract (Guelph and Goderich). He decided to leave the compan and settle near Peterborough. He spent the rest of his years pouring his abundant energy into developing a homestead and neighborhood, and later running a large lumber business, the centre of local industry. He took a lead in building the first church "Christ Church, North Douro", and when the population soon outgrew it he was chairman of the building committee for the "new church" of St. John the Baptist.

His home and grounds, the homes of his sons, and the thriving industry of the village became the pride of the county. But there were times in between when he was not so happy about the progress that was being made. In 1853 he recalls how he came to this vicinity. "I heard such flattering accounts from my Douro friends of the fast increasing prosperity of Peterborough and the neighborhood. . . .My income did not suit a young man with a fast increasing family, and I thought I could better provide for them on a farm of my own. I however found out my mistake, after I had left the Company, when it was too late to remedy the evil, and I committed a second blunder in being tempted by a good offer to sell my farm in Otonabee, close to the fast rising town of Peterborough, and purchase land ten miles farther back in the Bush."

In his book "Twenty-seven years in Canada West" he tells of first coming to find his land. At that time he felt it was a good prospect for he could increase his original two hundred acres by buying adjacent wild lands cheaply, and because the fishing and shooting were second to none in the province.

MARKING CENTENNIAL — In 1853 and '54 the above church was built in the village of Lakefield. It was then known as "Christ Church, North Douro," to be later replaced as a place of worship by St. John the Baptist Anglican church. This old stone church of Gothic style was used until a few months ago.

A-F-I-E-L-D with NICK NICKELS

Trout fishing opening last weekend went over with a bang. The weather was so summerlike that there were many complaints among anglers that conditions were too warm on Sunday. But conditions changed so quickly earlier in the week that the same boys who went out on district streams for some after-supper angling said they nearly perished in the cold wind.

Generally speaking, the opening was successful. More people than ever went into hinterland lakes and made two full days of fun. There were some beautiful lake speckles taken in these hideouts and the numbers who went to those places relieved the pressure on near-district streams. Here, too, brookies were taken in fair numbers.

Some of the old haunts, such as Scott's Millpond, Cavan, are heavily populated this spring with ling. We saw hundreds of dead ones lying along the banks that cussing fishermen had yanked out in disgust. A bad situation.

Fishermen also behaved themselves; they lit no forest fires though conditions by Sunday recorded an extreme hazard. The department's loud haller-equipped seaplane was able to swoop down and warn hundreds on the spot to take care. It paid off.

Trout made no bones about their preference of bait; it was worms all the way, though the northern trekkers said they did well with small spoon casting baits. Some varieties of bass bucktails turned the trick up in those parts, also.

We are still waiting to hear about some large specimens and perhaps this weekend will produce them.

* * * *

There is no better time of the year than the present to make family pilgrimages to favourite outdoor haunts, before mosquitos and backflies take over. Last Sunday we looked over the Indian River caves and potholes at Warminster, above Warsaw.

There is still a fair flow of water coming down which, due to lack of heavy foliage, makes for ideal photo possibilities. In last Sunday's baby summer heatwave it was pleasant to climb in and around the entrances to the "caves" and enjoy the refrigerated currents of air coming up through holes in the ground—there were still small patches of ice in the deep crevices.

There were pleasant smells of damp leaf mould, unfolding fiddlehead ferns and wild flowers in the more open spaces. And also the not-so-pleasant odour of a very dead porcupine on the main trail.

Everything in this popular area was as it should be, except the greatest attraction of the whole place, the great pothole rock kettle.

Since a visit to this geological wonder a year ago vandals have succeeded in breaking down still more rock from the rim. The kettle will soon be undistinguishable in the general massive limestone upheaval except to those who know its whereabouts and what it originally looked like.

The "kettle" is at the top of a limestone cliff about 100 feet above the present stream bed. A smooth granite boulder caught in a back eddy eons ago when the Indian River was a mighty watercourse, wormed a cornicopia into soft rock to a depth of 15 feet (actual measurement).

Destructive people succeeded in breaking out the bottom of the kettle years ago and of late each year have pried rock strata from the top outside rim. Writer Richard Choate of Toronto and myself diligently hunted for, and found, the smooth grinding stone in the creekbed about four years ago.

The preservation of this oddity should be the responsibility of some organization that would cherish one of the district's strangest natural oddities. Can this appeal be of any use to those who are good at solving giant jigsaw puzzles and the mixing of a few bags of cement?

* * * *

Another appeal.

Officials of the city zoning committee who plan on placing future heavy industry on the east bank of the Otonabee river north of Parkhill Rd., show little concern about turning our finest watercourse into a foul counterpart such as may be found in many a Canadian and American city.

The Otonabee Conservation Committee are fighting against it and we are surprised that the fish and game men are not up on their hind legs and howling their heads off against it, too.

No further comment need be made about what such a development would do to our gamefishing, city water supply and many other vulnerable conditions.

Next prettiest thing to a rainbow in the sky is a Rainbow trout on the end of a whipping rod and gossamer line. Doug Nutter of Cobourg got a double thrill this week by taking a 5-pound, 4-ounce plus a three and three-quarter pounder down on Shelter Valley Creek, Grafton. Villager Morris Francis did better still with a six-pounder, same place, on Wednesday.

Your Garden:

Avoid Cutting Off Growing Tips When Removing Winter Mulch

By HENRY PREE
Written for NEA Service.

Loosening or removal of mulch and other organic material about garden perennials must be done with care to avoid cutting off the growing tips of tulips, narcissus, or other spring bulbs and lilies.

Old plantings of Japanese anemones, chrysanthemums, and phlox require frequent division for best results. This chore should be done as soon as the soil is workable. The old centre growth should be discarded and only the young outside divisions replanted.

Three good divisions with well-developed roots and planted eight to 12 inches apart will make a good clump. Iris can be transplanted easily at this time of year—but if you want bloom, do not divide now—wait until August.

Rusts are common on hollyhocks, snapdragons, asters, delphiniums, carnations, and many other plants. The reddish brown spots on the leaves and stems are caused by one of the many rust fungi and, while there is no cure once the plants are attacked, rust can be prevented.

Rust on snapdragons is best avoided by using rust-resistant seed. Other rusts are kept under control by application of a fungicide such as Fermate, sulphur or a fixed copper. Where rust disease has been serious as it usually is on hollyhocks, removal and burning of infected foliage or plants will prevent a source of infestation.

The pruning of roses should be done within the next two weeks. While there is nothing technical or difficult about the job there is a difference of opinion as to whether to prune heavily, moderately or lightly.

The old gardener is one of the group who prunes moderately, following the advice of Roy Shepherd, famous Rotarian and author of "Roses," a dandy book on the queen of flowers.

Shepherd's advice is: Remov all deadwood; cut out all weak, useless and diseased wood; shorten the retained growth just enough to shape the plant. To specify a standard height and spread to cut to would be unwise, since the rose family is comprised of widely diversified types.

While removal of only the oldest and poorest canes of climbing roses is necessary, the old gardener suggests cutting down the autumn clematis paniculata almost to the ground. It will make rapid growth and bloom more profusely in autumn.

It is now time to start tubers of the tuberous-rooted begonias indoors. Plant them in a box of soil lightened with peat moss and sand. The side of the tuber showing an irregular cavity is the top. Plant them just below the surface and shade the boxes from strong light.

Your job in the garden will be much easier if you clean it up first.

Gardening Questions

A.—Daub each infestation with a little brush, or cotton on the end of a match, dipped in rubbing alcohol. Then keep the foliage clean by syringing it twice a week with tepid water.

A.—Plant only in a well-drained soil and scrape away all rotted matter, then spray or dust with bordeaux mixture, or a similar fungicide. Clean and burn all dead or diseased foliage and rot scrapings.

Q.—Can you tell me how to get rid of moss? While there are large trees in the yard, there is considerable sunlight.

A.—Moss is invariably an indication of an impoverished soil. So fertilize your lawn now with a mixture strong in phosphorus, using four pounds per 100 square feet. Mix with ten times its bulk of sand, spread evenly, and rake in thoroughly. Repeat in midsummer and again in September.

Q.—Our African violets fail to flower after we purchase them at the florists. What causes this?

A.—One or more reasons can cause failure, such as lack of sun or fluorescent light, too many leaves in the centre of the plants, overwatering, and/or a too hot and dry room temperature.

Q.—Will asparagus grow well in a heavy clay soil?

A.—Unless drainage is perfect, do not plant in clay soil. Asparagus grows best in a sandy loam. Plant in rows three feet apart, and set the roots 18 inches apart so that the crowns are four inches below the surface.

While it is highly illegal to bet any money on the horses in Peterborough these days, you may motor up to the Woodbine and lose the family bankroll, all quite legally. So, no doubt much moolah will change hands around the paddock there when the Queen's Plate is run off. King Maple, shortest-priced winter book favorite in the 95-year history of the Plate, has odds now trimmed to 8-to-5, according to late reports of "bankers" on Toronto's back-alley course, Jim Coleman says. Queen's Own is second choice at 3-to-1, and Free Trade is third at 6-to-1. Both these latter colts are owned by E. P. Taylor. The field has been reduced to 43 colts and fillies.

Petes' puckists were quite pleased when their group conquerors, Oshawa Truckmen, went on to capture the OHA senior "B" title, the crown taken a year ago by Kingston Goodyears, also of our group. Shows fans the high class of hockey they've been viewing here. Truckmen did it all on the road, as their arena burned down last September. They won 13 of 20 starts in Bowmanville ere playoffs. While travelling, they took 25, tied two and lost 16. They dropped but one of five playoffs to Kingston to outscore 'em 25-17. They beat the Petes four times, tied one and lost one scoring 23 to 20—a close enough count. They won four of six over Stouffville and led 24-19 in goals. Then they ousted Simcoe 4-1 (with one tied), right in Simcoe for the crown. A credit to this puck group.

Moon is Always Shining

Lloyd (Moon) Wootton is sweating off some weight as he rounds into shape in senior lacrosse drills here. Canada's outstanding lacrosse goalie should be in for another fine season, but then when has he had a poor one? Helped his team win four straight Mann Cups, one at Owen Sound and the last three with Peterborough, and has twice been voted the outstanding player of both teams in Mann Cup playoffs. The husky and genial Moon kept in trim the past winter by playing defence in the Trent Valley Hockey League. He broke into minor lacrosse in Owen Sound at the age of 14—back in '41—and has been a senior goalie since 1946. As long as the Trailermen have the Moon back there between the pipes, prospects of retaining their title look bright indeed.

The pro matmen moved out of here a week ago and have started dropping in weekly on Pat Milosh, Oshawa grapple promoter. Pat is faced with the problem of no arena in the Motor City, since the good one there burned down last autumn. But he is running the first few shows in Bowmanville and their opener a few nights ago saw the SRO sign hung out. Standing room only. However, as the weather warms up the wrestlers will perform outdoors in Oshawa, using the ball stadium for their once-a-week night cards. Belleville, also, switches from hockey to wrestling for arena entertainment during the summer months, after the sport dies off in Peterborough.

Mat Mayhem Their Dish

There are those up this way who can't see pro grappling with a telescope, always figuring the fix is on. But then there are many city and district followers of the mad matmen who never miss a bout. You have to give the big guys credit for keeping in shape and putting on a lively exhibition every time out, regardless of the size of the crowds on hand. And you must credit the main Ontario promoter, Frank Tunney, for sending his top talent around to the smaller towns. We get the same headliners which pack in the large Toronto crowds weekly at Maple Leaf Gardens. Fellows like Whipper Watson, Yukon Eric, Lord Athol Layton, the Mills and Duseks, Tex McKenzie, Fred Atkins, and the rest of those merry men of ring mayhem.

Collegiate's annual track and field day was postponed from yesterday, due to inclement weather, till next Thursday afternoon in Morrow Park. Next Wednesday sees the annual meet of St. Peter's High there. Various city schools will be staging their field days from now on during the late spring and early summer before holidays set in. Time was when there was a lot of track and field competition around here, but it's left almost entirely to the schools in recent years, though there's usually a spurt in interest in running, hurdles, jumping, javelin, shot put, and so on, the year before the Olympics. We've made mention recently of a 2½-mile open junior road race in Hamilton on May 15 but doubt very much if anyone from Peterborough entered.

Establish List Of Challengers

MONTE CARLO (AP) — The World Committee for Professional Boxing Friday established a list of challengers for world boxing titles and ordered the champions to meet one of the three authorized contenders for each title within six months.

Robert Christenberry, chairman of the New York athletic commission, was elected first president of the committee. The presidency will rotate annually.

The committee, which was set up a year ago but has seen little action since, has promised to become a continuing organization and to revise its list of challengers every two months. Another meeting of the committee was scheduled for late November in London.

Invite Bannister To Compete At Los Angeles

LONDON (AP) — Sports fans throughout Britain gathered around television sets Friday night as the BBC gave the top spot in its evening program to a special film of Roger Bannister's mile of the century.

Bannister himself was in the studio, shy and smiling, as commentators lauded his explosive 3:59.4 mile effort at Oxford Thursday as the biggest shot in the arm for British trackmen in years.

Among the congratulations the lanky miler received was a cable from Los Angeles inviting him to compete in a "miracle mile" race there May 21.

CAREER COMES FIRST

It is unlikely the young medical student will accept since he is known to feel his studies and future career come first.

"I don't think I shall run against the watch again this year," he said.

For the last three weeks he punished himself unmercifully with a set program of workouts on a dusty little track near the hospital in the moments he could snatch off from his studies.

Thursday's result was complete vindication for Bannister's method, which had come under the fire of many experts, of training individually without a cluster of coaches and trainers.

Boros Holding 1-Stroke Lead

ARDMORE, Okla. (CP)—Julius Boros, the 1952 U.S. Open champion, held a one-stroke lead at the half-way point of the $15,000 Ardmore Open golf tournament Friday as he added a 69 to his opening 68 for a 36-hole total of 137, one stroke less than home pro E. J. (Dutch) Harrison.

Harrison's three-under - par 67 was tied by Jerry Barber as the low round for the day. The two split a $500 bonus.

Jerry Kesselring of Kitchener, Ont., added a 73 to his first-day 71 and dropped back to a six-way tie for 20th place.

Hockey Defeat To Be Aired

VANCOUVER (CP) — Echoes of the shot heard around the hockey world — Russia's world championship defeat of Canada—will boom loud across the conference table here this week.

"Everybody thinks we (the CAHA) laid an egg," he said in a telephone interview. He referred to the decision to send the Toronto East York Lyndhursts to the championships in Stockholm. The East Yorks dropped a 7-2 decision to Moscow Dynamos in the final match to give Russia the championship by one point.

GEORGE TO REPORT

Grimston said the meeting will hear, for the first time, a report from the CAHA president on the world tournament.

President W. A. (Baldy) George of Kemptville, Ont., will make his report at a dinner Monday night. James Dunn of Winnipeg, CAHA first vice-president, will report on the all-winning Japanese tour of the Kenor Thistles this spring.

Also high on the agenda will be a discussion of the pro-amateur agreement.

Edmonton Eskimos Release Snyder

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos have released tackle Wilbur Snyder, convert and kickoff specialist with the Western Interprovincial Football Union club for two seasons, and have reached into the Oklahoma Sooner barrel for a replacement.

Wilbur wants to wrestle, club officials said Friday. He informed club manager Al Anderson that he is retiring from football to turn to full-time professional wrestling.

The replacement is Roger Nelson, 225-pound tackle who was co-captain of the 1953 Sooner squad that topped unbeaten, untied Mayland 7-0 in the Orange Bowl game.

Taught Art Of Killing Now Coaches Wrestlers

MONTREAL (CP) — A husky Montreal athlete who once taught Commonwealth soldiers the art of unarmed killing will coach Canada's eight-man wrestling team in the British Empire Games at Vancouver this summer.

Alan Turnbull was an instructor in unarmed combat at Aldershot, England, while he served with the Black Watch Regiment during the Second World War.

At war's end, Turnbull returned to Montreal and for five years taught milder techniques to the McGill University wrestling squad. He now is serving his third year as chairman and supervisor of the Province of Quebec Wrestling Association.

Fair-heared and blue-eyed, Turnbull is five feet nine inches tall and weighs 180 pounds. He remembers the days—more than 15 years ago—when he wrestled in the 135-pound class.

He never did win an important wrestling championship. In 1938, however, he and three other wrestlers got together to win the Dominion junior four-man paddling championships at Kingston, Ontario.

MANY SPORTS

Paddling, skiing, lacrosse and football are the sports Turnbull loves best—next to wrestling.

Two of his pupils — Vernon Blake and Henry Hudson — have represented Canada in previous games. Hudson won the 160½-pound title in the 1950 games at Auckland, N.Z., while Blake was Canada's choice for the 123-pound events in 1938.

"We have the advantage of home ground, and some countries may not be able to afford to send complete teams," he said.

Turnbull also believes Quebec wrestlers will gain probably four of the eight positions on the team.

"We'll get tough competition from Ontario, but there are a lot of good wrestlers in this province. But you can never tell until the trials here May 28-29."

Turnbull began his wrestling career with the YMCA and coached teams in several branches after giving up active participation.

Major Baseball For Los Angeles Just A Rumor

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Another in the oft-recurring series of rumors that major league baseball is coming to Los Angeles next year has been nailed as nothing but rumor.

A Los Angeles newspaper said Friday that Bill Veeck, Chicago Cubs owner P. K. Wrigley's agent here, was working on a deal to have the Philadelphia Athletics moved to Los Angeles in 1955.

In Chicago, Veeck said: "There is nothing to it, at least as far as I know. I haven't talked to anyone connected with the A's for six months."

A spokesman for Roy Mack, executive vice president of the A's, said in Philadelphia there is "absolutely and positively nothing to the report."

STOP LOOSE TALK

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said he has sent a bulletin to all major league club owners and general managers calling on them to stop loose talk about moving franchises.

"I told them that any comment of that type was detrimental to the minor league involved and harmful to the game," said Frick.

Frick didn't mention names, but Art Ehlers, Baltimore general manager, recently was quoted as saying that the successful transfer of the Braves and Orioles would result in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Houston, Toronto, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Montreal and Atlanta being given chances to prove they can support major league baseball.

Plans To Keep Line Intact

CALGARY (CP)—Coach Gerry Brown of Quebec Aces wants to "keep a winning combination intact."

Brown made the statement Friday night a few hours before Aces entrained for Edmonton for tonight's third game of their best-of-nine series against Calgary Stampeders for the Edinburgh Trophy.

Brown's remark was taken to mean he doesn't intend any changes in the line-up that gave the Aces a 2-1 victory over the Stampeders here Thursday night and tied the series at a game apiece. Calgary won the opener by a shattering 8-1 count.

It would mean going with Lorne Nadeau, former Seattle player, who replaced forward Roy Kelly in Thursday's game. Kelly missed the game due to a virus infection.

"I figured we'd do much better in the second game," he said. "That first game was more or less a result of the long train ride and strange climate. I'm sure we're going to give the Stampeders a good battle from now on."

Meanwhile, Stampeder coach Frank Currie is hoping that centre Pat Lundy will be back in the line-up for tonight's game. Lundy's status is still undecided but he will travel to Edmonton and could possibly return to action. It was reported Lundy is recovered from the heel injury that sidelined him.

St. Catharines Wins Title After Dumping Quebec Frontenacs 4-2

By JIM PEACOCK

TORONTO (CP)—The east and west meet in a mixed atmosphere of gloom and optimism here Sunday in the opener of the Memorial Cup hockey final.

"We're looking forward to a good series, but we're awfully tired," coach Rudy Pilous of St. Catharines TeePees, the eastern titlists, said after a 4-2 win over Quebec Friday night.

And coach Ken McAuley of the western champion Edmonton Oil Kings, with an undertone of optimism, put it this way: "They're going to be tough to beat."

TeePees appeared leg-weary from a 91-game season so far when they entered the best-of-seven Canadian junior final Friday night over Quebec Frontenacs. The win gave TeePees the best-of-seven eastern final 4-2 in games. It was the first time in 12 years that St. Catharines got past the Ontario Hockey Association playoff.

Oil Kings chalked up a phenomenal record this season. They eliminated Flin Flon Bombers 4-0 in the best-of-seven Western Canada semi-final before tackling Fort William Canadiens. Then they took the Canadiens 4-1 in the best-of-seven Western final to advance into the big series.

Fort William's only victory, a 2-1 decision in the second game of the series, broke a 35-game Edmonton winning streak.

TOUGHER TIME IN EAST

TeePees had a much tougher time in the east.

Their Ontario Hockey Association semi-final, originally scheduled for seven games, was forced to eight contests before St. Catharines edged out Toronto St. Michael's College Majors. Then Toronto Marlboros carried the TeePees to the limit of seven games in the OHA final.

McAuley and almost the entire Oil King team, which has been idle almost three weeks, were among 6,669 persons who sat in on last night's set-to, a ragged game at times as the two tired eastern finalists battled tooth-and-nail.

An early third-period goal by 20-year-old Hughie Barlow gave TeePees the necessary margin over Frontenacs, who twice came from behind to tie the series 2-2 only to fade in the end. St. Catharines won the fifth game 9-1 on Quebec ice.

Barlow's goal, on a pretty passing play with the Cullen brothers, Barry and Brian, took the steam from uebec's determined effort and TeePees played it close, obviously tyying to conserve their energy, over the last 10 minutes.

Barlow added the fourth TeePee goal with 20 seconds left after Quebec coach Phil Watson pulled his netminder in favor of a sixth forward.

Brian Cullen, now the propery of Toronto Maple Leafs, and Pete Koval scored the other St. Catharines goals and Butch Bouchard and Gilles Thibault scored for Quebec. The clubs were even 1-1 after the first period and wound up 2-2 after the second.

MARCOTTE BEATEN

At 6:26 of the third, Barry Cullen passed from the corner to Barlow in front of the net, and goalie Jacques Marcotte was beaten before he had time to move.

Pilous, who hasn't seen Oil Kings in action, made no predictions on the Memorial Cup final. "It would be silly for me to make predictions when I haven't even seen them play," he said. "But we're really tired." Outside of that, he reports no serious injury.

Beneath McAuley's "they're tough" statement, a slight tone of optimism was apparent. He admitted his club is well-rested, and outside of two, Billy McNeill and Eddie Diachuk, who have the flu, his players are A-1 physically. The Kings themselves, with 55 wins and only four losses in league and playoff games this year, were noncommittal.

Tariff Law Just Mistake

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Commissioner Ralph Kelly of the U.S. bureau of customs says a change in the tariff laws requiring Canadian racing cars, planes and boats to be bonded before entry into the United States was a "mistake."

Kelly told a reporter during an inspection trip here Friday the law was being re-written for reconsideration by Congress.

The Customs Simplification Act, which went into effect last September, Kelly said, requires nonresident owners of cars, aircraft, boats and racing shells to post a bond before the objects can be admitted to the United States for racing purposes.

The bond must be 1¼ times the duty on the object, which is usually 15 per cent of value.

Kelly said the law was "purely unintentional" and resulted from a mistake by a congressional clerk assigned to work on the act. That part of the act was designed primarily to expedite the flow of cars across Canadian-American bridges, Kelly said. Meanwhile he said an attempt would be made to make the required bonds as nominal as possible.

Boston Sox Outlast Washington 7-6 After Losing Streak

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

Boston Red Sox could feel a little easier today about picking up their pay. They knew they were back working for a living.

When the Bostonians outlasted Washington 7-6 Friday night it marked their first victory in two weeks and their first official action of any kind since a week ago today. Bad weather has caused eight postponements in Boston so far.

The victory lifted the Red Sox out of the American League cellar over Baltimore into seventh place. Sammy White's three-run homer in the third inning helped Boston into a 7-0 lead and the Senators just failed to catch up.

Cincinnati took over first place from Philadelphia in the National League. The Redlegs swamped St. Louis 10-4 while the Phils were bowing to Brooklyn 3-1. Chicago beat Milwaukee 3-0. The New York Giants were rained out at Pittsburgh.

YANKS WIN

In the only other American League action the New York Yankees won their second straight shutout, this one by Tom Morgan, as they beat Philadelphia 2-0 on successive home runs in the seventh by Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra. The shutout was Morgan's second, both over the Athletics.

A three-run home run by Hobie Landrith capped a five-run spree for the Reds against Gerry Staley in the second inning at Cincinnati. In the seventh inning Landrith and Johnny Temple worked a double steal with Temple swiping home for the third time this season.

Don Newcombe called a halt to the Phillies' six-game winning streak. The Dodger righthander struck out Bobby Morgan with two out and two on in the sixth and Johnny Lindell, batting for Morgan, with two out and again two on in the eighth.

Warren Hacker turned in the Chicago shutout in his first starting assignment of the season. He allowed five hits including three doubles. The Cubs scored their three runs on six singles off Bob Buhl in the first six innings.

Royals Dump Rochester 4-2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Starting the season off slowly is nothing new to the Montreal Royals. They were still 2½ games out of first place in the International League today but not losing sight of the leaders.

Montreal, which has won seven pennants, six Governors' Cups and three junior world series, won its second straight game Friday night defeating the Rochester Red Wings 4-2.

In the only other game, the Ottawa Athletics and Toronto Maple Leafs played to an 8-8 tie in a contest called after nine innings to allow both teams to catch trains.

Southpaw Ken Lehman scattered Rochester's nine hits, allowing the Red Wings to score one run in the second inning and one in the eighth on Bill Virdon's first home run.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Batting—Hobie Landrith, Cincinnati Redlegs, drove in three runs with a home run, his second hit and his second homer of the season, as the Reds beat St. Louis 10-3 and moved into first place in the National League.

Pitching—Warren Hacker, Chicago Cubs, shut out Milwaukee 3-0 on five hits in his first start of the year.

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—Sudbury Wolves, unimpressed by Penticton V's and the abilities of V's Warwick brother trio, will be at the door here tonight in the fourth game of the Allan Cup finals.

If Wolves treat the Penticton stronghold with as little ceremony as they did on the last visit, the V's will face an uphill climb for the title.

Wolves took a 2-1 lead in the best-of-seven series by winning 3-1 in Kelowna Friday night. They also won the first game in Penticton 2-1 and the V's bounced hard enough from that to win the next 6-2.

While Sudbury seems to thrive on the wining and dining provided them as they tour the Okanagan on the Allan Cup agenda, Penticton appears caught up in their own "manana" climate.

Just in case the fever pitch which grips this town shows any signs of abating for tonight's clash, the weather office has promised an overnight low of 43 and a midday high of 75.

Sudbury clicked all the way down the line in whipping V's Friday. Lennie Speck put the Wolves into a 1-0 lead in the first period and Tatter McLennan prompted a second marker early in the second.

HOWITZER-LIKE SHOT

Fiori Goegan then blasted a howitzer-like slap shot through V's defence from the blue-line at the 10-minute mark. Playing - coach Grant Warwick prevented a shutout at the 17-minute mark. Neither team scored in the third period.

Bill Warwick, the hustle and holler guy who makes up the famed Warwick brother trio with Grant and Dick, sat out the game with an infected foot. Without the fire provided by the punch line, the V's appeared listless.

Speck got his goal when he drifted one into the Penticton cage before goalie Ivan McLelland could move.

The B.C. champions threatened briefly in the first frame when they tested Wolves' Al Millar with four fast shots. They produced a short-lived surge in the final minutes.

TV NEWS TV

By Ken McCannan

Some fascinating things have been happening in television in the past few years (so fascinating we think everyone should have a ringside seat with their own TV). But fascinating things have been happening to radio as well, mainly as a result of television.

Radio, despite television, is far from dead and we think it's getting more interesting because of television. Radio is changing, and it's still growing.

In the States, the figures are remarkable. The number of radio homes is still growing, some two million were added last year. The number of sets has increased, it now totals 110 million across the line. And there are twice as many homes with two or more radios as there are homes with just one.

And here is one of the most interesting changes, one that can help fit radio into your TV home: the radio has been kicked upstairs. In two-thirds of all homes with radios, the radio is not in the living room.

This means people are using the radio to help them along through the day, to listen as a background while the dishes are done (or the homework is fiddled with.) Radios have moved into the bedroom to help people get to sleep and wake up again.

Radio stations are doing their part by preparing more programs to please special tastes. All the minorities of interest, they've discovered, add up to a majority.

Yes, as you've probably discovered yourself, even after you have a TV set there's still a place, lots of places, in the house for a radio. We have a variety of models to suit the bedroom, den, kitchen AND your pocketbook at McCANNAN ELECTRIC, 274 George Street. Phone 5363.

Russian Teams Are Good Before Allowed To Enter International Competition

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canada's world hockey championship defeat at Stockholm last March was an unending humiliation to a Canadian reporter in the Soviet Union—and a blessing in disguise.

The blessing was that it gave Russians an opening for conversation with the foreigner after they learned where I was from. It provided the cue for a number of the infrequent chats I had with ordinary folk.

But how they crowed after the Soviet team's Stockholm victory. Even in Tashkent, 2,000 miles from Moscow in central Asia, where hockey is a sport the people never see, that latest Russian championship was taken as confirmation of the "superiority of the Soviet way of life."

Most Russians I met knew that Canada had previously held the world title nine times and the Olympic title six.

MUST BE ON TOP

The Russian hockey victory reveals no new emphasis on sport in the Soviet Union, but it drives home one point: Russian athletes are permitted to compete internationally only when they're good enough to win. Then the propaganda possibilities are exploited by the Communist regime.

This is not a reflection on the sportsmanship of the athletes; as far as I know, they play cleanly and fairly.

Even when international matches are played in Moscow, the individuals have little opportunity to meet their Russian competitors socially. The Russians are hospitable in a formal way and arrange visits to famous places like the Kremlin and the Bolshoi Theatre. But when it comes down to man-to-man dealings, the limit is to arrange meals which Soviet athletes and sports and other officials attend. A suggestion that the gathering break into pairs or foursomes would be ignored.

A Swedish hockey team visited Moscow during the New Year's season. While a few diplomats and I sat in the Metropole Hotel restaurant on New Year's Eve, the Swedes were in a private dining room with a balcony overlooking the main floor.

DANCING DENIED

I motioned to three to join us. They were not allowed to until after I met them at the door and interceded on their behalf. And they weren't able to win a dance from a Russian girl all evening.

Sport is organized in schools and universities, in offices and industry in the armed services, in the "palaces of culture" where young people spend their leisure.

"Amateur" sport probably exists only in the educational institutions. Elsewhere athletes get jobs that enable them to devote almost full time to sports. The Red Army hockey team, for instance, plays soccer all summer and fall.

MEDICAL ADVICE

A specialized branch of the state medicine system deals with athletes. On the staff of each district clinic is a physical culture specialist who watches the health of all athletes participating in organized sport in the area.

Medical advice also governs the sports in which those past their athletic prime may engage.

Sports equipment is sold in department stores and specialty shops and anyone may buy it, but it is expensive. Equipment used in the sports clubs i ssupplied free, the sport clubs is supplied free, by a particular state enterprise or "palace of culture" and there are no membership fees.

Here And There In Sports

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

NEW YORK (AP)—Native Dancer, the great, grey galloper of the Alfred Vanderbilt stable, toyed with six rivals Friday as he returned to racing after a long layoff and easily won the $15,000 Commando Purse before 21,792 admiring fans at Belmont Park.

Making his first appearance under Vanderbilt's silks since he won the American Derby at Chicago last Aug. 22, the Dancer barged under the wire a length and a quarter ahead of the Trio Stable's Laffango. Impasse was third.

It was the 19th victory in the powerfully built colt's spectacular 20-race career.

The fourth-leading money-winning horse in the world, he earned $9,750 and boosted his all-time total to $753,670.

BURKE LEADS

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Jack Burke's putts fell as steadily as the rain Friday and he took only 63 strokes, seven less than par, to vault into the halfway leadership of the Greenbrier Open.

The 31-year-old Texan's round gave him a three-stroke lead over runner-up Joe Taylor of Charleston, W. Va. Burke, who plays out of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., had a 68 Thursday in the opening round of the 72-hole tournament.

CHARLES SUED

CINCINNATI (AP) — Ezzard Charles, former heavyweight boxing champion of the world, was sued for $100,000 damages Friday as a result of an automobile accident. Leo Kottingham asked that amount in common pleas court, saying he suffered serious injuries when he was struck by a car driven by Charles on March 3. He charged Charles with negligence.

Charles is scheduled to fight Rocky Marciano for the heavyweight title in Yankee Stadium June 17.

U.S. Seaway Ports Plan For Trade And New Industry

By SAM DAWSON

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The St. Lawrence seaway—when and if it becomes reality—is counted upon to stir a wave of activity along lake waterfronts on the U.S. side.

It would also be a swizzlestick stirring up many parts of the economy elsewhere.

Already under way along the lakes are plans for port authorities with taxing powers, for extensive building of docks, for harbor dredging, and for re-routing of incoming and outgoing goods and farm products. Looming is a scramble among the states and cities to lure new industries.

Toledo says that, granted the port authority law it's asking of the Ohio state legislature, it plans to become the foremost western terminal. It contends it is the first lake port free of ice in the spring and the last to be closed in the fall. Also it argues that the long waterhaul from Toledo to Chicago may not be as economical as the short overland distance between the two cities. Toledo has ordered a survey of harbor possibilities.

DETROIT DEBATES DOCKS

Detroit is debating deepening its channel and building dock facilities for the larger freighters the seaway would admit.

Cleveland reports its export business last year came to $500,000,000. Its business men talk confidently of doubling that—some even say trebling it—within a few years after the seaway is completed. They talk of the seaway "pulling" Pittsburgh closer to Cleveland and away from New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore or Hampton Roads.

Milwaukee is credited by many of its lake port rivals with having been foresighted in developing its waterfront for the seaway's expected coming.

IRON MINERS OPPOSED

Minnesota iron miners, who ship their ore down the lakes to the ports nearest the steel mills, fear the St. Lawrence seaway would open a cheap way in for competing ore, to be coming soon from Labrador and even from Venezuela.

But the steel companies in Ohio and around Pittsburgh are eager for the Labrador ore. If they can't get it through the St. Lawrence, it might go by water to the Atlantic seaboard steel mills—and attract more of them there and away from the Midwest.

Visit the ports on the Atlantic and gulf seaboards (as this reporter recently did) and you'll find most of them, as well as the railroads that serve them, fearful of what the seaway would do to their foreign trade and insutries.

Stirling Gets Royal Oak Trees

It was decided the membership fee would be $1 and members would be entitled to one of four free premiums: two boxes of plants, three tuberous begonias, 10 name glads or spring bulbs for fall planting.

Some discussion as to whether a spring and summer flower show would be held resulted in a discussion to get records and information regarding time and place.

A gift of 25 oak trees from the royal gardens in England was made by the Kingston society and these will be planted and cared for by High School students under the supervision of H. Cross.

The memorial park and cenotaph will be taken care of this year by Joe Irish's Scouts and Cubs, under the supervision of the Horticultural Society.

An out-door meeting will be held towards the end of June to tour some of the member's gardens.

Officers for 1954 are: presidents, Fred Houchen; 1st vice-president, Mrs. James Chambers; 2nd vice-president, Frank Harding; secretary-treasurer, J. B. Belshaw; auditors, Mr. and Mrs. Harper Rollins.

Writer Refuses To Give Story Source

WASHINGTON (AP) — James Reston of the New York Times has refused to tell the army-McCarthy hearings committee the source of a story he wrote Feb. 25 about a Pentagon meeting concerning army Secretary Robert Stevens' troubles with Senator McCarthy.

Reston, Washington correspondent for The Times, confirmed that he was asked Wednesday night to discuss his story with Chairman Karl Mundt (Rep. S.D.) and others connected with the hearing.

The story chronicled Stevens' progress from being "surprised" to "bitter" to "furious" about the outcome of his now-famous Feb. 24 meeting with McCarthy and other Republicans on how the McCarthy investigations sub-committee would treat army witnesses.

WON'T TELL SOURCE

"They wanted to know about the accuracy of the story," Reston said. "I told them under oath it was true to the full extent of my knowledge."

"They asked my source. I refused to tell them.

"They asked whether I would be willing to appear (to testify). I said I did not think it proper for a newspaper man to get into this circus. I told them that if they wanted to subpoena me, they could and I would appear."

"I stated in the article who was present in the meeting and what was said," Reston added, "and suggested it would be better to get first-hand answers instead."

Community Unites To Build Orange Hall

By JACK FINN

There is a brand new building rising at Orange Corner, Emily township. Thursday it rose eight feet above the footings, as more than thirty men dumped concrete into a 28 by 60 foot form.

The new building is the result of a talk-fest following the July 12 celebrations in 1952. Herb Jackson, a 78-year-old native of the district, turned words into action when he threw the first $50 into the building fund for a new Orange Hall, on that evening.

The hall that it will replace, sometime next September, is celebrating its 80th birthday this year, and for a long time has been inadequate, for the predominantly Orange settlement.

Orange Corners has been in existence for a long time. The first lodge was established 125 years ago, by the late Henry Moore. The original charter, faded to the point of illegibility, hangs drearily from the wall of the dried frame building soon to be replaced.

To construct the new hall at a minimum cost the general compatibility of the inhabitants was put to the test. One week ago a building bee was called and 10 men gathered, mixed concrete and poured footings in the excavations previously dug by a contracting firm.

The site of the building, adjacent to St. John's Anglican church, one of the oldest in the Peterborough district, was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jackson, on whose farm it is located. During the past week men gathered in their spare hours, and under the direction of Harry Consilia, of Peterborough, constructed forms to hold the cement which forms the basement of the building.

TRACTOR HAULED WATER

Thursday afternoon more than 30 men gathered, and, with two mixers and six wheelbarrows, completed the job in a matter of six hours. Water created a problem, but, flooded areas not too distant, provided the solution. By means of a tractor and a huge mobile tank water was drawn to the construction site.

This is truly a community effort. Funds have been collected, men have been organized, things have been accomplished—but no one is certain who the head man is. Perhaps it's Stan McCall, present master of Lodge 41, or Melville Moncrief, county master, or Nelson McConnell, district master, but at any rate the building is rising in no haphazard fashion.

The next step, to be undertaken sometime in June, will be the construction of the frame superstructure which will complete the two-room building. Because of the community effort the total cost is expected to range between $5,000 and $6,000.

The building will not only serve as an Orange Lodge, but will be available for all other community projects.

As Walter McGee, 83, and the oldest member of the lodge put it, Thursday, "There'll be plenty of room for dancin' when she's through".

Form Group To Oppose Preventive Wars

CHICAGO (AP)—A new organization called "For America" was founded Friday to "combat super-internationalism and communism."

The founders said the group is not a new political party but served notice that it will enter the fall elections "to fight within both parties for congressmen and senators who have the same principles" as the organization.

The new unit was formed at a luncheon in the Chicago Club. The host was Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of the Chicago Tribune.

Clarence E. Manion and Robert E. Wood were named co-chairmen. Wood headed the America First Committee, which opposed U.S. participation in the Second World War until Pearl Harbor. He recently retired as chairman of Sears, Roebuck and Company.

Fish made public the new organization's declaration of principles. Among them:

"To oppose so-called preventive wars, or 'police actions'.

"To stop sending our American boys to fight all over the world without the consent of Congress."

Construction Stocks Jump On Exchange

TORONTO (CP) — Construction stocks, usually slow traders, jumped with activity on the Toronto exchange Friday as a result of the United States House of Representatives' approval of the St. Lawrence seaway. But profit-taking cut slightly into earlier gains.

The news hit the exchange a half - hour before the exchange closed Thursday and brokers began clamoring for shares of construction companies that might get increased business from seaway construction.

In the next few minutes, stocks of Canadian Dredge and Dock Company jumped $6 to $64. Foundation Company of Canada jumped $3.75 to $19. Other constructions behaved similarly, many pushing to new highs for the year.

But many traders decided Friday to reap their profits. Canadian Dredge fell $2.25 and Foundation dropped $1.25.

EXPENSIVE ACREAGE—T. H. Tanner, left, of Kalamazoo, Mich., hands $4 to T. H. Ellis, and receives the deed for a foot-square "ranch" in Hunt County, Tex. At that rate an acre would cost $160,000. Immediately after the transaction, Tanner erected fence posts, covered with barbed wire, around the property. He bought the ranch to pay off a bet with a friend back home. Looking on is Tanner's daughter, Billy Jo.

Plastic Industry Now Big Business

ROSENEATH (ENS) — "One hundred million dollars worth of plastic business is done every in Canada R. K. Carlson, an engineer of the plastic department at the C. G. E. in Cobourg told the Roseneath men's club. Mr. Carlson chose as his subject "Plastic" and his talk was illustrated by slides showing the various uses of plastic. He was introduced by Mr. O. J. Robins and thanked by Mr. Clarence Thackeray.

At this banquet the Club Members entertained their wives.

The W.A. of Fenella United church catered to the banquet.

C. W. Varcoe welcomed the guests.

John Tallford, Peterborough was the guest artist and contributed a number of vocal solos, playing his own piano accompaniment and also played for community singing. He was thanked by Melville Macklin.

Fred G. Lewis was the speaker. Mr. Lewis has recently returned from England and chose as his subject, "A plane trip across the Atlantic."

A card was autographed and sent to Wm. Montgomery, a club member, who is a patient in a Toronto hospital with a fractured vertebrae.

Dawson Timlin voiced the appreciation of the Club to their guests, Mrs. Silas Sherwin made an appropriate reply.

Firemen, Police Advised To Diet

HAMILTON (CP) — Overweight firemen and policemen have been advised to diet for their own personal health as well as for efficient performance of their duties.

Dr. P. F. Henderson, who conducts physical examinations of both departments, said Friday he has warned several firemen and some policemen against being overweight. He said firemen were engaged in a specialized type of job which requires sudden and immediate action after prolonged periods of inactivity or moderate activity.

the lifeblood of industry

Power, supplied by Ontario Hydro is the vital factor in making the Province's industry the Colossus that it is today. The 19,913,540,926 kilowatthours of electricity supplied to the Province in 1953 by Ontario Hydro was equivalent to a labour force of 88,500,000 men. Few indeed are the industrial activities that are not dependent on electricity and many of today's wonder products are possible only because of the magic of Hydro power.

More versatile than any other form of energy, electricity supplies industry with light, power, heat and control in a wide range of applications. Here is another example of . . .

Asks Canada Increase Farm Production

TORONTO (CP)—Prof. N. R. Richards, with the soils department at the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, said Friday Canada should increase agricultural production because by 1980 the country may have twice the present population.

Speaking to the Ontario Conservation Association, Prof. Richards said last year Canada produced only five per cent more beef and four per cent more dairy products than its population consumed.

Much of the increased agricultural production that Canada will need in the next 25 years must come from the eastern provinces because agriculture is limited by the western climate, he said.

The demand could be met if the soil is used efficiently.

T. A. Wilson of Packenham was elected president of the association. Harley McBeth of Salford was chosen vice-president.

Government Hasn't Wasted Time On Cruising Speed Of Goldfish

OTTAWA (CP)—Fisheries Minister Sinclair said Friday the government has not wasted time and money printing publications on the cruising speed of gold fish, the sex life of lobsters or the moon in relation to eating mussels. The publications were reports on important research experiments conducted by the department or Canadian universities.

The goldfish experiments provided information required for the construction of the Hell's Gate fish-way in the Fraser river canyon in British Columbia. The study of lobsters led to the framing of regulations to conserve Atlantic coast lobster resources and the experiments on mussels disclosed the proper time to eat the shellfish.

Mr. Sinclair was commenting in the Commons on statements by William Hamilton (PC — Montreal Notre-Dame-de-Grace) and Ross Thatcher (CCF—Moose Jaw-Lake Centre) questioning the value of such publications.

He said Mr. Hamilton thought the titles of the publications were indicative of scandalous waste of energy and money. He found this statement difficult to understand because Mr. Hamilton said during the budget speech that he favored manufacturing research.

COULD HAVE PHONED

Both members could have phoned the fisheries research board when they saw titles on publications which excited their curiosity to learn why they were printed. That was too easy and they would not have received the publicity they did.

Referring to Mr. Hamilton's request for information on a publication entitled "Abdominal Width and Sexual Maturity of Female Lobsters on Canadian Atlantic Coast" Mr. Sinclair said:

"I do not know the honorable member for Notre-Dame-de-Grace except from seeing him across the floor of the House. But he is big enough and old enough to know about the birds, the bees and the flowers."

Before the lobster experiment was conducted only the male lobster knew when the female reached maturity. It was necessary for the department to know so regulations could be enacted to prevent females being trapped before maturity.

Regulations now were in effect which allowed fishermen to trap female lobsters only after they had reproduced. This would ensure a continuing harvest.

Dominion Drama Festival Features 8 Productions

DAY LEAD Festival bwah bet

HAMILTON (CP) — The Dominion Drama Festival, scheduled here next week, features eight productions by amateur dramatic groups from across Canada, picked as tops in their field by British adudicator Graham Suter.

The eight groups will complete for the Calvert Trophy for the best play. Awards will also be given to the best actor and actress, best supporting players, best director and the play most pleasing visually.

Adudicator this year is Hugh Hunt, free-lance British director-producer formerly associated with the Old Vic theatre in London.

Governor - General Vincent Massey will open the festival Monday night and the first-night production will be "Rebecca," by the Hamilton Players' Guild.

The play is already a sell-out festival director Richard MacDonald, said Friday. He said $15,000 has been reported from advance ticket sales, enough to cover festival expenses.

SESSION ON SPEECH

Robertson Davies, playwright, author and editor of the Peterborough Examiner, will chair a session on speech in the Canadian theatre, and Lorne Greene, former Toronto radio announcer and now a Broadway actor, will be speaker at a conference luncheon.

Other notables will be Mrs. G. A. P. Brickenden, playwright and director from Simcoe, Ont., Pierre Lefevre, former Dominion adudicator, Herbert Whittaker Toronto Globe and Mail drama critic, and Mrs. Burton James, drama advisor on the Saskatchewan Arts Board.

Competing in the festival are groups ranging from Trail, B.C., to Newfoundland. Leading contenders for the "best play" trophy are Toronto Playcraftsmen with "The Rose Tattoo," to be played Friday night, and the Kingston Domino Theatre Company in "Playboy of the Western World," scheduled Saturday.

Wednesday the College de Saint-Boniface of St. Boniface, Man., present their French - language play, "Le Malade Imaginaire."

Workshop 14 of Calgary will tackle Christopher Fry's verse play "The Lady's Not For Burning," Thursday.

Win Dolls Named For Ornamental Swimmers

10 Canadians Honored For Work In Journalism

TORONTO (CP)—Ten Canadians were honored Friday night for outstanding achievements in journalism in 1953 as the National Newspaper Awards were presented to representatives of newspapers from coast to coast.

Winners of the awards, sponsored by the Toronto Men's Press Club and supported financially by 16 Canadian daily newspapers or groups of papers, were announced last month. Each received an engraved certificate and a cheque for $400.

Judith Robinson of the Toronto Telegram received the award for what was judged the best spot news story of last year: the disclosure of the Saskatchewan cheque-kiting deal which figured largely in the resignation of Austin E. Dewar, Liberal member of Parliament. Miss Robinson was introduced to the awards dinner attended by Toronto civic officials and other members of her profession by Douglas MacFarlane, managing editor of The Telegram.

For his series of articles of life in Moscow, Gerald Clark of Canada - Wide Feature Service was given the award for the year's best feature writing. He was introduced by Greg Clark, one of Canada's best known columnists and a fellow contributor to Weekend Picture Magazine.

EDITORIAL AWARD

Charles Nichols of the Toronto Telegram introduced his brother, T. E. Nichols of the Hamilton Spectator, who was honored for editorial writing. It was the second time he had been named in the NNA competition. In 1952 T. E. Nichols was given a citation in the staff corresponding category for an interpretative series of articles on Quebec province.

Robert W. Chambers of the Halifax Chronicle-Herald was given the award for the best carton, showing President Eisenhower being ridden by a horse labelled Congress gazing across the international border at Prime Minister St. Laurent atop a horse typifying Parliament. Mr. Chambers was introduced by Ken W. MacTaggart of the Toronto Globe and Mail.

Two men were cited for merit in the spot news category: Doug Collins of the Calgary Herald for his expose of an alleged British intelligence officer who said he had been tortured by the Nazis but wouldn't talk; and J. Alex Hume of the Ottawa Citizen for his near-perfect forecast of the number of seats each party would win in the last federal election.

Jack Scott of the Vancouver Sun won the award for best staff corresponding for four analytical articles on the South African election. Mr. Scott now is on a Far East assignment and his award was accepted by Bill Boss of The Canadian Press, recently returned from a posting to Moscow.

OLDEST "CHOIR BOYS" — Two of Canada's oldest "choir boys," Dr. P. G. C. They attended a service conducted by Archbishop Walter F. Barfoot (right), Primate of the Church of England in Canada. The cathedral choir has been invited to sing daily services in Westminster Abbey in August and the Kingston Whig-Standard is sponsoring a financial appeal for the trip. Dr. Campbell has sung at St. George's for 70 years; Mr. Holland in Montreal choirs for 64 years. Second from left is George N. Maybee, choirmaster and organist at St. George's cathedral.—(CP Photo).

Guided Missiles To Defend All Of Canada

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's airborne guided missiles are intended to defend the entire country, not merely a few likely targets for enemy bombers.

This policy, differing from the United States strategy of concentrating land - based missiles in the vicinity of specific centres, was described Thursday at the spring conference of the Aircraft and Guided Missiles Council of Canada. The group represents 50,000 aircraft workers across Canada.

D. L. Thompson, assistant director of aircraft production in the defence production department, said Canada's advance - type guided missiles still are on the drawing board. He said they are expected to go into initial stages of production soon, perhaps within months.

They will be designed to be carried by a CF-100 all-weather jet fighter, or a similar type of plane, and to be fired from it. A "radar brain," probably controlled from the jet, will enable it to seek out and destroy an enemy aircraft.

NO STATIC DEFENCE

Regarding the Canadian defence plan, Mr. Thompson said:

"We in Canada are evolving guided missiles on the basis that they should be developed to protect not only key centres but outlying areas also.

"A missile-launching base, for instance, will not be set up at Sault Ste. Marie to protect the locks there, as they are doing in the U.S.

"Canada's missile is being designed to be carried by . . . a long-range hunter-type aircraft, to be delivered to our defence perimeter and air-launched at the attacking enemy."

Not Consulted, Delegates Feel Miffed

MORRISBURG (CP)—Delegates to the Eastern Ontario Development Conference, representing communities to be affected by the St. Lawrence seaway development, Friday night charged that the Ontario government is making plans without calling in representatives of the communities concerned.

The meeting decided to prepare a brief outlining grievances and suggestions from St. Lawrence river communities between Cornwall, and Iroquois, to be presented later this month to Premier Frost.

About 30 delegates attended the conference which met the day after the United States house approved U.S. participation in the St. Lawrence seaway project.

Albert Yates of the Cornwall and suburban planning board said the Ontario St. Lawrence planning board has representation "from every conceivable group except the people who live down here."

WANT REPRESENTATIVE

"We should have a representative appointed to that board. How do those fellows down in Toronto know what is going on around here?"

William Legault, chairman of the Seaway Committee for Farmers in the Moose Creek area, said he does not like "the unsatisfactory manner in which property is being picked up. The people in our area are unsatisfied with the price being offered for their land."

John Pace, representing Osnabruck township, said the proposed railway and highway routes to be followed in the St. Lawrence development "are definitely known to someone in Toronto and I can see no earthly reason why we haven't had the information."

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C. (CP)—Miss Dorothy G. Taylor, editor of the British Columbian announced Friday she has been dismissed "without notice" from the post she has held for 10 years. She is one-third owner of the family-controlled daily.

She said she was voted out of her post by the two other major shareholders, her sister, Mrs. M.L. Emes, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Walter Goodwin of Spokane, Wash.

Friction among the shareholders, said Miss Taylor, developed over a news contract she signed with The Canadian Press. She said she had worked for 12 years to gain a CP contract and recently succeeded.

"The business manager and other directors asked me to break the contract and I refused. The business office wants to dictate the editorial policies of this paper."

SAYS FRICTION

Miss Taylor said she will consider court action.

"There has been friction for some years in the family. I will try to make the directors show cause why I was dismissed."

She said she will seek employment as a feature writer on another newspaper.

Principal shareholders in the Columbian are Miss Taylor, 69 shares; Mrs. Eames, 70 shares; a nephew, R. D. Taylor, Spokane, 23 shares; and Mrs. Goodwin, 22 shares. Four members of the staff, including co-manager R. W. Ballantyne and M. E. Stevenson own one share each.

No successor as editor has been named.

Reject Russian Offer

LONDON (AP) — The United States, Britain and France sent notes to Moscow today rejecting Russia's offer to join the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Diplomatic officials reported the Western notes argued broadly that the security proposals put forward by the Russians March 31 could in no way replace the free partnership of like-minded states at this time.

See St. Lawrence Seaway New Trade Route Safeguard

NEW YORK (CP) — The New York Herald Tribune today says passage by Congress of St. Lawrence seaway legislation means the United States and Canada can create a new highway for peaceful commerce and a new safeguard for trade routes in case of war.

A Herald Tribune editorial notes an obstacle remaining before work on the project can start—litigation by private power companies against designation of the New York state power authority as the U.S. agent for construction of power plants.

"Canadian reception of congressional action was tempered by a rather strong desire to build an all-Canadian seaway," the editorial adds.

The Herald Tribune says the benefits to Canada of a co-operatively built seaway must outweigh the advantages of doing the job single-handed.

FRIENDLY TASK

"It is the kind of task which meets the needs and fits into the long traditions of friendship of the United States and Canada."

The New York Times says the proposal to link lake ports with the Atlantic and with the rest of the world fires the imagination.

Reviewing the history of the long controversy over the building of the seaway, the Times editorial concludes:

"Now that the seaway is likely to be a reality it is our clear duty to construct it with the enthusiasm and confidence in the future that we displayed when Theodore Roosevelt made the dirt fly in Panama."

VICTORIA (CP)—W. Ross Mackenzie of Vancouver was elected president of the Canadian Brewers' Association at the annual convention here Thursday. He succeeds Hugh F. Labatt of London, Ont. Governors elected included: W. J. Doran, Timmins.

Navy Bomber Crashes 10 Men Killed

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — A navy Neptune bomber crashed into the sea early Friday about 200 yards from shore and the crew of 10 men perished.

Six bodies had been recovered from the water and others were sighted trapped in the submerged wreckage. Diving crews, flown here from Key West, worked throughout the night in an attempt to recover the remaining bodies.

Boy 7, Reunited With Detroit Family

WINDSOR (CP)—It was a tough journey, but Graham Liddell, 7, is finally reunited with his family in Detroit.

He was supposed to come to America to join his father when his mother came in 1953. He had the measles and his grandmother took care of him. Then airline officials refused to let him leave Scotland alone until he was seven years old.

Hoping To Get Rail Reaction

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government is hoping to get early next week the railways' reaction to the Kellock conciliation board's report on their multi-million-dollar contract dispute with non-operating employees.

Meanwhile, informants said Friday the government is not planning to step into the fight.

The unions representing 145,000 men—Canada's largest labor bargaining group—have turned down separate reports filed by the three members of the board headed by Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada.

The union group—essentially the same one that called a crippling rail strike in 1950—indicated it is considering taking a strike vote among members of its national and international bodies across the country.

Protest Increases Planned By Bell

WINDSOR (CP)—The joint political action committee of Windsor labor groups and the CCF party Friday forwarded notes to government officials protesting proposed rate increases by Bell Telephone Company of Canada and suggesting the company be "nationalized."

The company recently announced private and commercial rates in the Windsor area would be raised to bring them in line with other places. Private rates will go up 15 to 25 cents a month, commercial rates by about $1.50.

The suggestion was sent to civic officials and Transport Minister Chevrier.

Millbrook Sets Mill Rate 83.5 For 1954 Budget

County rate 11 mills, village purposes, 30 mills, arena debentures .9 mills, fire engine 1.8 mills, school debentures 7.6 mills, public school 20 mills, high school 12.2 mills — totalling 83.5 mills. This is up five mills from 1953.

A letter was read from the department of highways enclosing a cheque for $475.95 as the subsidy on over-expenditure on streets in 1953. The total amount allowed in which subsidy would be paid had been $3,200, but when the bridge went out at the Presbyterian church, $900 over this amount had to be spent. This cheque covered the additional subsidy.

A letter was received also from Oshawa telling of a test exercise in Civil Defence to take place on June 14 and 15th. Millbrook lies in Zone number 5 which comprises the counties of Northumberland, Durham, Ontario and Victoria, and Oshawa is the centre for this zone with Thomas Hopkins the co-ordinator of Oshawa Civil Defence in charge. Toronto is to be considered the target city. No actual physical operations will take place.

The purpose of the survey is to estimate the effect of an atomic bomb and to assess the mutual aid required, and to list the resources available in the way of fire fighting equipment, etc., if such an attack should occur.

R. O. Crouter addressed the council about the defects in the sidewalk in front of his restaurant on King street. The reeve promised that council would give consideration to this matter.

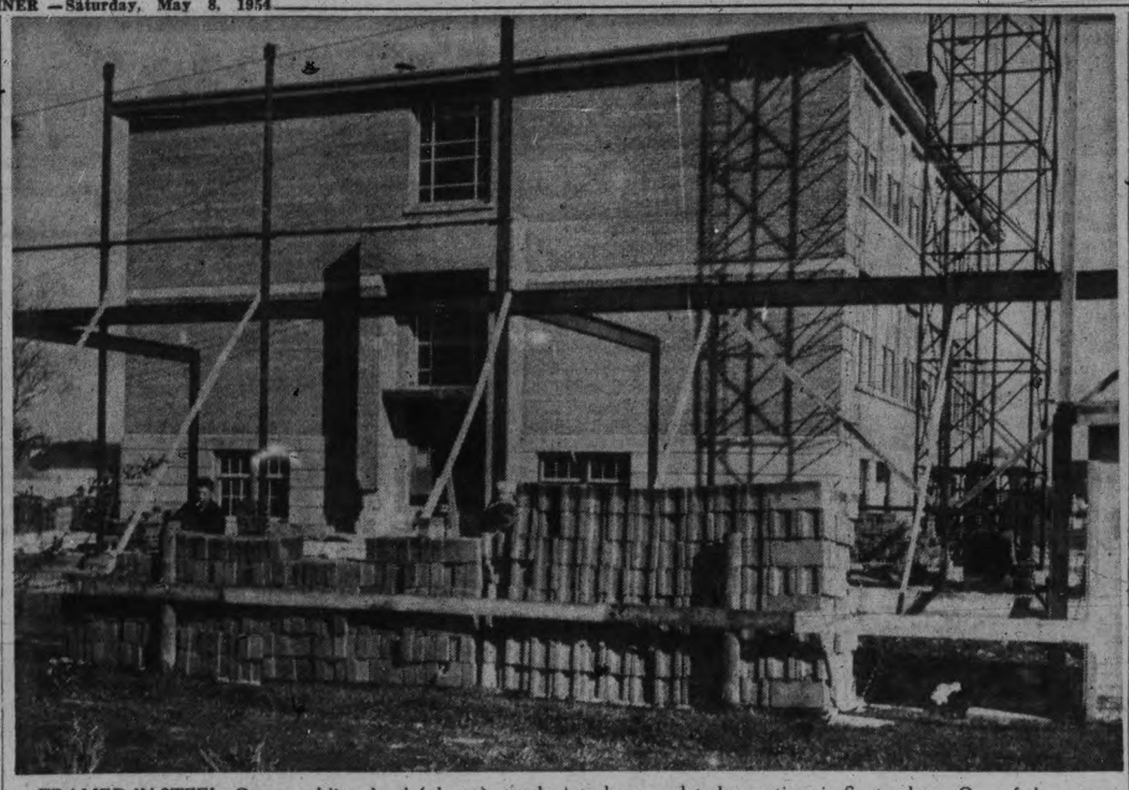
Fred Lowery spoke, complaining of damage done to gardens and flower pots in the west end of the village by dogs which were allowed to run at large.

J. O. Medd, registered a strong protest about certain operators of motor cars on the main street last Sunday morning at 2 a.m. These operators disregarded all traffic rules and made a public nuisance of themselves. A number of other complaints have been received by the council about this situation, not only on that particular night but others as well. A long discussion tok place, but no immediate course of action was decided upon.

Fire chief Douglas Sheppard reported fire practice with equipment in good order and ten men in attendance.

A letter was received from Magistrate R. B. Baxter of Port Hope enclosing a cheque for $19.04, Millbrook council's share of fines collected during the month of March.

Accounts totalling $813.26 were voted paid.



FRAMED IN STEEL, Grove public school (above) stands in the background as workers construct the new four-room addition. Costing about $85,000, the addition is expected to be completed sometime in September. One of the rooms has already been set aside as a kindergarten while possibly at least two of the other rooms will be for intermediate classes.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Tax Rentals Not Adequate Hees Declares

EDMUNLSTON, NB. (CP) — George Hees, president of the Progressive Conservative Association, says federal tax rentals to the provinces are inadequate to meet the provinces' needs.

In a statement on tax policy prepared for delivery Friday night before the New Brunswick Young Conservatives, Mr. Hees said:

"When we form a government, the Dominion-provincial tax agreements which are in force at that time will be continued with all provinces which wish to have them continued. They are legal contracts and will be respected in letter and spirit."

CALL CONFERENCE

"Under these agreements, the provinces accept annual payments from the federal government for leasing to Ottawa their income, corporation and inheritance tax fields).

"Upon forming a government, we will call a dominion-provincial conference to discuss, among other important matters, the reallocation of tax fields to provide the provinces and the municipalities with the sources of revenue they need to meet their rapidly increasing obligations to the people they serve. . . ."

Fears Reaction Of Housewives

OTTAWA (CP) — Agriculture Minister Gardiner said Friday Canadian housewives would complain loudly if the government cut off imports of new potatoes from the United States.

He made the observation in the Commons in reply to a question asked by James A. McBain (PC—Elgin). Mr. McBain noted that imported new potatoes are being served in the parliamentary restaurant and asked the minister to explain import regulations in view of Canada's current surplus of 1953 potatoes.

Mr. Gardiner said arrangements between Canada and the U.S. provide for duties on vegetables, including potatoes, at various seasons. Duties were increased on U.S. imports when new Canadian potatoes came on the market, and lowered during other periods allowing U.S. potatoes to be marketed.

Mrs. Chas. McConnell Speaks To WMS Group

WESTWOOD (ENS) — Mrs. Charles McConnell of Norwood was guest speaker on Wednesday afternoon for the Easter Thankoffering meeting of St. Andrew's Women's Missionary Society, held at the home of Mrs. E. W. Sargent.

Mrs. McConnell spoke from the subject "Faith in God" with the definition "Faith is believing, without seeing." We have faith in our fellowmen, daily illustrated by our us of the products of their skillful labor such as appliances of all kinds, electricity, etc.

But man is only human. How much more should we believe that God's promises are sure and certain. We must show by our works that we really have faith.

A letter of appreciation was received from the United Church Committee on Overseas Relief for three parcels of used clothing.

Two quilting parties will be held on Thursday, May 13, at the homes of Mrs. John Davidson and Mrs. R. Y. Cameron.

Many See Charter Presented To Madoc Legion Auxiliary

MARMORA (ENS)—In an impressive ceremony the Ladies Auxiliary, Madoc branch 363 Canadian Legion received its charter in Madoc Armouries Friday evening.

The ceremony began with the arrival of the Madoc Legion color party, Allan McCoy and Bryden Lowery. President John Bristol welcomed the many guests, including Mrs. C. J. Jeffs, zone commander of the auxiliary.

There are now nine auxiliaries in Mrs. Jeffs' jurisdiction, Tweed, Deseronto, Marmora, Belleville, Madoc and Bancroft, which were represented, as well as Picton, Carrying Place and Wellington.

FIRST LADIES' CLUB

The charter was then passed by Comrade Bristol to Mrs. Jeffs for her to present it to Mrs. R. F. Dafoe. President, Comrade Bristol remarked that it was the first time a ladies' service organisation had been chartered in the village.

The president of the auxiliary spoke of the pleasure it gave her to accept the charter and extent thanks to the Legion for the kindness they had shown towards the ladies.

Congratulations were extended to the new auxiliary on their inception by Mrs. O. Thurston, Tweed; Mrs. Mabel Moon, Deseronto; Mrs. P. Gray, Marmora; Mrs. W. Bean, Belleville; Mrs. W. Lavalley, Bancroft.

EXECUTIVE

The executive of the new auxiliary are: president, Mrs. R. F. Dafoe; 1st vice-president, Mrs. J. Kincaid; 2nd vice-president, Mrs S. Hailstone; secretary, Mrs. L. Armstrong; treasurer, Mrs. J. Bristol; standard bearer, Mrs. Jack Martin; executive members, Mrs. Newton Kincaid, Mrs. J. Scrutton and Mrs. L. Empey.

The auxiliary meets in the Legion hall on the last Tuesday in the month.

Greatly interested in the presentation of the charter were Mr. and Mrs. William Caterer of Madoc. The former, who is 84, is the oldest member and a life member of the local branch of the Legion.

Native of By Fowey, Cornwall, England, he has resided in Canada for 40 years. He served in the Boer War, in the British Navy 21 years and seven years on its reserve. In the First World War he served with the 30th and 41st Batteries, RCA.

His wife was one of four ladies who constituted the first ladies auxiliary at Lakeview, Ont., and has maintained her interest unbrokenly since.

Canadian Press Staff Writer

The value of many high-priced stocks moved upward in trading on North America's three biggest exchanges this week.

New York had four sessions which pushed the market average to successive highs for the year. Strong Toronto industrials got help from United States congressional approval of the St. Lawrence seaway. Montreal started weak but prices of key issues moved up in later session.

At Toronto, the industrial index Wednesday climbed to the highest point since 1951 with pressure from constructions, financial institutions, refining oils and manufacturers.

Industrial strength declined slightly Thursday until announcement of approval of the seaway by the U.S. House of Representatives came a half-hour before closing. In the next few minutes some constructions, believed by many to be in line for seaway contracts, began to jump.

DREDGE BIG GAINER

Canadian Dredge climbed $6 to $64. Foundation Company of Canada gained $3.75 to $19. Others behaved similarly, many pushing to new highs for the year.

The optimism spread to other parts of the industrial market Friday and pushed the closing industrial index to 344.23, second successive three-year high for the week. Financial institutions and steels figured prominently in the gain.

Constructions prices fell under profit-taking. Dredge slipped $2.25 and Foundation $1.25. But in spite of it Dredge gained $3.50 on the week, and Foundation gained $2.75.

The Toronto market, apart from industrials, slipped during the week. Senior base metals, which showed strength in some sessions, were behind. Hudson Bay dropped 37½ cents and Noranda $1.50.

A leading western oil loser was Canso, down 95 cents. Canadian Oil Lands slipped 40 cents.

Prominent golds were also losers. Dome dropped $1, McIntyre 75 cents, and Kerr-Addison 37½ cents.

INDUSTRIALS GAIN

The Friday - to-Friday indexes showed industrials up 2.62 points to 344.23, base metals down 1.32 at 148.27, western oils down .76 at 98.03, and golds down .43 at 73.63.

In New York, railroads were the basic strength in pushing The Associated Press average of 60 stocks to successive yearly highs which culminated Friday in an average of $123.60.

At Montreal prices moved irregularly but the week ended with increases in the averages of all troups except golds.

The Friday-to-Friday averages: banks up .02 at 38.60; utilities up 6 at 106; industrials up 4.1 to 201.6; combined up 2.9 at 169.7; papers up 6.67 to 915.01; and golds down .1 to 57.31.

THE PETERBOROUGH TRAFFIC SAFETY COUNCIL

SAFETY CAMPAIGN IS NOW ON!

Here Is How Your Highway Traffic Act Reads

Section 20—(1)—Every constable and every officer appointed for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this Act may require the driver of any motor vehicle to submit such motor vehicle, together with its equipment and any trailer attached thereto, to such examination and tests as the constable or officer may deem expedient. . . .

(2) Where any such vehicle, equipment or trailer is found to be in dangerous or unsafe condition the constable or officer making the examination or tests may require the driver of the vehicle to proceed to have the vehicle, equipment or trailer placed in safe condition and may order the vehicle or trailer to be removed from the highway and may prohbit the operation of the vehicle or trailer on the highway until the vehicle, equipment or trailer has been placed in a safe condition.

IN THE INTEREST OF PUBLIC AND AUTOMOTIVE SAFETY

YOUR POLICE DEPT IS GOING TO ENFORCE THIS ACT

1953 In the way of making Peterborough drivers more conscious of safety 1,334 Safety Checks were made and passed. In many cases cars required attention before final checks were approved. Several cars were put off the road for good.

OBJECTIVE FOR 1954

More Than 3000 Safety Checks

Get Yours Today

HAVE YOUR CAR 10 POINT Safety Checked TODAY

1. Brakes should take hold evenly on all wheels. The hand brake should be able to hold the car on any hill. Brake fluid should be clean and at the proper level.

2. Headlights should be at the proper level for maximum illumination and minimum glare. Lenses should be clean and reflectors bright.

3. Rear and stop lights should operate properly. Directional signals also should be checked.

4. Tires should be checked for wear and proper inflation.

5. Wheel alignment should be tested on testing equipment.

6. A qualified mechanic should completely check the exhaust system and muffler.

7. Windshield wipers should be clean, with blades checked after the heavy winter to see they are "live."

8. All glass should be clean, free of cracks or discoloration.

9. The horn, while it should not be an annoyance to others, should be audible for 200 feet.

10. The rear-view mirror should give a clear view of the road behind.

LOONY COON—Peterborough had a wild life visitor Friday but he didn't like the city rush too much. In fact he climbed a 55-foot hydro pole on Simcoe St., just west of George St., to be alone. The raccoon caused excitement along the street when spectators spotted him. He was left alone Friday night with the hope that he'd climb down but he was still there today, scanning the downtown roof-tops (above) from his lofty perch. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Cancer Society Collects $7,000

After a late start and several unforeseen difficulties the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Cancer Society has gathered in $7,000 of its $8,000 objective. Society officials are confident that the objective will be reached.

The 1954 totals are not, however, quite as impressive as those last year. Then the local group, with a similar objective, had raised $10,460.48 when the campaign ended. A late start, Easter in the middle of the month, and a shortage of canvassers have been cited as factors in the less successful showing.

This $7,000 figure may be substantially increased, said Mrs. Alene Holt, president of the local unit, if canvassers make their returns as soon as possible. She pointed out that it's difficult to make accurate estimates when many canvassers have yet to bring returns back to Water St. headquarters.

Commenting on the response to the Cancer Society appeal in Ontario, Mrs. Holt noted that 1954 figures show $52,390.58 more than was on hand at the same time (May 6) last year.

The province, however, is still a long way from its $500,000 objective, the same figure as last year. Most recent returns show $216,693.06 collected as opposed to $164,302.48 in 1953.

Paying tribute to the work of local canvassers, Mrs. Holt was particularly enthusiastic about results in Havelock and Lakefield, both subunits of the Peterborough branch. Madoc and Bailieboro, also subunits, have not yet been heard from.

In Havelock a one-day blitz conducted by Mrs. Robert Melville brought in $277.70. This group had been organized only ten days. The Lakefield group, under Mrs. Douglas Davis, is also "doing very well" with more than $670 in hand.

Board Halts Half Way Through Pile

Many Adjustments Made By Planners Following Complaints

Hero of Friday night's planning board meeting was James Craig. He moved for an adjournment at 10.30 after one of the most productive meetings in the board's history, although city clerk E. A. Outram was but halfway through his bulky agenda.

With chairman Hubert Sills periodically calling for "Order, gentlemen, please," the board voted changes in the proposed zoning bylaw and considered complaints registered at public meetings April 28, 29 and 30.

Main bylaw changes, growing out of discussion of ratepayers' worries, were as follows:

1—The scope of the heavy industry classification has been broadened to include light industry, general business districts and neighborhood shopping districts.

2—Light industry has been extended to include the aforementioned commercial districts, plus the RM classification — three-storey multiple dwelling units.

(This means, for example, that any commercial establishment may be set up in an industrial district. It does not mean, however, that heavy industry could move into a light industry area or light industry could set up in a commercial zone. The sliding scale slides only one way.)

Another major change in the bylaw, consequent on protests from many citizens, changes the status of R1 districts, or those confined to one-family dwellings. Heretofore householders were permanently restricted in property usage to no more than two roomers or boarders at one time. The adjustment in the bylaw provides that any house in an R1 area, 20 years old or more, may be converted into a multiple dwelling unit.

The 20-year clause further provides that any building 20 years old at the time of application for conversion is eligible. This changes the restrictive nature of the former law which required houses to be 20 years old at the time of passage of the bylaw, and did not apply to R1 areas in any case.

APPLICATION APPROVED

One of the longest discussions was of an application from E. J. Young of the Ontario Marble Works to have the area surrounding his plant converted from R2 (two family dwelling district) to light industrial. On a motion from A. L. Maiby, the application was approved.

This firm, which does not have head offices in Canada, is located on the north shore of Little Lake. It has access to the water, and thus is able to take advantage of relatively cheap freight rates. It was suggested that if the area were not rezoned to light industrial, the firm would seek a more desirable site outside of Peterborough.

Chairman Sills was dubious about changing the status of this non-conforming user. He suggested that in the event the marble works pulls out, the next firm might be "undesirable," and that the area would not be protected.

(The general rule is that non-conforming users may not, without permission, sell their property for another non-conforming use. Firms may, however, rebuild in the event of fire or other loss. Non-conforming firms have recourse to a local adjustment board, where each case is studied individually, in the event of proposed changes from present status.)

FAVORED APPLICATION

Town planning consultant Gordon Culham said he didn't see "any curse in the area." He was inclined to favor the application, though he warned that there might be some "inconsistency" involved, inasmuch as other firms in the light-industrial classification were refused.

Ald. Harold Rehill felt that such firms as Ontario Marble would have "more safety and security" if "properly" zoned. James Craig feared "too much of a hubbub" from other non-conforming users if this precedent were established.

Slip At City Hall May Close Kindergarten To Child

The case was brought to light in the court of revision Wednesday when assessment commissioner J. E. Davis asked to have one taxpayer's listing changed from separate school support to public school support.

There is only one kindergarten in Peterborough's separate schools and this particular property-owner had wanted to send his child to a public school kindergarten in the fall.

In order to do this, he would have to be listed on the 1953 assessment roll as a public school supporter so that his 1954 taxes would go to the board of education.

The property-owner had signed an affidavit to the effect he wanted to be listed as a public school supporter and this was noted in the assessment department's field book. But when the field book was sent to the addressograph machine in another city hall department, the change, consisting of a single letter, from S to P, was not noticed and the property-owner remained a separate school supporter on the roll.

He appealed to the court of revision, with the approval of the assessment commissioner, under section 124 of the Assessment Act, which states that "taxes may be cancelled in all or in part for a gross or manifest error made by the city."

The catch was that no taxes were involved. It was simply a question of who should get the taxes, the board of education or the separate school board. The court ruled the matter was beyond their jurisdiction and dismissed the appeal.

TOO LATE NOW

The trouble is that it is too late to hear appeals against the 1953 assessment roll, although the court dealt with matters affecting 1953 taxes, another matter altogther. The designation of school support applies to the assessment roll, not the taxes.

School Superintendent K. S. Wightman explained to The Examiner that naturally kindergartens, like all other public school classes, were open only to the children of public school supporters "although when a mistake is made, we're certainly prepared to make allowances."

But the trouble right now is that kindergartens are overflowing and have been for a number of years, ever since the children of the war-time peak in marriages began attending school. A firm policy is necessary for the protection of those people who pay for the schools.

(Whether the taxes on a certain property go to the board of education or the separate school board depends on the denomination of the occupant, whether owner or tenant).

It is board of education policy, Mr. Wightman said, to make exceptions in certain cases. For example, if a child from a home assessed for separate school support is being raised as a Protestant and is attending Protestant Sunday school, the board will consider admitting him to public school.

It happens in many cases of mixed marriages.

$150,000 Paint Job

NEW YORK (AP)—A crew of 50 painters, skilled at climbing, has begun a two-year job of painting the George Washington bridge, one of the world's highest suspension bridges. The estimated cost is $150,000, including $35,000 for 11,000 gallons of paint.

Another Blaze Flares Up At Gutted Store

The city fire department was called to the gutted Hobbs Glass store at 8 a.m. today to extinguish a smouldering fire. Firemen, working with a hose from one truck spent about an hour pouring water onto the fire.

Today's blaze originated from timber beams which had evidently not been completely extinguished in the $150,000 fire early Friday morning.

Fire chief William Sorrie said today that it will be difficult to determine the cause of the fire which razed the Hobbs' store Friday. By the time the department arrived at the scene the fire was well under way and it was then impossible to see where it had started.

An inspector from the Fire Marshal's office in Toronto will be in Peterborough early next week to assist in the investigations.

1,500 Cadets To Participate In Drumhead

More than 1,500 cadets, both boys and girls, will be taking part in the first annual mass drumhead service at Morrow Park Sunday. Corps from six area towns, as well as from PCVS and Kenner Collegiate, will take part in the huge ceremonial parade.

The boys and girls will start their busy day with religious services at 11. Roman Catholics will assemble in the drill hall, while Protestants will gather for services in front of the grandstand.

The PCVS cadet corps will perform from 1 to 1:30 as prelude to the review and march-past, climax of the afternoon. Taking the salute will be the Hon. G. A. Welsh, provincial secretary. Mr. Welsh holds the rank of colonel in the army, and has a DSO and bar, and an ED.

DEMONSTRATIONS

Later the various corps will conduct demonstrations to show their grasp of military techniques. PCVS and Lakefield high school will combine in an anti-aircraft drill, 25-pound artillery will be demonstrated by the Lindsay high school, and a Bren gun exhibition will be given by corps from Campbellford, Millbrook and the Kenner collegiate.

In a less militant mood, the pipe band from Norwood will perform and martial music will be sung by a choir from the Fenelon Falls corps. The demonstrations will take place from 2:30 to 3:40.

Rush Of Building Predicted To Beat New Zoning Bylaw

"The boom's been lowered."—This was the reaction of one Peterborough lawyer to the news that Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of the Ontario High Court had ordered the city to issue a building permit to Neil R. Sloggett to enable him to erect a motel at 390 George St. S.

The consensus among a number of local lawyers was that, as a result of the decision of the chief justice, council could not withold any permit for reasons of zoning, provided the application was made and the building plans approved before the passage of the zoning bylaw.

It was being freely predicted today that there would be a rush to prepare plans for the erection of buildings on property where they would be prohibited once the zoning bylaw is passed.

How many properties will be affected remains to be seen. It will depend on the number of people who are prepared to renew old applications that were turned down or make new plans. In most cases the applicants have probably scrapped their original plans in favor of an alternative site.

TOO SHORT FOR SOME

For others, the breathing space between now and the time when the zoning bylaw is finally passed will probably be too short to arrange the necessary property transfers, hire architects and complete plans.

Commenting on the order of the chief justice, solicitor W. F. Huycke, QC, said the courts would rarely interfere with the way in which a man used his property provided he kept within existing laws.

"It's almost as difficult for the city to receive judicial approval for withholding a building permit as it is for a man to obtain damages when he slips on the ice and hurts himself on the sidewalk," Mr. Huycke said. "In the latter case, the shoe is on the other foot, of course, but the injured man has to prove the city has been guilty of gross negligence."

In spite of this situation, Mr. Sloggett has been the first applicant to challenge city council's policy of turning down applications for building permits on the recommendation of the planning board.

RISK GOODWILL

Many applicants, of course, have been loathe to risk losing the good will of the public by asking the courts to overrule a city council decision. In many cases, council has turned down or delayed applications after hearing objections from delegations of neighboring residents. It's generally considered bad business to stir up a hornet's nest.

Moreover, there are known to be bylaws in existence, some of them dating back several years, restricting the use of certain sections of the city. These are just as effective in specific instances as the zoning bylaw will be for the whole city.

But there have been other cases where public opinion has not been seriously involved. In many instances, the zoning has been aimed at protecting certain areas for future development, where the present use seems of little concern one way or the other to the general public.

Conceivably, there are some applicants who have been turned down in such instances who may now seek to carry out their original plans before the new zoning bylaw goes through. How long this will be is uncertain.

The planning board is now considering amendments to the proposed bylaw based on suggestions made at the recent series of public meetings. Some of these amendments will be included in their final draft. This draft fill be submitted to the municipal board, who will hold public hearings in Peterborough to determine their approval of the ultimate details of the bylaw.

Not until this procedure is complete and council has passed the bylaw will it have any legal effect.

Meanwhile, the story of Mr. Sloggett's attempt to obtain a building permit probably covers just about every point that could come up in the interim period.

ORIGINAL APPLICATION

He made his original applicatiaon March 22, while planning consultant Gordon Culham and the planning board were at work on details of the zoning bylaw. It was known at the time that the new land-use plan would vary in some details from the master plan, the only guide—and it was merely a guide—that the city heretofore had for overall planning.

Campbellford Choralians Sing At Norwood

The concert was sponsored by the Norwood branch of the IODE, under the direction of Mrs. A. G. Watson. Mrs. Basil Tucker welcomed the audience and performers. The directors, Mrs. A. G. Watson thanked Gaele Meyers and Francis DeCarrol who both contributed to the programme.

A choir of twelve ladies opened the program by singing three songs: "Alleluia" by Mozart; "All Creatures Now Are Merry Minded" by Bennet and "Carol of the Bells" (Ukrainian Christmas carol) by Leontovich- Wilhousky. This was followed by a vocal solo by Francis DeCarrol "A Song to the Star," a German song "I judge Thee Not", and "The Toreador" from Carman.

The Choralians came back with a rendition of "Crying Water" by Hamblen; "The Swan" by Saint-Saens (arranged by P. Bliss), and "O Hush Thee, My Babie" by Sullivan P. Fletcher. Miss Gaele Meyers sang "Dancing Doll", "A Birthday", and "When I Was Seventeen".

PIANO DUETS

After the intermissions, during which candy was sold, 2 piano duets were played by Mrs. Nicholls and Anne Nicholls. Miss Gaele Meyers sank "A Laughing Song", "The Fairy Tailor" and "Little Brown Owl."

The Choralians returned with "Song of Shadows" by Armstrong Gibbs, "An Eriskay Love Lilt", arranged by Mr. Kennedy-Fraser, and "Mah Lindy Lou" by Strickland.

Mr. DecCarrol sang "The Sally Gardens", "For You Alone" and "Is My Team".

The Choralians closed the program with "Nightfall" by Franz Liszt; "Rock-a-bye" by Neidlinger and "When Love is Kind" by A. L. Samuelson. Mrs. Nicholls accompanied the songs on the piano throughout the program.

Drama Festival Planned By YPU

Best religious productions from seven Ontario presbyteries will be competing in the Bay of Quinte Conference YPU religious drama festival in George St. United Sunday school hall Saturday.

Peterborough will be represented by the St. James YPU as director Pill Piercy presents "Joseph of Arimathea." Each of the seven plays won elimination contests in its own presbytery, and is now competing for the Baxter Drama Award.

Four plays will be presented Saturday afternoon beginning at 2 p.m. Young Peoples Unions performing will be from Cannington; Light in the Window; Renfrew, Bathne; Harwood, The Friendly Church, and Blackstock, The Bishop's Candlesticks.

St. James will lead off Saturday evening at 7:30. The Brockville YPU with, The Denial, and the Bridge St. YPU from Belleville with To What Purpose will follow.

When it won its area award, the St. James play was given 84 points by adjudicator R. L. Hale. Like all other plays in Saturday's festival, it will be a one-act production.

Toll Reaches 34

GROSSETO, Italy (AP)—Seven more bodies were recovered Thursday night, bringing the identified death toll in the Ribolla lignite mine blast disaster to 34. The Communist-led Italian Federation of Labor called a 10-minute general work stoppage throughout Italy today at the time of a mass funeral for the Ribolla victims, protesting what they called inadequate safety measures.

DAD'S DUTY—Perched aboard a troopship in Southampton, England, Lance Corporal Robertson assumes duties of a proud father while his wife, in background, looks for relatives on the dock. Robertson, of the 1st Battalion, Gordon Highlanders, was stationed in Malaya, when daughter, Rosanna, was born.

Trying To Bring Back Color To Faded Terrace

QUESTION: When we moved into our home three years ago the concrete terrace overlooking the garden was an attractive shade of red. This has faded very badly and we wonder if there is any way of bringing back some of the original colour.

ANSWER: You might try making the surface more dense by washing with liquid soap—Allowing to stand overnight and washing it off thoroughly the next morning. After washing, try floor wax applied once a month for a time—or if this fails to restore the colour, then use an acid wash composed of 10% muriatic acid, followed by an application of a commercial stain. This is about as far as you can go short of applying a new topping.

QUESTION: We plan to finish an attic bedroom with gyproc wallboard and wonder if it might be worthwhile to rent a sander for finishing the filled joints. Would you think this would be worthwhile?

ANSWER: We wouldn't advise it —in most cases the joints can be finished smoothly enough with a joint knife or trowel, making sanding unnecessary. The occasional rough spot might be removed by hand, using a fine sandpaper on a wood block.

Should an electric sander be used, it would be difficult to avoid cutting into the paper on the gyproc beyond the edges of the joint. If this happens, it tends to lift the fibres of the paper and it will show through the decoration.

QUESTION: How much drying should be allowed between coats of exterior white house paint? Our next door neighbour insists that at least a week should elapse between first and second coat for greater durability. I hope not as I have only one week's vacation this summer in which to paint our frame home.

ANSWER: In clear warm weather, 2 or 3 days is sufficient drying time between coats. A longer time is required in cold or damp weather. Paint should not be applied over preceding coats which are not hard and dry. Drying time should not be unduly long between coats, however — seldom more than 2 weeks. Unduly long drying time between coats can be as harmful as insufficient drying time.

QUESTION: We are concerned about the adequacy of the vapor barrier installed in our home and wonder if inferior painting will help prevent vapors penetrating through outside walls. Could you advise just how effective it is as a vapor barrier?

ANSWER: Paint provides a very effective vapor barrier when applied to inside surface of walls and ceilings. Best use is provided by one coat of aluminum paint followed by two coats of flat wall paint. Wallpaper or other decorative treatment can follow if desired.

Following are some test on effectiveness of different types of paint spread at a rate of about 500 square feet per gallon on gypsum board:

Type of Paint	Transmission (Perms)
No paint	34.34
1 coat primer	1.12
1 coat aluminum	6.90
1 coat rubber	0.53
1 coat primer plus 1 coat flat wall	0.36
1 coat primer plus 2 coats flat wall	0.30
1 coat aluminum plus 1 coat flat wall	0.54
1 coat aluminum plus 2 coats flat wall	0.25
1 coat primer plus 1 coat gloss	0.36

QUESTION: What's the answer to removing hard putty from around broken window glass without having to shatter everything into small pieces, and incidentally badly gouging the sash?

ANSWER: Try using a hot soldering iron. Applied to the hardened putty of a window sash it will cause the putty to pull away from both the sash and glass, eliminating the need for a knife or chisel, and damage to the sash.

QUESTION: Could you tell us what causes an excessive amount of creosote to build up inside a fireplace chimney—and how to prevent this?

ANSWER: Creosote is a result of condensation in the chimney, and is more likely to form when wood is used for fuel than when coal is burned. It will also form faster in cold than in mild climates. Green wood may contain as high as 40% water, and dry wood 15 to 20%. When wood is slowly burned, it gives off acetic and pyroligneous acid, which in combination with water or moisture forms creosote.

When the draft is strong and an active fire is maintained, much of the creosote is carried off into the atmosphere. The trouble is aggravated when the fire does not burn briskly and when an outside flue is subjected to chilling blasts. Walls of the chimney being comparatively cool, causes condensation of the vapors contained in the smoke. Thus the creosote condenses and runs down the flue, finding its way through any joints that are not perfectly tight. Creosote is difficult to remove and when it ignites makes a very hot fire that can crack the masonry and char adjacent timbers. Large quantities of salt thrown on the fire in the grate or fireplace will often extinguish a chimney fire.

WA To Help Finance Repairs To Rectory

ROSENEATH (ENS) — Plans to assist with extensive repairs to the recory and to purchase a new rug for the kitchen floor of the rectory were discussed by the WA of St. Johns' Anglican church.

The meeting was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Jack Webb. First vice-president Mrs. Ray McCracken presided over the business period and devotional exercises.

Mrs. James Robins was appointed secretary pro-tem in the absence of the secretary, Mrs. T. Robins Jr. The Rev. A. J. Platstone gave the scripture reading.

The little helpers report was given by Mrs. James L. Timlin. Mrs. William J. Robins presented the extra-cent-a-day report.

Mrs. James Brown, Dorcas secretary, reported the bale for the Arctic was ready and will be shipped to Toronto May 10. A carload of delegates will attend the annual Diocesan board meeting in Toronto May 11.

Mrs. Ray McCracken, convener of the rectory committee, reported a committee had met at the rectory in Hastings and spoke of the repairs that were necessary in the interior of the rectory. It was decided that the WA will assist financially with the repairs.

Want Priority Over Banks At Canneries

OTTAWA (CP)—Fruit and vegetable growers appealed to Parliament Thursday to enact legislation giving them priority over banks in obtaining payment from bankrupt canners.

M. M. Robinson of Toronto, secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Plant and Vegetable Growers' Association, said that as the bank act now stands, creditor banks have first claim on all goods delivered to the canning factory, even in cases where the factory has not paid for the goods.

"It has happened that a grower delivered to a canner right up to within a day or two of the processor being thrown into bankruptcy," he told the Commons banking committee.

"The moment the produce passes the canner's receiving platform, it becomes the property of the bank—a fact not generally realized by many growers."

FEAR RESTRICTIONS

Hughes Cleaver, former Liberal member for Halton, Ont., and now counsel to the association, said the proposal would discourage banks from lending money to those canners who are not credit worthy.

Leon Crestohl (L—Montreal Cartier) suggested the amendment will do the association more harm than good. It would restrict canners' ability to operate.

Mr. Robinson said the growers have no delusion about the problem. They realized the banks would seek their own protection. But they felt the industry would be stronger if some lending was restricted.

Exploding Star Seen

PASADENA, Calif. (AP), — A supernova or exploding star has been discovered with the 18-inch Schmidt telescope at the Palomar observatory, California Institute of Technology reported Thursday night. It is the first supernova found since March 20, 1950, by the observatory, and "a rough preliminary estimate indicates that it was about as bright as previous supernovae, which has been about 100,000,000 times brighter than our sun," the announcement said.

Cattle Breeders Interested In Using Centre

Vern Campbell was appointed by the Holstein Breeders executive Thursday night to arrange for a m[illegible] with authorities of the proposed Community Centre to discuss their special interests in the building. Earl Doris presided.

The east-central Ontario Holstein championships in October, one of the outstanding cattle shows in Canada, has become established in Peterborough. National Holstein association transferred it from the Warkworth fair.

"We would like to feel that when the centre is built we could hold our district championship show within its accommodation," Mr. Campbell said.

ASK FOR HEARING

The executive decided that in the cause of continuing good relations the better course was to ask for a hearing rather than write a letter. Their October show has been held annually in the old drill hall at Morrow park. With the better facilities the centre could afford, they believe the Black and White championships would attract more people than ever.

Walter Thorn suggested also that the county Black and White Show might be held on the centre floor. They set the date this year for Saturday Sept. 4. The only other Saturday open to Jerry Nelson, fieldman was Sept? 25, and that has already been taken for the 4-H achievement day.

The county show will be at Keene. Directors attending were: Charlie Bolton, Stewart Nelson, Vern Campbell, Howard Clark, Walter Thorn, Mr. Doris, Gordon LaPlante, Frank C. Paterson.

Compliments are to be sent to the dinner committee on its recent success.

Seaway Benefits Long Way Off

CHICAGO (AP) — Proponents of the St. Lawrence seaway today hailed victory in their 20-year fight in the United States Congress for enabling legislation, but tempered their rejoicing in the realization that fullest benefits are many years away.

Approval by the House of Representatives in Washington Thursday of a bill to authorize construction with Canada of a 27-foot deep channel in the international rapids section of the St. Lawrence river "means that the major barrier to making Great Lakes cities inland seaports will be removed," said Governor G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

U.S. seaway proponents from the upper Great Lakes region already have set a new target, a supplementary all - American project deepening channels into lakes Huron, Michigan and Superior, where navigation now is restricted to 21 feet for upbound ships and 25 feet for downbound.

The measure authorizig the 27-foot-deep channel into lakes Ontario and Erie would enable ocean-going ships to move inland as far as Toledo, Ohio. Navigation of the river where the seaway canal would be dug now is restricted to vessels of a draught of 14 feet or less.

U.S. Jails Canadian

BOSTON (AP)—A three-month jail term was imposed Thursday on Joseph G. Sylvain, 44, of Montreal by Judge Charles E. Wyzanski on a charge that the Canadian illegally entered the United States after being deported. Sylvain, deported in 1948, has a long criminal record, police said.

HOUSE No. 62-674—Honest simplicity is evident in every line of the beautiful six-room home in Sillery, Que. Built to a proven, popular design that has been erected at a number of points across Canada, it would be difficult to improve upon for the average family. Living room and dining room are joined, giving this area a feeling of spaciousness seldom seen in a design of this size. The master bedroom is quite large, with windows exactly duplicating those of the living room. This room has its own door to the bathroom too. If three bedrooms are required, the den has possibilities, since the hall closets along the den wall could be easily re-arranged in favor of a bedroom closet. Centre hall is unusually well lighted from glass panels on both sides of the entrance door. The large kitchen will be appreciated by the housewife, and there's plenty of space in the corner by the windows for a breakfast nook. Contains about 29,000 cubic feet. Blueprints available at $10 a set from Home Building In Canada, 2842 Bloor St. W., Toronto.

Boulder Kills Trout Fishermen

OTTERVILLE, Ont. (CP) — A trout fisherman was killed by a 200-pound boulder Thursday when a trucker accidentally dumped a load of rocks on him as he stood below a bridge casting into the Otter river.

Ernest Jarvis, 47-year-old widower from nearby Burford, was struck on the head by the boulder, which fell 25 feet from the truck.

Police said he was not noticed by truck driver Alva S. Blackmore of Norwich and his helper, Robert Turnbull of Mount Elgin.

Jarvis' fishing companion, Phil Krieger, prominent Brantford business man, might have been hit, too, had he not gone downstream for some lunch.

Blackmore was dumping the rocks to stop erosion at the foot of the bridge abutment near this village 15 miles south of Woodstock.

Marmora News

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Gawley have moved into John Lucas' residence north of the village.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction. The hostess, assisted by her daughter Bonnie and Miss Joan Loukes, served afternoon tea.

Canada Holds Cancer Meeting

TORONTO (CP)—Canada's cancer investigators will hold their first national conference next month to discuss fundamental research into the disease.

Dr. Jean Bouchard of Montreal, president of the National Cancer Institute of Canada, and F. G. Butterfield of Regina, president of the Canadian Cancer Society, announce that the conference of more than 100 experts will be held at the Ontario summer resort of Honey Harbor June 16-19.

The conference will be the culmination of 18 months of efforts to co-ordinate cancer research in Canada. The efforts began in 1952 with appointment of a research advisory group of the National Cancer Institute, Dr. C. P. Leblond of Montreal, Dr. A. W. Ham of Toronto, and Dr. R. L. Noble of London, Ont.

In their joint announcement, Dr. Bouchard and Mr. Butterfield said such a conference is particularly necessary in Canada because universities at which cancer researchers work are so far apart there is ordinarily no opportunity to discuss research problems together.

Toronto's Stock Exchange Second In '53 Dollar Trading

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Toronto's stock exchange pulled into second place among North American stock exchanges in dollar value of trading in 1953.

It was second only to New York, still the giant among them all, and passed the American stock exchange, the former New York curb for the first time.

In number of shares traded, including rights and warrants, Toronto, with heavy dealings in lower-priced mining and oil stocks, headed even New York.

Montreal stock exchange and Canadian stock exchange, the former Montreal curb, were a combined fourth in dollar value and third in shares traded.

New York $14,249,695,902 (520,601,526); Toronto $1,143,210,402 (853,251,311); American $1,134,889,391 (113,607,994); Montreal and Canadian $509,718,136 (119,082,911).

Vancouver was 12th in dollar value among the 24 exchanges with $25,369,442, but sixth in shares traded at 27,530,239.

Calgary was 14th in dollar value at $16,645,090, but fifth in shares traded at 42,463,101.

Winnipeg was 16th in dollar value at $1,660,310, and also 16th in shares traded at 1,093,200.

CANADA'S NEWEST

Edmonton, Canada's newest exchange, which opened early in 1953, was 23rd in dollar value at $202,729 and 19th in shares traded at 665,441.

Outside of the two New York exchanges, the six Canadian exchanges had more dollar value trade than all other United States exchanges combined—$1,696,806,109 compared with $1,324,187,810.

Between Montreal in fourth place in dollar value and Vancouver in 12th, came the following exchanges in order: Mid-West, San Francisco, Philadelphia - Baltimore, Boston, Los Angeles, Detroit, Pittsburgh.

Cincinnati was 13th between Vancouver and Calgary, and Washington 15th between Calgary and Winnipeg.

Between Winnipeg and Edmonton came Salt Lake, New Orleans, Spokane, Wheeling, Richmond, San Francisco mining exchange; and after Edmonton was Colorado in 24th and last place.

McCarthy Plans To Reveal Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator McCarthy said today he will feel "no duty" to keep secret purported FBI data figuring in the inquiry into his dispute with the United States Army unless J. Edgar Hoover adds his veto to that of Attorney-General Herbert Brownell.

Hoover, as head of the FBI, is subordinate to the attorney-general. Brownell held Thursday that what the Wisconsin Republican senator has offered as a summary of an FBI warning to the army about suspected persons constitutes "unauthorized use" of secret FBI material.

McCarthy, letting fly an impassioned reply at Thursday's session of the televised hearings, said the disputed material had been viewed by army "loyalty board members with Communist records," and "I think maybe that I have no duty to keep this material secret, and I don't intend to."

PRESS FOR APPEARANCE

Elaborating in advance of today's renewal of the hearings, McCarthy said he will press for Brownell's appearance before the committee, either in public or closed session, to elaborate on his refusal to allow publication of the data.

McCarthy predicted that Brownell will ultimately reverse his ruling.

Increase County Levy

STIRLING (ENS)—A letter from Hastings county clerk to Stirling council announced the new levy is $11,119.61, an increase of $4,043.18 over last year's levy.

A communication from the Ontario department of highways gave approval for a maximum expenditure of $6,000 on the village streets in 1954.

Do Not Neglect Your Heating System

By MR. FIX
Distributed by NEA Service

It is easy to forget a furnace when the last flame of the heating season dies, but — for its own good and yours—don't neglict your heating system. Keep it up to par by cleaning it or having it cleaned for summer dormancy.

There are a number of things the householder can do to ready a heating system for hibernation, but none are as thorough as the service performed by furnace-cleaning specialists.

Professional cleaners employ vacuum equipment to remove heat-wasting dirt and soot. With this same equipment they handle another job that no home owner could hope to accomplish by himself — that of drawing dust and debris from heat ducts throughout the house. If left here, the dirt is recirculated year after year.

Still another thing the pros do —and you can do the same thing in a minor way—is make sure the system is safe for next season's service by inspecting it. Leaks waste fuel and can be dangerous; broken grates should be replaced. Of approximately 250,000 furnaces cleaned annually, Holland Furnace Co. engineers estimate that 20 per cent are found to be defective.

First, and most important of all, check the smoke pipe that leads from the furnace to the chimney. If there are leaks in the pipe at the joints or rust holes, then deadly fumes can escape. Leaks also remove the draft.

Remove the smoke pipe each summer and store it in a dry place. If removal is not feasible, then open the furnace doors and leave them open throughout the summer. Air circulation through the furnace and pipes keeps moisture out and prevents rust.

Use a long-handled brush to clean soot out of pipe.Soot cuts down the draft and also leads to rust formation. When smoke pipe is reinstalled in the fall, seal the opening where pipe enters the chimney with asbestos cement. Seal leaks at pipe joints, too.

Clean out the inner passages over the firebox with a wire brush. Soot within the furnace causes fuel waste. Remove accumulated dirt and soot in chimney bottom through cleanout door and clean the ashpit beneath furnace grates.

If yours is a hot-water or steam-heating system, don't make the mistake of draining water out of the boiler in the spring. This encourages corrosion. Merely drain sidiment off the bottom of the boiler. Boiler may be drained and refilled at the start of another heating season.

Similarly, oil-burner fuel tanks must be kept filled during the inactive summer period to offset moisture condensation inside the tanks. Make sure your oil-burner serviceman calls to make his regular spring cleanup and checkup of the heater. This is very important.

The same is true in the case of gas-fired furnaces. Let the serviceman take care of it. All you need do is shut off the gas supply valve.

Contrary to popular belief, gas and oil-fired furnaces should be cleaned and serviced as frequently as oil-burners. The cleaning is not as difficult, but just as essential to efficient, economical operation of the heating system.

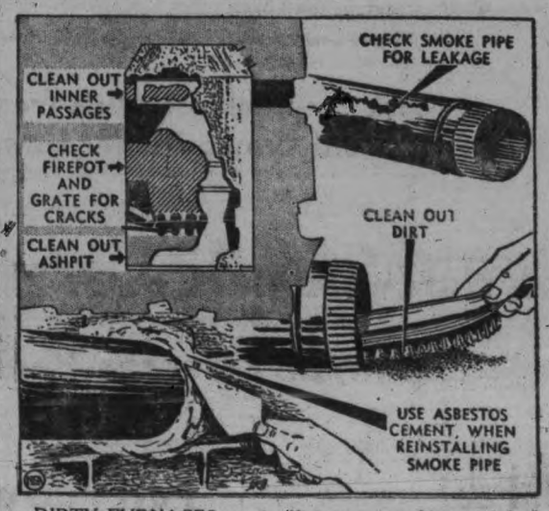
Q—what is long-oil varnish?—R.P.C.

A—It is a varnish containing a high proportion of oil to resin, as compared to short-oil varnish. Long-oil varnish dries slower but is generally more durable and elastic.



DIRTY FURNACES are inefficient, waste heat and fuel. Spring is the time to clean your heating system.

NEW ONE-COAT TITAN WHITE CUTS PAINTING LABOUR by 50%

Paint your own home and whether you count the value of your time or just the physical effort, labour is a big factor. If you hire a contractor to handle the job his labour estimate usually amounts to around 80% of the total — materials to less than 20%. With new TITAN WHITE you actually cut labour 50% by repainting with just one coat instead of two. On all but unpainted or badly weathered surfaces, the high Titanium and elasticity of new TITAN WHITE will give the same hiding and surface protection as two coats of ordinary paint.

CLEANS ITSELF—Season after season TITAN WHITE retains its original beauty and whiteness. Microscopic particles of paint film are gradually washed away by rain, carrying with them surface dirt and grime. A controlled chalking process ensures that only enough of the paint film is washed away to keep the surface free of dirt . . . the surface is still adequately protected for the life of the paint film. The gradual wearing away of the paint film keeps the surface smooth and free from checks and cracks . . . eliminates burdensome surface preparations before eventual repainting.

GREATER HIDING THAN EVER BEFORE

Lowe Brothers' new one-coat TITAN WHITE is rich in Titanium, giving it remarkable hiding power — and making possible an opaqueness normally expected only with two coats of paint.

Ranch Tones

Seven exciting new colors plus 21 tints and intermixes for giving beauty stress to doors, shutters and trim. Ranch Tones are rapidly gaining popularity amongst owners of all types of houses — both new and old. They provide a wide range of beautiful colors to meet the modern trend to gay, natural colors for exterior paintwor . Carefully selected pigments, dispersed in durable paint oils, guarantee a tough, elastic paint film that resists all types of weather. Ranch Tones brilliant Alkyd colors are specially formulated to provide an extremely high degree of color permanence.

WHAT'S BEST FOR YOU . . . ONE COAT OR TWO?

To be certain of full protection and lasting beauty, new TITAN WHITE, should be used only on surfaces which have previously been painted, and are in reasonably good condition. If your problem is to paint new wood or badly weathered surfaces, Lowe Brothers' 2-coat system is the ideal answer.

300,000 People In Quebec Involved In Tax Dispute

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT

QUEBEC (CP) — Some 300,000 residents of Quebec province are in the middle of a constitutional and political quarrel between Ottawa and their provincial government that seems likely to cost them $12,000,000 a year in taxes not paid by other Canadians.

The 300,000 will pay $22,000,00 in a new provincial income tax to Premier Duplessis' Union Nationale government, but about $10,000,000 will be deductible from federal income tax payments.

It is the first entirely provincial income tax imposed in Quebec. There was a Quebec tax from 1940 to 1942 but it was grafted to the federal income tax structure and collected by the federal government. The Godbout Liberal government discontinued it when it signed a wartime Dominion-provincial tax agreement.

MACHINERY SET UP

The new tax works out at about 15 per cent of federal income tax payable by all Canadians. Quebec has set up the first income tax collecting bureau in its history, bought computing machines, and expects to spend one per cent of tax returns for administration. It has set up an appeal system under provincial judges. No decision may be appealed to federal courts.

Mr. Duplessis, whose administration has been re-elected three tims during 10 years in which he has been feuding with Ottawa over tax rights, said he believed Ottawa would permit deduction of the entire provincial tax from federal income tax returns. He said this would recognize only "a fraction of provincial rights."

But Finance Minister Abbott rejected this suggestion in his April budget speech. The amount of provincial tax deductible from federal returns is not to exceed five per cent of the federal tax.

Mr. Duplessis had contended French-Canada's language and religious traditions depend for survival on taxation powers. Mr. Abbott said in his speech that the provincial theory of priority in direct taxation "would not only place the federal treasury in an intolerable position but it would completely destroy any basis for provincial-federal tax rental agreements."

SUPPORT FOR DUPLESSIS

Middle-of-the-road newspapers in Quebec province expressed disappointment over the quarrel and urged Dominion-provincial talks to iron out the long-standing dispute. However, Le Solell of Quebec, which labels itself a Liberal organ, accused Ottawa of not recognizing the provincial tax because it wants to bring about centralization of government; and the strongly provincial but anti-Duplessis Le Devoir of Montreal said Ottawa had shown it was "insincere" when it promised wartime tax-rental agreements with the province were temporary.

Indications are that the tax battle with Ottawa has brought Mr. Duplessis new support in business and labor circles, even among elements which fight him openly on other grounds.

Revenue from the Quebec income tax will be spent on education public health and social legislation.

Quebec is the only province which has refused to sign with the federal government a taxation agreement under which it would receive a subsidy in return for vacating the direct taxation field.

Under such an agreement, Quebec would collect about $115,000,000 annually. Its present corporation taxes and succession duties give it about $30,000,000 a year. With the $22,000,000 from income tax, Quebec will still have less revenue than if it had signed with Ottawa.

LOSS OF REVENUE

The loss in revenue in six years has been estimated by government opponents at $58,263,000. There has been loud criticism from the Liberals but Mr. Duplessis has said Quebec's taxation rights are "not for sale." He contends Ottawa has gone too far in direct taxation and wants to starve the provincial government.

The question of education — a sacred domain in Quebec province—is involved in the income tax fuss. Mr. Duplessis says Quebec must retain taxation powers if its culture, traditions, language and religion are to survive. Canada benefits from two cultures, he says but current federal policy pleases those who would like only one language and one religion.

Provincial Liberals have accused Mr. Duplessis of playing politics with provincial rights to win votes. Mr. Duplessis, in reply, accuses the Liberals of selling out to Ottawa. Each year the provincial legislature is the scene of angry debates over the issues.

First indication that Quebec was contemplating an income tax came last Octob during a controversy over federa aid to universities. After allowi the universities to receive $2,027,000 in federal grants in 1951-52, Mr. Duplessis announced this aid would be cut off because it was a federal encroachment in the field of education.

POLITICAL FIGHT

When the tax set-up was announced, Liberal spokesmen in the legislature asked why the new tax had been planned to hit mainly city residents and not the rural areas from which Mr. Duplessis draws his main strength.

George Marler, the Liberal financial critic, said if Quebec had signed a taxation agreement with Ottawa in 1947 it would have drawn $58,263,000 more than it collected through corporation taxes and succession duties.

Mr. Duplessis replied that Quebec's provincial taxation rights in the long run would be worth more than subsidies.

Rumors have been circulating that a provincial election will be called on the income tax issue before 1956 when the legislature's life normally expires.

Competent observers here see no firm basis for such reports, but the Quebec tax law runs out in 1956 and presumably Mr. Duplessis will make it the main issue when he does go to the people.

Few Appreciate Protection Given On Foods Bought

Few people in Ontario apppreciate the scope of the legislation of both the federal and provincial governments to ensure wholesome food to the consumer. This is especially true of fruits and vegetables, Robert Wilcox of that branch of the Ontario department commented to the Examiner.

For instance, The Farm Products Grades and Sales Act (Ont.) comprises nearly 100 pages. It's index of contents begins with apples and ends with turnips down at the bottom of the last page. In between are: asparagus, beets, beans, cabbage, and so on, parsnips, pears, peaches, raspberries, rhubarb, tomatoes.

Associations of fruit and vegetable growers know, Mr. Wilcox said, that it is greatly to their advantage to encourage legislation, inspection and grading, because their job is to please the consumer and develop repeat trade. It is unlikely that any consumer is going to apply for a copy of the Grades and Sales Act, and see what it is all about.

The regulations are taken for granted. A classic of the Peterborough market was the incident one Saturday a few years ago when a consumer group was talking loudly of "mobbing the inspector" who told a vendor to take his scabby apples some where else, preferably the dump.

That actually happened, and it was a little revelation of market attitudes in Peterborough, at that time. Presumably there has been a complete change on both sides of the counters since then.

PAID TO PROTECT

That inspector whose name need not be recalled was authorized by the government of Ontario and paid by it, representing the people of the province, to protect the values of the fruits and vegetables people were buying. But, the consumers were so blind to their own interest that they actually talked loudly of running the inspector out of town. They lined up against themselves and the inspector, declaring themselves for the scabby apples and their vendors.

All the apples that day were not hog-feed grade, but some of them were. The episode does not tend to encourage a scanning of the regulations for the information of the public.

However No. 1 grade strawberries: shall consist of strawberries with the hull attached, that are well formed of good color, firm but not overripe;; at least ¾-inch in diameter; free from surface moisture, bruises, birdpecks, mould and damage caused by sand, disease or other means.

(The government of Canada has one or more meat inspectors in every packing plant and slaughter house of any size; independent butchers are exempt).

For example that small - one grade consists of apples (1) not less than 2 inches or more than 2¼ inches in diameter; (2) one of the varieties of Golden Russet, Jonathan, McIntosh, Melba, Scarlet Pippin and Fameuse; (3) in all other respects apples that meet the requirements of extra-fancy grade. Incidentally there are five grades of peaches. Rhubarb and head lettuce are also graded.

In the tomato section, the preamble of one clause says "The grades for tomatoes where purchased from the grower on a grade basis for the manufacture of strained tomato products shall be, etc "

Grades for sweet corn were applicable for the first time last year, and the department is now asking that they be made compulsory.

Grading, Mr. Wilcox remarked, is assurance of close selection and uniformity of product for the consumer, and also sets standards of quality which the reputable growers desire for the protection of their buiness.

Defence Budget High

BONN (AP)—The West German Bundestag (lower house), Thursday approved a contribution of 9,400,000,000 marks ($2,237,000,000) for European defence in the financial year 1954-55. This sum represents more than 33 per cent of the new federal budget of $27,173,000,000 marks for the year started April 1. The contribution will be made only if the European defence community is created.

Council Praises Committee For Clearing Dump

The town dump was a subject of discussion and Councillor Rutherford was complimented on his work as chairman of the committee in charge of cleaning it up. The pay sheet revealed that $500 had been spent on this project, but a lot of criticism arose on the abuse of dumping privileges by the public. The type of vehicle for garbage collection was condemned as being unfit for the job and it was decided that the chairman of the property committee should confer with Mr. McCoy, the collected and see what could be done about it. Mr. Peake is to continue to act as caretaker there for the time being.

Paul O'Sullivan addressed council explaining that the corporation liability insurance is not an accident policy and will pay claims only if the corporation is liable for damages through negligence.

Messrs. Cryderman and Wilks, appeared on behalf of residents of Nelson St., to request sewer and water service. This request is to be considered if it is found that the Queen St. sewer is deep enough to serve the premises. J. A. Heatcote's request for sewer and water to his premises was left with the road and bride committee to report on.

It was decided that a letter of appreciation will be sent to Constable Donald Mackay of Peterborough, Chief Constable George Rose and the Lions' Club for instituting the safety patrol for the school children.

Councillor Rutherford reported that T. Chadwick had been re-engaged as caretaker of the cenotaph and the small park across from the Catholic church.

On application of Mrs. Wm. Thomas and Miss Florence Thomas, Council agreed to sell a portion of the old Grand-Trunk right-of-way adjacent to their home on Booth St. to these parties at the price set on these lots when they were acquired by council, plus legal expenses.

Council gave two readings to the Hospital Debentures bylaw and returned it to the solicitor to be sent to the department of municipal affairs for their approval.

Havelock Plans Spend $8,000 For Highways

HAVELOCK (ENS)—A letter was read at a meeting of the town council from the department of highways approving a by-law for the expenditure of $8,000 for roads.

A letter was received from W. E. Griffith asking tax exemption for garbage collestion. The clerk was authorized to get more information on garbage tax exemption.

William Hitchens addressed the council regarding a letter they received from the local hydro commission asking that three lights be added to Concession streets. This request was granted by the council.

Mrs. H. W. Roche and Mrs. F. L. McKenzie, representing the Havelock women's institute addressed the council with regard to the care of the lawn at the town hall.

The council advised them that they would take care of the lawn and granted the institute the use of the council chamber to hold a tea and bake sale, May 29.

S. Peters was authorized to check the sidewalks and report those in need of repair to councillor Sanderson who was authorized to have the necessary repairs made.

The clerk was authorized to prepare data for a parking bylaw to be dealt with at a special council meeting to be called by the reeve.

POLICE REPORT

Police chief Robert Hall's report for April showed 30 complaints and occurrences—other figures were: thefts of articles reported, 2; break-ins and thefts reported, 2; building permits issued, 6; doors and windows found insecure at night, 1; fires reported and extinguished by the fire department, 4; fatalities reported, 1; motor vehicle accidents reported and investigated, 3; hit and run accidents, 1; transients given a night's lodging, 2; arrests made, 2; dog licenses issued, 4.

The following were charges laid: criminal code, 1; liquor control act, 2; highway traffic, 4; court attendance, 4 days.

May 10, was the date set before which all dogs must be tied up.

Board Reduces Stock Sale Fee

At an executive meeting of the exhibition board last month it was decided to charge a fee of $50 for the use of exhibition buildings during stock sales. Objections have been raised by beef breeders and at a meeting of the board Thursday night, it was decided to set the fee at $25.

Even then there were a few board members who considered that even $25 was too much. They thought that the exhibition board should "throw open the door" to cattle breeders. It would cause goodwill if little else.

President John Kitney led the majority in the view that some sort of fee should be set. $25 would not be too severe on the breeders and it would cover incidental costs incurred by the board for cattle sales. After the last sale the caretaker had spent a day and a half cleaning up the building.

Cavan News

Cavan United church will observe Mother's Day on Sunday with a special service at 9:40 a.m. The junior choir will furnish special music.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Caldwell and Pasty, Newmarket, and Miss Hope Douglas, Peterborough, were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. T. Douglas on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C Argue have returned home from visiting their daughter, Mrs Al. Garvey, Brantford.

HOSPITAL FOR EPILEPTICS — This three-storey stone hospital at St. Hilaire, Que., 20 miles from Montreal, a memorial to Maj. Paul Savoy and other Canadians killed during the raid on Dieppe in 1942, is said to be the only hospital in North America specially designed and with occupational therapy aimed at solely for the care of epileptics. Maj. Savoy was second in command of the Montreal Fusiliers in the Dieppe attack. Dieppe House was built largely through the efforts of the late George A. Savoy, Paul's father, who intended it as a memorial to the Dieppe dead. The hospital at present is caring for 82 patients and has opened a drive for funds to build a new wing to take care of a long waiting list. Epileptics Hospital Outcome Of Dieppe Raid

By JOE MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ST. HILAIRE, Que. (CP)—Death of Maj. Paul Savoy during the wartime Canadian raid on Dieppe was the beginning of an unusual episode in the long story of men who die that others may live.

In this case, a fatal burst from a German machine-gun Aug. 19, 1942, was to result in a new lease on life for many victims of epilepsy. A three-storey stone hospital, a memorial to Maj. Savoy, second-in-command of Les Fusiliers Mont Royal, and all Canadians lost at Dieppe, was erected here, 20 miles from Montreal.

The sponsors say it is the only hospital in North America specially designed and with occupational therapy aimed solely for the care of epileptics. They say it may be the only one of its type in the world.

EXPANSION PROGRAM

Built largely through the efforts of the late George A. Savoy, Paul's father, the hospital has opened a drive for $75,000 to build a new wing. Currently caring for 82 patients, it has a long waiting list.

Compassion and guidance for the victims of an ailment cloaked since ancient times in superstition is the credo of the non-denominational institution.

Learning that no haven existed for epileptics, Mr. Savoy, a manufacturer, began a drive for funds among his business friends and the hospital, Dieppe House, was opened in 1946.

Mr. Savoy's three sons, Harolde, president of Dieppe House, John and Prew are assisted by a group of Montreal business men in carrying out the wishes of their father, who died two years ago.

Maj. Guy Bonhomme, hospital superintendent, said the institution is self-supporting with the aid of normal grants from the federal and provincial governments and private subscriptions.

SAFETY PRECAUTIONS

Ramps take the place of stairways and there are no inside doors. These are safety precautions to protect patients from injury during epileptic attacks.

A 26-year-old patient, Victor Smale, told of his fears and problems during a lifetime of epileptic seizures—and his gradual victory at Dieppe House.

A native of Cartierville, Que., Victor first came to Dieppe House in 1948, left for a brief period and then returned because "I was lonesome for the place."

"My attacks began when I was three years old," he said. "Each lasted about 10 minutes, and they came about once a month. But now I haven't had any for three months."

Victor now is office assistant to Maj. Bonhomme, and like the other patients earns an incentive wage, ranging up to $40 a month. Last year, the hospital paid $10,000 to patients, few of whom can afford to pay for their treatment.

"I hope publicity regarding Dieppe House will help to cure what I can only call superstition that has lingered since ancient times," said Maj. Bonhomme.

"These people are better described as handicapped, rather than sick. Yet industry doesn't want to hire an epileptic—ignoring that perhaps all other employees lose more than average of five minutes a month through illness of various kinds."

LEARN TRADES

The Dieppe patients learn leather working, shoemaking and repairing, weaving, carpentering and painting. The hospital has 170 acres of grounds, including an orchard, worked by the patients. A "gift house"—to sell the handicrafts—and a greenhouse has been erected. The patients make everything from babies' bibs to model squareriggers. They share in the profits of the sale.

"Our newcomers long most to be needed and useful, not outcasts from human society," Maj. Bonhomme said. "Thus, there are three patients in each room—if one has an attack, the other two will help protect the afflicted from injury, and the like."

"In all, we've treated 280 men, and the proportion of repeaters is only about five per cent."

No "definite" cure for epilepsy is known, but control of the seizures is possible. By far the majority of epileptics in Quebec province, estimated at 16,000, are working in a normal manner, Maj. Bonhomme said.

Dieppe House now is an all-male hospital, but Maj. Bonhomme said "we have by no means given up the dream of George Savoy for a separate building for women.

Pension Commission Deals With 300 War Claims Daily

By DAVE MCINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Nine years ago Canadians celebrated victory in the Second World War.

But Canada still is paying $242 a minute for that victory and others before and since in Canada's wars.

This cost—$127,000,000 a year—is for war pensions alone. Canada has spent nearly $2,000,000,000 for this purpose since 1919 when the Pension Act was introduced. It has spent, besides, more than $1,100,000,000 to rehabilitate Second World War veterans.

300 CLAIMS DAILY

Even now, the Canadian pensions commission handles 300 war pensions claims daily. Some 200,000 cheques go out every month for 500,000 disabled veterans and their dependents.

Some 650,000 Canadians served in the First World War and 60,000 were killed. There were more than 1,000,000 Canadians under arms in the Second World War, with 42,000 deaths.

There are still 75,303 veterans of the First World War or their widows drawing pensions; 114,874 from the Second World War. There are also five from the Northwest Rebellion in 1885, 32 from the South African War, 973 from the Korean War, 575 wounded in peacetime service and 1,792 merchant seamen and auxiliary workers such as firefighters and air-raid wardens.

Canada even looks after some veterans of other forces. There are 553 pensioners who lived in anada at the outbreak of the First World War who enlisted in the forces of Britain, France, Italy or Belgium. Canada pays supplementary pensions to them to bring the rates to Canadian standards, because Canada has the highest overall pension rates in the world. Similar supplementary payments are made to the 32 veterans of the South African war, as Canada had no pension act at that time.

DRAW FULL PENSIONS

Of the First World War pensioners, 3,945, or 6.53 per cent, receive 100-per-cent pensions; of the Second World War pensioners, 3,512, or 3.67 per cent, draw full pensions.

Average age of the First World War pensioner now is 64; of the Second World War pensioner, 40. There are 140,000 children among pensioners' dependents, 10,662 of them children of First World War veterans.

A totally disabled pensioner receives $125 a month plus $45 if he is married. There is also an allowance of $20 a month for the first child, $15 for the second, $12 for the third and each subsequent child. Thus a totally disabled veteran with a wife and three children gets $217 a month. A pensioner with 10-per-cent disability receives 10 per cent of these amounts.

A widow receives $100 a month and the rates for children are doubled. Thus a widow of a totally disabled veteran with three children receives $194 a month.

OTHER ALLOWANCES

There are also helplessness allowances ranging from $480 to $1,400 a year for totally disabled pensioners who require attendants. A paraplegic from the waist down receives the maximum allowance of $1,400. A blind veteran receives an extra $960 a year. Allowances for children are paid until the age of 16 in the case of a boy, 17 for a girl. If children remain in school, allowances can continue until they are 21.

There was no change in the Pension Act from 1919 until 1947, when 553 pensioners who lived in Canveteran with a wife and three children were raised to $171 from $137 a month. These rates were increased to their present amounts Jan. 1, 1952.

1,294,615 Stars, Medals Uncollected

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—Nine years after victory in Europe, the veterans affairs department is holding 1,294,615 campaign stars and medals still not applied for by second world war veterans.

And it still has between 20,000 and 30,000 medals for First World War veterans. Incidentally, the official title of the First World War is "The Great War of 1914-19."

Lt.-Col. H. M. Jackson, director of the department's war service records division, says the majority of Second World War veterans who have not written in for their medals are those entitled to only one or two. There are also some who just don't care about medals, even if they are entitled to seven or eight.

ISSUED BY MINT

The Royal Canadian Mint turned out 3,139,950 stars and medals for the 1,081,000 persons who served in the Second World War, as well as 25,870 clasps to stars and 524,000 clasps to the Canadian Volunteer Service Medal.

The mint issued 11 different medals: 288,000 of the 1939-45 Star; 40,000 of the Atlantic Star; 12,000 of the Air-Crew Europe Star; 12,000 of the Africa Star; 250,000 of the France-Germany Star; 102,500 of the Italy Star; 10,250 of the Pacific Star; 5,200 of the Burma Star; 460,000 of the Defence Medal; 900,000 of the CVSM; and 1,060,000 of the War Medal, 1939-45.

Since the issuance of medals started in 1949, the division has sent out 1,845,335 medals, 24,210 in the year ending last March 31. It estimates there are about 430,000 veterans who have not applied for theirs.

The medals, packed in cartons, are stored in specially-constructed vaults in the division's Slater street building here.

SIGNATURE NECESSARY

A veteran has to write in for his medals so that the division has a signature which tallies with one on its records. But Col. Jackson says cases of persons applying for medals to which they are not entitled are rare. Medals could not be issued to veterans because in many cases they moved after the war and the division has no addresses for them.

First World War veterans also had to write in for their medals. These medals were minted in Britain and were engraved with the veteran's name and regimental number. Second World War medals, made in Canada, were not engraved. For this reason, the veterans affairs department has issued 39,870 engraved memorial bars since 1951 to next-of-kin of fatal casualties. There are still 4,631 bars to be issued and the department carries on a ceaseless hunt for the next-of-kin. It could find only six last year.

Long before the medals now in the vaults are cleaned out the records division will be issuing the United Nations Service Medal and the Korea Medal to some 28,000 servicemen who participated in the Korean War. The Korea Medal for Commonwealth forces probably will be made in Britain and it will be engraved.

Warsaw WMS Hears Of Life In S. Africa

WARSAW (ENS).—The United Church WMS was host Wednesday afternoon to members of St. Mark's Guild, Zion, Carmel and Bethel WMS and the Presbyterian WMS.

Leader Mrs. G. Dyson presided and roll call was answered with verses on the word "Rejoice" Mrs. Dyson was in charge of the devotions and scripture was read by Mrs. Harold Ray. Prayer was offered by Miss Clara McCracken. Mrs. Ida Darling was the pianist.

Mrs. Edwards gave a reading on Christian stewardship.

Mrs. Dyson, accompanied by Mrs. G. Taylor at the piano, rendered a solo. Mr. Dyson introduced the guest speaker, the Rev. I. G. Pollock, minister of Grace United Church, Peterborough. Mr Pollock gave a most entertaining talk on his life as a missionary in South Africa.

He described the contrast in the people and the land and talked about the color ban. He said the black people were forbidden to eat with the whites. South Africa had three national anthems, but the most beautiful was sung by the natives. It was the only one that was really a prayer.

Mrs. Dyson thanked Mr. Pollock for his stirring message. The meeting closed with the benediction.

The visitors were invited to have tea in the Sunday school rooms. Mrs. G. Taylor and Mrs. Dyson poured tea and were assisted by Mrs. H Payne, Mrs Harold Ray, Miss Clara McCracken, Mrs. Sherwood Payne, Mrs. William Darling, Mrs. Edwards. These ladies also served the lunch.

A word of thanks was given by Mrs. Harry Clements of the Presbyterian WMS, Mrs. W. Crowe from Zion, Mrs. Walter Crowe for Carmel, Mrs. Ernie Garbutt from Bethel and Mrs. Donald Davis for St. Mark's Guild.

Married Pope Would Do Better-Paper

By TOM OHILTREE

LONDON (AP)—The Church of England Newspaper said Thursday a married pope would command more confidence than a celibate one and expressed regret that Pope Pius XII "has been deprived of the experience of a happy married life."

The weekly journal is not officially connected with the Church of England but is widely read in Anglican church circles.

In his encyclical the Pope warned against alteration of the Roman Catholic doctrine of priestly celibacy. He also expressed disapproval of the importance which some give to the role of sexual life in "human equilibrium."

The Church of England Newspaper said:

"It is correct and proper to feel sorry for the Pope because he has been deprived of the experience of a happy married life. A married pope would actually command far more confidence than a celibate one, because of the greater understanding he would acquire."

SAYS WIDE OF MARK

The newspaper maintained the Pope suggested there was "some special merit in forgoing marriage," and adde:

"He is wide of the mark. It is a frequent experience for men to find that when they marry they become far more efficient, more temperamentally settled, and able to devote more time and thought to religion and philanthropy."

The newspaper said it wondered if a majority of Roman Catholic priests and nuns "would fully endorse the principle of celibacy if they had the opportunity of doing otherwise."

"Most of them are whisked into the seminaries and convents at an age when they have not had sufficient experience of life to know what they are doing. By the time they realize the truth they are trained for one profession and could not easily abandon it to enter another."

Clergymen of the Church of England are permitted to marry.

Man Freed Drowning Death Victim Said "Pretty Tight"

LINDSAY (ENS)—A coroner's jury Thursday night absolved Gordon McCabe, 39, of blame in connection with the death April 22 of Patrick Lemoire, 59, also of Lindsay. Lemoire drowned in the Scugog river four miles north of the town when a boat owned by McCabe struck a hidden stump and overturned.

The jury deliberated a short time before returning their verdict. Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan made the suggestion that McCabe might have been found negligent to a slight degree in the accident.

THROUGH BOG

McCabe told the court that the pair had consumed three bottles of wine in less than two hours after leaving Lindsay, for his trapping cabin near the scene of the mishap. When the boat overturned he said both struck out for shore through a wide bog in which they could not gain sure footing. He looked back once to see if Lemoire was following him, then turned and continued his way to shore.

McCabe testified he collapsed on reaching shore and did not remember making his way to the porch of a small cabin on the shore but did recall waking up some hours later and finding his way to the home of Joseph Cornforth.

Cornforth told the court McCabe did not mention a companion until he was leaving the farm with his brother an hour after he had found him.

McCabe's brother, Fergus, told the court he began to make inquiries in Lindsay after his brother asked about "the other fellow." After discovering Lemoire had been with his brother he called provincial police. The next morning Gordon McCabe went out with officers and was present when the body of Lemoire was found in three feet of water 200 yards from solid ground.

Dr. M. E. Gorman, who performed the post mortem on Lemoire's body, said death was due to drowning. He also pointed out the high alcohol content of the blood, within a fraction of indicating intoxication.

Under the usual "drunk driver" standards, Coroner Dr. W. Crowe also commented that the blood content coupled with the percentage found in a urine test. Indicated Lemoire had been "pretty tight" shortly before he was dumped into the river.

Foreman of the jury, was H... Horton while the others were ... ford Sleep, Hubert Fox, M. J. ... ilton and Lloyd Magahey all of the Lindsay district.

5th SCOUT GROUP

George Brook, one of the citizen rovers, is leaving Peterborough and is going out West to be ordained a minister. On Saturday evening, April 24, the crew held a farewell party for both him and his wife. This party was MC'd by Dave Hatton.

George and Irene were presented with a pair of bronze scout bookends by Skipper Doug Harris.

ST. JOHN'S PACK

David Fort, David Muir, Peter Ford, Doug. Hendren, Joe Vollans, Ron Winslow and Barry Carew passed ball throwing. David Muir passed Union Jack. Bill Collinson, Bob Yudin passed 2nd star highway code. Barry Carew passed somersault and balancing.

Joe Vollans and Danny McDonald passed balancing. Doug Hendren passed time, while Bob Barber passed signalling. Bill Collinson passed 2nd star knots.

The cubs of St. John's are going to have a ramble on May 8.

The blue six won the honor pennant again.

ST. LUKE'S CUB PACK

The pack gathered around the council rock. Don Ebbs led in the grand howl. Akela instructed the new chums, while baloo and bagherra supervised instruction in six corners. Bagherra read a chapter of "Peter the Cub" at redflower.

The following tests were passed:

2nd star knots—Randy Bradshaw.

Homecraft—Don Ebbs.

Swimmers—Keith Worboy.

First aid—Doug Pammett.

Grand howl — Keith Garbutt, Wayne Cruse and Dale Walker.

Promise—Bob Asselstine.

Signs and salute—Bob Stewart.

Promise—Brian Neck.

4th PETERBOROUGH PACK

This year the father and son banquet was held in the basement of Sacred Heart church. A turnout of one hundred fathers, sons and guests sat down to a very delicious turkey dinner.

Some of the guests included Field Commissioner Art Jackson, Msgr. Butler, Rev. Father Sullivan (group scout chaplain), Rev. Fathers Mikelich and Hart, Mr. E. Wolffe (president of the local association), Mr. W. Shiner (secretary of the local association), Mr. Ed. Cotten (Peterborough's district commissioner), Peter Dominik and George Groombridge.

The pack and the troop owe a great deal of thanks to the group committee and to the ladies' auxiliary. The ladies really did a super job in decorating, cooking and serving. Our thanks go out to you, Mrs. B. Bafley (president) and to all your ladies for a job very well done.

During our meeting of April 29, two more cubs finished passing all the tests required to complete first star. These two lads are Jimmy Devlin and Jackie Meagher. Congratulations fellows. But, remember, a cub with only one eye open is only half as good as a cub with both his eyes open. Let's see that other eye opened real soon.

The good hunting pennant will have to be shared with two sixes this month. The brown six and the grey six were both tied for first place in the monthly competition. The members of the grey six are: Sixes Billy Harrington, Albert Hatton, Peter Coughlin, Peter Seabrook, Jackie Meagher—Second Ron Harding and the members of the brown six are: Sixer Bert Bailey, Carl Wilkes, Danny Culpitt, John Thompson, Brian Yonge, second Ronny McCarthy.

This is the second month in a row that the brown six has won the good hunting pennant for having the highest points for a month. Let's go tawneys, reds and blacks.

5TH PETERBOROUGH

The patrols met at All Saints' church, with the program being confined to instruction.

At the conclusion, a number of tests were passed as follows:

Robert Kearns and Leslie Fowler their law and promise and camp bed, Leslie Fowler his knots and salutes: Norman Muffitt his salute and camp bed; Keith Riches his salute; Dale Cinnanon his knots, whipping, and camp bed; Paul Cinnamon and Bob Neal their first aid.

Sunday School Changes Meeting Times

The Armour Heights Sunday school started some two and a half months ago by the young people of Park St. Baptist church, is changing the time of meeting beginning this Sunday, from 3 p.m. to 9:45 a.m.

Although Sunday school teachers provide perhaps the finest voluntary service in the world, they seldom think of their own pleasure or comfort, when the well-being of their classes is involved.

Instead of closing down their classes when other attractions beckon both teacher and pupil in the spring and summer months, the teachers usually try to juggle the time to fit in with family plans. Many Sunday schools have for this reason changed from an afternoon to a morning session.

The work of the teachers is helped considerably if parents see that their children are up and about, dressed and ready for the Sunday lesson on time.

CHOIR'S VISIT

For well over a year, the congregation at Park Street Baptist church has been looking forward to a visit from the choir of Silverthorn Baptist church in Toronto. Sunday evening they will have their hopes realized, and it is especially pleasing that the visit should coincide with Mothers' Day.

The Silverthorn choir has made a mark in music circles in Toronto, having won top award in the Peel music festival for the past four years.

The choir also boasts gold and silver medalists in solo work. Barbara Strathdee has won many top awards including the Rose Bowl. Isabel Provan has a most pleasing soprano voice for which she has received many honors. Two years ago Freeman Coone was awarded the silver medal for baritone solo work at the Peel festival. One of the features of the evening will be a number by a quintette from the Silverthorn junior choir.

The success of the choir has been due largely to the untiring efforts of its director, Mrs. N. Strathdee, a musician of merit who plays the viola in some of Toronto's top, professional musical productions.

Flying Record Claimed

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — A Swedish "flying barrel" jet fighter today broke the world record for a 500 - kilometre (310.5 miles) closed-circuit course with an average speed of 608 miles an hour, according to Swedish Air Force headquarters here. The present official record is held by an American Sabre jet fighter with an average speed of 950 kilometres (about 600 miles) an hour.

Lakefield Church Marks

On the 20th day of September, 1831, Strickland set out with an emigrant blacksmith named Copping, another young Englishman named Rowlinson each carrying an axe and eighty pounds weight in blankets, provisions, and other necessities. It was a rugged trip out from Peterborough since they followed the river's edge through all the fallen timber and cedar swamps, afraid to go overland lest they become lost. Within a mile of Strickland's land and a couple of miles from his own Copping broke down in exhaustion and cried, wishing he were home in his native Suffolk. Strickland encouraged him and aided him with his settlement, and was later happy to tell of how he used his blackksmith's trade to good advantage in the neighborhood and within three years was able to pay for his land and provide a home and farm for his family.

Strickland set about building a log-house but it was slow work for any planking had to be hand-hewn. The site was across from Glynnwood Dairy Farm at the north of the village. He was still living in an open slab-hut close by when he had a strange visitation in the night. He was awakened by something scraping him heavily on the breast. "And on looking up, what should I behold but a hideous-looking creature standing over me, with two fore-paws resting on my breast, a long-flowing white beard, eyes which shone like coals of fire, and a pair of horns which would not have disgraced Old Nick himself; and to tell the truth my first impression was that the old gentleman had really paid me a visit."

"I had however, no time for reflection. Seizing hold of the shingle-beetle, I dealt his majesty such a blow on the head, that it sent him straight into the midle of the fire. His rough shaggy coat was instantly ablaze, an uttering the most unearthly yells, he rushed into the woods, and literally vanished from my sight in a flame of fire."

The mystery was cleared up the next day on the way to Peterborough when he saw a large billy-goat whose coat was burn in large patches. (Have you seen the goat with the patchwork coat on R. Doubt's lawn, close to the original Strickland house?)

He tells of his Robinson Crusoe existence preparing the house for his wife and the children in the spring. He never forgot the first trip along the newly-cut river road with provisions. With two men's help it took the ox-cart nearly two days to get through.

When she was able to come out from Peterborough, after the arrival of their third child, his wife joined him, making the trip on foot for safety. A garden had been planted and spring crops in, but Samuel was apprehensive as to what his wife might think of the blackened stumps and unsightly clearing. "Whatever may have been her thoughts, she wisely kept them to herself; she praised everything I had done, and prepared at once to assist me in making the inside of our house as comfortable as possible, which our joint exertions soon accomplished."

Family Unable To Convince

his own problem and may come up with any number of ingenious ideas for controlling his drinking. Pledges, physical exercises, hobbies, change of scenery or job, and new associations may be his answer. In some instances, rare as they are, successful results have been realized by self-designed efforts. The alcoholic must discover humility, which for him, means a complete surrender of self — not a simple task.

For the majority of alcoholics, outside help is the only answer. When the alcoholic fails to maintain recovery by his own plans, he may suddenly realize that he cannot cope with the problem by himself and be ready to accept help from others without further reservations as to his own abilities along this line. Still, it is well to bear in mind that the feeling of helplessness which today prompts him to surrender completely, may not be so helpless tomorrow. He may not feel so dependent on outside help.

An "either-or-else" choice carrying some kind of unpleasant penalty is frequently advisable with unwilling, unco-operative alcoholics. This is in order if a stubborn victim won't try suggested treatment. Such a person must be exposed to treatment — even if it becomes "voluntary under pressure."

Pampering the alcoholic has no place in any recovery program. The helping person can be tolerant and understanding without going overboard with over-indulgence. The alcoholic is usually the product of over indulgence and the sooner he realizes that he must give in order to receive, the quicker will he acquire a sense of needed self-reliance. He should be persuaded logically that there is help available, if he will accept it, and co-operate with those wahting to help.

RECOVERY CAN BE ATTAINED

The alcoholic must be assured that recovery can be attained and that it is worthwhile. The history of other alcoholics who have recovered from equally serious or worse drinking addiction is the conclusive proof that it can be done and is worth doing.

THE HELPING FORMULA

1. Never shield or cover-up anyone with a drinking problem. Once detected, do something constructive about it. Be kind, but be firm.
2. Physical condition of drinker must be restored to par as soon as possible. Consult understanding physician for guidance.
3. Victims should be convinced they are suffering from an illness requiring help. They can't help themselves.
4. Problem drinkers should be shown why they have needed alcohol for emotional conflicts; why they have suffered from guilt feelings, insecurity, inferiority, and loneliness. Prove to them that they are not alone against the world; that there is help available.
5. Encourage patient to read some sound material on this affliction. (Book "Alcoholics Anonymous" is highly informing, interesting, and helpful.)
6. Help victims to find new interests, new hobbies, and new non-drinking associates.
7. If unhappy in his or her work, and unsuited on the basis of past record, should be helped to find more pleasing occupation.
8. In every case, the patient should be guided into a treatment program which will provide continuous therapy such as practised A.A. Constant alertness to his alcoholic failings must be maintained, if he is to avert relapses.

A NEW IDEA that received the approval of nearly 600 guests Wednesday evening at Trinity Hall was the Brazilian Coffee Party held by Trinity Baby Band Mothers' Club. These photos give some idea of the decorative effects that were achieved for the occasion by the originator of the idea, Mrs. Harold Gray, who is seen second from the left in the lower photo. Co-conveners of the general tea arrangements are seen (top photo) admiring the unusual tea table centrepiece with Mrs. Gordon S. Maxwell, the minister's wife between them. Mrs. Harold Wilson is at left and Mrs. Douglas Tanney at right. One of the clowns that decorated the walls under a rocked spray effect got in the centre of this bevy of conveners with the club president. Top left is Mrs. Reuben McDonald, home baking convener, and top right is president Mrs. Earle Wellman; bottom row, left to right, is Mrs. Gordon Thomson, white elephants' convener, Mrs. Gray, Mrs. Jack Davern, tea room convener, and Mrs. Ronald Seabrooke, candy table convener.

Trinity Brazilian Coffee Party A Big Hit

One young matron of the Trinity Baby Band Mothers' Club whose outstanding talent is large-scale decorating on unusual themes was responsible for a novel evening being enjoyed by nearly 600 ladies, as well as her fellow club members.

Mrs. Harold Gray has for two years provided the setting for the major money-making project of her Mothers' Club. Previously it was an afternoon spring tea, but this year she gave the suggestion which made the highly approved change to an evening coffee party, and also the theme which excited so much interest in the city.

More than 600 tickets were sold previous to the tea date, but only slightly more than 400 of the purchasers were able to come. However, there were more than 140 admissions paid at the door. With proceeds of $140 from the children's clothing table and sums of around $50 from other sale tables, added to the ticket receipts, the net take on this event reached a very pleasing total.

Co-conveners of the coffee party, Mrs. Douglas Tanney and Mrs. Harold Wilson, gave Mrs. Gray complete leeway to develop her Brazilian Carnival idea and she did a tremendous job.

The spacious Trinity Hall became a South American cafe, gay with crazy clowns and rockets going off in the Mardi Gras celebration spreading stars and tiny colored ribbons overhead, and it had an outlook down a lighted city street, lined with palm trees (the stage). South American music playing made the effect complete.

Bright yellow daisies and red carnations were chosen to keynote the long tea table laid with a pale yellow cloth, and the flowers were arranged unusually in a straw-covered bowl. Pineapples and tropical fruits were also used to decorate serving tables.

Guests' tables were laid with brightly patterned cotton covers and the servers were in gay cotton skirts and blouses and wore flowers in their hair.

Carnival colors, bright red, yellow, blue and green, bordered the tables of the "market square" specializing in hand-made children's clothing, home baking, candy and white elephants. Each of these did a most successful evening's business. A few articles of the clothing remaining are to be put on sale at the next meeting.

Sewing conveners were Mrs. W. Evans and Mrs. M. Elliott and they were assisted with sales by Mrs. B. Till, Mrs. J. Pierce, Mrs. M. Forsythe and Mrs. K. Barltrop. Home baking was convened by Mrs. R. McDonald with Mrs. W. Cuppy, Mrs. D. Cutmore, Mrs. B. Edwards and Mrs. M. Munro assisting. Mrs. R. Seabrooke and Mrs. D. Clark were in charge of candy with Mrs. L. J. Calvert, Mrs. A. Thompson and Mrs. F. Hambly assisting. Mrs. G. Thomson and Mrs. M. Brisbin had the white elephant table and Mrs. H. Coon was selling greeting cards.

Tea room convener was Mrs. J. Skitch and Mrs. W. B. Gordon was in charge of the refreshments. Mrs. J. Skitch acted as tea room hostess and the guests were of course welcomed to the hall by president Mrs. Earle Wellman, who was assisted by Mrs. Gordon S. Maxwell, the minister's wife.

Tea assistants included Mesdames W. Taylor, D. Milne, J. D. Stewart, D. Lamont, G. Taylor, W. Swayne, E. Malcolm, P. Tuck, N. Bennett, R. Kemp, H. Freeman, W. Durant, O. Jamieson, A. Bradbury, J. Anderson, J. Fraser, A. Bell, A. Parker, J. Johnson, A. Butterworth, E. McWilliam, J. Hearn, M. McCullough, H. Lowes, W. Laird, W. Waye, D. Smith, L. Smith, B. M. Harrison, O. Davis, G. White, J. Robson, A. N. Buell and R. A. Blount.

Those assisting to prepare the plates were Mesdames W. Van Atter, J. Howard, D. Lillico, R. Scrutton, H. Henry and H. Moebus.

Warsaw News

Mrs. H. G. Digweed, district secretary of the WI, and Mrs. Reg. Payne, district director of Warsaw WI, attended the executive meeting Tuesday afternoon at the agriculture office, Peterborough.

Diane and Daryl Bennett have been spending the past few weeks with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Darling, while their mother, Mrs. George Bennett, Peterborough, was confined to hospital. Mrs. Bennett is now convalescing at home.

Mrs. Charlie Caulder is a patient in St. Joseph's hospital, and Mr. Billie Crowe is in the Civic hospital, Peterborough.

The United church choirs are presenting a cantata at Zion on May 7. Proceeds are to be divided between the two choirs.

The women's auxiliary to the Canadian Legion, Warsaw Branch 511, held a progressive euchre Tuesday evening. Ten tables were played. Mrs. Fred Sharpe and Mrs. Emma Selkirk were winners for the ladies and Mr. Hilliard Darling and Mrs. Harry Clements for the men. A social half hour was spent while the ladies served lunch.

The playoffs in the bridge marathon sponsored by Belleville chapter 55, OES, were held at the home of Mrs. W. T. Elliott, Stirling, Wednesday evening. Prior to the games, a pot-luck supper was enjoyed by some 40 contestants and friends.

At a meeting of the Anglican clergy of Hastings deanery, the Rev. H. C. Seeker, rector of St. John's church, Stirling, was elected rural dean of Hastings county. He succeeds the Rev. A. S. McConnell of Trenton.

FOR PARENTS ONLY:

Don't Forget Mother On Sunday

BY NANCY CLEAVER

Dear Mother:

It is popular with a lot of people to wail about Mother's Day being "commercialized" . . . but I am sure that it is good to have a special day when we mothers receive gifts which say "I love you" from sons and daughters. . .

Grandmothers deserve a letter as well as a present, just to say "Thank you" for happy memories of childhood, so I'm writing to you this reminiscing note. A child cannot recall when mother guided him in taking his first steps, but a son or daughter can remember a great many other activities which taxed their mother's patience and energy.

As I struggle with the varied activities of three children, I often marvel at the patience you had with all the projects we four youngsters carried out. What fun we had with the neighborhood "gang" in our back yard. I remember one Spring and Summer, following a visit of a circus to town, we had a series of circuses.

The pets we collected from everyone in the block and put into improvised wooden crates for cages, as our "Wild Animals," were wildly indignant at such strange treatment. Do you recall our tumbling acts, the mouth organ numbers, choruses and recitations on our Entertainment Program? Pauline Johnsons "Flint and Feather" was much used as suitable poetry for a circus.

Do you remember the hot Saturday afternoon when the borrowed tent collasped on the indignant audience, each of whom had paid a 5 cent admission fee (including a weak luke-warm lemonade drink?) No one was hurt. But to pacify the spectators, you gave us a plate of fresh-baked cookies to pass around.

Another thing I'm always grateful to you as I think of my childhood is your allowing us to have pets. What a succession of cats I owned. Blackie was my favourite, but he never would keep the collar around his neck with the tiny bell on it to warn birds of his presence. When our Inky seems to be tracking into the house more than her share of mud, I recall the very special place Togo had in our home. How his stubby black tail wriggled with joy whenever we paid him any attention. How eagerly he would bring a ball to us, drop it at our feet, and beg us to play with him.

You welcomed our friends and our pets, but most of all, Mother, you never were too occupied or too weary too welcome us when we came home from school. On blustery wintry days it was so good to come bursting in the door to the warm house and call, "Mother are you there?"

When we went away to complete our education and to work, and later when we were all in homes of our own, you have always stood by us. It has been so comforting to be able in anxiety or perplexity to turn to you.

Then too, it has been a great source of strength to us to know that each morning when you waken you remember us, one by one in your prayers. I am very sure this help us through each day. As we think of you, too, at that time, the miles between us seem to vanish.

The French have a saying, "A mother's love is ever in its Spring" and the Scottish folk "The mother's breath is aye so sweet." In the Springtime of the year, when the world out of doors is so full of loveliness it is good to have this special day, Mother's Day. We are thankful through and through that in all the days in all the Seasons, we can call eagerly with confidence of a quick response, "Mother are you there?" just like we did when we were small . . . We hope you will be with us for a long, long time. . . and be just as swift to ask us for anything we can do for you.

With love,

From your "middle child."

A MOTHER GUIDES HER CHILD in taking those first uncertain steps . . . and mothers can be counted on to help a son or daughter in other new adventures too.

Top Husband-Wife Happily Wed Twelve Years

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Jessica Tandy and Hume Cronyn are different in one very important way from the average married couple. They get paid for acting like married people.

Twelve years after they wed they have become one of the top husbands-and-wife teams of the American theatre. The public likes to see them together—and they like sharing a career as well as a home.

"We have no formulas for marriage," said Hume, as we sat in the living room of their beautiful 14-room duplex on the upper east side. "Our happiest times are when we are working hard . . ."

"And we are happiest when working together," interposed Jessica.

The Canadian actor and his English wife have played the role of a married couple in movies, on Broadway, in "The Marriage." The last will be turned into a television show this summer, and next fall they will tour together in a program of readings called "Face to Face."

SERIOUS ABOUT MARRIAGE

They both believe that married life is too often treated either in a burlesque or a condescending manner by entertainers.

"We don't believe in treating married people as if they were 14-year-olds," said Hume, who comes from London, Ont. "Every married couple has problems, and the problems are serious."

When I asked what were the real-life problems of two people who spend most of their time playing out the problems of an imaginary married couple, Jessica said lightly:

"I'm his constant problem."

"No," countered Hume gallantly. "I suppose our problem is to find the time to enjoy one another. We keep too busy. Trying to do too many things has only one catch—you get too greedy."

VACATION FAMILY AFFAIR

Both share the same hobby—collecting modern French and American paintings. The whole family—they have three children—shares their rare vacations, and all five like to go together on underwater spearfishing expeditions.

Every wedded couple sometimes suffers from marital claustrophobia—the feeling of being shut up too close together. But this isn't much of a problem in a 14-room duplex. Cronyn, who likes to write as well as act, has a den of his own to retire to when he wants to dream alone.

"Hume always tries to have an ivory tower," said Jessica, smiling. "And I'm all for bigger and better ivory towers."

New Products Make Export

By RON EVANS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — A bunch of "rookie" products, few of them more than 20 years old, is bringing vital strength to Britain's team of export goods.

The newcomers, discovered or commercially developed during and after the war, range from penicillin and plastics to diesels and detergents. Last year they earned £288,300,000 or 11.2 per cent of all United Kingdom exports.

The board of trade, which has just issued a progress report on the new exports, lumps them into three groups.

1. Those exported in only negligible quantities before the war. Track-laying tractors, oil-drilling machinery and air-conditioning equipment fall into this bracket.

2. Those exported regularly in pre-war years, but which have had exceptionally rapid expansion since. These include electric refrigerators, plastics and petroleum products.

3. Those whose discovery dates from the war years. This is the biggest group and includes many types of electronic equipment.

The board cites from this last group the example of radio-communication and navigational aid equipment. Sales of these products jumped from £2,300,000 in 1948 to £10,010,000 last year. Television equipment earnings also sprinted from £55,000 to $842,000 in the same period.

Export sales of combine harvester-threshers climbed by more than £1,000,000 from 1951 to 1953. The world market for this product has traditionally been dominated by Canada and the United States.

Penicillin, although manufactured by several other countries, including Canada, has doubled its sales in six years to £4,455,000. Exports of other antibiotics have also grown and are almost as large as those of penicillin despite strong competion from the United States, which enjoys the major share of the world market.

Synthetic detergents have joined the export trade since 1945 and last year they brought in £2,597,000. Britain has also become the largest exporter of prefabricated buildings and their export value climbed to £3,815,000 in 1953.

Plan Meeting May 23rd

St. Peter's subdivision of the Catholic women's league met Tuesday evening in the social centre. Mrs. F. Guilfoyle, president was in the chair and opened with the league prayer. Copy of a letter of congratulations and welcome sent to Bishop Webster by Mrs. Guilfoyle, on behalf of the officers and members, was read. A letter from the secretary of the Children's Aid Society invited members to attend a meeting at the YMCA on May 13th at which meeting Dr. J. Pratten, psychiatrist, will show a film, speak and answer questions on "the behaviour of children." It was decided to celebrate Citizenship Day, May 23rd by having a film and a speaker to illustrate the growth of Canada. Suggestions from the floor resulted in putting forward two social events. First was to have a large card party, to draw members and friends together and to increase funds, and the date was fixed as May 20th. The other suggestion was to have a garden party in the month of June. Details were left in abeyance for the June meeting.

Name New Officers

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Barry were named presidents of the All Saints' Chi Rho Fellowship Group at an annual meeting held in the parish hall Friday night. Retiring president Tom Griffin was in the chair. A nominating committee headed by Mrs. Tom Cook brought in a report which resulted in the election of the following, in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Barry: vice-president, Mr. and Mrs. Mac King; treasurer, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Roberts; secretary Miss Christina Crabbe. The group was invited to attend a fellowship night May 28th, sponsored by the Wednesday night Bible class. They also accepted an invitation from Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cook to hold the June meeting of Chi Rho at the Cook home.

Ross Viscoff took charge of the evening's entertainment later, introducing boy soprano Brian Dunford who sang two popular favorites, "The Bells of St. Mary's" and "Bless This House." He was accompanied by Mrs. H. G. Hartle. Miss Agnes Moore presented some color films she had taken on church organization and on trips to Cape Cod and Gaspe. Mrs. Morley acted as commentator for the films. Refreshments were convened by the committee in charge.

YWCA Circus Displays Gym Work Of Year

An original theme for YWCA gym display in Peterborough, The Curcus, was developed by Miss Beatrise Pelsis, gym director, into a pleasing entertainment for 1,250 persons in the Brock Ballroom Friday evening.

Miss Pelsis presented only the members of her classes who are under 15 years of age. This meant 190 performers in this one-ring circus of 14 acts, and all were costumed.

A few little boys are going to the YW it seems, for the very first act, The Midget Clowns, was a performance by eight of them and two others appeared later as ringmasters in the Bare Back Riders' Ballet.

The Magicians' Act was perhaps the best in the show with no less than 12 bunnies being brought out of a box. The trained Animals too were good and many citizens had a glimpse of them when they rode downtown in open cars about 5 p.m. Lions, a tiger, a giraffe and a monkey were taken from their cages in the ring and made to perform in traditional circus style, even to jumping through a hoop, by ringmaster Carol Fallis. Huge animal heads and clawing motions were almost too realistic for some youngsters in the audience.

Poodles on Parade was a delightful little number by 18 small girls with nine bigger ones as their leading ladies. Thirty-four girls were in the Merry-Go Round number and there were 19 Shetland ponies in the Horses number under ringmaster Georgina Moore-Gough. The Tumbling too was in keeping with traditional circus ring work.

Peterborough pupils of ballet were presented as Balloon Sellers, Bare Back Riders and Jugglers and Tightrope Walkers. There were also two numbers by guest performers from the School of Ballet at Port Hope.

Best-costumed in the show were the Hawaiian Hula girls—15 girls all in grass skirts made right in Peterborough. All costumes were designed by Miss Pelsis and cut out at the Y, but were sent home with the girls to be made up according to her directions.

Majorettes closed the show with a snappy drill and then there was a grand parade of the whole 190 cast, with the three special clowns cavorting crazily in their midst.

Tall George Ludgate was an efficient master of ceremonies for the evening and urged the crowd to louder applause for the youngsters, and a big hand for Miss Pelsist who did a big piece of work in this review and displayed excellent managing ability.

There were lucky programs among those sold and the prizes were won by Mrs. Roy Skinner, Miss Betty Barcroft, Mrs. Harold Freeman and a young man who didn't give his name. Lion's club members were acting as ushers and selling the programs.

Pianists for the circus were Mrs. Joel Walton and Mrs. Roy Dayman.

Working Women 'Stealing The Role' Says WI Speaker

GUELPH (CP) — Mrs. J. W. Adams of Ethelton, Sask., president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, said today that unless home life is constantly re-valuated and families made constantly aware of its place in a democratic society, Canadians may lose by default the basic institution of Canadian life.

In an address before 620 delegates to the sixth annual Ontario Women's Institute officers conference, Mrs. Adams criticized women who go out to work for work's sake.

"We find working mothers now leaving their homes and bringing in part of the family pay-packet," she said. "This is even creeping into rural homes. Many mothers, especially rural mothers, have been forced, for the sake of their children, to enter the teaching field. But the woman who goes out just for the sake of working is stealing the role from the father of the family."

Presbytery WA Holds Convention In Mount Pleasant

Annual convention of the Peterborough Presbytery Woman's Association was held on Thursday in Mount Pleasant United Church. President Mrs. T. Rath presided and the guest of the day was Miss Beatrice Wilson, graduate of the Toronto Training School, and executive secretary of the Dominion Council.

Miss Wilson led open discussions and also spoke to the women on WA work, emphasizing a background of an influence for good and the business to seek diligently for the welfare of the church. "People look forward to warmth and friendliness and we as Christian women should see that it is found in our churches. It is also the women's responsibility to visit and spread understanding, sympathy and deeper spiritual life to others, making them feel they are needed in the church" she said. "Church people should live so as to be a light to others".

"Let the Beauty of Jesus be seen in Me", WA theme song, was sung at the opening of the morning session, following a period of quiet music. Welcome was extended by Mrs. James Fee, president of Mount Pleasant WA.

Worship was taken by the Bridgenorth Association with president Mrs. K. Blewett leading and prayer offered by Mrs. F. Cruikshanks. An inspiring devotional period was led by Mrs. J. H. Johnson. A memorial service for members who have died during the year was conducted by Mrs. Rath, followed by a communion service in charge of the Rev. A. E. Larke of Springville.

Greetings from the presbyterial WMS were brought by president Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe of Hastings, and from the presbytery by the Rev. Arnold Mathews of George street church. Mrs. E. Crowe of Oshawa brought greetings from the Bay of Quinte Conference WA. These were presented during the dinner.

A solo by Mrs. A. Spicer of Millbrook was much enjoyed.

Some committees were appointed and reports were heard from those of the past year. Invitations of St. Andrew's church, Millbrook, for the semi-annual meeting and of Bensfort church for the fall executive meeting were accepted. The Bay of Quinte Conference WA will meet at Carmel United church, Stirling, it was announced.

Vice presidents are Mrs. M. H. Drysdale and Mrs. H. H. Lowes; corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. Close; recording secretary, Mrs. P. H. Darling; treasurer, Mrs. M. E. Hobbs; press, Mrs. Henry Turner; literature secretary, Mrs. H. Hunter; parsonage convener, Mrs. F. Samis; citizenship convener, Mrs. N. Fee; visiting christian fellowship convener, Mrs. W. Women Have Role In Civil Defence

GUELPH (CP) — Civil defence requires the serious concern of all citizens, R. B. Currie, civil defence official with the federal health department, said Friday as he addressed more than 800 delegates at the sixth annual conference of the Ontario Women's Institute.

Mr. Currie said women will have to play an important part in civil defence work. If war should come the rural people would receive the impact, since they would have to take the burden of the homeless in the urban devastated areas, the foodless, the wounded and those needing clothes.

The only Canadian cities considered to be doing much about civil defence now are Vancouver, Edmonton and Winnipeg, he said.

Mountie, Indian In Wigwam Highlights For U.K. Teacher

HALIFAX (CP)—Any old Indian or any old Mountie was not going to be enough for Doreen Eaton when she set out from Britain for Canada.

The Indian had to be in a wigwam. The Mountie had to be on his horse.

Doreen has been in Halifax for some time now as a United Kingdom exchange teacher and she has seen the Mountie on his horse. She now is looking forward to this year's Calgary Stampede where she hopes to catch an Indian in a wigwam.

Miss Eaton, of Sheffield's Meynell road secondary school, said the differences between Canadian and English teaching methods were so great that comparisons were impossible.

"I'm enjoying the experience of working under a different system," she said. "It's interesting and refreshing."

LOVES THE HEATING

Miss Eaton plans to use her long summer vacation to explore further the Canadian scene. That's where she hopes the Indian and his wigwam can be worked in.

"What you consider 'old' may date no farther back than the 17th century," she said. "Back home, it's not old until it reaches back to the 10th."

Aux. Re-Elects Mrs. John Duignan

Annual meeting of the Women's Auixliary of St. Peter's High School Advisory Club was held at St. Peter's school Thursday evening. It was opened in prayer by Sister Clotilde.

The secretary's report was read by Mrs. Gordon Snape, with the treasurer's report read by Mrs. D. Campanaro. The conveners' report was also given.

Slate of officers for the coming year will be as follows: President, Mrs. John Duignan (re-elected) Mrs. Gordon Snape; vice-president, Mrs. O'Grady; 2nd vice-president and Mrs. H. Masterson 3rd vice-president; Mrs. J. Leahy secretary; Mrs. D. Campanaro, treasurer.

Conveners are as follows: St. Peter's parish, Mrs. D. Fitzgerald, Mrs. E. O'Brien, Mrs. J. Louckes; Sacred Heart, Mrs. J. Kearns, Mrs. J. Daly, Mrs. E. Gregg; Immaculate Conception, Mrs. D. Crilly, Mrs. J. Murray, Mrs. D. Dwyer; St. John's, Mrs. J. Cairns, Mrs. V Angelsley, Mrs. D. Walker; St. Alphonsus', Mrs. C. McGillan, Mrs. K. Fitzgerald; St. Anne's, Mrs. J. Paquette, Mrs. F. Hickey; Keene, Mrs. J. Doris Mrs. J. McCarthy; Our Lady of Assumption, Mrs. F. Sullivan, Mrs. F. Heffernan; Ennismore, Mrs. J. Harrington, Mrs. F. Gifford, Mrs. F. McCormack; Douro, Mrs. F Heffernan; Lakefield, Mrs. E. Mann, Mrs. Armstrong; Lakefield Rural, Mrs. R. J. Heffernan; Indian River, Mrs. J. Sheehan; St. Frances De Sales, Mrs. C. Young, Mrs. Holland, Mrs. B. Boyle.

The Rev. Father Coughlin congratulated the incoming executive and also the outgoing for work done during the year.

Mrs. F. Sullivan was chairman of the nominating committee and brought in the slate of nominees.

Campbellford Couple Tell Of Founding School-Home

The Rev. A. E. and Mrs. Toombs, Campbellford, were guest speakers at the monthly meeting of the Peterborough and District Association for Retarded Children, held in the YWCA Thursday evening. Mr. G. Menary presided.

Mr. Toombs, who was introduced by Miss L. Galpin, is owner of a residential school-home for retarded children which has been named the House of Happiness. Opened last July, the house is fulfilling its purpose and living up to its name. These parents of a child suffering from a brain injury in infancy, in establishing the right environment for their own child have expanded what was intended to be a private project to the benefit of others of similar handicap.

Mr. and Mrs. Toombs were missionaries in India for 18 years and while home on furlough, after many consultations and fruitless searching for a suitable residential school in which to place their 9-year-old boy, decided that the father return to India while Mrs. Toombs and the children stay on in Canada.

It was two years later when he returned to this country to minister to St. Andrew's Presbyterian church in Campbellford that an old stone house in the district came on the market. The Toombs recognized it's possibilities for what they had in mind. Out of their sympathy and understanding the House of Happiness became established and children of various creeds are benefitting by the loving care, social training and happy companionship of a christian home.

Amazing reports were given of the improvements in behaviour and eating habits of the children in their care and the adjustments to a life especially adapted to their needs and capacity.

Speaking of their own and other problems which invariably confront parents of retarded children they cautioned against overprotection. "A smothering love will destroy the initiative of the child. Objectionable habits and mannerisms, which tend to label the child in the eyes of the general public can be controlled and eventually overcome by the constant reproving and patience," they said.

Mr. J. Lawrence moved the vote of thanks to the couple.

During the business session, Mrs. W. Amos, assistant teacher, was introduced.

The following donations have been gratefully received: blackbroad and easil from the Board of Education; hand-painted tumblers with individual pictures and the child's name printed on the base by Mrs. Hunter of the Norwood Home and School Association. Also used Christmas Cards from the association members. Cash donations from the Women's Art Association of Peterborough, The Elizabeth Smillie Branch No. 452 of the Canadian Legion and No. 161 Peterborough Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star.

There are 26 volunteer drivers, with 19 on call and 7 who prefer one day each week. Transportation convener, Mrs. A. W. Nelson would like more volunteers, to relieve those who have given service since last September. If interested in this worthwhile service please telephone 7182.

Mrs. J. Menary and Mrs. V. Mattucci attended the first annual meeting of the Ontario Association for Retarded Children held recently in Toronto. Others who attended open sessions were Mrs. J. Hamilton and Mrs. W. Amos of the staff and Mrs. A. W. Nelson and Mrs. E Chambers.

Delegates reported the following highlights. The award of $400 to the Ontario Association, and of $100 to the Junior Red Cross Society "for the greatest contribution made to Community Education during the past year. This is an annual award of $500 from the Dr. V. K. Greer Memorial Fund, set up by the Ontario Education Association. Further recognition by the Government in a grant of $1,500 for the purpose of extension and the organization of further classes.

Congratulations were extended to the Hamilton Kinsmen's Club for their donation of a school bus to accommodate 16 children. Also financial assistance with transportation expense. To the City of Windsor for donating a house for school accommodation for their retarded children.

The provincial executive committee and the new Board of Directors which comprise representatives from the local associations were installed with Messrs. Menary and Mattucci representing the Peterborough Association.

Samples of children's work done in the class-room were displayed by teacher, Mrs. J. Hamilton. At the close refreshments were served by Mrs. E. J. Walsh and members of the social committee.

DOROTHY DIX

Expressed His Fervent Love On His First Date With Girl

DEAR MISS DIX: I have sought your advice in the past, always with good result. The problem I have now is minor, but I would like help with it. A short time ago I dated a young man and we had a very pleasant evening. Since I knew he had been divorced, I had no intention of becoming serious over him. However, on our second date he said he loved me and wanted to marry me. I assumed, however, this was a line, but he continued to declare his serious intentions on subsequent dates. Finally, my own reserve began to wear down, and I did begin to return his love. Then, lo and behold! He made a date with me and did not keep it, and I haven't heard from him since. Our dating covered only about six weeks. Should I write and ask for an explanation?

M. H.

GIRL IS FORTUNATE

ANSWER: It's up to him to offer the explanation, not for you to seek it. If his intentions were at all sincere, his actions would be quite different. I'm afraid a "line" is exactly what he gave you; the fact that he has quite a record of broken romances indicates a vacillating nature. The failing could scarcely always have been the girl's. You were wise not to go overboard in accepting his declarations of love; as it is you emerge with hurt feelings instead of more seriously damaged emotions. Always be wary of the beau who professes fervent love on a first date; rarely is he to be trusted.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: We are living in the country, at great inconvenience, so we can be near my grandfather, a gentleman of 88. Now, my husband has changed jobs and we must go to the city. However, grandfather is a problem. We hate to leave him here alone, though he's in good health, but he won't come with us. How can we make him change his mind?

G.L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The stubbornness of old people is in a class by itself. Trying to make them change their minds is well nigh impossible. Since your grandfather is of sound mind and body, let him make his own decision. Right now he knows he has you worried, and is using that weapon obstinately to make you cater to him. Go ahead with your moving plans; probably he'll do a good job of caring for himself. If he isn't satisfied, he'll be glad to follow one of your suggestions. You and your husband have indeed been faithful grandchildren and need have no qualms about following the necessary course of moving.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Frank and I met a few months ago, and I fell in love with him immediately. We have been good friends, and everything went along fine until I began spending my spare time at the store where he works. Our friends began to tease us both about it, and then I noticed a change in Frank's attitude toward me. He became quite cool, and when I asked him about it he told me he didn't like being followed around. Although I've changed, he still doesn't seem to like me as much as he did. How can I win him back?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Perhaps the damage is permanent and your only profit will be in experience. However, if you do continue being friendly, and retire a bit more to the background, I think Frank's affection can be revived. Don't pursue him, however.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 21 and my girl friend is 17. We became engaged last Easter after a six months' courtship. We are deeply in love but know that our marriage can't take place for another two years. Is that too long for an engagement, and do you think it will last?

L.M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It is usually better for very young people to postpone an engagement rather than enter into one that will drag on for a few years. However, there's no reason why a long engagement can't last. The objections against prolonged engagements are chiefly the emotional stress involved, and the fact that girls usually don't like postponing marriage. The young man is more apt to be conscious of the financial problems. Don't worry about your particular problem; continue working, saving and encouraging your fiancee to learn as much homemaking as possible.

Play Is Presented By Millbrook CGIT

MILLBROOK (ENS) — The golden links mission circle of St. Andrew's United church met Tuesday evening with the CGIT to which the members of the WMS and the mothers of the girls had been invited as special guests.

After greetings from the president, Mrs. M. E. Hobbs, a reaffiliation ceremony of the CGIT with the circle was conducted by Miss Jean Burnham, circle vice-president in charge of younger groups. Joan Gilbert, CGIT president, gave the replies and Helen Wright presented the girls' gift to the scholarship fund for overseas students.

The theme for the worship service, conducted by the circle president, was "I would be true, I would be strong, I would be pure, I would be the friend of all." She illustrated the theme with stories from the Knights of the Round Table of King Arthur.

Mrs. Homer Ouellette read the scripture. A vocal solo was given by Mrs. G. A. Spicer with Miss E. Hetherington as accompanist.

The CGIT play "The Garden of Friends" which had its setting in a girls' school in India was directed by the CGIT leader, Miss Edith Clarke. The play was introduced by Helen Wright. The girls taking part were: Judy Hobbs, Elinore Crowley, Donna Murney, Carol Hawkins, Lenore Ouellette, Joan Gilbert, Helen Ingham, Carol Ridge, Marlyn Chapman, Dorothy Dawson, Janet Hobbs.

The Rev. Margaret Butler expressed the appreciation of the group to the girls and to Mrs. Spicer for the delightful play and solo.

Supper hostesses were Mrs. James McMaster, Mrs. Bruce Ingham, Mrs. David Lunn, Mrs. Cecil Hubbeard, Miss Edith Thorn, Mrs. Robert Ridge, Mrs. Lawrence Winslow and Mrs. Melville Ball.

Canadian Breeders Swing To Long-Haired Pelts

LONDON (CP)—A move made recently by Canadian fur breeders seems to be swinging fur fashion in favor of long-haired skins.

The breeders supplied free furs to some of Britain's "Top 12," who accordingly featured Canadian silver fox in spring and summer couture styles. Now London's big fur traders are showing fashions that indicate a gradual swing towards longer-haired pelts.

In the last decade, with the exception of lynx, up-to-date and fashionable fur ensembles have been short-haired styles ranging from ranch mink to clipped beaver lamb. Even this spring sports fur fashions include a windbreaker in black moleskin with ribbed wool neckline, cuffs and waistband.

In a fur show at a select west end department store, short fur jackets attracted much attention. A white Chinese lamb with fox cuffs gave summer warmth to dark linens.

WIND-CHEATER JACKET—Among sports fashions at a recent fur show in London was this wind-cheater jacket in black moleskin with ribbed wool neckline, cuffs and waistband. It was designed in short-haired skin by a London fur merchant (Swears and Wells). Other fashions at the show by London's big fur traders indicate a gradual swing to long-haired skins. Canadian fur breeders originated the longer-haired pelts and supplied free furs to some of Britain's "Top 12" designers. Accordingly they featured their own designs in Canadian furs.—(CP Photo).

Lakefield School Lost Two Teachers

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Two resignations were accepted with regret by the board of the Lakefield public school when they met this week. Dr. R. H. Campbell, chairman, presiding. Resignations were from Mrs. M. Hobden and Harry Wannamaker.

The board will pay Mrs. Ellen O'Donnell the sum of $50 for teaching a child who is unable to go to school.

Principal E. G. Sloan reported attendance for April as 349 pupils; percentage attendance 95.7. There were five new pupils and eight transfers. He also requested that the furniture in Mrs. Watt's room should be repaired.

The finance committee recommended payments of accounts totalling $171.45.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Readers' Saturday Column

QUESTION: First I want to thank you for helping me out from time to time . . I especially enjoy the news about your family. Our son joined the R.C.A.F. recently and suddenly there is less noise, less work and less cooking and we miss all that and him can you help me out with these puzzles? I bought 14-oz. box of Wheat Germ for 50 cents and then a cellophane bag of wheat germ (16-oz.) or 11 cents. Why is there such a difference in price? Just what is raw bulk wheat germ? I saw two bags of flour. One was marked 100 per cent whole wheat flour, the other just enriched flour. Both had in small letters "Bleached and maturing agents added". What are these and why are they added? Can whole wheat flour be used for ordinary baking. Where can one buy millet meal?

May I tell you how I make "Borsch" (beet soup)? I put a nice soup bone with meat on, or a piece of brisket or some soup meat in my pressure cooker with ½ teaspoon salt, and cook at 15 lbs. pressure for 20 minutes. In the meantime I prepare, clean and dice 1 or 2 potatoes, 1 carrot, 1 stalk celery, 1 onion, 1 bay leaf or 2 or 3 whole spices or both. When meat has pressure-cooked 20 minutes I add the vegetables and cook at 15 lbs. pressure for 8 or 10 minutes. Then I remove from fire and cool, before removing the indicator. I open a small can tomatoes which I add, and small can of diced beets. This way the soup becomes a beautfiul red in color. Now if I have any bits of vegetable left over in my frig. such as peas, pork and beans, string beans or corn, I add these to the soup too. I take out meat, cut it into small bits and return to soup. Season to taste. When in bowls on table add a heaping tablespoons sour cream and see everyone's eyes pop at the lovely color it makes. Plenty of rye bread, a green salad and a fruit dessert make this a good meal which does not take much time to prepare . . if the soup is made a day ahead it is twice as delicious . . Mary H.

ANSWER: A low bow to you Mary and thanks for such a delicious dish made so economically and described in good detail. Let me help you some time. The wheat germ packages you mention are one and the same thing. Wheat germ deteriorates quickly so buy the 11 cent packages once a week. Regarding your question on wheat flours I now quote from the Dominion Dept. of Agriculture bulletin: "Vitamin B Whole Wheat Flour (Canada Approved): contains not less than 95 per cent by weight of the whole wheat from which it is milled. One pound of dry flour must contain 625 International Units of Vitamin B1."

You must learn to substitute whole wheat flour for white by experimenting. You cannot arbitrarily switch from white to whole wheat because it is not as fine, and baked products are heavier. By enriched what is usually meant is the addition of Vitamin B. by improvers what is usually meant is bleach and stabilizers to prevent spoilage. These are not injurious — however unbleached flour adn whole wheat flour are much better. Tell me what whole wheat flour recipes you want and I will give them to you. I have written to you about millet.

QUESTION: I think your column is simply wonderful and you must be equally so. It is the first thing I look for in the paper. (not the coming and going of populations). You seem to eventually reach everyone's needs. In your recipe for wheat germ tea bread was the ¼ cup flour correct? It seems to me it should have been 1¼ cups. Please don't ever stop talking about your Pete, Marianne and Herbie. Families are wonderful. Ours are 13 and 10—girl and boy, both handy in kitchen and bubble all over with joy at their finshed products and will eat until it comes out their ears because they made it . . glad to hear you have a lot of good mileage in you yet . . EEdie.

ANSWER: As you see I have omitted the last personal part of your letter. God bless you . . you must have a stout heart. Thanks for a very generous letter. Yes, the ¼ cup flour in the wheat germ bread is correct, but I admit it does seem odd. Write whenever I can help.

SOLD AT ALL DRUG COUNTERS

Are You Afraid?

We know people who are afraid of nothing . . . Well, almost nothing. They would climb the highest mountain or talk back to their wives. But nothing could induce them to go BROWSING in a store. They would sass a traffic cop or kid the collector of internal revenue. But a salesman scares them.

Well, we can't blame them . . . The person who says "I'M JUST LOOKING, THANKS" is apt to get looked at rather strangely in some places. For it's commonly assumed that every person who goes into a furniture store wants to buy something immediately.

Maybe he does, and maybe he doesn't.

Here at Cherney's we encourage browsing. When you come in to the store we will greet you and offer to help you. If you want to BROWSE, just say so. You WON'T HURT OUR FEELINGS and you'll be on your own.

. . . Come in any time and browse . . .

STORE HOURS:

MONDAY, TUESDAY, THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY — 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

WEDNESDAY — 9 a.m., Closing 12:30 Noon.

6—In Memoriam

DELAIRE—In loving memory of a dear mother Assetta (Bolton) Delaire, who passed away, May 9, 1945.
Always so good, useful and kind,
What a beautiful memory you left behind.
—Always remembered by son, Fred, Gert and Wallie.

DELAIRE—In loving memory of a dear mother Assetta (Bolton) Delaire, who passed away, May 9, 1945.
Rest in peace.
—Always remembered by daughter Madeleine, son in law Lionel and their daughters, Edna, Patricia, Norma, Peggy, Linda and Tina.

FERGUSON—In loving memory of our dear son, Leonard Ernest Ferguson son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ferguson Hastings who passed away, May 8, 1953.
God took him home
It was His will,
But in our hearts, he liveth still.
—Sadly missed by mother, father and family.

GRIFFIN—In loving memory of Mrs. Nellie Griffin who passed away, April 18, 1946.
In my heart your memory lingers
Always tender, fond and true;
There's not a day, dear mother,
I do not think of you.
—Lovingly remembered by her daughter, Helen.

WEST—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Lois Amelia (Braund) West, who passed away Mothers' Day, May 9, 1948, in Phoenix, Arizona.
Our thoughts wander as daylight fades
To the land of long ago,
And memory paints the scenes of old
In the gold of the twilight glow.
We seem to see in the soft dim light,
A face we loved the best,
We think of her when the sun's last ray
Goes down in the far-off west.
—Fondly remembered by husband Chris and daughters Marilyn and Shirley.

7—Card of Thanks

The family of the late Mrs. Mary Ellen Clancey, wish to express their deepest gratitude to the clergy, sisters, doctor, Duffus Funeral Home, all friends and neighbors for their sympathy and acts of kindness in the loss of our loving mother.

McKEE HARVESTING SYSTEMS
Why not call on our Field Men to help you plan a Harvesting System for your Farm? We have the experience to assure guaranteed results. Our systems apply to every crop. Grass, silage, hay, grain threshing, and seed harvest. Use McKee Harvester to pick up swathed grain and haul it to your threshing machine. We manufacture special conveyors to elevate it into your thresher. Remember, ONE 25 H.P. Tractor, ONE McKee Harvester and Wagon, and ONE Man can bring in enough grain to keep a threshing machine running continuously. Two Men can do the job which formerly required 7 or 8.

HAVE YOU ORDERED YOUR McKEE HARVESTER?

Did you ever rise early on a quiet June morning to slip off to your favourite fishing spot only to find some one has been there before you? Rather frustrating, isn't it? The man that telephones up in June and expects to get a McKee Harvester could find himself in the same dilemma. Let's face it! We have about 25 in stock, but a carload is scheduled for Kelowna, B.C. Plus a carload for Regina, Sask. We prefer to do business with Ontario farmers, but we certainly can't maintain a manufacturing plant on last minute orders.

Mrs. George Taylor

STIRLING (ENS) — Funeral services were held from the Rowe funeral home to the Full Gospel Tabernacle in Frankford for Mrs. George Taylor.

A former resident of Stirling, Mrs. Taylor died in Belleville General Hospital after an illness of 10 weeks. She was in her 59th year.

Born in England, Mrs. Taylor was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Day. She was married to George Taylor, who survives.

Other survivors include one son, Donald, of Lakeview, and two daughters, Mrs. Eric Carson (Dorothy), of Frankford, and Mrs. Leonard Nicolson (Eva), of Stirling.

Mrs. Taylor was a member of the Full Gospel Tabernacle in Frankford and was active in the affairs of the women's council.

The service was conducted by the Rev. G. F. Pierce, of that church. Burial was in the Frankford cemetery.

Obituary

THOMAS PITCHFORD

In his 64th year, Thomas Pitchford, of 527 Gilmour St., died at his residence early today. He had lived in Peterborough for 44 years.

Son of the late James Pitchford and Mary Austin, Mr. Pitchford was born in Shropshire, England. After coming to Canada he was employed as accountant by the De Laval company for 39 years.

He was a member of All Saints' Anglican church and for 30 years a vestry clerk. At one time he held the position of warden. He was also a member of the Peterborough Male Voice Choir for a number of years.

He is survived by his wife, the former Ethel Austin, and two daughters, Mrs. Arthur Beauclerc (Margaret) of Peterborough and Mrs. Jack Cocks (Joan) of Toronto. Other living relatives are a sister, Mrs. R. S. Cooper of Peterborough and four brothers, James of Toronto, and Bernard, Arthur and Bertram, all of Peterborough.

The funeral will be held at All Saints' church at 2 p.m. on Tuesday, with burial in Little Lake cemetery. Officiating clergyman will be the Rev. Maurice P. Poole.

Order Speed-Up

TORONTO (CP)—City and hydro officials, responding to Yonge street merchants' protests that their sales were decreasing because of torn up roads, Friday ordered round-the-clock work on main intersection projects. Officials said Yonge street itself, torn up during construction on the subway, will not be completely repaved until late fall.

Dog Kills Sheep

STOUFFVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Any farm dog found around here with blood on its jowls or wool in its coat will be killed. That's the order issued Friday by reeve Alfred LeMasuire. He said the order results from a savage attack a killer dog made on a flock of sheep owned by Farmer William Br

Heribert Michel Gives Concert Of Fine Music

It is too bad more people didn't brave the rain, or the family budget, to hear Heribert Michel's piano concert in St. Peter's auditorium, Friday evening. The 22-year-old musician, scheduled to return to his native Germany in June, provided a fine musical evening for those who came.

His first selection, a Haydn sonata, set the style of the entire concert: a technical dexterity completely underplayed, combined with the ability to weave a melodic line unbrokingly through a maze of harmony time after time.

Following a group of Bach selections which fascinated the small, but intense audience, Mr. Michel introduced the Sacred Heart Ladies' choir, a group which he had helped originate two years before. Their first appearance consisted of three Schubert selections including the Ave Maria. The tone was full, but occasionally heavy, and it would seem the general posture and discipline of the group was a bit weak. It is also very annoying to hear beautiful music sung well, but continuously punctuated by the sounds of turning pages.

Accompanist, Miss Suzanne Martyn displayed a fine sensibility, both with the choir and duet selections with Mr. Michael toward the end of the program.

Further offerings by Mr. Michel included two waltzes and a polonaise by Chopin, and selections from Brahms, Debussy, Rachmaninoff, Seitz, Sieczynski, Moszkowski and Keler-Bela. What is usual with a lesser pianist than Mr. Michel did not take place. The individuality of the various composers was retained.

Cripps' Daughter Has Son Born In London

LONDON (Reuters) — A son was born here today to Mrs. Joseph Appiah, daughter of the late Sir Stafford Cripps. She is the wife of a Gold Coast chieftain's son.

The boy weighed eight pounds, nine ounces.

He said the baby would have the first name of Kwame, the name for a male child born on Saturday. The other names would not be announced until the eighth day after his birth.

Mrs. Appiah is the youngest of the three daughters of Cripps, former chancellor of the exchequer who died in April 1952.

Bandits Hold Up Highway Coffee Shop

HAMILTON (CP)—Two bandits held up Robert Lucas, 19, employee at the Tor-Ham coffee shop at the Aldershot stoplight on Highway 2 at 5:30 a.m. today and after binding him and gagging him with tea towels, made off with $125 in cash and $225 worth of cigarets.

Lucas was working alone, as the owner, Harvey Miller, had gone to bed. He was held up by a man who said "This is a stick-up." He held something which looked like a gun in his hand. A second man cleaned out the till.

A milkman came in and Lucas was told to go and serve him and return without giving alarm. On his return he was bound and gagged. The men made off in a car. Some time later the milkman discovered the trussed-up youth.

Board Halts Half Way Through

Mr. Malby's motion provided that the Little Lake shoreline from the canal north to Maria St. and west to within 100 feet of Mark St. be rezoned as light industrial.

The bylaw change authorizing householders in R1 areas to convert after 20 years grew out of a letter from Cyril O'Donnell, of 197 Wolsely, and a petition from 77 residents in an area bounded by Parkhill, Benson, Bethune and Wolsely Sts. This wedge-shaped area is bounded on the east and west by R2 and on the south by RM.

Since the teachers' college is located in this area, and many families have two or more student boarders, residents wanted this district reclassified as R2, which would raise the number of eligible boarders to four.

City Clerk E. A. Outram estimated that 40 per cent of the houses in this area are 20 years old or older, and the change in the bylaw should take care of the worries of most.

Commenting on the boarding question generally, Mr. Culham observed that "we never can police this boarder business anyway." He further noted that those who have more than two boarders at present are non-conforming users who can carry on as before, provided there is no change.

CONFIRMED AS R1

City engineer A. E. Chalmers thought a conversion to R2 would boomerang on the applicants in any case. He said residents would be "really shocked" if, assuming their application were passed, there was a boom in double duplexes.

The area was duly confirmed as R1, with the added protection to residents that conversions may be made in older houses.

The board turned down an application from the Sanitary Ice company, represented by W. B. Gordon, to rezone this area, on the east side of Water St. near Argyle, from R2 to light industrial. A lengthy letter from Mr. Gordon, the firm's counsel, wondered what would happen in the event that the company sells to another non-conforming user.

Over the vocal opposition of Gordon Hancock, the board voted to reconfirm the area as R2. Mr. Culham pointed out that non-conforming users can always apply to the adjustment board, to the municipal board, or up to the Supreme Court of Canada if they wish to make changes, or object to present arrangements.

BRIEF FROM BAR ASSOCIATION

In this connection, city clerk Outram informed the board they could expect a brief from the Bar Association on "possible illegalities" in zoning techniques, particularly as they affect non-conforming users. It is expected that the brief will be submitted by Mr. Gordon for the association.

Commenting on industrial zoning, Mr. Rehill thought he saw a contradiction in the fact that the Peterborough Lumber Co. is zoned as heavy industry, while other lumber firms are in the light industry areas. Mr. Culham pointed out that Peterborough Lumber is no different from other lumber firms in this regard, but is zoned HI because it is flanked by DeLaval and the Outboard Marine.

The southeastern end of the city, in the vicinity of Club Aragon, drew the planning board off on several tangents. Clifford Robertson, who owns 10 acres on the north side of Highway 7 east of the Armour Road, felt that classifying this area as heavy industrial is not proper.

Mr. Robertson wanted the land rezoned as light industrial so that there would be some chance of selling lots for residential building purposes. This view was supported by Mr. Hancock who felt that it would be difficult for anyone with plans to subdivide the area to get mortgage money in view of the district's heavy industry classification.

On the other hand, said Mr. Rehill, as more industries move into the area, landowners may be able to command a "fancy price" for property fronting the highway.

Although this application was refused, and the area will remain HI, a parallel request regarding land east of this district was favorably considered, and the land converted to light industrial.

WILL BE REZONED

The area on the north side of Lansdowne ... from Boyler's creek to Armour Road to Highway 7, will be rezoned. Although there was some suggestion from Mr. Rehill that new residents might create a bottleneck to industrial development, Mr. Craig felt that if light industry firms were "really interested" in the area, houses would quickly be bought up.

It was at this time that the motion was put to change the by-law to allow light-industrial to include all commercial uses and multiple residential purposes.

The area is near the Little Lake cemetery which has been zoned as R2. This means that the cemetery is classified on the map as a two-family dwelling district.

Another request for conversion came from Harry Long, 298 Edinburgh St., who is worried about the planning board's R2 classification of an area which includes his Goodwin Metal Products Ltd. His solicitor, W. C. Grant, wrote the board that the zoning "limits the prosperity of the company" and added that the city and the planning board sometimes demonstrate an "unwillingness to be fair to all concerned."

Supporting the motion that there be no change, Gordon Hancock recalled that there had been objections, off and on, for 20 years from residents about the Goodwin firm's operations. Specific complaints usually centred around noise at night as the plant's employees worked late.

Gordon Culham observed that the company could only expand lengthwise in any case, since the firm is backed by a hill.

Other applications required less discussion. Gordon H. Munro's request that the area surrounding the Peterborough Lumber Company be changed from HI to LI became superfluous in view of the bylaw change. His worry, now rectified, had been that he might be unable to sell land for commercial purposes.

PROPOSED MEDICAL CENTRE

Dr. Robert F. Nott put in a personal appearance at the board to ask that property in the Clonsilla-Charlotte area be reconfirmed as neighborhood commercial, despite worries from some residents that development of a commercial centre might remove trees from the area.

Dr. Nott's concern, however, was with reference to a proposed medical centre in the triangle formed where Charlotte St. becomes Clonsilla Ave. at the Victory Crescent. He wanted the planning board's assurance that no change was contemplated and on the motion of Ernest Braund, this was duly given.

Roger Young, of Havelock, who owns property in Park St. near Braidwood, told one of the zoning meetings that he would suffer a serious loss from zoning of this area as R2. He owns a lot with 32 foot frontage here and formerly operated the South End Market nearby. The board moved to expand a neighborhood commercial pocket in this area to include both store and lot.

WINS HIS CLAIM

Merlyn F. Raines, of 1220 Clonsilla Ave., won his claim for adjustment of property in his area from R1 to R2. The area in question is bounded by Sherbrooke St., Clonsilla Ave., Monaghan road, and a lane south of Third Ave.

Queries of several citizens about the status of non-conforming users were answered by the board. Most common was the one regarding re-building after fires. There is no reference in the bylaw to this issue, and the view of Mr. Culham is that there is nothing to prevent rebuilding providing the non-conforming users keep within the rules of distances. Local committees of adjustment will "frequently" approve additions if no sweeping changes are planned, he added.

John Little, of 685 Monaghan Road, was summarily dealt with. He asked that his area be changed from R2 to commercial, but the board killed this suggestion.

All other requests and petitions were either deferred until the next session of the planning board or were covered by changes in the bylaw and so needed no further comment.

There was some discussion of an unofficial request that George St. between McDonnel and Dublin be rezoned as central commercial instead of its present RM status. It has been requested that both sides of the street be so considered but the board will agree to rezoning no more than the west side and possibly not that.

COMMERCIAL PULL

The land assembly scheme to develop 660 acres in the north end of the city will provide a "commercial pull," Mr. Culham acknowledged. He agreed that there are "some stores" in the west side of the street, and felt a case could be made for changing classification.

This view was questioned by James Craig who held that "the logical place" to stop the central commercial zone is at the city hall. "If we are trying to be at all idealistic about this thing," said Mr. Craig, "let's hold the line."

Chairman Hubert Sills suggested that the matter be deferred, pointing out that interested citizens still have until Monday to submit petitions on this or any other zoning issue.

There was also some informal discussion on the area east of the Civic Hospital originally earmarked as a "green belt," and not so shown on the plan. Mr. Culham declared that green belts are an obsolete concept—"things of ten years ago." He added that it was not his policy to classify anything agricultural unless there is no other use for the property. The request for green belt information was registered by F. M. Banks, of 669 Gilchrist St.

On April 20 The Examiner printed the proposed zoning by-law together with a map of Peterborough, showing zonal division. Copies are still available although they do not, of course, include Friday night's changes.

Roseneath Couple Marks 59th Wedding Anniversary

ROSENEATH (ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. William R. Taylor, of Roseneath, quietly observed their fifty-ninth wedding anniversary on Friday, at their home. They welcomed the friends and members of their family who called to congratulate them on reaching another milestone in their married life.

William Taylor and Dorothy Robins were married at the Anglican rectory, Hastings, May 7th, 1895, by the Rev. R. H. McInnes, resident rector of the Roseneath and Hastings Anglican churches at that time.

Mrs. Taylor is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Robins and Mr. Taylor a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Taylor, all of Alnwick township.

In a reminiscent mood they recalled it was a similar day to Friday, with showers. The next week the weather turned colder with a heavy frost, the milk freezing in the milk can on the stand.

Their entire married life has been spent near Roseneath, where they were successful farmers, retiring from active farming a few years ago. They both have hobbies, Mrs. Taylor has beautiful flowers and is always ready to share her choice blooms with her friends. Mr. Taylor is an enthusiastic fisherman. As soon as the trout season opened this year he was at his favorite stream with rod and line.

The Taylors have four children, a daughter Mrs. Silas Sherwin (Hildred) Roseneath; three sons, Harold of Roseneath; Frank of Oshawa and Thomas of Dobie, in Northern Ontario; also nine grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

Mrs. Taylor is 82 years of age and Mr. Taylor is 88. Their home is situated on the outskirts of Roseneath village and they are in good health, able to look after their home, well kept lawn and garden. Mrs. Taylor attends Sunday school regularly, the oldest pupil in the United church Sunday school, and does her own shopping. Mr. Taylor goes to the post office daily for his paper.

Meets Bride For First Time

MONTREAL (CP) — Gerardo (Jerry) Farese Friday night met for the first time the Italian girl he married by proxy last Jan. 31.

Cecilia Maria Binette of Pompei, Italy, arrived here by train from Halifax with other passengers from the S.S. Vulcania and after a slight mixup ended up in the arms of her husband.

The couple carried on their courtship by correspondence and decided to get married by proxy. They will go through a formal marriage ceremony next Saturday at the Roman Catholic Church of Notre-Dame de-la Defense.

Farese was as nervous as any bridegroom while awaiting his bride's arrival. During the excitement he temporarily lost the corsage he had bought for his wife. While he waited on the station platform, his wife was looking for him in the station concourse. Station officials finally brought the couple together.

Ogdensburg Ready Start Seaway Now

OGDENSBURG, N.Y. (AP)—This St. Lawrence river city is ready to begin work on the long-awaited St. Lawrence seaway.

Amid the blare of six bands, an estimated 400 residents marched through the flag-decked business section Friday night, apparently with one thought in mind.

That thought was emphasized by a float carrying two workmen armed with picks and shovels and a huge sign bearing Ogdensburg's jubilant message:

The procession included every piece of city-owned mechanized equipment, from bulldozers to police and fire vehicles, and trucks and other rolling stock from local industries.

About 1,500 citizens lined the route to watch the celebration of northern New York's 50 - year dream-come-ture.

Ships Shift Course To Avoid Radiation

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese ships on the Australia run have shifted their course 600 miles west of their regular route to avoid "radio-active currents caused by the Bikini H-bomb tests," Kyodo news service said today.

The Japanese news agency said the ships were ordered to change course after two freighters en route from Australia and a whaler from the Antarctic showed considerable radio-activity.

Six Russian Artists Well Received

TORONTO (CP) — Six Russian concert and ballet artists, on the last lap of a Canadian tour, received an enthusiastic reception from a crowd of 7,000 at the Varsity arena Friday night.

Officials estimated that the group, which has visited Vancouver, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Winnipeg, Fort William, Sudbury, Ottawa and Hamilton, has played to 25,000 Canadians "without a sign of anti-Soviet demonstration."

But as a precaution against trouble, 17 Toronto police officers were on duty both outside and inside the arena.

The tour was arranged by the Canadian Soviet Friendship Society.

Churchill Speech Pleasing To Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — The official Soviet news agency said today Prime Minister Churchill's recent speech calling for closer links with Russia might ease the international situation.

Churchill said in a speech last Friday before the Primrose League a Conservative organization, that Britain should establish closer ties with Russia, while maintaining her ties with the United States and France.

Tass said it had learned that the Churchill speech had "aroused a positive reaction in leading circles of the Soviet Union."

Stole Science Degree To Get Convent Job

LONDON (Reuters) — A 49-year-old scrub woman, who stole a university science degree from her employer and used it to get a teaching job at a convent, was jailed for four months here Friday.

The fraud was discovered when the mother superior of the convent sacked the former "charwoman," Mrs. Barbara Agnes Holman, because she seemed unequal to the work, the court was told.

The prosecution stated Mrs. Holman had obtained £160 wages by false pretenses.

North Cavan WA Meets

CAVAN (ENS) — The north group W.A. of St. Andrew's United church held their May meeting at the home of Mrs. Thomas Douglas on Wednesday evening with fifteen members present.

The president, Mrs. J. H. McKnight, presided, Mrs. Hogg was in charge of the devotional period and Mrs. H. Dawson read the scripture. Mrs. Donald Long gave the topic on Christian family life. Mrs. W. Elson led in prayer. Mrs. Hogg read two poems. Mrs. Clendon Challice gave the report. The supper hostesses, Mrs. Dawson and Mrs. Donald Long assisted Mrs. Douglas to serve lunch.

A sale of perennial roots and plants was held earlier.

Mrs. George Luoheuzen was welcomed to the group as a new member.

The June meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Allen Wood.

Chess Tournaments Loved By Russian Spectators

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Chess is to the Russians what bridge and scrabble are to Canadians.

When I left Moscow, Gorki Park's chess pavilion was being put in order and a tournament for the world chess championship was packing 2,500 spectators into Tchaikowsky Hall several nights a week.

Spring, summer and autumn, players may be seen in most of Moscow's public places, pondering their moves. In winter the game moves indoors to clubrooms and barber shops, each of which has a couple of sets for customers waiting for a chair.

At Tashkent, in Soviet central Asia, I saw a chess tournament in which 200 players competed at two long trestle tables.

Play in the Tchaikowsky Hall 24-game tournament between challenger Vassilyi Smyslov and world champion Mikhail Botvinnik, still in progress, begins at 5 p.m. and may go until 10. Botvinnik led Smyslov 11-10 after 21 games.

FILL THE HALL

Spectators dribble in at the start of play but usually fill the hall by 7:30 and stay until the last move. They follow the play on a large chessboard-pattern screen at the back of a stage. The contestants are at a table, front and centre. Arranged in a semi-circle around them are tables and chairs for officials.

Each square of the screen is on a pivot. As a play is made a large silhouette cut-out of the proper chess man is hung on the appropriate square by someone behind the board, who then swings the square into the audience's view.

Admission tickets sold to chess fans at from three to 15 rubles (75 cents to $3.75 at the official exchange rate) entitle them to sit in on tournament commentaries given in the lobbies by chess masters. There may be seven or eight in progress at once on different floors.

A special post-office is set up in the concert hall for correspondence chess players, who get special postage and telegraph rates, and for reporters who send play-by-play bulletins throughout the union from the hall's press bureau.

SISTERS TO MARRY—Three daughters of ambassador Fernandez Concha of Peru are to be married in Ottawa the same day, June 19. Left to right: Victoria, 23; Amparo, 20, and Luzmila, 21, had their engagements announced the same day. Victoria is engaged to Peter M. Lamport Tries For Olympics

ATHENS (AP)—Mayor Allan A. Lamport said today he will make a determined bid to bring the 1960 Olympics to Toronto.

Lamport, who arrived this morning, brought with him a formal invitation endorsed by Prime Minister St. Laurent and Premier Leslie Frost.

Lamport was armed with a 41-page brochure showing the advantages of Toronto's facilities; including the Canadian National Exhibition grounds which can be expanded to handle crowds of 80,000.

Informed sources said it is generally agreed that 1960 games will go to a European city and the 1964 games to a North or South American city.

Rush Of

There was an additional hitch. Motels were not classified. In fact, there was simply no mention of them anywhere.

Consequently, when the planning board recommended that Mr. Sloggett should not receive a permit, he appealed to city council, who recommended that the board classify motels as commercial enterprises similar to hotels, and that if Mr. Sloggett's application met the conditions fixed by the board, he be granted a permit to erect a motel.

The planning board then took a poll of George St. residents within a 200-foot radius of the proposed site of the motel. Six opposed the motel, eight were unopposed, and two did not answer. The board also received a petition from residents on Lake, Romaine and Crescent streets, objecting to the motel. The application was turned down again.

Mr. Sloggett and his legal counsel, John Corkery, then asked council for a formal notice as to whether or not the permit was to be granted so they could use it in future proceedings.

The new land-use map had been published between the time the application had been turned down by the planning board and Mr. Sloggett appeared before council. It appeared at the time that the property in question was to be zoned residential, although it had been central commercial on the master plan.

Council voted to refuse Mr. Sloggett's application so he could seek a remedy in the courts, which he did, successfully.

How broadly Chief Justice McRuer's decision can be applied to other cases is still a good question. But the best opinion seems to be that until the new bylaw is passed, the only zoning that exists in the city is whatever is contained in existing restrictive bylaws.

It would seem that even the objections of neighboring residents will not sway the courts unless it can be established that the proposed building would constitute a public nuisance.

And a building doesn't create a nuisance simply because you don't like the color of the paint.

Soviet Press Hails French Fortress Loss

MOSCOW (AP) — The first Soviet press comment today hailed the fall of the Indo-China fortress of Dien Bien Phu as a great setback for French "colonizers" and "American aggressive circles."

The Soviet armed forces newspaper Red Star suggested this meant the French Union forces had lost the Indo-China war and must negotiate a settlement now at Geneva.

(East and West delegations opened talks on Indo-China at Geneva this afternoon).

"The liberation of this fortress," said Red Star, "demonstrates the strength of the Vietnamese (Communist) people's army and the invincible will of the whole Viet Namese people to defend their freedom and independence."

Red Star charged the Americans had "played a dirty political game" by trying to use Dien Bien Phu to force joint action by the Western allies and prevent the French from making peace.

Unmarried Women 35 Can Be Called Frau

BONN, Germany (AP)—Unmarried German women over 35 years old may in the future call themselves frau (Mrs.) instead of fraulein (miss) if they wish.

This privilege for spinsters was given today by Interior Minister Gerhard Schroeder, who announced it would be legal for an elderly fraulein to call herself frau, since it is not a title or personal description according to the law.

Try To Interest Young Women Institute Work

GUELPH (CP)—The importance of interesting young women of the rural areas in Women's Institute work was emphasized by the speakers at the closing session Friday of the sixth annual Ontario Women's Institute officers three-day conference.

"The program of this conference, carefully planned as a definite help to branch presidents all over the province, has been an outstanding success," Mrs. Gordon MacPhatter, of Owen Sound, president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario, told more than 700 delegates.

It was the first conference ever to be held for branch presidents only. Seventy-five per cent of the delegates were new presidents. Speakers said younger women are already taking a greater interest in institute work, as 45 per cent of the delegates at the conference were under 35.

The chairman for the afternoon session was Mrs. Brock Suddaby, regional vice-president, from Desbarats, near Sault Ste. Marie.

Parisians Boo French Premier

PARIS (AP) — Parisians gathering for a V-E Day parade and ceremony today booed and shouted insults at Premier Joseph Laniel and Defence Minister Rene Pleven.

"Send him to Dien Bien Phu," spectators shouted as Laniel's limousine pulled up at the tomb of France's unknown soldier beneath he Arc de Triomphe.

"Shoot him," others echoed.

When Pleven drove by, they booed and hissed and shouted, "Resign, Resign"

There was only a small, scattered applause when President Rene Coty drove into the Place de l'Etoile.

Police arrested at least two of the demonstrators.

Czech Economy Suffers

VIENNA, Austraia (AP)—Communist Czechoslovakia's economy last year suffered losses totalling more than one billion Czech crowns (about $139,000,000) in factory rejects, a Czech trade union official reports. Most rejects occurred in machinery and foundry industries.

Cussin' Money Stolen

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Burglars took Magnolia Tea Room's "cussin' jar" Friday night. Police explained customers had to put a dime in the jar each time they cursed. It contained $10.

Shipping Officials See Seaway Silver Lining To Improve Business Slump

By WALTER GRAY

TORONTO (CP)—Great Lakes shipping officials, currently operating under a dark cloud of a business slump, look for the silver lining in the St. Lawrence seaway.

The constructor, the carrier, the distributor all see in the distance a prosperous revival of an industry as old as Canada itself.

But until the seaway is actually completed it will be a "marktime" period for an industry forced by shrinking export markets and soaring labor and construction costs.

SEES BUSY TRADE

Capt. Scott Misener, president of Colonial Steamships Ltd., one of the Great Lakes largest carrier companies, foresees a busy trade between the Lakehead and the south shore of the St. Lawrence.

Three of his carriers, the largest on the lakes, have been built to lower St. Lawrence specifications. From Port Arthur and Fort William they will carry grain to the south shore rail terminals, then cross the gulf to Seven islands to pick up Labrador iron ore for steel mills in the lakes basin.

His new SS Scott Misener, to be launched at Port Weller around May 30, will be capable of carrying 23,800 gross tons on the seaway.

"By the time the seaway opens we hope to have ships capable of carrying 27,000 tons," said Capt. Misener. "The ships will be longer (the Scott Misener is 685 feet long) and stronger."

OCEAN VESSELS COME

The seaway will bring ocean vessels to the lakes. Its proposed 27-foot depth would accommodate ocean-going vessels up to 10,000 tons carrying capacity. Their cargoes are smaller than lake boats due to difference in design.

Since the end of the Second World War Great Lakes ports have already experienced the wedge of overseas shipping. This year, 16 foreign lines are operating package freight ships on the lakes—from Norway, France, Britain, Greece, Venzuela, The Netherlands and Germany.

Under federal government policy, foreign ships are not allowed to trade on the lakes; they may bring in goods from overseas to any Canadian port and return to a foreign port with Canadian goods.

SPECIALLY BUILT

Most of the foreign ships were built specifically for operation on the high seas and through the lake canal systems as well. The SS Veslefjell of the Fjell Line of Oslo is an example.

A twin-motor ship of 2,552 gross tons, her length and beam were cut to fit the lower St. Lawrence canals. Her draft is 18 feet six inches but she gets over the present maximum depth of 14 feet in the canals by unloading part of her cargo at Montreal or Quebec City.

Her mast and booms are those of a much larger ship and her bow is sheered sharply to meet the worst north Atlantic storm.

She brings autos, their accessories and other products from Britain to Canada and returns with a similar load as well as Canadian flour. She calls at Toronto, Cleveland, Detroit, Milwaukee and Chicago. Overseas she stops at Glasgow, London, Antwerp and Rotterdam.

F. Ambler, manager of the Toronto office of the Furness Withy and Co. line of Manchester, England, said the three company ships currently in operation on the lakes "fit the locks like a glove."

"But it is doubtful these ships will be used when the seaway is opened," he said. "My guess is that the big fellows which now run to Montreal will be used."

BIGGER SHIPS

Furness Withy operates 10,000-ton freighters to Montreal. They are 450 feet long and have a 28-foot draft.

Anticipating the seaway, Great Lakes ports are already laying plans, and in some cases, implementing plans for increased shipping.

Charles Ansell, president of the Port Weller Dry Docks Ltd., who doesn't see the seaway in existence for at least another 10 years, said that although the project itself is a major undertaking, nearly every harbor on the lake will have to be dredged and its facilities improved to handle the deep-sea vessels.

Toronto harbor is planning accommodation for between 30 and 40 ships at one time. Its present capacity is 18. Under construction now is a $1,000,000 transit shed, the largest on the lakes, to be completed by October. Twenty sheds are currently available to handle general cargo.

Additional docking facilities were completed in 1952. Under construction is a new docking area, covering five city blocks.

"In any event, when they start to build the seaway we'll be ahead of them," said William Drylie, property manager of the Toronto harbor commission.

Since 1952 the volume of overseas tonnage arriving in Toronto has increased 2½ times. Last year the port handled 160,000 tons. In the first four days of the 1954 season, it handled 6,500 tons.

The port last year handled a record 4,707,133 short tons of cargo.

SEES EXPANSION

At Hamilton, Canada's third busiest port and site of one of the finest harbors on the lakes, harbor commission manager Ellis Corman says expansion is the keynote.

Hamilton, which has eight commercial docks, plans two more terminals plus extension to existing facilities. The sum of $1,000,000 has been voted for a new naval terminal.

Last season, Hamilton harbor handled a record 7,099,026 tons, an increase of 1,025,990 over 1952. Its major shipments are coal and iron ore for heavy industry.

The federal government announced last month that construction will start this summer on a $3,653,000 deepwater harbor at Port Credit, seven miles west of Toronto, to handle the overflow of ocean shipping from Toronto and Hamilton when the seaway is completed.

NATIVES SUSPECTED of possible Mau Mau terrorism in Kenya, South Africa, huddle in a long column (left) under guard as they await interrogation at a specially-built reception camp near Nairobi. The colony's most extensive drive against the anti-white terrorists which started late last month, has already rounded up 5,000 suspects and will continue until 40,000 have been screened.

Doesn't Like Losing U.S. Limelight

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the first time since the Republicans took office Senator McCarthy is pinned down to one case and can't wander around, getting into the Eisenhower administration's hair from different directions.

McCarthy has thrived on the limelight which he manufactured by making one senational charge after another over the last four years. He did not pause when his own Republicans began running the government a year ago.

Right now he's not free to skip from sensation to sensation. His time is pretty fully taken up with the Senate investigation into his fight with army officials. He has to be at the morning and afternoon sessions and must consult with his staff afterwards.

MUST SHARE HEADLINES

He has repeatedly complained about being nailed down this way. These hearings, he has protested, are not only ridiculous but interfere with his much more important work of hunting Communists.

Before the hearings, he was able to get a headline all to himself with a single statement. Now any statement he makes is only one among many made at the hearing.

In this public washing of dirty family linen someone is obviously lying. That was clear from the start. The Senate sub-committee making the investigation may never give a verdict on who it is.

Makes New Offer

TORONTO (CP)—The CBC announced Friday it has made a new proposal in an effort to settle a wages-hours dispute with the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and Moving Picture Operators (AFL-TLC). Terms of the new offer were not disclosed.

Construction Down

TORONTO (CP) — Construction contract awards in Canada in April totalled $234,787,100, or $38,781,400 less than in April last year, says McLean building reports. Business and industrial contracts were substantially up, and residential was close to last April.

Drew Birthday

OTTAWA (CP)—Birthday greetings were extended Friday in the Commons to Opposition Leader Drew by Prime Minister St. Laurent, CCF Leader Coldwell and Social Credit Leader Low. He is 60. A bouquet of red roses was on his desk when he entered the chamber at the opening of the sitting.

Doesn't Return

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec zoological gardens officials reported Friday that a one-legged seagull which has come every spring for the last 13 years has failed to show up this year and may have died of old age during the winter.

Birds Have Personalities Long Study Discovers

Do birds have personalities? Definitely, reports naturalist Hance Roy Ivor, who has struck up an intimate acquaintance with many at his Erindale, Ont., bird observatory.

"Birds have the capacity for more than a glimmer of intelligence." Emotions resembling fear, love and jealousy are evident. Birds have memory, and something akin to a language.

For 22 years Mr. Ivor has worked with bluebirds, doves, thrushes, robins and other native birds. Scores of songsters have come to accept him as their foster parent. As a student of wildlife, he was granted a special permit by Canadian authorities to confine birds.

ROAM FREELY

Many of Mr. Ivor's songbirds fly free during the day; some are allowed as much as eight months of daytime liberty each year. In the evening, all birds are shut in the observatory. To get them inside, Mr. Ivor merely calls their names.

But birds, like small children, don't always respond. Pet, a willful blue jay, came to roost only when it suited her. Mr. Ivor solved the problem by having Dick, another jay, call Pet. She answered and flew in. From that time, whenever she refused to go in, Mr. Ivor had the male bird page her. It worked every time.

Another pair of jays, Uno and Lady, enacted a real-life drama in his observatory, Mr. Ivor recalls.

After a lengthy courtship by Uno, Lady reluctantly began to build a nest. One day, before the nest was half completed, Lady was let out to fly among the trees. At that moment a wild jay appeared. Lady promptly disappeared. Uno was distraught.

Five days later, Lady turned up again, accompanied by her new mate. She swooped down onto Mr. Ivor's shoulder.

"Uno's distress at Lady's leaving had been so great, and my desire to have Lady with us so strong, that I allowed my human judgement to decide the course of events," Mr. Ivor relates. "I took her back into the observatory.

"Not again, however, would I take upon myself such a decision. After these many years I can still remember Lady's frantic calls to her wild mate.

"I can still see the violent fight against the enclosing wire, the open, panting bill as she exhausted herself in her efforts to join the one she had chosen."

TRAINING METHODS

For a bird to come to a human hand, rest on it, and take food from it shows the height of confidence, Mr. Ivor says. Even with tame birds, the slightest movement of the hand causes instant alertness.

If full confidence is to be established, most species must be adopted as nestlings, usually at an age of six to eight days, before fear has developed.

Usually an hour or so of gentle coaxing will overcome the natural reluctance of a bluebird nestling to accept food, Mr. Ivor found. The shyest baby bluebird to take up residence in the Ontario observatory was Little Blue. It took three days of gentle urging to get Little Blue to open his bill.

Fenella WA Cater For Ladies' Night

FENELLA (ENS)—The Fenella Women's Association catered for the Roseneath Men's Club ladies night banquet at the community hall, Wednesday evening. Many from Fenella are members. Approximately 70 attended.

A get-well card was signed by all members and their wives, to be sent to W. I. Montgomery, who is in Toronto hospital.

Reg Crego thanked the Fenella WA for the meal.

A program was presented in the auditorium and opened with a sing-song, with Mr. Telford of Peterborough at the piano.

Speeches were given by past presidents, Archie Campbell and Douglas Coyle. Mr. Telford sang to his own accompaniment.

Speeches were given by vice-president James Timlin, secretary Fred Lewis and treasurer, Flex McMillan.

Orrie Robins introduced the guest speaker, Bob Carlson, from the CGE, Cobourg, who spoke on plastics and showed films. Mr. Telford again sang.

Melville Macklin thanked the guest speaker and Mr. Telford. The national anthem was sung.

Biggest Atom Smasher

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (CP)—The University of Michigan Friday announced it will build, in co-operation with six midwestern colleges, the world's largest atom smasher. The machine, a bevatron similar to one now in existence at the University of California, will cost about $25,000,000. The California machine cost about $9,000,000.

ISSUE 15 WARRANTS IN HIGHWAY PROBE

Communists Reject French Terms For Armistice Plan

GENEVA (AP)—The Communists today "totally" rejected French terms for an Indo-China armistice and countered with an eight-point plan of their own.

One point in the plan, proposed by the Vietminh, is for an armistice to include "readjustment" of occupation zones, a ban on import of troops and arms into Indo-China and control of the truce by mixed commissions.

While rejecting the French plan for an immediate cease-fire to be supervised by the nine parties to this conference, with political problems to be worked out later, the Vietminh agreed to co-operate in removing the wounded from fallen Dien Bien Phu.

The Communist armistice plan, which is expected to be pushed by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov and Red China's Chou En-lai, was placed before the conference by Pham Van Dong, deputy premier of the Red-led Vietminh.

EIGHT MAJOR POINTS

Major points of the Communist plan were:

1. Recognition of the Communist regimes of Vietminh, Laos and Cambodia—the latter two labelled by the French as "phantom" governments.

2. Withdrawal of all foreign troops from Indo-China.

3. Elections, conducted along the lines already proposed by the Communists for Germany and Korea and rejected by the West.

4. A declaration of intent on the part of the Vietminh "to study" the form of association with France within the French Union. A French spokesman labelled this as a phony gesture aimed at winning French public opinion.

5. A promise by the Vietminh to respect existing French cultural and economic interests in the three states.

6. A pledge of no reprisals against persons found guilty of collaboration.

7. An exchange of prisoners of war.

8. An armistice in Indo-China. This would be given priority over all other provisions.

At the second session of the Indo-China phase of the Geneva conference, the delegate of the Communist Vietminh regime agreed to a meeting of field com-

Arrest 3 Men At Gunpoint In 90 mph Chase

TORONTO (CP) — Police said three men were arreseted at gunpoint and charged with car theft and reckless driving early today after a 90-mile-an-hour chase through the Canadian National Exhibition grounds.

Toronto police in two patrol cars fired on the speeding car which finally was halted when it failed to make a turn at a downtown intersection, hitting a stone butment.

William Magistad, an airman from Camp Borden who was a hitch-hiker in the stolen car, was nicked in the shoulder by one of the police bullets. Police said his injury was not serious.

Raymond Ladd, 27, Rene Proulx, 22, and Robert Limoges, 21, of Toronto, were arrested at gunpoint after they jumped from the stolen car after the crash. They were charged with reckless driving and theft of the car.

MET IN SUDBURY

A car theft squad detective who questioned the trio said they were returning from Niagara Falls. They had become acquainted in Sudbury before coming to Toronto to live.

Ladd, married and the father of two children, said he was picked up by Proulx and Limoges and was not with them when the car was removed from the service station lot from which it was stolen.

Police constable Willard Davidson who made the arrest said that during the chase "we opened fire because we figured someone was badly hurt in the other police car and if we didn't stop them someone would be killed."

Rebels Report General Taken

TOKYO (AP)—A Vietminh communique broadcast by Peiping radio said today Brig.-Gen. Christian de Castries was among those captured at the Indo-China fortress of Dien Bien Phu.

The communique for the first time mentioned the heroic commander by name and confirmed previous reports that he had been made a prisoner.

"Brig.-Gen. de Castries, commander of the French sector in northwest Viet Nam and commander of the French beleaguered bastion at Dien Bien Phu was taken prisoner by the Viet Nam Peoples Army," said the communique as heard in Tokyo.

Rail Expenses Up

OTTAWA (CP)—Expenses of the Canadian Railways increased more sharply than revenues in 1953, the bureau of statistics said today.

In its annual survey of railway statistics, the bureau said net operating revenues of the 16 principal companies fell to $102,919,000 from $112,479,000.

REPORTED CAPTURED — A Vietminh communique broadcast by Peiping today said Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries was among those captured when the French fort Dien Bien Phu fell.

Secret Service Busy

Report Threat To Kill Eisenhower At Ceremony

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Eisenhower didn't know it, but secret service agents spent a busy weekend investigating a reported threat to assassinate him.

Secret service chief U E. Baughman says of the report that he is "satisfied there was nothing to it."

The report Baughman got was that there would be an attempt on Eisenhower's life Sunday afternoon at Fredericksburg, Va., where the president drove to place a wreath at the grave of Mary Ball Washington, mother of the United States' first president.

The Mother's Day ceremony, witnessed by several thousand persons standing in the rain, went off without incident.

It wasn't until after the president and Mrs. Eisenhower had started back to Washington that Fredericksburg police chief A. G. Kendall told of the "threat" to kill the president and of the precautions taken to prevent it.

Kendall told reporters a man he termed "reliable" told police Saturday he had been approached with a plan to "knock the president off." Kendall declined to name the man.

Kendall quoted the man as saying he had been approached by two other men who asked him if he wanted to make $500. The pair showed him a rifle with telescopic sights and told him they planned to shoot the president from a rooftop.

Kendall said the man arranged to meet the pair again Saturday night, then came to police with the story, and was told to keep the rendezvous. But he lost his nerve, Kendall continued, and police kept him in protective custody overnight.

Kendall said he communicated with the secret service as soon as the man came to police.

Baughman said his agents thoroughly checked the report and questioned the man who made it.

French Bomb Key Roads From Fortress

Foreign Intervention Only Way To Beat New Tactics: General

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—French fighters and bombers today heavily attacked key roads leading northeastward from the fallen fortress of Dien Bien Phu. The roads are jammed with thousands of Communist-led Vietminh troops and truck convoys.

Dropping 1,000-pound high explosive bombs and heavily strafing, the planes centred their attacks upon the road from Tuan Giao, 27 miles northeast of Dien Bien Phu, and running eastward to Na San, 117 miles west of Hanoi. The French reported the road cut in 10 places.

Vietminh troops and convoys were reported moving both into and out of the Thai country of northwestern Indo-China. Those going in may be for reinforcing Vietminh positions in Thai capital of Lai Chau, 200 miles northwest of Hanoi, which the Vietminh occupied after the French pulled out Dec. 11, 1953.

They also may be intended to take over occupation of Dien Bien Phu from the battleworn rebels who survived the 57 days of assaults upon the French Union fortress.

FEAR NEW INVASION

In the kingdom of Laos, south of the fallen fortress, there was uneasy speculation that a new invasion toward the Laotian royal capital of Luang Prabang might be high on the war plans of the Communist-led Vietminh.

A French high command spokesman in Hanoi said he doubted the rebels will mount another general offensive in northern Indo-China before the seasonal monsoon rains hit their peak at the end of June.

The Vietminh kept up their daily small attacks on French communications and scattered French Union defence posts in the Red river delta centred on Hanoi.

Gen. Henri Navarre, French commander in Indo-China, said Saturday night that only foreign intervention in Indo-China can counter new Communist battle tactics. He said his troops alone could not stand up to the massive artillery barrages shown at Dien Bien Phu.

The general told newspaper men a political settlement at Geneva is the alternative to defeat or intervention.

Chinese aid to the rebels was enormous, he said.

Gen. Navarre told Agence France-Presse he had not staged an attack to relieve Dien Bien Phu because an effective operation would have taken too many men and left other vital sections of Indo-China unguarded.

Stay At Posts In Radio Fire

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) A radio announcer and his control engineer stood by in a burning building here Sunday broadcasting a running account of a $1,000,000 blaze until they were burned off the air.

Destroyed in the four-hour fire, one of the worst ever to hit this Fraser valley city of 33,000, was the five-storey Swan Wright building containing eight firms and radio station CKNW.

"We kept broadcasting until the flames ate through our main wires and the fire chief ordered us out of the building," said Bill Duncan chief control operator at the station. He and announcer Sid Lancaster were alone in the station when the blaze broke out. Lancaster turned in the alarm.

Only injury reported was to fire captain Gordon Hardman, taken to hospital suffering from smoke poisoning.

THOSE BURNED OUT

Companies burned out were Wright's Ltd., wholesale furniture; Chadwick, Beacon, chartered accountants; Food of the Month Club, deep-freeze firm; Hobbs Glass and four finance companies.

CKNW went back on the air from its transmitter site a little over an hour after its lines went dead. Canadian Press teletypes were salvaged and moved to the transmitter site to continue to deliver news to the station.

HELD RESPONSIBLE

MONTREAL (CP)—A coroner's jury today held Anatole Morin of Montreal criminally responsible for the fatal shooting of a 25-year-old Scottish seaman Sunday.

David Yeaman, a fireman on the Scottish ship SS Carnesk, died a short time after being shot in the back.

Lower Earnings Prevent Rail Wage Increase

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's two major railways today said a continuing decline in traffic and earnings will prevent them from granting fringe benefits demanded by 145,000 non-operating employees. The statement completed rejection by both unions and management of conciliation board recommendations in the dispute.

The railways said carloadings and earnings have been dropping steadily and the trend is continuing.

Frank Hall, head of the unions' negotiating committee, declined to comment immediately. The unions turned down the conciliation board recommendations last Monday because the three members of the board filed separate reports.

HAVEN'T COPY YET

"We haven't received a copy of the railways' letter yet," Mr. Hall said. "The negotiating committee has been called into session to study it as soon as it arrives."

The railways outlined their position in a letter to the labor department signed by D. I. McNeill, vice-president of personnel for the CPR and W. H. Hobbs, who holds the same position for the CNR.

Railway officials estimated earlier that the fringe benefits would

7 Dead, 34 Missing In Japanese Cyclone

TOKYO (CP) — Winds of cyclone force whipped across northern Japan Sunday night, killing at least seven persons and leaving 34 missing, national police reported.

Kyodo news agency said more than 2,600 homes were destroyed or damaged by the howling storm.

The central meteorological observatory said 75-mile winds smashed across Hokkaido, northernmost of Japan's main islands.

The observatory said the storm now is moving toward Siberia at about 50 miles an hour.

Wind-driven seas capsized or damaged scores of small ships and fishing boats off Hokkaido's east coast. Up to 12 inches of snow accompanied the storm in some areas.

$500,000 Fire Rages in 2 Warehouses

WELLAND (CP) — Fire swept through two warehouses of the Empire Cotton Division of the Woods Manufacturing Company Sunday night. Loss was estimated at $500,000.

The single-storey warehouses were filled with bales of raw cotton. Firemen said about 4,000 bales were destroyed or damaged. One warehouse was destroyed.

No one was hurt and cause of the blaze, which broke out around 6 p. m., is not known.

All available fire-fighting equipment from Welland and Crowland was called to battle the outbreak. A fire wall protected about 30 per cent of the firm's cotton supply and officials said production will not be affected. The company employs about 600 workers.

Work Starts To Send Rails North To Nepheline Mine

Contracts for building the CPR line from Havelock to Nephton, a distance of 16½ miles, have been let. H. J. McFarland Construction Company, Picton, will build that portion of the line from Havelock to a point north for 9½ miles. Starting at the mine end, Quemont Construction of Montreal will build seven miles, working south.

The CPR track gang started today laying ties and putting rails in place for the junction at the main line one-half miles west of Havelock station.

The new branch line railway will take 2,820 tons of rails and 50,000 ties, superintendent of the Trent division J. W. Stewart said. This will include a siding about half way capable of holding about 25 or 30 cars. There will also be a phone communication line built along the right of way connecting the mine with Havelock.

Railway exploration parties started checking the centre line location in October, 1953, and final surveying is now in progress. Peterborough land surveyor John Pierce is in charge of this work, aided by department of lands and forests surveyors in sections where the line will cross Crown Lands. Mr. Pierce described the route of the rail line as follows: Starting a short distance west

Indo-China Talks Blow To "Crisis" Diplomacy

By ALLAN HARVEY

GENEVA (CP)—Looking back on the last few weeks of international negotiation, one impression emerges from a depressing record of confusion, fear and uncertainly.

It is that "crisis" diplomacy has suffered a decisive defeat.

Negotiations at the Geneva conference, with all their ramifications and repercussions in capitals of the world, have reflected a sense of urgency and unpreparedness. Diplomatic contacts have betrayed a seeming lack of precision.

Even in bilateral talks, the two parties sometimes emerge with different versions of what was agreed.

"If historians of the future ever get around to studying the record of the last few weeks," one Western delegate commented, "they may well conclude that we were all crazy."

Even such a veteran statesman as Prime Minister Churchill is confused.

MATTERS TANGLED

"Matters are becoming more and more tangled and complicated here and abroad than I can remember in my long experience," Sir Winston said in London.

Factors contributing to confusion include the conflicting pull of domestic and political opinion in individual democracies, the increasing part played in international discussions by military officials untrained in diplomacy, and an effort by the United States to implement a dynamic policy at a time of crisis.

Will Discuss Mass Firings

OSHAWA (CP) — The five-man council of Clarke township at Orono, 10 miles northeast of here, meets tonight to discuss behind closed doors the decision they made last week to fire all municipal employees.

Out of approximately 30 workers given 30 days' notice, five are full-time and the remainder seasonal and part-time.

Reasons given for the mass dismissal were months of dissension between the township clerk, H. S. Millson, and the township hall caretaker, William Watson, attempts of the clerk to "boss" the council and complaints of citizens against the township road superintendent.

The council's action means that early in June the 3,000 citizens of Clarke will have no public servants.

Reeve Arthur McKay and the four councillors, who now feel the resolution was too all-embracing, are sure the situation will be smoothed out.

Transport Strike In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Thousands of workers thumbed a ride or walked to work today as a major transport strike crippled this 12th largest city in the United States.

Railroads and taxi companies took up the slack for thousands of other commuters. By early morning every off-street parking space was jammed to capacity.

Autos clogged the main arteries leading into the city, stopping to pick up workers in a share-the-ride plan urged by city officials.

Mayor David L. Lawrence, who worked vainly to keep 2,700 trolley and bus operators on the job beyond the strike deadline Sunday, warned the more than 2,000,000 residents of Pittsburgh's greater metropolitan area that "the transportation curtailment may last months."

The operators, members of division 85, AFL Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees, walked off the job after Pittsburgh Railways Co. rejected demands for a 30-cent hourly pay increase. It was the first mass transit strike here since 1924.

The company, which runs about 3,000 trolleys and busses into the business district each day, estimated it transports 200,000 workers and thousands more shoppers daily.

Remanded To May 17 On Murder Charge

HAMILTON (CP) — Lloyd Astley Webb, 30, was remanded until May 17 when he appeared in magistrate's court on a charge of murder in connection with the shooting of the woman with whom police said he had been living.

The remand was given after Magistrate B. W. Hopkins was told that Webb was without funds and had asked legal aid.

Webb was charged in connection with the death of his common-law wife, Mary Carter, 30, who died in General Hospital Saturday morning a few hours after she was found sprawled across her bed with a bullet hole in her head.

Police said today that Webb first met Miss Carter, a Belleville native, last summer when they were working at the General Motors plant in Oshawa.

Provincial Police Will Make Arrests As Fast As Possible

TORONTO (CP)— Fifteen warrants issued today in connection with reported irregularities in Ontario road-building contracts name a federal government inspector, the former chief engineer of the provincial highways department and nine other persons.

Provincial police said arrests will be made "as fast as possible." It is expected first court appearances will be Tuesday.

The charges are the first involving a federal employee or a contracting firm.

The warrants allege conspiracy to defraud the Ontario government.

Commissioner E. V. McNeill of the Ontario provincial police assigned Inspector Ward Kennedy to the case.

CHARGE SUPERVISOR

The federal official named is R. F Peturrson, who worked as a supervisor of Trans-Canada highway work in the Fort William area in 1951. He now is believed to be in another province.

The former chief engineer charged is Cecil H. Nelson, suspended for lack of co-operation with investigators. When sought for questioning last winter, he was in Florida. He returned March 11 at the request of Highways Minister Doucett, flew back to Florida March 16, then returned to Toronto at the end of the month.

Mr. Nelson, before his suspension, was the No. 3 man, below the minister and Deputy Minister J. C. Millar. From his Port Hope home he said today:

"Nothing has come to me about it at all. I can't make a statement until I have talked to my lawyear."

Joseph Sedgwick of Toronto, Mr. Nelson's lawyer, could not be reached. His office reported him out of town.

SEVERAL FIRMS ACCUSED

The companies charged, together with five of their senior officials, are Standard Paving Limited of Toronto, Tomlinson Brothers Limited of Winnipeg and Fort William and Bergmann Construction Co. Ltd. of West Hill, just east of Toronto.

Russ Officer Goes To U.S.

LONDON (Reuters) — Capt. Nicolais Khokhlov, Russian security officer who surrendered to the Americans in Germany, has gone to the United States after giving information to British authorities in London, it was learned today.

A foreign office spokesman answered questions about Khokhlov at a press conference today, when reporters tried to connect him with the two Soviet air attaches banished from Britain for attempted spying.

It was officially admitted that Khokhlov had been here and had "given information to the appropriate authorities," but the spokesman said he had not helped in the detection of Majors Ivan Pupyshev and Adnrei Gudkov.

But he would not confirm reliable information that he had gone to the United States.

The two Soviet majors, ordered to leave Britain within 10 days for attempted spying, may sail home aboard the 2,916-ton Russian ship due here from Leningrad tonight.

No Disturbances On Rock

Enthusiastic Gibraltar Welcome For Queen

GIBRALTAR (Reuters) — Shouts of "Long live the Queen" resounded across the Spanish border here today as Queen Elizabeth drove within 200 yards of the frontier for an inspection of Gibraltar's military garrison at the island's airport.

On the other side of the border all was quiet. A few Spanish sentries stood guard amidst a tangle of barbed wire, but no demonstrations against the Queen's visit materialized.

The inspection came just a few hours after the Queen arrived in Gibraltar's harbor for the first royal visit to The Rock in 40 years.

Three thousand servicemen and women from the fortress garrison were drawn up on the airfield under a blazing sun. Shouts of "Vive la Reina" from the island's Spanish-speaking inhabitants were mixed with cries of "Long live the Queen" as the car approached the frontier for the royal inspection.

SPANISH SIDE QUIET

Spanish officials earlier this year had protested that the visit to what Spaniards regard as their rightful territory constituted an "insult." But there were no signs of activity on the other side of the frontier.

After the parade the ranks of troops broke into lusty cheers.

The royal couple then went to inspect some of the labyrinthine underground installations of the fortress that dominates the entrance to the Mediterranean sea.

Some spectators commented that the Queen looked tired, and many remarks about her slimness were heard.

The Queen stood on the bridge with the captain of the Britannia, Prince Charles, 5, and Princess Anne, 3, waved to the crowd from the stern of the vessel as the yacht came in.

Guns roared from naval vessels and the fortress' batteries. Cheers were deafening.

The Queen stepped ashore to start a day in which she will cross and recross the tiny colony for 10 events in 13 hours.

The governor of Gibraltar, Gen. Sir Gordon Macmillan, stepped forward and offered the Queen the keys to the fortress. She touched the keys and handed them back.

Her car was followed by a motor cavalcade as it drove into the town amid renewed cheering.

Gibraltar's narrow streets were alive with people, cheering and waving flags.

Martin Urges U.S. Ease Trade Curbs

Pinning Faith To New Committee For Better Results

MIAMI, Fla. (CP)— Hon. Paul Martin, Canadian health minister, today urged the United States not to place restrictions on international trade.

He expressed the hope for more Canadian exports to the U.S., in an address prepared for delivery before the annual convention of Kiwanis International.

But he added that Canadians are "naturally disturbed when those we do business with raise tariff barriers, impose import quotas or subsidize domestic industries for the purpose of keeping competitive products out of the country."

Mr. Martin said Canada hopes the new joint U.S.-Canadian economic committee will be able to iron out any economic difficulties between the two countries and encourage the flow of trade across the border.

Dealing with international tensions, Mr. Martin said NATO forces now are strong enough to make an aggressor think twice about taking them on.

RELAXATION DANGEROUS

"Of course," he added, "the resulting relaxation of tension has itself been a danger to maintaining the necessary defence preparations."

"We must realize that we cannot afford, either financially or psychologically, to turn our defence program on and off in response to Soviet moves," said Mr. Martin, who is the minister in charge of Canada's civil defence program.

Discussing the question of aid to the Asian countries, Mr. Martin said:

"I am convinced that if these reawakened Oriental civilizations, so different from our own, can be saved from being engulfed in the destructive tide of communism, they will contribute greatly to the enrichment of the whole human race."

Out At The Kawartha

Now that the many welcome signs of Spring are in the air and all about us, we again turn our thoughts westward to the Kawartha and the revival of the game of the ancients and the honorables.

Well, we travelled out to the Kawartha to satisfy our questioning minds. We promptly encountered the sage of the green and here is what he unfolded in answer to our pertinent questions, after the usual Bugs Bunny salutation "What's cookin' Doc?"

Looks like May 15th, will be Men's Opening Day. Rumor has it that May 20th, is Ladies'. May 22nd is salted for the opening dance and May 30th the Business Girl's have their opening.

Now for some items on the course itself. The greens are in excellent condition. Work on the new green on No. 4 is progressing well with the temporary green situated below the hill.

All fairways are playable. Some wet areas are to be found on Nos. 1, 10, 13, 16 and 18, but none are really troublesome. For those golfers who like to practise their putting the putting green is in splendid condition.

A visit to the pro shop and a chat with Lex Robson was very pleasing and encouraging. Of real interest to all is the reduction in prices of various pieces of equipment. Most makes of golf balls are down 5 cents each. Clubs which last year sold for $7.50 are now $7.00 as one example. The new wedge type golf shoes will appeal to both men and lady golfers.

Music Festival Opens

LINDSAY (ENS)—The 18th annual Victoria County music festival sponsored by the Kiwanis Club begins today. The week-long competitions in many fields of music and verse speaking will take place in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church hall and Fenelon Falls United church. The winners' concert will be held on May 28 in the Lindsay Collegiate auditorium.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 1 19-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon today. Friday's noon rate was 98 17-32 cents. Pound sterling $2.77⅜, against $2.77¾.

Army Opposes Proposal To Shorten McCarthy Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army today opposed a proposal to Senator Everett Dirksen (Rep. Ill.) to shorten the McCarthy-Army investigation by limiting public testimony by Army Secretary Robert Stevens and Senator Joseph McCarthy.

Joseph Welch, army counsel, said he thought such action would "do violence to justice."

It appeared doubtful that Dirksen's proposal would be adopted if pressed to a formal vote.

Dirksen said any additional testimony necessary to determine the issues could be taken behind closed doors.

In the event of executive sessions, Dirksen suggested, transcripts of the testimony could be given to reporters.

Dirksen's motion was made immediately after the Senate investigations sub-committee met for its 13th day of hearings.

MUST DETERMINE TRUTH

Dirksen said it is up to the sub-committee to determine the "truth or falsity" of the charges and counter charges exchanged by McCarthy and Army officials.

But testimony from principals other than McCarthy and Stevens probably would be largely repetitious, he contended.

Dirksen said he believes the committee can get the "remaining answers" to army charges from McCarthy himself. He said the Army's case already had been "reasonably well ventilated."

Senator John McClellan (Dem. Ark.) asked Chairman Karl Mundt (Rep. S. D.) to find out how the principals felt about the Dirksen proposal.

McCarthy said he would favor action to shorten the hearings so his regular investigating sub-committee could resume its task of hunting out Communists which McCarthy said "are known to be in defence plants and the governments."

Aid Program To Be Unchanged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fall of Dien Bien Phu will leave unchanged the United States program of military assistance to the French Union and associated states in Indo-China, a military spokesman said today.

Sea and air shipment of equipment and supplies will continue as well as the assistance of aircraft technicians to keep flying the planes turned over to the free forces in Indo-China by the United States, the spokesman said.

There was no disposition to minimize the effect if the fall of the fortress should prove a forerunner to the loss of all Indo-China. Admiral Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, said recently that the fall could be "a prelude to the loss of all Southeast Asia."

The gap in the Free World's defence perimeter then would extend from the Chinese Nationalist refuge on Formosa far to the westward near Pakistan. Although some individual states in Southeast Asia might continue to lean toward the West, they would be surrounded by other states either nervously neutral or definitely under Red control.

Unrationed Butter On Sale In Britain

LONDON (Reuters)—Unrationed butter and margarine went on sale throughout Britain today for the first time since 1940. But housewives made no rush on their corner grocery stores.

Most firms agreed it was too early to gauge public response.

"With butter prices so high we do not expect housewives to flock into our shops," said a spokesman of one large concern. "Supplies are adequate for the moment."

For weeks manufacturers of butter and margarine have been vying for the British housewife's favor with big advertising campaigns.

When rationing ended officially at midnight Saturday the price of butter, which was subsidized, was 51 cents a pound. The unrationed price today is about 63 cents.

Under the rationing system the nation's margarine sold at about 21 cents a pound. Now qualities vary, some selling at prices below the ration level and some above.

Indo-China

The military-political situation in Indo-China, crying out for solution but apparently defying one, overlies everything.

With the Communist rebels ascendant in the field—a confident of a substantial part of the local population hopping on their bandwagon after victory at Dien Bien Phu—Russia, China and the Vietminh have the whip hand.

STALL NEGOTIATIONS

Some delegates anticipate they will be content to stall peace negotiations indefinitely, hoping to benefit further from a situation which seems to be going their way.

It seems impossible to visualize a solution which, barring some dramatic change, will be acceptable to the Vietminh and at the same time anything but a disaster for the West.

Postpone Premiere Of Soviet Ballet

PARIS (Reuters) — The government today postponed tonight's gala premiere of the Soviet ballet in Paris for fear of anti-Communist demonstrations over the fall of Dien Bien Phu.

This is the second time the opening has been postponed. The first was on Saturday when all Paris theatres were closed as a sign of mourning for the French garrison.

Today's decision was announced after the Soviet ambassador, Serge Vinogradov, had seen Premier Joseph Laniel.

Charge Miners "Victimized"

TIMMINS (CP)—Mine operators in this area were accused Sunday of victimizing miners active in union affairs.

At a meeting of the Porcupine area council of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) Leo Behie, international representative of the steelworkers, claimed an authoritative source for his allegation of "blackballing."

He said the union is conducting a full-scale investigation of matters reported to them.

Miners formerly employed by Paymaster mines, which closed down during the strikes here last winter, are finding it impossible to get work at any other mines in the area because of their union activities, Behie said.

He also accused sections of the medical profession here of co-operating with mine owners in grading men like cattle by their degree of physical fitness. He said the less fit are being released by companies with little regard for years of service, ability to perform given tasks and other qualifications.

The union official said a report is being drawn up for despatch to the proper authorities.

Bert Ginn Chosen To Captain Lions

MILLBROOK — The Millbrook Lions baseball team, in a recent annual meeting, selected Bert, Ginn, its peppery backstop, to lead this year's campaign for the James Trophy.

The outlook for the season is not too rosy as there are several gaps in last year's line-up, caused by retirements and changes of location, which will have to be plugged if a contending team is to be fielded.

While the replacements may be comers, as yet they are lacking in experience. Brent Dawson, who ran up an impressive string of victories, has moved to Peterborough but his much needed pitching talent may still be available to the squad. The Lords may not be around to help as George is married and living in Lakefield and Moe's job takes him out of town a great deal of the time. "Scooter" Skitch claims to be losing his 'scoot' and may be used sparingly as a utility infielder, while Father Time has the eye on at least one more of last year's team. Lunn, who has patrolled the outfield for many seasons is running into arm trouble.

On the brighter side there are an aspiring bunch of youngsters who are very keen to play baseball and require only very modest backing to set up a four team loop. This would give the senior organization its badly needed 'farm' and could have the effect of getting Millbrook back on the baseball map. It puts a considerable strain on the memory of the average citizen to recall when a Millbrook team did anything but bite the diamond dust in league competition.

German Freighter Sinks In Bay

LONDON (Reuters)—A German freighter radioed today that she was sinking and the crew were abandoning ship after a collision in the Bay of Biscay.

The vessel, the 1,986-ton Henry Boge, radioed that she had been in collision with the 1,847-ton British steamer Carpio, bound for Lisbon.

The Carpio reported that the Henry Boge's lifeboats had come alongside and she was picking them up.

Thief Steals $105 From Apartment

Somehow, some light-footed person managed to slip up the stairs at Miss Olive Howland's grocery store, 159 Douro St., on Saturday and may a getaway with $105 and two cheques.

So far city police and Miss Howland have not discovered who got the money, or just how the incident managed to pass unnoticed.

A young girl found a purse belonging to Miss Howland on the Inverlea Bridge late Saturday afternoon. There were two cheques in the purse. Police notified Miss Howland. As far as she knew nothing was missing from her apartment upstairs. However, when she checked she found the purse and cheques missing. But also discovered that $105 had been taken.

manders in Indo-China to arrange evacuation of wounded.

Such a meeting had been asked by the French three weeks ago. The Vietminh move today prompted French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault to remark "better late than never."

The Vietminh representative, Deputy Premier Pham Van Dong, addressed a closed meeting of the Indo-China conference shortly after the Viet Nam delegation had appealed for quick action to arrange for the removal of the wounded from Dien Bien Phu.

The unofficial source said the Communists had maintained the French proposal would not even serve as a basis for discussion.

The proposal, offered Saturday by French Foreign Minister Bidault, was for an immediate ceasefire to be supervised by the nine parties represented here, with political problems to be worked out later.

Today's meeting began with an argument when the Viet Nam delegate and Bidault accused Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov of recognizing the Vietminh delegate instead of reading a Viet Nam letter which had been given to Molotov earlier.

When the Viet Nam delegate expressed regret that the letter had not been read first, Molotov, today's chairman, said he had not received it before recognizing the Vietminh representative.

The Vietminh delegate proposed that arrangements for exchange of wounded be arranged by field commanders, not at the conference here.

Bidault then criticized Molotov for not reading the Viet Nam letter at the beginning of the meeting. He said France had been suggesting for three weeks that exchange of wounded be arranged by field commanders.

France was interested in getting treatment for the wounded no matter how it was done.

There were an estimated 800 to 1,000 wounded in the Indo-China fortress when the 57-day siege reached its climax. They had been placed on litters in the underground hospital.

Informed quarters said British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Molotov agreed this morning that the nine-party Indo-Chinese conference could go ahead without waiting for a solution of the procedural snag on inviting additional participants.

However, there was no indication that the Communists had any plans for giving up their demands for the inclusion of two newly created "phantom" governments of Cambodia and Laos in the conference.

Will Approve Data Exchange

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representative W. Sterling Cole (Rep. N. Y.) predicted today that Congress will approve President Eisenhower's proposals to exchange more atomic information with allies and to give private industry the go-ahead in developing peacetime power.

Cole, chairman of the Senate-House of Representatives atomic energy committee, which begins hearings today, said in an interview he has heard of no strong opposition to a comprehensive bill now before Congress carrying out the president's program.

The measure also would tighten restrictions on dissemination of restricted atomic information with new clauses which Cole said could mean criminal prosecution of reporters for reporting data they believe to be restricted, regardless of who gave them the information.

Industrial, legal and power company officials will be heard by the committee during hearings scheduled to run through May 21.

The Bermann firm was named twice. A subsidiary of the Tomlinson firm, Tomlinson Brothers (Eastern) Limited, also was named.

No amounts were given in the warrants, which were issued in three groups.

The first group named Standard Paving Company, Ltd., E. Birdsall, an official of the company, and Cecil H. Nelson, and R. F. Perurrson.

The second group of charges involves Tomlinson Brothers, Ltd., Tomlinson Brothers Eastern Ltd., W. S. Tomlinson, head of the companies, C. W. Taylor and Arthur M. Mills. The last-named in the suspended chief of the Fort William division of the highways department.

The third group of warrants involved Berman Construction Company Limited, Walter Berman, head of the company, John A. West, Donald S. Patterson, William Bradin and Cecil Nelson.

Mills had already been committed for trial on previous charges that he authorized payment for work never done and that he was a party to falsifying records to avert suspicions.

FIVE OTHERS AWAIT TRIAL

Four other suspended employees of the highways department, Thomas Ayres, 56, of Guelph, Douglas Cutting, 41, and Donald Gandier, 30, of Fort William and G. W. Turner, 29, of Cochrane, also have been committed to stand trial

Industrials Strong On Toronto Market

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials, senior base metals and gold prospects were strong on the stock market in afternoon trading today.

Papers, utilities, agriculture, constructions, steels, foods, manufacturing, refining oils, financial institutions and textiles paced industrials. Most issues were up fractions.

Western oils, junior base metals, Manitouwadge and Bathurst issues and uraniums were pennies lower. Golds were also down.

Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper, was up $2 to a yearly high of $29.75. British Columbia Power gained 75 cents, and Asbestos Corporation, up $1.

Canada Southern Petroleum lost 15 cents and Peace River posted a 25-cent gain in western oils.

Noranda led senior base metals, up 50-cents. Also up were Hudson Bay, East Sullivan, International Nickel, Labrador, and Quemont. Junior losses were in pennies. Gunnar's 25-cent drop was the greatest in uraniums, and Bathurst issue changes were in pennies.

Kerr-Addison, off 37½ cents, led senior golds down. Geco dropped 10 cents in Manitouwadge issues.

cost approximately $60,000,000 a year.

REPORT NOT UNANIMOUS

Two members of a conciliation board named to hear the dispute recommended April 29 that the railways grant only two of the four requests made by the workers. The company representative on the board said all the demands should be turned down.

In today's letter the railways said operations showed a drop of more than $32,000,000 in their combined gross revenues for the first four months of the year. The trend of both carloadings and earnings was continuing to worsen.

"The railways have even more justification now than they had some months ago for declining all requests, the granting of which would increase their costs of operation," the letter said.

The books of a number of contracting companies were seized for examination as a result of the investigations. Federal payments for work on the Fort William section of the Trans-Canada highway have been suspended until the provincial investigation is completed.

A private firm of accounting experts has been called in and the government caused an 11-man select committee of the legislature to be appointed to go into the irregularities.

It has yet to meet.

Hold 18 Of Crew For Refusing To Obey Captain

MONTREAL (CP)—City police hold 18 crew, members of the British coastal vessel Shelldrake for "refusing to obey the legal order of the captain." They are to appear in court today.

Police said charges were laid Saturday after the group was taken to city police headquarters following complaints by the Shipping Federation of Canada. The federation includes owners and agents of many ocean-going vessels operating into Montreal.

The men involved represent more than half the crew of the 848-ton ship, which normally plies between St. Lawrence river ports during the summer months and leaves Canada just before winter freeze-up. The Shelldrake's home port is London, England.

Officers of the ship refused newspapermen aboard ship Sunday but in answer to questions about trouble said "yes."

Sailors aboard small British ships which enter the St. Lawrence each year to trade between river ports receive an average wage of $90 a month—in addition to berth and board—compared to a maximum of $240 a month paid Canadian unionized seamen.

The men of the Shelldrake have been heard to complain about trying to meet Canadian prices on United Kingdom wages.

The ship has been tied up, loaded for several days because of "beefs" by the crew.

Have Suspicions Of Russ Fishermen

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Spanish fishing fleet commodore Gabriel Aguirre reported Saturday his men observed both "unseamanlike" uniforms and women crew members aboard two Soviet trawlers on the Grand Banks.

He said one of his captains had snapped photographs of the two Russian ships and had turned the pictures over to "certain authorities" here.

The trawlers, the Odessa and the Sevastopol, have been fishing on the Grand Banks for several weeks and there has been speculation whether their primary interest lies in fishing.

Turns Down Proposal

Widow Fatally Stabbed By Jealous Suitor

LETHBRIDGE (CP)—A 41-year-old widow was fatally stabbed in the neck Sunday by a man described by her landlady and police as a jealous suitor whose marriage proposal had been spurned.

After an eight-hour search of scrub cover near the Oldman river southeast of the city, police arrested Michael Kuzmack, 48, of Windsor, Ont., in connection with the stabbing.

The victim was Mrs. Minnie Engel of Winnipeg, who came to Lethbridge last August.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Degnegard with whom Mrs. Engel lived, said the victim had known Kuzmack in Winnipeg and in Windsor where both had lived for a short time. They said he had corresponded with her regularly since she arrived here last fall. Mrs. Engel's husband died in Winnipeg in 1951.

Mrs. Degnegard said Kuzmack came to Lethbridge last Easter to see Mrs. Engel and had moved into the Degnegard home. The pair had originally planned to marry, Mrs. Degnegard said, but Kuzmack's jealousy had decided Mrs. Engel to change her mind.

HEAR QUARREL

Mrs. Degnegard and her husband were in the yard of their home when they heard a quarrel inside the house early Sunday.

They said that minutes later, Mrs. Engel staggered out the back door of the house, ran about 12 feet from the door, screamed "Vera" to Mrs. Degnegard and collapsed. Police said later an eight inch butcher knife was used in the slaying.

As the Degnegards ran to the stricken woman, they said they saw Kuzmack running from the house.

FOUND BY BOY

"What the hell have you done," shouted Mrs. Degnegard.

She said Kuzmack, without answering, fled towards the coulees near the river.

About 50 city police and RCMP joined the manhunt shortly after Mrs. Engel had been taken to hospital where she died.

A 14-year-old boy who had joined the search with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Allen, saw Kuzmack lying in a narrow draw and police closed in.

Kuzmack offered no resistance, police said.

Hold Family Day In Marmora

MARMORA (ENS) — Christian Family Day was observed at St. Andrew's United church with the Sunday school joining with the congregation for morning worship.

The special order of services as issued by the Ontario Council of Cristian Education was followed.

Decorating the choir section of the church and the communion table was an assortment of potted plants and blooms of roses daffodils, carnations and snapdragon.

Included were floral gifts in memory of Mrs. Catherine Reynolds from Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Wells and in memory of Mrs. Abbie McInroy from her children.

The call to worship was given by the pastor, Rev. K. J. Crawford who also expressed his appreciation to James Sproul, superintendent and the staff of teachers.

Robert Sweet who is attending Queen's University and is an old scholar of the Sunday School, took the invocation. A ladies choir led in the singing of the three hymns which marked the service. The two scripture readings were read by Howard Labine Jr.

Linda Meiklejohn, a junior, rendered the solo. "Holy Spirit, hear us." Meditations were read by Robert Sweet interspersed with prayer concluding with the Lord's Prayer in which the congregation joined.

The offering was taken by four of the senior boys, Robert Prentice, William Sabine, Frank Marett and James Bateman.

The special story "All of life a sacrifice" was read by Marion Chrysler.

Church At 10 a.m.

HALLS GLEN (ENS)—The Rev. George Dyson has amounced a change in time of service in Zion church beginning May 16: church service will be held at 10 a.m., Sunday school at 11 a.m.

Rev. Dr. N. D. Patterson of Mark St. church, Peterborough, will hold communion service at Zion and Bethel church on May 16. Mr. Dyson will be in charge of Mark St. church.

Rev. Pollock Speaks

HALLS GLEN (ENS)—A number of ladies from Zion, Carmel and Bethel attended the WMS meeting at Warsaw church on Wednesday afternoon.

The Rev. I. G. Pollock of Grace church, Peterborough, gave a talk on the natives of Africa.

Fills Vacancy

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Sweden has accepted a Soviet request to act as protective power for Russia in Australia, since diplomatic relations between Russia and Australia were severed over the Petrov incident. Envoy Otto Johansson, who was in charge of Persia's interests in Britain during the Anglo-Iranian dispute, left by air for anberra.

Youth Remanded

COBOURG (ENS)—Alan Wilson, Brighton township youth charged with theft last December of a cultivator owned by Sid Casson, was remanded out of custody until called upon when he appeared before Magistrate R. B. Baxter. Wilson had joined the army after the offence took place.

NINETY TODAY, Mrs. Elizabeth Booth, a Peterborough resident for more than 50 years, reflects on a crowded and busy life. Family and friends will be helping Mrs. Booth, the only living charter member of Park St. Baptist church, to mark this important milestone at her home, 516 Chamberlain St.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

On 90th Birthday Mrs. Booth Recalls City As Village

The only charter member of Park St. Baptist church still living, Mrs. Elizabeth E. Booth celebrates her 90th birthday today at the home she has occupied for more than 50 years at 516 Chamberlain St.

Much water has passed under the bridge in the days since Peterborough was "only a little village," Mrs. Booth recalls. She came here early in 1889 when roads were dirt, sidewalks were boards and a firm called Canadian General Electric was thinking of putting some south-end cow pastures to industrial use.

Born on a farm near Uxbridge, Mrs. Booth cites her farm upbringing as one reason for her present exuberant good health. Though her eyesight has failed in some the past few years, she still hears perfectly and is extremely agile of mind.

Elizabeth Steiner was born on her parents' farm May 10, 1864. When she was 17 she was married to a man also raised on a farm (in Scarboro township) named James Booth.

Though no kin to the lumber Booth of the identical name, he traced his ancestry to Laura Secord. Mr. Booth's mother was a cousin of the patriot of the War of 1812, while his father always reminded his daughter-in-law, in manner and disposition, of yet another Booth, the founder of the Salvation Army.

JOINED GRAND TRUNK

After a spell at farming, Mr. Booth joined the old Grand Trunk railway and took his wife to this city when the railway transferred him. But when his employers decided to switch him to Toronto, five years after he had come to Peterborough and was trying to raise a family, he decided he had had enough of the railway business.

Mrs. Booth's most vivid memories of these early days were of life at the new Park St. Baptist church, and of Peterborough boys leaving to fight in the Boer War.

First regular pastor at Park St. was the Rev. O. C. Elliott, who is still living in retirement. The congregation was actually organized by an Englishman, the Rev. W. J. Payday. From the first, Mrs. Booth took an active interest in congregational activities, taught Sunday school, and held offices in the Mission Circle and the Ladies' Aid.

But there was also the business of raising a family. Four daughters still living — Mrs. Sarah Thomas in Detroit, Mrs. Viola Merritt in St. Catharines, Mrs. Eva Ainslie of 225 King George St. and Miss Lillie Booth, who lives at home with her mother.

The three married daughters, as well as another, Mrs. Fred Thomas, who married a brother of Sarah's husband, gave their mother eleven grandchildren. There are 15 great-grandchildren.

Meanwhile Mr. Booth had taken a job at the old Peter Hamilton foundry at George and King Sts., where he worked until his sudden death in 1917.

FOUR CENTS AN HOUR

The two eldest daughters were growing up and started working at the CGE. Mrs. Booth recalls that the girls worked a ten-hour day and were given four cents an hour.

Low wages, however, do not tell the whole story. In the early days of the century one could rent a house for $7 a month, buy eggs at a dime a dozen, get a healthy goose for 50 cents, or supply the larder with three pounds of beefsteak for a quarter.

Although she lost her husband and daughter within two years, the latter as a result of the post-war influenza epidemic, Mrs. Booth's health remained superb. She says she "never spent a day in bed in my life," except for the birth of her children, until she weathered a siege of shingles three years ago.

Since she became blind, Mrs. Booth has had to give up the quilting for which she was once famous. Now she spends much time associated with the activities of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, listening to stories on CNIB records, and to the radio which she finds indispensable. And she still never misses a Sunday at church, as she is regularly picked up by a friend.

Mrs. Booth's advice to the younger generation is simple. "If young folk are to be as healthy at 90 as Mrs. Booth is, or are to reach 90 at all, "they have to look after themselves, just as I did."

Ban U-Turns In Cobourg

COBOURG (ENS)—In an effort to relieve the congestion in the business section on King St., which is also Highway 2, the police department are banning U-turns at all the principal intersections.

Signs forbidding the turns have been installed at the intersections and police expect that it will facilitate the movement of traffic in town.

When the four-lane highway finally passes north of Cobourg it will ease much of the traffic strain on King St. but in the meantime the congestion is steadily increasing.

When the present four-lane highway west of here dumps its load of traffic into the two-lane highway, its results in a steady stream of cars every weekend, extending bumper to bumper for miles along Highway 2.

In spite of the fact that the season is early, traffic on recent weekends has been more like what is expected at the heart of the tourist season, police have found.

Sunday School Holds Family Day Service

ROSENEATH (ENS)—Christian Family Day was the theme of the special service at Roseneath United church Sunday school Sunday morning.

The service was in charge of Norman Sherwin, assistant superintendent, with Miss Linda Arthur as pianist. The scripture readings were read by Clayton Spears and Doris Robins. Helen Sandercock gave the story "He lived next door to Jesus."

The beginners class, with Mrs. Flex McMillan as teacher, contributed a chorus.

Periods of meditation were given by the junior girls, with Mrs. C. Sandercock, teacher; the intermediate girls, with Mrs. Douglas Coyle teacher; intermediate boys, with Douglas Coyle teacher; junior boys, with Joyce Arthur teacher; junior Bible class, with Mrs. J. S. Coyle teacher; senior Bible class, with Fred G. Lewis teacher.

The Sunday school banner, presented to the class with the best attendance for each month, was won by the intermediate girls. Norman Sherwin made he presentation to the teacher, Mrs. Douglas Coyle, who received it on behalf of the class.

Walter Gallagher and his son, Allan received the offering.

Mistaken For Prowler Boy Badly Wounded

PORT MOODY, B. C. (CP)—A 19-year-old boy, apparently mistaken for a prowler, was fighting for his life in hospital today and a 36-year-old unemployed carpenter was charged with "inflicting grievous bodily harm."

Murray Donnelly, of nearby Burnaby, was shot in the stomach early Sunday while returning from a dance. Frederick Melhuish was charged and bail was set at $1,000.

Rector Writes Hymn Sung On Mother's Day

ROSENEATH (ENS) — A Mother's Day hymn, "Father, Thou in Love Hast Taught Us," written by the Rev. A. J. Patstone, rector of St. James' Anglican church, Roseneath, was sung there on Sunday morning at a special Mother's Day service at 9 a.m.

"The ties of home and motherhood form the oldest institution in the world," said the rector, who spoke of the debt of gratitude we owe our mothers.

He deplored the commercializing of Mother's Day and felt that our homes should be real homes, not just boarding houses for our children.

There was special Mother's Day music, with Mrs. F. Brown at the organ.

Avalanche Kills Skiers

SION, Switzerland (Reuters)—Two Swiss skiers were killed and four others severely injured Sunday when a seven-man ski-party was swept away by an avalanche. The only uninjured skier dug himself out and sped down Mt. Rosa Blanche for help.

Family Day Held In Keene Church

KEENE ENS)—Christian Family Day services were held in Keene United church Sunday morning with a capacity congregation. The Sunday school pupils marched in a body with their teachers to occupy the front seats.

A basket arrangement of spring flowers on the communion table was placed there by Thomas Taylor and family in memory of his wife and his sister, Mrs. David Edwards.

Mrs. Clifford Irwin, superintendent of the Sunday school, Mrs. L. Hogg and David Edwards, past superintendent, occupied the pulpit chairs, along with the Rev. H. B. Herrington, and assisted in the service. Mrs. Irwin gave the call to worship and invocation. Mrs. Hogg read the scripture lesson.

Mr. Harrington conducted a baptismal service. Four babies weres baptized, Donald Ralph, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Adamson; Catherine Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Nelson; Bonnie Heather Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Millar, and William Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas McNevan.

Mrs. Rose McIntyre told a story for little children, after which 13 members of the junior Sunday school sang 'Jesus Loves the Little Children.'

Meditation and prayer were led by David Edwards. John Marsh sang a solo. The offering was received and dedicated by young boys from the Sunday school.

Canucks In Welcome

LONDON (CP) — Twenty-four RCAF Sabre jet fighters will be included in the 100-plane jet flypast over the royal yacht Britannia on May 15 when the Queen returns from her Commonwealth tour. The Canadian fliers will be drawn from the RCAF No. 1 fighter wing at North Luffenham, England.

Big Exports

SWANSEA, Wales (CP)—Harry Douglass, general secretary of the Iron and Steel Federation, told a meeting that two-thirds of Britain's exports are absorbed by the Commonwealth, and industry "still looks to the Commonwealth preferences for export outlets."

And Irish, Too

LONDON (CP)—Irishman Edwin Gough complained in a letter to a London newspaper that he "seemed to be the only person" in the city wearing the tradition rose on St. George's Day, last April 23.

REPORTED KILLED—American civilian pilots, Wallace Abbot Buford, 28, of Ogden, Utah, and James B. "Earthquake McGoon" McGovern (left), were reported killed when their Flying Boxcar exploded while on a mission over Dien Bien Phu, Indo-China.

One Of Few Year-Round Harbors On Lakes, Cobourg Expects Great Things Of Seaway

COBOURG (ENS)—"It is going to be a wonderful thing for Cobourg," said Mayor John D. Burnet, commenting on the effect of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

"We have the port, the railroads and the highways right in our midst and we are admirably situated in every respect to benefit from the seaway when it comes into being," said the mayor.

Cobourg is one of the few ports on the Great Lakes having a harbor that is open all year round. Climatic conditions, currents and the shelter of the harbor join to keep the harbor free of ice in the winter.

When the car ferries ceased operation a few years ago much of the harbor business was lost, although oil tankers call regularly to unload cargoes here during the navigation season. But when the ferries were running, they ran both winter and summer.

There are plenty of sidings at the harbor front, linking the lakefront with the two railway lines north of the town. Two provincial highway serve the municipality, Highway 2 along the main part of the town and Highway 45 running north. When the four-lane reaches here, it will be only a comparatively short distance north of Cobourg.

Gallantry At Dien Bien Phu

The fall of Dien Bien Phu was a shock when the news came, in spite of the fact that every realistic observer had foreseen it long ago. The garrison was concentrated in a small space, the enemy was near, and relief or reinforcement were impossible. For some reason—it is useless to try to find out why at present— the Allied Intelligence did not believe that the enemy could bring up heavy artillery, which they did; the same failure of Intelligence was responsible for the neglect of the increased supplies which came to the Vietminh when the Korean war was ended. The French troops under General Christian de Castries could only have been saved by a miracle, and there was no miracle. They did the best thing they could, which was to put up a gallant defence.

* * *

Gallantry and history have had their influence at Dien Bien Phu. The French commander, de Castries, is of an old and noble French family of soldiers and public servants. His own career has not been, until recently, a distinguished one. As a young man he was too fond of fun to take anything else very seriously, and when the Second World War broke out he was little regarded. However, he showed himself a very daring soldier in that war, and although he was in his forties—which is not the usual age for a junior officer in the field—the daring which had made him a notable playboy made him also a youthful and ingenious leader.

* * *

He served in Indo-China for two years as a Lieutenant-Colonel, in 1946. He returned to the East in 1950 as an assistant to de Lattre. He was seriously wounded at that time, and it was not until 1953 that he returned to Indo-China where, in August of that year, he was given command of Dien Bien Phu. He has astonished many people there by an aristocratic trick of mind—a disregard for apparently serious things, and a great seriousness about small matters—which concealed a keen appreciation of his situation. During the past month this ability to regard danger with equanimity has unquestionably done much to strengthen the resistance of his garrison.

* * *

At present informed opinion takes the view that the fall of Dien Bien Phu need not be a disaster, but that unless the French in Indo-China are given substantial help, and soon, a much greater disaster than the fall of one fortress will ensue. Such things are easy to say now; the decision to provide assistance, and the work involved in putting it in the field takes much longer. Meanwhile we can only admire another instance of the courage with which men fight losing battles, hold impossible positions until the last minute, and endure the misfortunes, injustices and miseries of war.

The Matter Of Changing Sex

An Associated Press news dispatch from San Francisco tells us that John Cabell Breckinridge, a millionaire of that city, has announced that he will go to Denmark this summer to be transformed into Catherine Cabell. Apparently he has been assured that this major alteration can be made. There are now several people in the world who have been given surgical assistance in changing their sex. Perhaps the most spectacular change of all is that of Robert Cowell, now living a life, apparently satisfactory, as Roberta Cowell.

Robert Marshall Cowell was well known before the war as a daring driver of racing motor cars. During the war he won some distinction as a Spitfire pilot, and was for some time a prisoner of war. He was married and was father of two children. But after the war he suffered severe mental depression which he and his medical advisors decided was caused by the fact that he was more a woman than a man, and so he underwent prolonged psychological and surgical treatment which has turned him into Roberta Elizabeth Cowell. He says that he is happier than he has ever been before, and there is no reason to doubt him. He may marry, and although his physicians are silent on the subject there will be widespread curiosity as to whether, having been a father, he will round off his astonishing experience by becoming a mother. If he does so, he will be the first person in medical history to fill both roles.

It is easy to dismiss these cases as bids for publicity. In some instances that may be a factor, but we do not think that it is the only thing which persuades people to endure psychological torment and long stretches of experimental surgery. Particularly we do not think that publicity was the main impulse behind Robert Cowell's strange adventure, for he has written about it himself with admirable restraint. We think, rather, that they are exploring a field which may be a very important one in a century or so.

Medical men have for centuries been aware that there are people in whom the organs of both sexes are present, and it is not always possible to determine the sex of a child at birth, with complete certainty. There may be changes at adolescence which will increase doubt about such borderline cases. It is not a psychological confusion only (for there is no agreement as to what differentiates the mind of a man from that of a woman, in spite of much dogmatizing on the subject) but a physical confusion, and for the first time in medical history it is possible to eliminate some of the confusion by surgery and hormone treatment.

A curious fact is that when there is doubt about the sex of a child it is usually called a boy. So far as we know there are few cases on record of girls subsequently finding out that they are boys, but there are many cases of boys finding out that they are girls. Women of markedly masculine physique are not unknown, but so far there has been no widely publicised attempt on the part of any of them to become men in fact.

Such treatment as that given to Roberta Cowell may, when it is better understood, eliminate much misery among people in whom distinction of sex is not obvious. But it may do more, and as a final nod to Mental Health Week we touch upon it briefly. It may make clearer to everyone that in every normal man or woman there are psychological, as well as physical traces of the other sex. The completely masculine man, the utterly feminine woman, is a rarity, and may lack something of the breadth of sympathy and perception which exists in the mixtures. Our understanding of human personality, in spite of the great work done during the last hundred years, is still crude, and we may yet learn to cherish and encourage those traits in ourselves which are seemingly contrary to the sex to which we plainly belong.

Strange Industrial Competition

A strange competitive situation in industry has developed in St. Louis, Missouri. The Bausch and Lomb Optical Company is located there, and the United Optical and Instrument Workers of America (C.I.O.) had been named as the bargaining agent for its employees. About a year ago, this union decided to go into business for itself, and organized a firm known as United Optical Wholesalers, Inc., with all the stock owned by optical union members. The union also supplies or handles the finances of this new company.

The Bausch and Lomb management thereupon decided that the union was, in fact, a competitor, and therefore not eligible as a bargaining agent. This brought the U.S. National Labour Relations Board into the dispute, and its first action was to order a vote by the union employees of Bausch and Lomb. The result of this inspired bureaucratic edict was that the employees approved the union as a bargaining agent. Bausch and Lomb, however, still refused to bargain with a competitor, arguing that there was no law that said one employer had to bargain with another employer about rates of payment to the workers of the first employer.

There have been other instances of unions competing in a field in which they were normally bargaining agents; the newspaper business is recalled almost automatically. The cases, however, are not precisely parallel, and we cannot recall an exact precedent for the situation that exists in the optical industry in St. Louis. If the union is upheld, it will be granted the power to destroy its competitor, quite legally. It could do so slowly or quickly, by haggling over impossible demands as bargaining agent, or by striking and picketing the competitor's factory.

Perhaps the strangest thing about it is that the labour board is still undecided about the case. It is highly unlikely that there would be indecision if the board were required to rule on the action of a company spending large sums of money to establish a union in a competitor's shop.

PARIS LETTER:

Bravo La France

By DENNIS BLOODWORTH

PARISIANS have long regarded the English-speaking blots on the map as forming a kind of lunatic fringe to the known civilised world; but with their love of neat classification they are now delighted to find that the most mystifying aberrations of the English can be lumped together under a modern collective term:- the (British or American) "Way of Life."

✧ ✧ ✧

IN THE past few days the French have been treated to two perfect examples of this unpredictable quantity. In England, it is reported here, a group of seemingly responsible persons has created a prize called "Bravo la France," which will be given annually to some outstanding Frenchman for his contribution to science or art. People here are both touched and perplexed by the gesture. I heard one citizen say: "Perhaps they have no one in England good enough to give it to . . . otherwise why should they lay out money for foreigners?" A few days later the Press reported that a cafe proprietor in Sydney, Australia, had been fined five pounds for hanging an "obscene picture" on the walls of his establishment. "And now," snarled a French friend, "I suppose you expect us to create a prize called "Hurrah for the Commonwealth," to be given in appreciation of your knowledge of the arts?"

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS not surprising that he was piqued. The condemned picture was a copy of a nude by Toulouse-Lautrec which may be seen any day by the public of Paris. It hangs permanently in a place of honour in the Louvre. The French are a practical people, and little given to national oddities that have to be explained away in broad cliches. They therefore do not have a "Way of Life," but instead a typically down-to-earth substitute: the "Train de Vie." The "Train de Vie" is scientific rather than sentimental, and with the aid of a slide-rule, tax-collectors can measure it to the nearest thousand francs. It is an assessment of a citizen's importance based on such outward and visible signs of righteousness as the size of his car, the vintage of his wife's mink coat and the number of grand pianos he keeps in his apartment.

✧ ✧ ✧

SMALL wonder, then, if part of the French contribution to the current exchanges of courtesy (we are celebrating the 50th anniversary of the entente cordiale) is strictly on a cash basis. Some years ago a certain Frenchman insured his life with a British company. After his death recently the French fiscal authorities decided that the insurance money was due to his wife and that Perfidious Albion should be made to pay. Strong representations, I understand, have since been made to the City of London. Some Frenchmen, nevertheless, point out with admirable objectivity that the Republic can hardly claim life insurance on a man it condemned to death itself, even if he was a Marshal of France, and even if it will be a severe disappointment to his widow, who happens to be Madame Petain.

✧ ✧ ✧

EVERY race, however, must sometimes take a holiday from the intolerable business of living up to the world's impressions of it. Now and then the mask slips—the English forget to be phlegmatic, the Chinese to be inscrutable, the Armenians to be persecuted. Burdened with the worries of Indo-China and German rearmament, the French today suddenly seem to be seeking escape from their habitual attachment to cold logic.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE latest French inventions are on display on the banks of the Seine, but the entrants to the Concours Lepine, an annual competitive exhibition of discoveries which was started fifty-three years ago, are now showing super-jets, bombs alphabetical, the arch or the wheel. They are competing for a three hundred pounds prize with one hundred and twenty contraptions of studied absurdity. A favourite is a taxi constructed to resist attack by highwaymen. The driver, who sits in a box behind and above his passengers, can press a button which causes metal plates to swing out from the side of the vehicle and crack any assailant soundly on the head. Close runners-up are a machine for teaching children to speak Esperanto, and a pedal cycle fitted with a helium balloon to enable the rider to fly over any obstacles he meets. This is presumably destined for export, since no Parisian has ever needed such artificial aids to cheat the traffic lights.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE Concours Lepine is not the only manifestation which is out of character in pragmatic France. At St. Paul en Vence a weird little international congress has been organised to discuss those things which Frenchmen normally despise above all: the inexplicable. Why is it that if a man in one room selects cards from a pack, a man in another can say which cards he has chosen—and be right more often than is reasonable? How is it that a German monk recently dreamed of the death of a man he had never previously heard of, two days before it happened?

✧ ✧ ✧

MORE extraordinary perhaps than these have been the revelations of Aldous Huxley, who described how, after taking the drug Mescaline, his vision of the everyday world was doubled by brilliantly coloured mosaics which resolved into splendid architectural structures peopled by shining figures from some fairy kingdom: glimpses of other worlds which may first have suggested to the primitive mind the geographies of Heaven and Hell.

✧ ✧ ✧

ON THE surface, the recent medical conference held in Paris was a more logical affair — but it is difficult to explain why doctors who had spent a day discussing "the causes of obesity" then rushed off to the Enghien-Les-Bains Casino to eat a ten-course banquet well calculated to add irreducible inches to what tactful tailors call the lower chest. If it is admitted that France is, after all, a country of light-hearted self-indulgence, what should be said of the latest edict issued by the municipality of Maringes? This reads: "By municipal order dated April 25, 1954, it is absolutely forbidden to sing during the month of May in the territory of the commune on pain of severe penalty."

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS comforting to note that in spite of these unnatural events, many Frenchmen persist in remaining very French. A poll of public opinion on the effects of drinking wine in large quantities has just established that the majority of citizens believe: (a) that wine is essential to training for athletics, (b) that it is almost impossible to do physical work without imbiding it (c) that it is excellent for the health, and ideal nourishment.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE is almost something agreeably in keeping about the pleasant little piece of juxtaposition to be seen in one Paris bookshop. Following a number of petty thefts, the owner has filled his display window with copies of a new best-seller and put up a notice saying: "Don't steal it — buy it." It can be noted with relief that in this case Paris is all that the newcomer from England would imagine, for the object of this advise is entitled: "L'experience amoureuse."

Letters To The Editor

SAVE THE RIVERSIDE

SIR: The Otonabee Valley Conservation Committee are to be heartily commended for their effort to reserve the remaining small unspoilt portion of the river bank within the city.

Surely it is extremely stupid and short-sighted of us to perpetuate the old, ugly tradition of despoiling our waterways with railways and industry? We should not lethargically allow ourselves to be pushed into conforming with the national Canadian mistake of systematically ruining the natural beauty of our surroundings.

Sincerely,
L. J. McCLELLEN.

CITY IMPROVEMENT

SIR: In answer to the very fine letter from Mrs. Nornabell, I wish to commend her committee for its stand regarding the beautification of the Otonabee River banks and the Jackson Creek. Peterborough has so many natural beauty spots, why not enhance same, rather than ignoring them.

One other point: I do not see much use in having a Planning Board if it does not recommend certain rules for industry and commercial enterprises as regards the improvement and upkeep of their property. In this regard, I refer particularly to the disgraceful place the Colonial Bus Lines use for its 'depot.' Alderman McBride deserves support in his recommendation that the bus company owes it to the city and its patrons to build a terminal. The parking lot for the buses should also be re-surfaced as, at this time of year and on rainy days, it is necessary to walk in mud when entering or getting off the buses.

Yours truly,
A CITIZEN

CIVIL DEFENCE FOR PETERBOROUGH

SIR: Tuesday evening's paper carried a subject headed "Civil Defence Committee Votes to Disband; Lacks Finances, Public Support."

As one of the few interested Peterborough citizens in Civil Defence, I personally feel that the present committee have made the proper move in asking that they be released from their obligations as committee members. But to ask to have Civil Defence disband by council in Peterborough is the most asinine thing I have heard of in a long time.

With foreign countries interest at an all time high in atomic, hydrogen and chemical warfare along with transportation (aircraft) faster than the speed of sound, we surely fail to realize what this means, when we hear that our committee has folded up, because of financial difficulties and public support inadequate.

First may I say that regarding public support inadequacy, I personally feel that insufficient information has been made public in Peterborough to cause any interest whatsoever among our forty-some thousand population.

Secondly, I have yet to see or hear of the committee asking the council for financial support or having a public drive for funds for this cause. Yet the committee throw in the sponge and ask to be disbanded.

With or without provincial or federal assistance Peterborough should have a Civil Defence force ready at all times. Who knows when tragedy may strike our city. It could be a bomber, a hurricane, a fire, a flood, an explosion, or even a plane crash over our city like that in Moose Jaw a few weeks ago.

I personally say — let's be prepared. It costs very little in the way of finances, providing that it is handled properly and each person does his or her part without the idea of selfish personal rewards, which seem to be the motive for joining clubs, organizations, etc. by nearly all Peterborough businessmen. "What's in it for me" — seems to be the subconscious theme flashing through their minds at all times.

Damn it — have Peterborough schools, collegiates, churches and all other Christian faiths forgotten how to teach "Self sacrifice of doing unto others as you would have them do unto you?"

My recommendation is to have Council tell the citizens of Peterborough exactly what we now have should trouble come tomorrow such as — two fire stations with 4 pumpers and 2 ladder trucks — two ambulances capable of carrying one patient each privately owned by two different businesses, one police station with so many men, etc. Then ask for public help to raise so much money to buy such-and-such and so much free time to train for fire fighting, rescue work, first aid, police assistance, etc.

It's worth a try.

Thanks for your co-operation in putting this letter before the people of Peterborough. Should any one feel as I do or adversed, please reply.

J. J. MACDONALD.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free (John 8:31, 32.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And behold, they brought to him a man sick of the palsy, lying on a bed: and Jesus seeing their faith said unto the sick of the palsy; Son, be ye of good cheer: thy sins be forgiven thee. And, behold, certain of the scribes said within themselves. This man blasphemeth.

And Jesus, knowing their thoughts said, Wherefore think ye evil in your hearts? For whether is easier, to say, Thy sins be forgiven thee, or to say, Arise, and walk? But that ye may know that the Son of Man hath power on earth to forgive sins, (then saith he to the sick of the palsy,) Arise, take up thy bed, and go into thine house. And he arose, and departed to his house. (Matt. 9:2-7.)

✧ ✧ ✧

He that committeth sin of the devil; for the devil sinneth from the beginning. For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that he might destroy the work of the devil. Whosoever is born of God doth not commit sin; for his seed remaineth in him: and he cannot sin, because he is borne of God. (I John 3:8, 9.)

Discipline and Death

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

The British troopship Empire Windrush which carried about 1,500 people, mostly military personnel and their families returning to England, caught fire off Algiers on Sunday, and although the ship was aflame in about half an hour after the alarm was given, the discipline according to the civilian captain, was perfect. The women and children were removed first to a ship that was fortunately nearby, and the troops and crew kept perfectly calm, without any sign of panic, with smoke enveloping them, until other ships took them off. Subsequently, the vessal sank.

The incident recalls the story of the burning of another British troopship, the Birkenhead, which is, or used to be, in the school books of every British child, and a copy of a celebrated painting of the event was in almost every British home. It happened a long time ago, but is still one of the greatest stories of heroism in British history.

The Birkenhead carried 500 soldiers, a crew of 134, and a large number of women and children. On the night of February 25, 1852, the ship struck a sunken reef off Cape Colony and immediately began to sink. Lifeboats were launched, but there were not enough for the large number of people on board. The captain gave the inexorable order of the sea: "Women and children first." The senior officer of the forces ordered the men to Fall In and stand at Attention. The women and children got into the boats, and not a man moved from the Attention as the vessel sunk beneath their feet and they were engulfed.

Only 192 people aboard, nearly all women and children, were saved.

Canada Gradually Broadening Money Market To Aid Expansion

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

With the aid of its central banking system, Canada is broadening her money market to put idle dollars to work in the country's economic expansion.

First major step in building a "stock exchange" for money was taken by the Bank of Canada a year ago when it widened the variety and increased the number of its treasury bill offerings.

The next step, now under discussion by the central and chartered banks, is the development of a fluid market for "call loans."

This would provide a channel for the use, even for a day, of surplus cash in banks and other institutions. Call loans can be recalled swiftly by the lender without notice.

The treasury bill is a short-lived bond purchased by banks and used as a form of second-line cash reserve. The amount they hold drops if their cash requirements increase and rises if they find themselves with surplus cash available for short-term investment.

LACKED MARKET

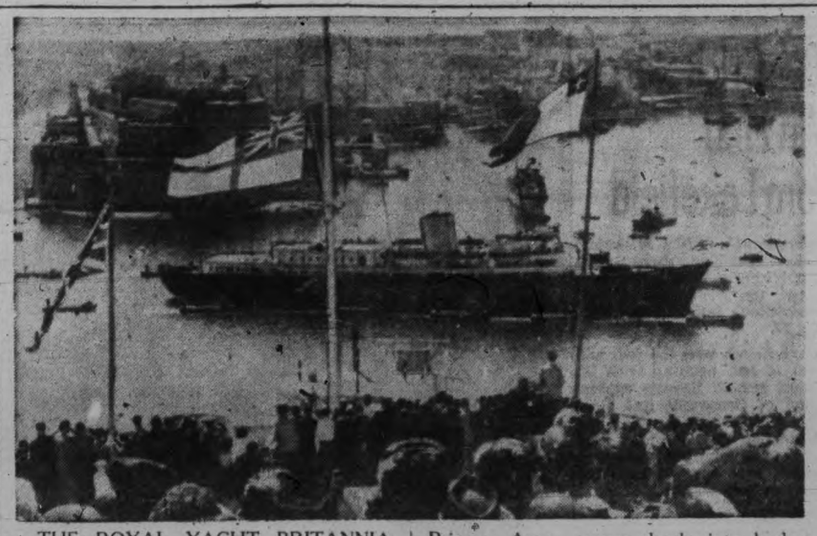
The Bank of Canada's problem was the lack of a large market outside of banks for the bills. To attract more investors, the bank a year ago increased new issues to once a week from once every two weeks and widened the life of the loans from 91 days to 273.

Thus, there are 39 treasury bill maturities outstanding at all times, making it possible for an investor to obtain bills maturing virtually every week.

As a further measure to attract non-bank investors, such as provinces, municipalities and corporations which may have funds idle for a week or two, the central bank encouraged the roles of money "jobbers," bond dealers and others to act as intermediaries in the sale and purchase of treasury bills.

In most cases the dealers would act for non-banking interests.

Non-banking investors, other than the federal government, increased their holdings to about $800,000,000 last June.



THE ROYAL YACHT BRITANNIA, carrying Queen Elizabeth, the Duke of Edinburgh and their children, Prince Charles and Princess Anne, moves slowly into harbor at Valletta, Malta. Royal Air Force jet fighters streamed overhead in salute as naval guns roared their traditional welcome.

Bank Announces Savings Plan

TORONTO (CP)—The Bank of Nova Scotia today announced a plan to help depositors build up their savings accounts.

The bank calls the plan a personal security program, and under it the depositor may undertake to save a specified amount, ranging from $100 to $1,000, by monthly payments ranging from $2 to $20 a month, over a 50-week period.

Under an insurance provision, if a depositor dies the total sum aimed at, plus accrued interest, is paid to his beneficiary.

The depositor may discontinue the account and take out his money at any time, but he would lose the insurance benefit and pay to cover the bank's services.

Deposits will bear interest at 1½ per cent, instead of the two per cent of ordinary savings accounts, and no cheques can be cashed against it during the 50-week term, unless it is discontinued.

Any one from age six to 46 is eligible for the accounts, on statement of good health, without medical examination.

WINNIPEG (CP) — About 150 teachers from Saskatchewan, Manitoba and northwestern Ontario were slated to attend a week's course in army cadet training during the Easetr holidays. The course will train instructors for army cadet camps to be held this summer.

Big Honey Yield

EDMONTON (CP) — Alberta's sunshine produces some of the biggest honey crops in the world, Mrs. M. Arneson said in an address here on bee culture. She estimated the average yield is between 150 and 200 pounds per hive, compared to 25-50 pounds in California.

2 Reeves, Warden Deny Charge Of Irregularities

OWEN SOUND (CP) — Two reeves and a warden have disclaimed knowledge of alleged irregularities at the Grey county Home for the Aged in nearby Markdale.

The three men made the statements at a council meeting here Friday shortly before council members ask for a judicial inquiry into management and finances of the home since 1952.

Warden George Mannerow of Chesley, reeve Cecil Rutherford of Clarksburg and reeve Victor Hansen of Chatsworth were named in affidavits signed by former maids at the home as having taken drinks at the home, about 25 miles south of here. They disclaimed knowledge of the alleged irregularities at the open council meeting.

MAIDS MAKE CHARGES

The maids made charges of drunkenness and indecency at the home. Mervyn Gould, the manager, and his wife were suspended by the home's board of management after the charges were announced.

Reeve Hansen said "They must have a different idea of intoxication than I have."

Reeve Rutherford said, "I've never been ashamed of my behaviour...

"It looks to me like a frameup," said Mr. Mannerow. "I've never seen anyone doing anything out of place at the home."

The three said they did not know they had been named in the affidavits until a few days ago.

See Cabinet Shuffle Soon

OTTAWA (CP) — St. Lawrence seaway developments may speed up a forthcoming shuffle of the federal cabinet.

One has been in prospect for some time, and the possibility that Transport Minister Chevrier will move into the government's top seaway job could bring it on earlier than expected.

It has been persistently reported here for months, without denial, that Mr. Chevrier will become chairman of the St. Lawrence seaway authority, a three-man body created by Parliament in 1951 to handle the Canadian end of the building and operating the navigation works of the project.

None of the board's proposal has been named pending United States action on the seaway. This now seems to be getting close as the result of last week's congressional adoption of a bill providing for joint Canada-U. S. participation in the canals.

No. 2 JOB

Chairmanship of the authority likely will be the No. 2 job in the Canadian civil service, topped only by the governorship of the Bank of Canada. It is expected to carry a salary of $25,000 a year or more.

The authority will have the responsibility of raising and spending some $300,000,000 as Canada's share in the navigation works. It will join with a similar U. S. body in handling the construction and operation of the waterway including the setting of tolls on shipping.

Both as minister of transport and representative of a constituency abutting on the seaway area, Mr. Chevrier has been close to the project for many years. In recent years, he has been working for it unceasingly.

The possibility of his shift to the job opens the prospect of two cabinet vacancies.

Finance Minister Abbott has announced that the budget of April 6 was his last, and he is staying on only long enough to steer through Parliament the dicennial revision of Canada's Bank Act.

However, it has not been established whether he will quit politics entirely or move to a less-burdensome portfolio after seven strenuous years in finance.

In any case, a major shuffle of portfolios is indicated. Mr. Abbott may swap jobs with Justice Minister Garson, who was Manitoba's provincial treasurer while premier of that province. Another possibility is Fisheries Minister Sinclair, a former parliamentary assistant to Mr. Abbott.

With finance assistants regarded as having an inside track for cabinet jobs, a successor for Mr. Chevrier could be the present assistant, William Benidickson of Kenora-Rainy River.

Mr. Benidickson's chances would be enhanced by the fact that he is a former parliamentary assistant to Mr. Chevrier. Also, like the minister, he represents an Ontario riding, which would keep the provincial distribution of portfolios undisturbed.

Stevens' Reinforcements Tougher For McCarthy

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you belted him on the jaw, Robert T. Stevens, secretary of the United States Army, might hit you back. Maybe not until you'd belted him a couple of times. But it would be out of character if he called you names.

Stevens' public career may be at stake in the Senate inquiry into Senator McCarthy's fight with army officials. But only a few times has he shown any heat in answering McCarthy's questions.

He didn't publicly take a stand against McCarthy until, he said, the senator insulted a general.

McCARTHY PICTURE DIFFERS

McCarthy gives another picture of Stevens, of a man working behind the scenes to force McCarthy to give up the senator's search for Communists in the army.

Stevens didn't take his stand until after the White House relationship with McCarthy began to harden.

Nevertheless, and not by design but by an accident of personalities, the army may be setting McCarthy up for the old-fashioned nice-guy-tough-guy routine which police have often used.

So far McCarthy has had to deal mainly with nice-talking Stevens. But if these hearings continue, he's going to have to tackle a couple of tough talkers who seem perfectly happy to snarl at him.

Army counsellor John G. Adams and Assistant Defence Secretary H. Struve Hensel are principals in this case with Stevens on the army side. McCarthy has questioned the honesty of both of them.

McCarthy repeatedly treated Stevens on a first-name basis, calling him "Bob." At the beginning of a brief exchange with Adams, McCarthy tried the same thing on him, calling him "John."

Adams said: "The name to you, senator, is Mr. Adams."

2 Collegiates Tied For Meet Honors

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Central collegiate and Windsor Kennedy collegiate tied for meet honors and set two Canadian schoolboy track records Saturday at the day-long Ontario interscholastic relay carnival held at the Civic Stadium here.

More than 1,500 spectators saw the Windsor collegians win the quarter mile relay in record time of 46.3 and Central follow up with a record-breaking 1.33.8 win in the senior half-mile relay. Hamilton Delta collegiate held the previous record of 47.5 in the junior and 1.33.9 in the senior event.

The two schools each won in three events to tie for the Army, Navy and Air Force Challenge Cup for the top team in A division for schools with 225 or more male students.

The B championship for schools with less than 225 male students and the Canadian National Exhibition Trophy went to Ingersoll with 24 points, nine more than St. Marys, winners of all three junior B races. Ingersoll won all three senior B events and was second to St. Marys in the junior tests.

POSTED THREE WINS

Upper Canada College posted three wins in five private school races won the Hamilton Spectator Trophy and the private school championship edging Trinity College, Port Hope, 21-16.

The St. Catharines Standard trophy for the top Niagara district school was won by St. Catharines collegiate which had a scant one-point margin over Dundas. Dundas won all three senior races in the Niagara group while St. Catharines won one race and placed in five others.

The feature race, the senior high school mile relay, was won by Hamilton Central, current Canadian record-holders with a schoolboy time of 3.29.9, in 3.39.8.

Relay Teams Break 2 Illinois Records

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (CP)—University of Michigan relay teams, with three Canadians taking part, broke two Illinois Memorial Stadium records in the first annual Big Ten outdoor relays Saturday.

The Michigan two-mile team of Roy Christiansen, John Moule of Hamilton, Ont., John Ross of Oakville, Ont., and Peter Gray, won in 7:39 compared with the old mark of 7:56.5 set by Illinois in 1950.

In the distance medley—440, 880, 1,320 and mile—Bob Rudisell, Gray, Ross and George Lynch of Toronto finished in 10:10 compared with the old record of 10:29.9 set by Indiana in 1950.

In the 100-yard dash on a weight basis, Tony Stracka of Wisconsin was first in 10.3 with Roy Pella, Michigan athlete from Sudbury, second.

NO PEEKING, ERIC—Referee Eric Cotton peaks from behind the goal post in Saturday's UE-Bata soccer game at Morrow park. The UE team pressed the Bata boys (top photo) about the goal throughout the afternoon as they easily won 9-1. Meanwhile at King Edward park, George Foster, Merchants' goalie, was more than busy, as the Canadian Scots humbled the Merchants 8-2.

UE Romps Through Bata 9-1 Scots Humble Merchants

On the strength of Saturday's soccer games at Morrow and King Edward parks, it looks like the UE as 1954 Eastern Ontario champions once more. But it's a long season and anything can happen.

The UE team, defending champions, romped to an easy 9-1 victory over Bata in Morrow Park. They drifted through the shoemen time after time with neat passing plays and didn't miss when close around the goal. Meanwhile they easily turned aside any Bata attacks.

Actually the UE should have whitewashed the Bata team, but the shoemen had help from the UE, a defender helping the ball into his own goal.

Biddle and Hoyle played havoc with the Bata defence and goal, so much so that it seemed Biddle-Hoyle were playing Bata. The two paced the UE to a 5-0 first half and then a 4-1 second half, Biddle scoring four and Hoyle three.

Meanwhile, at King Edward Park, the Canadian Scots, who suffered a 5-0 defeat a week ago at the hands of the UE, romped to an 8-2 win over the Peterborough Merchants, making their debut in Eastern Ontario play.

The Merchants, mostly composed of Peterborough-developed players, matched the Canadian Scots fairly well in the first half. In fact they managed to stand within close range, 2-1, at the half.

But in the second half, the Merchants' defence collapsed and the Canadian Scots poured in on goalie George Foster at will. Often there were two or three men breaking in on him. These attacks resulted in quick goals and the Merchants never recovered.

John Daly starred for the Scots with three goals as their scoring was pretty well distributed. Meanwhile, the Merchants' goals went to George Downer and Ed Lane.

U.K. Bowling Team To Visit Peterborough

Delegates from British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec reported that arrangements are well under way to receive the British team which will tour Canada before competing in the British Empire Games at Vancouver this summer. The British team will arrive in Montreal July 2. There are 30 bowlers on the team.

The British team will visit Ottawa, Toronto, Peterborough, London, Kitchener, Hamilton, Chatham, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary, Edmonton and Saskatoon.

"B" Cricketers Win First From Lakefield

Peterborough "B" cricketers won their first home game Saturday at Nicholls' Oval when they defeated the visiting Lakefield Grove School team by 29 runs, 101 to 72.

Peterborough won the toss and elected to bat, opening with W. Freeman and F. Roberts against bowling of Creswicke and Gordon. Due to steady bowling and good fielding by Lakefield, runs were slow in totalling. The first half-hour saw only 21 runs for the loss of two wickets.

Freeman continued to bat steadily and finally went out with a well-played 15, making a score of 36 for four. Fraser then joined Booth in a fruitful stand for 33 runs before Fraser was out for eight with the score 69 for six.

The scoring quickened as time was running out, and, at the close of Peterborough innings after one and a half hours' play, the score stood at 101 for seven wickets with Booth not out 54 and Bier not out two. The Lakefield fielding was keen and their bowling fair, Gordon with two wickets for 16 runs and Staples three wickets for 25 runs.

After tea, Peterborough took the field and opened their bowling with Bier and Illingworth against Rashleigh and McDonald. McDonald was out quickly in Illingworth's first over, but Rashleigh continued to bat despite the lack of success from his teammates.

Rashleigh was finally clean bowled by Clarke with the score at 40, of which he had made a forceful 31, his score including two sixes and three fours.

After Rashleigh left, Lakefield added only one more run. Creswicke proceeded to hit Peterborough bowling well and he was the last man out, having a score of 22 runs.

Peterborough—W. Freeman 15, F. Roberts 0, B. Roberts 5, C. Barker 3, F. Booth 54 not out, K. Illingworth (captain) 0, T. Fraser 8, T. Clarke 6, B. Bier 2 not out, extras 8. Total 101.

Did not bat: J. Wild, L. Harvey.

Creswicke 1 wicket for 31 runs, Gordon 2 wickets for 16 runs, Staples 3 wickets for 25 runs, Rashleigh 0 wickets for 14 runs, McDonald 1 wicket for 6 runs.

Lakefield — Rashleigh (captain) 31, McDonald 0, Gordon 3, Grant 0, Staples 4, Hellyer 0, Easson 1, Ryder 0, Creswicke 22, Ryley 6, McGibbon 0 not out, extras 5. Total 72.

Bier 0 wickets for 8 runs, Illingworth 1 wicket for 24 runs, Clarke 4 wickets for 3 runs, Freeman 0 wickets for 3 runs, Booth 4 wickets for 4 runs, Wild 1 wicket for 25 runs.

GOLF OFFICIALLY STARTS—Although golfers have been out swinging the clubs for the past several bright, sunny weekends, the season didn't actually start officially until Saturday. Then men at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club raised the flag and the season started. A large number of golfers (above) were on hand at the first tee to watch Jack Hardill and Les Reid raise the flag. The club opening is a week earlier than usual.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Toronto Meets Alpha Tonight

Toronto boxers, mostly from the Bagnato club, will compete in their first full card against the Alpha Boxing club tonight at the Brock St. arena. All eight bouts will feature Alpha versus Toronto.

Welterweights, Emmett Crough of Alpha, and Pete McKinnon of Toronto, will headline the bout with a five-round final. Crough will be after his third win in four fights over Charlie Bagnato's boxers.

The five-round semi-final pits the popular Alpha heavyweight against another newcomer, Duke mason, while in the semi-final bout, John Angiers of Lindsay, boxing out of the Alpha club, against Ray Bloom. Bloom beaten decisively two weeks ago, asked for another chance against Alpha.

Alpha's knockout artist, Bill Twomey, meets his first colored opposition in Toronto's Johnny Roe. The colored boxer lost a close decision to Angiers on the last card, while Twomey scored a surprising 42-second knockout in the first round over Tony Brando.

In the other bouts Tom Birch will meet Sid Wood, Pete Howe faces Pat Fitzgerald and Clem Woodcock fights Roy Hughson. The eighth bout will feature light heavyweight boxers but they won't be announced until card time.

Wolves Bounce Penticton Club 8-2

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP) — The hometown V's, currently tilting with Sudbury Wolves for the Allan Cup, are in an ideal position.

Noted as "the team which comes from behind," they're about as far back as they can get. One more loss and the cup goes east in Sudbury's travelling bag and the Wolves move into the throne room of Canadian amateur hockey.

Wolves lead the V's 3-1 in the best-of-seven series and could walk away with the playoff in the fifth game here Tuesday.

With the exception of the regular Okanagan Senior Amateur Hockey League play, which the V's wrapped up almost at leisure, the Penticton club has had a history of coming from behind this season and have been most dangerous with the chips down.

First there was the inter-league playoff with Nelson Maple Leafs of the Western International Hockey League. V's were taken to eight games before winning out. Then came the western final against Winnipeg Maroons. Another best-of-seven, it also went eight games before Penticton triumphed.

SERVICEABLE BAG

As for that Sudbury travelling bag, it has done good service.

Wolves used it to move west for the first game in Penticton, where they won 2-1. They moved to Vernon for the second game, which they dropped 6-1, then to Kelowna for a 3-1 victory in the third game. From Kelowna, the teams travelled back to Penticton where they trounced the hometown club 8-2 Saturday.

In Saturday's game, V's were four goals down before the game was 11 minutes old and when the first period was over, the score was 5-1 for Wolves. Sudbury scored three more in the second period and held V's to a lone marker. The third period was scoreless.

Both teams have been remarkably free from injury in this series, the most serious being an infected toe which has kept Bill Warwick more or less idle. He forms part of the V's main "brother line" with playing-coach Grant and Dick.

COSSA Meet Won By St. Andrew's

NEWMARKET—More than 150 athletes, representing 12 schools, matched strides and leaps in the COSSA Georgian Bay district track and field meet, held at Pickering College, here Saturday.

St. Andrew's College finished on top with 65 points, five better than runner-up Pickering College. Collingwood Collegiate finished third with 33, followed by Aurora 26, Brock-Cannington 24, Orillia 17, Newmarket 12, Richmond Hill 12, Banting Memorial Alliston 12, Midland 8, Gravenhurst 1.

Although the track season is young, and no records fell, several performers turned in outstanding efforts. Broad-shouldered, strapping Bob Crew of Collingwood and Aurora's Lynn Easterbrook each collected two firsts in the senior competition. Crew won the high jump and shot-put, while Easterbrook secured firsts in the running broad jump and hop, step and jump.

Greg Farstad, Pickering College speedster, gathered three firsts to feature the junior contests. Farstad won the 100-yard in 10.8 secs., 200-yard in 24.4 secs. and soared 10' 11¾" to win the running broad jump. Gord Cook of Collingwood annexed firsts in the high jump and hop, step and jump.

GRANT'S SPORT CORNER

By DON GRANT

Our senior lacross and baseball teams need glasses. They're quite short-sighted.

After the past couple of struggling years the junior teams in both sports seem to be forgotten this season. Apparently the older boys are just going to sit back and let the junior clubs fade out.

No Lifloc Team

It's apparent now that there won't be a junior baseball team, last year known as the Liflocs. The minor and senior teams have been reorganized and in some cases are working out but the junior-age youths are only by-standers.

As far as the lacrosse juniors are concerned, there are rumblings, but very faint rumblings of the re-organization sessions. If they do start, even this week, they'll be a month later than last year. But are they going to start?

The fate of the city's junior clubs should be a main interest of the senior clubs, whose future depends on the junior clubs operating. This the seniors realize but apparently don't want to do anything about.

This corner would like to point out that if the Liflocs hadn't operated for the past several seasons, there would not be a Peterborough senior team this year. The club is depending on former juniors as Jerry Frizzelle, Gary Kearns, Lawrence Foley and others to round out a contending team.

It's the same situation with the Trailermen. Losing Ross Powless, Roger Smith, Don O'Hearn and Ike Hildebrand (let's not fool ourselves, fellows, about Ike), the Trailermen need strong replacements.

Where did the Trailermen look first? Yes, to last year's and other years' Peterborough junior Pats who brought along Bob Curtis (as not yet signed), Bob Allen, Red and Garry Robinson, Lou Nickle and others.

In previous years the lacrosse juniors, sponsored by Frank Patterson, have been a separate organization, affiliated with the seniors only by a few greenbacks, really only a few. This year they were taken into the parent organization.

Other OLA junior teams have started practices and are scouting this district for players. Peterborough had better show signs of being alive or they won't have any junior players. What is worse, Peterborough won't have any future seniors.

Maybe the senior teams find the junior clubs too costly to operate since the younger lads don't draw enough fans to pay their way. But they'll find it more costly in the coming years if they have to import starry players to fill gaps.

We'll leave the subject with this story. A man spent a year developing and training a horse. The next year he built a buggy and forgot about the horse, letting it die. Of course, the wagon couldn't go.

Prayers Before Game

At a recent Catholic High School Athletic Advisory Club night for St. Peter's High teams, it was pointed out that praying before games is becoming quite common in various sports.

These prayers are not confined to Roman Catholic teams but to all teams, even those with 57 varieties of religions.

Larry Sullivan, now coach at McGill, formerly of Hamilton Cathedral, pointed out two years ago that his football players seemed to have a better team spirit resulting from the prayers.

Hilly Yudin, SPS senior coach this past season, remarked that the prayers weren't meant to be "smart". He added that players usually give a little prayer before games.

Hilly recalled a time with the Orfuns just before an important ORFU game with Orillia. Then the players, Protestants, Roman Catholics and the Jewish lads, probably all "gave a little prayer before game-time, to no avail."

Our guess is that city basketball and hockey teams this season forgot their prayers.

The advisory club also honored Hilly with a pen desk set for his work this year in SPS basketball, the best in the school's history. At the same time it expressed the wish that Hilly return for next season.

Friend Hilly refused to commit himself. He wants to return next season but may be returning to Toronto to live before the fall.

Rival Clubs Take Tigers Seriously As Wins Continue

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

Rival American League Clubs are beginning to take the amazing Detroit Tigers seriously.

Last Sunday, after the Tigers had blanked the Yanks at Yankee Stadium, New York manager Casey Stengel called Detroit the most improved club in the league.

Sunday, after the Tigers whipped Chicago White Sox 3-2 in the first game of a double-header and held them to a 10-inning 0-0 standoff in the second game, White Sox manager Paul Richards echoed Stengel's sentiments.

The Tigers now are in first place—a half-game in front of Chicago, a full game ahead of Cleveland and two ahead of the defending champion Yankees. They return home with a brilliant 5-1-1 record for their first road tour.

OTHER GAMES

In other American League games Baltimore defeated Cleveland 2-1 in 10 innings, and the Yankees whipped and tied Philadelphia in a double-header. Three home runs gave the Yanks a 7-4 opening game triumph and rookie Bill Skowron's run-scoring single in the eighth gave them a 1-1 tie in the second game halted after nine innings on account of darkness. Rain washed out a scheduled doubleheader between Washington and the Red Sox in Boston.

Brooklyn opened up a half-game lead in the National League, nipping Philadelphia Phils 2-1 while the second-place Cincinnati Redlegs split a doubleheader with St. Louis. The Redlegs came back to win the second game 6-5 after the Cardinals had captured the opener 10-7. New York Giants walloped Pittsburgh 5-1 and Chicago Cubs edged Milwaukee 5-3.

It took Detroit 11 innings to defeat the White Sox in the opener. The winning run crossed the plate when Cass Michaels committed a throwing error with two out and the bases loaded in the 11th.

The Indians missed an opportunity to pass Chicago for the runner-up spot when Bob Turley held them to four hits. Gil Coan's single scored Neil Berry with the run that hung a tough defeat upon Art Houtteman.

HOMERS DID IT

Home runs by Andy Carey, Yogi Berra and Enos Slaughter accounted for all but one New York run as the Yankees inflicted the first defeat of the season upon Bob Trice, the Athletics' rookie right-hander who won his first four starts.

Carl Erskine outpitched Robin Roberts as the Dodgers swept the three-game series from Philadelphia. Erskine permitted five hits but was in constant hot water with nine bases on balls. Five double plays helped him immeasurably.

Sal Maglie hurled a six-hitter against the Pirates for his fifth triumph against one defeat. The Giants broke a 1-1 tie in the eighth and added two more in the ninth on Willie Mays' triple.

Home runs by Hank Sauer and Ralph Kiner helped Chicago's Bob Rush defeat Warren Spahn of the Braves.

Ted Kluszewski hammered three home runs and droye in eight runs for the Redlegs. His last homer proved the difference in the 6-5 Redleg victory.

Stan Musial batted in four runs with his 10th homer and two singles to lead the Cards to their first-game victory. Musial collected two more hits in the nightcap to take over the league batting lead at .382.

Andrade Wins 10-Round Bout

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Undefeated Cisco Andrade, a sharp-punching boxer from Compton, Calif., won a unanimous 10-round decision Saturday night over Armand Savoie of Montreal in a lightweight fight in Memorial Auditorium. Each weighed 136 pounds.

The victory was the second straight over a nationally ranked foe for the aggressive Andrade and is certain to send his stock as a lightweight contender soaring.

Savoie, a ring-wise veteran with decisions over half a dozen well-regarded lightweights, fought in flurries. But he seldom ruffled the methodical left jabs and sharp overhand rights of Andrade.

Referee Lou Scozza gave it to Andrade, 5, 3 and 2 even. Judge Anse Carroll scored it 6-4. Judge Leon Stachowiak gave it to Andrade 7, 2 and 1 even.

O'Brien Breaks Record 3 Times

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Giant Larry O'Brien of Los Angeles made a shambles of the supposedly unpenetrable 60-foot mark in the shotput Saturday when he twice officially surpassed the distance and wound up a record-shattering day with an amazing put of 60 feet, 5¼ inches.

The 22-year-old holder of the world record, with a performance that astounded several thousand track and field fans gathered for the UCLA-USC dual Pacific Coast Conference meet, actually broke his own world record three times before concluding the series.

The 1952 Olympic champion signalled what was to come when he tossed the 16-pound iron ball unofficially 60 feet, 4 inches in his first warmup while he was still wearing his sweat suit, complete with pants and jacket.

O'Brien, 220-pound former University of Southern California athlete, last year set the official world record of 59 feet 2¼ inches. Two weeks ago he bettered the mark in an exhibition at the Drake relays, registering 59 feet 9¾ inches. Application for acceptance of the mark was in the works until he went on his rampage Saturday.

3 Provincial Records Broken In Zone Trials

MONTREAL (CP) — Three provincial records and one Canadian record were broken Saturday at the eastern zone weightlifting trials for the forthcoming British Empire Games in Vancouver.

In a 4½ hour program that saw seven weight divisions compete, heavyweight Dave Baillie of Noranda, Que., in the press movement lifted 321½ pounds to better his previous provincial record by 10 pounds.

Later in the clean-and-jerk division he topped by 5¼ pounds a Quebec record he established in October 1953 by lifting 370 pounds. In all Baillie totalled 980 pounds.

In the featherweight division Jules Sylvain of Quebec in the clean-and-jerk movement lifted 269¾ pounds, 1¼ pounds better than his earlier Canadian record of this year. He reached a total of 685 pounds.

Ex-Pitcher Dies

TORONTO (CP)—Former Brantford Red Sox pitcher Richard Tasker, 68, died Saturday in hospital here. Born in Woodstock, he played for the Red Sox in 1911 and 1912.

Strongman Doug Hepburn Weight-Lifting Record

VANCOUVER (CP)—Strongman Doug Hepburn smashed his world weight-lifting record Saturday night when he snatched 381 pounds off the ground, raised it shoulder high, and then thrust it to arms' length over his head.

He boosted 270 pounds in the two-handed snatch lift, and easily handled 350 pounds in the two-handed clean and jerk for a total of 1,001 pounds in the three-lift total.

His world record lift of 381 pounds in the military press was 9½ pounds more than his championship effort in Stockholm last summer. His over-all total, however, fell short of the 1,030 pounds he picked up in Europe.

One Canadian and four provincial marks were also bettered in the weight-lifting show, billed as the combined British Empire Games weightlifting trials and western Canada championships.

Stan Gibson of Vancouver set a Canadian lightweight mark when he pressed 230 pounds, 1¾ pounds over the previous record. He also set the three B.C. marks.

The western winners will have their marks compared against those in the eastern division and against accepted standards before a committee selects Canada's seven-man Games team.

Syracuse Belts Richmond In Doubleheader

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Syracuse Chiefs have been getting good pitching when their hitters fail and powerful slugging when the hurlers falter. That's why they lead the International League today.

Rochester Red Wings are 1½ games behind the Chiefs, but they're idle tonight and the Chiefs have another contest with the last-place Richmond Virginians whom they whipped twice Sunday.

The Chiefs belted Richmond 21-7 in the opener and 4-3 in the nightcap. Pitcher Duke Markell scored the winning run on Johnny Blatnik's single in the nightcap. In the opener, the Virginians hit three home runs, but the Chiefs came through with four plus a pair of triples.

The Red Wings defeated Ottawa Athletics 6-4 for a sweep of their two-game series. Niles Jordan needed help from Tony Jacobs in the eighth to gain the victory.

Toronto Maple Leafs clubbed Montreal Royals 12-9 in the first game of a scheduled doubleheader. The nightcap was called at the end of the seventh with the score tied at 0-0. Elston Howard, Bobby Wilson, Ed Stevens and Sam Jethroe hit home runs for the winners and accounted for 11 runs.

Buffalo Bisons and Havana Sugar Kings split a twin bill. The Herd won the first 3-2 behind Hal Erickson's eight-hit pitching while the Cubans took the second 5-3.

CAHA Told Japs Looming As Hockey Threat

By DON MATHESON

VANCOUVER (CP)—The latest threat to world hockey supremacy is shooting up from the land of the rising sun.

So says Jimmie Dunn of Winnipeg, first vice-president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

Resolutions to come before the annual CAHA meeting here today through Thursday are concerned with the other side of the world—Canada's showing in the world hockey tournament in Europe.

But Dunn says "watch out for those Japanese." He toured Japan this spring on the nine-game exhibition tour of the Kenora Thistles.

"The difference they showed in style between the first and last game was amazing," he said Sunday.

"They'd come up to our quarters the day after a game and ask questions. 'What did we do wrong when you scored that goal' 'Why do you shoot that way.' "

NEVER REPEAT MISTAKE

"And then they would never repeat the mistake again. By the end of the tour the goalie was kicking out goals and the team was playmaking like veterans."

Dunn made his remarks at the end of the closed sessions of the CAHA rules and resolutions committees Sunday.

In the rules committee, delegates passed a motion asking that old-style hockey be brought back. They approved a B.C. resolution asking that old legislation be renewed to stop players dumping the puck into the corners from outside the blueline.

CONTROL INTERFERENCE

They felt a return to "carrying the puck over the blueline" would help control the rugged, choppy, interference-filled modern game. It would also bring a return of stick-handling and play-making, they said.

Rule changes approved by the meeting are subject to agreement with the National Hockey League, under the NHL-CAHA agreement expiring in 1955.

The defeat of East York Lyndhursts in the world hockey tournament in Stockholm this year was the other Sunday subject to get a working over.

Resolution committee members couldn't come to an agreement on a recommendation to improve Canada's representation in the tourney in future years, so left the subject over for the full convention sessions.

The first full convention sessions today open with the president's report, followed by the registrars', financial and playoff reports.

Wife Believes De Castires Alive

PARIS (AP) — The wife of Brig.-Gen. Christian de Castires, French commander of the fallen fortress of Dien Bien Phu, said today she firmly believes that her husband is alive, Agence France-Presse reported from Hanoi.

Mrs. Jacqueline de Castires said in Hanoi that in their last telephone talks, on Friday, her husband told her, "Do not worry. I have already been a prisoner. We will meet again."

1919 Transatlantic Flight Dramatized On Screen

By STEWART MacLEOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — The first transatlantic flight from Newfoundland to Ireland in 1919 will be dramatized on the screen before the end of this year but there will be few scenes from this rocky starting point.

London Film Productions will shoot most of the Newfoundland scenes in England and Scotland, apart from one shot of this rugged coastline fading away.

This scene, taken from the gun turret of a modern military plane, will show Alcock and Brown's last night of land before they guided their canvas-covered biplane over the horizon. Lester's field, the take-off point, has been devoured by expansion of St. John's, and take-off scenes will be done in Scotland.

OLD-TIMERS HELP

Graham Wallace, scriptwriter of the movie, has spent a month here talking to old-timers who witnessed the take-off, gathering faded photographs, studying yellowed weather charts and searching for friends of pilot John Alcock and navigator Whitton Brown.

He said the movie, still unnamed, will also include the two unsuccessful attempts earlier in 1919. Raynham and Morgan crawled out of their wrecked plane just a few miles from Lester's field, while Hawker and Grieve dropped in mid-ocean to be picked up by a passing freighter.

Mr. Wallace had no difficulty getting eye-witness accounts. There are still many men around eager to tell the part they played in giving Alcock and Brown a Newfoundland send-off. Some even remember the adventurers carried in their lunch cans "meat sandwiches and cocoa."

This plane like the other two, was shipped here from England by boat, and flights were started from this side because of prevailing tail winds.

HISTORIC TAKE-OFF

The whole town turned out for the take-off. About 40 men grabbed the plane and held it while Alcock and Brown revved the motors. When the two Rolls Royce engines attained full speed, chocks were pulled from the wheels, the men led go, and the clumsy craft rumbled along the bumpy field into the air. Seven thousand people, many of whom waited since early morning for the mid - afternoon takeoff, cheered and waved to the fliers.

Some of these people stayed up all night waiting word on the plane which lost its radio generator shortly after takeoff. No word was received until the next morning when church-goers saw the bulletin on the post office building. The notice said the plane landed in an Irish bog 16 hours and 12 minutes after leaving St. John's.

Alcock was killed in a plane crash the following year. Brown died in 1946.

Mission Band Meets At Roseneath Church

ROSENEATH (ENS) — "Many Hands in Many Lands" was the subject of the study book presented by Mrs. Reginald Crego, leader of the Mission Band, in Roseneath United church.

Mrs. Crego conducted a questionnaire on the study book, the 18 members taking part in the answers.

President Marie Robins presided over the business period. Mary Coyle was pianist for the worship service.

The meeting closed with prayer.

HOW ARE THE BUMS DOIN'?—Charley Dressen, left, gives pitching pointers to Jim Atkins. Dressen's Oaks top the Pacific Coast League and Oakland attendance is up. The manager was refused a contract for more than one year after the Dodgers were beaten in a play-off and won consecutive pennants in three years under him.

This revolutionary new gasoline advancement delivers MAXIMUM POWER yet actually CUTS ENGINE WEAR!

NEW! Sky Chief
Super-Charged with PETROX

THESE ARE THE FACTS proved in more than a million miles of testing: New Sky Chief is Super-Charged with PETROX—an exclusive petroleum-base element developed by Texaco engineers—to give you . . .

1. MAXIMUM POWER yet less engine wear. Greater protection against wear, glazing and harmful deposits—for valves, valve guides and valve seats, pistons and piston rings. Ring wear on test cars reduced up to 45% . . . spark plug life and efficiency prolonged over 300%!

2. A CLEANER, SMOOTHER ENGINE. Intake system deposits cut as much as 38%. Cleanliness like this assures smoother, knock-free performance.

3. MEASURED ECONOMY. This new kind of gasoline keeps your engine younger . . . because it delivers maximum power, yet actually cuts engine wear! Result: lower repair bills . . . and real extra gasoline mileage you can measure.

4. CLIMATE-CONTROL. Here's a plus-value that this great gasoline gives you! New Sky Chief is 100% Climate-Controlled—specially blended for top performance in Canada and the United States.

Fill up today at your Texaco Dealer*, the best friend your car can ever have . . . and keep your tank filled with new Sky Chief. You'll enjoy a new responsiveness—quicker starts and warm-ups, faster getaways, a knock-free power surge you've never known before!

WHAT IS PETROX? Petrox is a new additive, wholly derived from petroleum. Developed by Texaco engineers, Petrox is an exclusive Texaco product.
It is a petro-chemical completely different in composition from any other additive.
It is the only such additive being used in any gasoline. The fact that it is made entirely from petroleum is important because it does not contain anything that can leave harmful engine deposits.
Furthermore, Petrox adds a brand new function: the ability to reduce engine wear.
As a result, the consistent users of new Sky Chief gasoline are assured maximum power and longer engine life.

QUEBEC WINS—Goalie Jack Gelineau of Quebec Aces has just kicked out a puck from the stick of Calgary Stampeder Max Quackenbush (3) in third period play of the second game at Calgary of the best-of-nine east-west series for the minor professional hockey championship of Canada. Quebec won 2-1. Calgary, Western League titlists, won the first game 8-1 over the Quebec Hockey League champs in competition for the Edinburgh Trophy. George Pargeter (7) and Steve Witiuk are the other Stampeders in the picture. An unidentified Quebec player circles the net and watches as Gelineau moves out to smother a rebound. —(CP Photo).

Calgary Edges Quebec 6-5 To Take Lead

CALGARY (CP)—Calgary Stampeders took a 2-1 lead in the best-of-nine Edinburgh Trophy series by whipping Quebec, Aces 6-5 in Edmonton Saturday night in a hard-fought hockey contest which saw the eastern contestants run out of time in a last-minute rushing offensive.

For coach Frank Currie of Stampeders the victory didn't justify optimism. "Aces are no pushovers and it will be a tough series," he said Sunday after arriving here for the fourth game tonight. "It's touch and go all the way."

Stampeders, Western Hockey League champions, began the series with a lopsided 8-1 decision, then fell 2-1 to Aces before Saturday night's tilt.

Once it worked, defenceman Joe Crozier scoring from a scramble. Seconds later he bounced another one off the goal post. Shy only the tying counter, Gelineau was replaced again, only to be pulled again without results.

HAIL THE CONQUERING HERO—Roger Bannister is carried by students in a triumphal march through the streets of Oxford, England, after he broke the four-minute barrier by running the mile in 3:59.4.

St. Catharines TeePees Beat Edmonton 8-2 As Defence Falls Apart

By JIM PEACOCK

TORONTO (CP)—The odds favoring the east climbed with the late spring temperature today following St. Catharines TeePees 8-2 victory in Sunday's Memorial Cup hockey final opener.

TeePees, as hot as the sun that drove the thermometer to the high 70s, bounded into a one-game lead in the best-of-seven Canadian junior final as Oil Kings fell apart.

But despite Edmonton's worst defeat of the season, the consensus among officials of the participants is that TeePees face no easy road in search of their first Memorial Cup.

Coach Rudy Pilous of St. Catharines showed a bit more optimism than before the series started, but he wasn't looking for a pushover. Ken McAuley, Oil King chief, wasn't entirely pessimistic. "My club's a lot better than that," he said after the game. Neither club reported injuries.

WEAK DEFENCE

TeePees rolled through a weak Edmonton defence, shooting almost at will at overworked Al Jacobson in the Edmonton goal. Only in spurts did the western champions show the 4,780 fans a little of what took them through 55 league and playoff games with only four losses.

TeePees' first-string line of Brian and Barry Cullen and Hughie Barlow was the most impressive on the ice, but big Jack Armstrong set the scoring pace with three goals. Barlow and Don McLean, a linemate of Armstrong, scored twice each and Brian Cullen got the other St. Catharines' marker.

GETS EDMONTON MARKER

Norm Ullman, an Edmonton standout along with the third line of Jack Moore, Ron Tookey and Eddie Diachuk, and Jerry Melnyk, one of Kings' leading marksmen in the regular season, scored for Edmonton.

Oil Kings were impressive in the opening minutes of the first and third periods, going ahead 1-0 on Melnyk's early goal and cutting the count to 5-2 in the third when Ullman backhanded a shot past St. Kitts' netminder Marv Edwards after breaking with Johnny Bucyk

PENALTIES COSTLY

Two interference penalties—to Billy McNeill and Melnyk—cost Kings dearly in the first period, Barlow scoring twice and Brian Cullen once as a result. Armstrong and McLean scored in the second and Armstrong with two and McLean with one wrapped it up in the third.

McAuley wasn't pleased with Kings' performance. "They can play a lot better than that," he said. "But they've got to get back into the idea of playing hockey and they have to get used to the Gardens."

The Edmonton coach said Oil Kings have had trouble keeping in a "hockey-playing mood" during a three-week layoff since they won the western title. And the warm spring weather hasn't helped.

"But they'll improve," he said.

Pilous shared this view: "We expect a lot of opposition yet. They're a good bunch of boys and they handle the puck well, and they'll come along." He added "If they don't improve, then it's just the difference in the league we play in."

BOROS WINS ARDMORE

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP)—Julius Boros, the former national Open golf champion from Mid Pines, N.C., returned to his favorite habit of winning the big links Sunday by capturing the rich Ardmore Open tournament with a 72-hole total of 279.

The 34-year-old Boros held on doggedly to withstand a serious challenge from little Jerry Barber of La Canada, Calif., and pick up $7,200 as the first prize in Waco Turner's extravaganza of greenbacks.

Boros played the final three holes in one-under-par to beat Barber's 280 total.

Rudy Horvath of Windsor, Ont., Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N.Y., Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla. and former national Open champion Lloyd Mangrum were tied for seventh with 286 totals.

Horvath shot a two-under-par 68 to get his 286 total and pocketed $500 for the day's best score.

PATTY BEATS VIC

ROME (AP)—Budge Patty, veteran international tennis player, upset the slumping Vic Seixas Saturday in the quarter-finals of the Italian international tournament 6-3, 6-2, 10-8.

Patty, former Los Angeles player who now lives in Paris, never trailed as he whipped the defending Wimbledon champion in straight sets.

Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., America's other defending Wimbledon champion, breezed past Silvania Lazzarino, Italy's top woman player, 6-3, 6-3, to reach the women's finals.

BOOSTS SALES

Sam Rosen, chairman of ticket sales, said Saturday business picked up immediately after the news of the Oxford, Eng., race broke Friday and $800 worth were sold instead of the usual $300 expected that day.

Rosen said the demand for tickets was especially heavy on the day the mile final will be run. Heats for the mile will be Aug. 5 with the finals Aug. 7.

WINS GREENBRIER

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Herman Scharlau of Boca Raton, Fla., won his first major golf tournament Saturday, taking a three-way sudden-death playoff in the Greenbrier Open on the third hole where Sam Snead missed one of his classic two-foot putts.

The 33-year-old Scharlau slid in a putt three times longer than Snead's to cop the $2,000 first prize money.

Scharlau, Snead and Jack Burke Jr. went out for the sudden decision after they tied for the 72 holes at 274. Burke was eliminated from the playoff on the second hole where he couldn't match the birdie threes of his opponents.

CROSS TRADED

CHICAGO (AP)—Tackle Bobby Cross, who returned to Chicago Bears after a season with Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the Big Four, has been traded to Los Angeles Rams for Larry Brink, it was announced Saturday.

Coach George Halas of the Bears said it was a straight player deal between the two National Football League Clubs, with no cash involved. Brink, six-foot-five, 245-pounder, is one of the game's outstanding defensive ends.

NAVY WINS AGAIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Navy's veteran crew swept to the unofficial eastern American rowing championship Saturday by defeating Penn and Harvard in the Adams Cup regatta on the Schuylkill river.

Navy was timed in 6:08.1 for the mile and 5-16ths, finishing a length ahead of the surprising Penn crew. Harvard was a close third, three-quarters of a length behind Penn.

Penn, unbeaten previously this spring while winning the Childs and Blackwell Cups, is paced by Jack Guest Jr., of Toronto, former Canadian and U.S. singles sculling champion who rows despite a malformation of the spine.

PAKISTAN AHEAD

WORCESTER, Eng. (Reuters)—Pakistan, the "babes" of international cricket, made a great start to their official tour of England Saturday, when they hit 374 runs for eight wickets against Worcestershire here.

Two players, opening bat A. Alimuddin 142 and Maqsood Ahmed 111, hit centuries as the visitors incessantly attacked the bowler.

Warsaw Hockey Stars Presented With Jackets

WARSAW (ENS)—The Warsaw Flyers held a stag party in the Legion Hall and enjoyed a social evening of cards.

During the evening the players were presented with their jackets. They used the balance of their money and with other donations contributed have been able to get their jackets. There is a small amount owing on them yet but they plan to have a few dances in order to help finance the rest.

Donations were given by Hendrens Funeral home, Lakefield, $10.00; Nepheline Mines, $50.00; Legion Branch 511, $25.00; Women's Auxiliary Branch 511, $25.00. Other donations were George Bennett; George Gilmour, Harley Carr and William Ausborne, all of Peterborough.

13 Fatalities Reported Over Weekend

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Highway accidents and drownings took the greatest toll of lives among 13 violent deaths in eastern Canada during the week-end. Two slayings were recorded.

A Canadian Press survey shows that traffic mishaps accounted for six deaths. Four persons were drowned, two persons were shot to death and another died from self-inflicted gun wounds.

Ontario's total of eight deaths was the highest. Robert Mortimer, 28, of Toronto and Ronica Stroud of Huntsville were killed when their car collided with a pickup truck near Gravenhurst. Ronald Hewitt, 17, of Portland, died of injuries suffered in a two-car crash near Smiths Falls.

Charles Saunders, 34, of Bracebridge was drowned when his boat capsized on a nearby lake. Jerry Johnson, 12, of Sudbury, was drowned after his canoe tipped over on Wahnapitae lake. An 18-month-old baby, David Bryan of Plympton township, east of Sarnia, was drowned when he tumbled unnoticed into a law water trough.

MURDER CHARGE LAID

One murder occurred in Ontario A 30-year-old Hamilton woman, Mary Carter, died of a gunshot wound in her head after surgeons had worked seven hours to save her. Police charged Lloyd A. Webb, 30, formerly of the West Indies, with murder.

Danny Wilson, 24, a Walpole island reserve Indian, died from .22 calibre bullet wounds police believed self-inflicted. He came originally from Needles, Calif.

A second slaying took place in eastern Canada. David Yeaman, a 25-year-old Scottish seaman, was found shot to death in a downtown Montreal apartment a few blocks from where his ship was docked.

Arcade Larose, 55, of Riviere des Prairies was drowned when his boat capsized on Back river, New Brunswick, with one highway fatality, was the only Maritime province with a week-end violent death.

Cecil Gordon Hunt

Funeral service for the late Cecil Gordon Hunt, 40, of 31 Dennistoun Ave., who died Wednesday at his home, was held on Saturday at the Kaye funeral home.

Major Harry Everitt of the Salvation Army officiated, and pallbearers were Alex Stevens, Horace Fisher, Thomas Nolan, Eric Smith, Gordon Ellis and Robert Dundas. Burial was at Little Lake cemetery.

Provinces Represented At Planning Meet

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP)—The Moose Jaw Trades and Labor Council suggested that a monument be erected in memory of the 37 persons killed in the mid-air collision last month between a Trans-Canada passenger transport and an air force training plane.

POTENTIAL FLOOD GROUND—This aerial view of the Fraser river shows part of the Fraser valley which suffered nearly $30,000,000 flood damage in 1948 and where again this year serious flood danger is indicated. River levels started to climb when the mercury rose to the 70's in many districts, melting snow in the mountains. The river is normally full with runoff from the mountains this time of year but this year, as in the 1948 flood year, melting snow is late and citizens are preparing to battle possible flood on the southern interior and the lower mainland. This view, looking west, shows danger points flooded in 1948 and thousands of sandbars along the river still bare. Chilliwack is just off the picture at left. Sumas mountain is top left. The long flats of Ticomen Island are right. Farther west are the dyked lands of Matsqui and Hatzic.—(CP Photo).

Sexy Advertising New Censor Problem

TORONTO (CP)—Over-emphasis of sex in film advertising and the increased importation of foreign-language films have created new problems for the Ontario board of censors, O. J. Silverthorne, board chairman, said today.

In submitting his annual report to Premier Frost, Mr. Silverthorne said there was a tendency in advertising to stress sex even for pictures which dealt sparingly with sex problems.

"Consequently, it became increasingly difficult to deal with the advertising and certain distributors and exhibitors attempted to take advantage of our position with regard to newspaper advertisements and theatre fronts.

"However, with the proclaiming of the new Theatres Act the authority of the board has been increased considerably and we do not expect further difficulty."

REACH AGREEMENT

Mr. Silverthorne said an agreement had been reached between the exhibitors, distributors and the board on a new procedure to be followed in submitting advertising matter, especially of European films.

Of a total of 31,592 pieces of advertising, 229 were rejected and 34 approved after treatment by the distributor.

The board chairman said the tremendous influs of immigrants to Ontario last year caused number of feature motion pictures imported from 10 non-English language lands to jump from 59 in the previous fiscal year to 109.

"Our desire not to interfere with the tastes our immigrants brought with them has intensified the work of censorship, as did the increased number of motion pictures created for adult reception."

The censor board reviewed 591 feature subjects made in Austria, Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Hungary, Mexico, Poland, Russia and the United States. Of these 495 were approved without treatment or classification.

Soviet Trawlers Sail

CUXHAVEN, Germany (AP)—A flotilla of 19 new Soviet fish trawlers, just completed in a Baltic yard, passed this North sea port Sunday en route to the Black sea, German shipping authorities reported. The trawlers were built in the Soviet-controlled port of Koenigsberg (Laininggrad), the former German shipping base.

Name Assistant To Principal At Lakefield

LAKEFIELD (ENS) — Miss Helen Black, of Peterborough, was appointed commercial teacher and assistant principal when the Lakefield District High School Board met, with the chairman, Chester Hamilton, presiding.

Miss Black will replace Donald J. Campbell as commercial teacher. Mr. Campbell's resignation was accepted at the meeting.

The application of C. J. Mundy, of Toronto, as teacher of boys' physical education was also accepted. Miss Helen Spanis will receive a bonus for PT course, with the assurance that she will remain on the staff for at least one year. If not, the sum is to be deducted from her last cheque.

The board will grant $25 to the Lakefield Public Library for services rendered to high school students. Principal J. E. Stephens reported attendance for April as 211 pupils with average 198.2 and percentage 95.9.

FIELD DAY

It was decided that field day will be May 14 and cadet inspection May 28, with a dance in the evening. The staff of the school was present and requested that salaries be paid in 12 monthly instalments.

The finance committee recommended payment of accounts, general $1,227.65; transportation, $2,265.12, and cafeteria, $281.16.

Deborah Kerr Graduates To Mature Roles

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Miss Deborah Kerr, who won fame and fortune in Hollywood playing roles she has described as "unmarried Mrs. Miniver," has graduated happily now, she says, to playing suffering married women.

For this sudden maturity, Miss Kerr (pronounced "car") gives sincere thanks to the movie "From Here to Eternity." It was her portrayal of the brooding, physically frustrated Karen in this picture which won her a nomination for an Academy Oscar and transferred her career to Broadway where she has been starring in the smash hit "Tea and Sympathy."

This June she'll leave Broadway for London's Strand to star in Graham Greene's "The End of the Affair," Playing another unhappy wedded female.

But Miss Kerr, 32, isn't one of those who fled Hollywood screaming her distaste for its habitual type-casting. Uncomplaining, she just got fed up to the top of her red head and quietly rebelled. Then she landed the role opposite Burt Lancaster in "Eternity" which changed her life.

WANTED TO ACT

"I felt that the parts I was getting—and I suppose they were good enough parts—weren't giving me a chance to do what I enjoy doing—act," she explained with complete good humor.

In six Hollywood years, beginning with "The Hucksters" in 1947, and climaxed by "From Here to Eternity," she had a fine assortment of co-stars, including Clark Gable, Spencer Tracy, Robert Taylor, James Mason and Cary Grant.

She's another of the current crop of ballet-trained actresses. Born in Scotland, she grew up in Sussex, England. Most of her education was received in a girls' boarding school where her Aunt Jane taught dramatics. For a while she wanted to be a dancer and studied at the Sadler's Wells ballet school. But

"I started dancing a little too late, and anyway, I was too tall," she explained. "It finally occurred to me that I'd never be anything more than a swan in the back row and I wanted to dance leads."

So she switched to acting, found a spot in an outdoor London repertory theatre and there wangled an audition with Gabriel Pascal as he was casting for a movie version of Shaw's "Major Barbara." She won a small part and was launched in British films.

During the war Deborah, like every other Briton, did her bit—in her case entertaining the troops. Doing this she met Sqdn. Ldr. Anthony C. Bartley, RAF. They were married a few months after the war's end.

The Bartleys have two children, Melanie, 6, and Francesca—called Frankie—aged 2.

Part Of Thruway Open In August

NEW YORK (CP)—The Herald Tribune says today a 150-mile section of the New York state thruway from Buffalo to Utica, N.Y., is scheduled to be open to the public by August.

In the first of a series of articles on the new 400-mile toll highway linking New York City with the western border of the state, the newspaper says the working schedule calls for completion of an additional 230 miles of the road to Suffern, on New York's northern outskirts by October.

A spur from Buffalo ultimately will run to Niagara Falls, N.Y., connecting with Ontario's Queen Elizabeth Way by way of the Rainbow bridge. No date is given for the scheduled completion of the spur.

The Herald Tribune says the entire project is scheduled to be completed by December, 1955.

British Paper Gives Opinion Of Britons

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's most popular tabloid Sunday told its readers "What the Yanks think of you"—and it wasn't good.

The mass circulation Daily Mirror based its conclusions on a survey by William Connor, its No. 1 columnist, of 5,000 American servicemen stationed in this country.

The biggest gripe of the Americans, according to Connor, was that the soldiers' attempts at friendliness often met with stiff-necked British reserve, suspicion, or contempt.

The second gripe was that they are charged two to three times as much for houses and apartments as a Briton would pay.

Car Strikes Pole

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP)—George Jodouin, 19, of Cornwall, Ont., was killed Sunday when the auto he was driving collided with a pole near the Racquette river bridge about five miles east of here. Jodouin died of a fractured skull. Coroner J. Benton Pike of Massena ruled the death accidental.

Italian Steel

VANCOUVER (CP) — Pre-fabricated steel towers from Italy arrived here by steamship for a new 345,000-volt transmission line along Harrison lake. The Italian Sae Company won the contract in competition with bids from all over the world.

ANCIENT STATE

Lithuania, incorporated with Russia since 1940, was an independent state in the 13th century.

NO BRIDGES NEEDED—Most motorists driving from Montreal to Edmonton keep to the roads and when they come to water they "cross over the bridge." Not so with Robert Hubert, of Paris, France, who is shown above prior to starting out on the last lap of the Paris to Edmonton jaunt. Mr. Hubert, a 31-year-old mechanic, has a job lined up in Edmonton driving a bulldozer, and if he likes it in Canada, plans to settle here for good. His amphibious vehicle is a 1943 German Volkswagen which will cruise along at 75 m.p.h. on land and a little better than eight knots on water.

Piece Of Cork Saves Girl, 10

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Ten-year-old Darlene Roaten, who does not swim, supported herself with a small piece of cork for more than three hours Sunday while the current swept her 10 miles down the Mississippi river.

Her father, J. S. Roaten, meanwhile swam more than two hours to rescue his wife and their son, Bobby, 8, after they and Darlene had stepped off an under-water sandbar into the swift Mississippi current.

Roaten threw them pieces of old life jackets and leaped from their 17-foot motorboat and swam to the rescue of his family. He left another son, Michael, 4, in the boat with the motor idling.

The boat began drifting and Roaten swam after it for more than two hours before he regained it. Then he used the boat to pick up his wife and Bobby but Darlene had drifted out of sight.

Darlene was picked up just before dark by a towboat. A witness said the piece of cork supporting her was about half the size of a cigar box.

50,000 Reds In Near East

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. day there are about 50,000 Communist party members in the countries of the Near East and Information Agency reported Sunsaid their activities may eventually endanger that part of the world.

The agency advised its overseas posts that increasing Red activities in some Near East countries "are aimed at exploiting the growing desire for social and economic progress and the fulfillment of national aspirations."

Mothers Auxiliary Officers Installed

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Mrs. Alex Rosborough was hostess in her home to the mothers' auxiliary to the Guides and Brownies.

Mrs. Sherman Stockdale, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the slate of officers for the coming year, which was accepted. They are: past president, Mrs. Alex Rosborough; president, Mrs. Estelle Hopkins; vice-president, Mrs. Sherman Stockdale; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. V. Lokes; elected members, Mrs. T. Payton and Mrs. E. Bickell.

The new officers were installed by the retiring president, Mrs. Rosborough, who thanked the members for their co-operation during her term of office.

Plans were made for making flags for semaphores. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Clarence Foster, Mrs. Roy Farrow and Mrs. Payton.

Joyce Payne Presides Warsaw Legion Meet

WARSAW (ENS) — The Women's Auxiliary of Legion Branch 511 held their monthly meeting last week. Comrade Joyce Payne was in charge of the meeting.

The Peterborough Women's Auxiliary extended an invitation to the Warsaw auxiliary to attend their June meeting in Peterborough on June 7, at which a salad supper will be served at 6 o'clock.

An invitation was received from Millbrook to attend the district rally in Millbrook on May 19 at 6:30.

The auxiliary donated $25 towards the Warsaw Flyers to help pay for their jackets.

Card conveners for the next month are Comrades Emma Selkirk and Joyce Payne.

$200 Damage As Cars Collide In Sideswipe

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Damage estimated at close to $200 was caused on Friday morning when two cars collided in a sideswipe on a township road near the settlement of Menie, about five miles south-east of Campbellford.

A car driven by Kenneth F. Hagerman, 41, R.R. 3, Campbellford, was passing a child on a bicycle on a hill when another vehicle, driven by Earl Kelly, 44, of R.R. 3, Campbellford, came over the hill. The two vehicles met on the narrow roadway in a sideswipe, but no one was injured. Provincial Constable Archie Eady, of Campbellford, investigated.

Knox Ladies' Aid Meets

KEENE (ENS)—The Ladies' Aid of Knox Presbyterian church met at the home of Miss Viola Wilson Thursday evening with 14 members present. The president, Mrs. Neil McCuaig, was in the chair.

Psalm 41 was read by Mrs. Donald Davis and Miss Viola Wilson gave a reading, "The McPhersons Go To Europe".

Mrs. E. Wilson read three short poems. Plans were made for the serving of refreshments following the induction service of the Rev. G. Smith, which is to take place on the evening of May 26th in Knox Presbyterian church, Keene.

Readings were given by Mrs. F. Blackbourn and Mrs. N. McCuaig.

Miss Edith Wood was in charge of contests and refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Herb. Thompson.

Up To Voters

SASKATOON (CP)—Fluoridation equipment valued at $14,000 has arrived here, since city council approved fluoridation of Saskatoon's water supply, but it will have to wait in storage. Action has been postponed until after a plebiscite is held Nov. 3.

ROYAL CHILDREN IN MALTA—Prince Charles and Princess Anne picnic with their great-uncle and great-aunt, Admiral the Earl of Mountbatten and Lady Mountbatten, at Peter's Pool on the south coast of Malta. The royal children were photographed after they arrived from Britain aboard the Royal yacht Britannia to meet their parents, the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh.

Put UAW Local Under Board

FLINT, Mich. (CP) — Chevrolet Local 659 was placed under control of the international executive board of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) Saturday for printing "anti-union material" in its newspaper and dissipating the local's funds.

UAW regional director Robert Carter will assume control today. Robert Murphy, president of the 15,000-member local, said the move was a "political job."

The international executive charged the local paid unnecessary expenses to members of the shop committee, did not conform to policies of the international union in "Searchlight," its bi-weekly newspaper and continued to publish "anti-union" material.

A spokesman for the international said the paper had hinted the international union was in collusion with management.

Murphy said the move resulted because he was opposed to Carter and was elected local president on "an anti-Carter slate."

Big Cheque

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (CP)—A cheque for $2,373,083, proceeds from sale of debentures to cover the cost of a new power plant, was deposited by the City of Medicine Hat. It was the largest individual sum ever handled by this municipality of 17,000 population.

Ottawa Youth Wins Reporting Award

NEW YORK (CP) — Langevin Cote, 23, of Ottawa has been named 1954 recipient of the Charles M. Lincoln - Charles P. Cooper award for outstanding reporting at the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism, Dean Carl W. Ackerman announced Sunday.

Cote, a great-grandson of Sir Hector Langevin, a father of Confederation, was with Ottawa Le Droit before enrolling in the journalism course at Columbia.

Lost Opportunity For Jet Design

NEW YORK (AP)—A refugee aircraft expert said Saturday designs for the famed MiG-15 jet fighter were lost to the West in 1946 when American military authorities refused to grant asylum to the jet's German designer.

The swift, deadly MiG-15 was one of the most effective weapons used by the Communists in Korea. The United States finally obtained its secrets last year by paying $100,000 to a defecting North Korean pilot.

Saturday's statement on the plane was made by Valentin Sokolov, 41, who was identified before a congressional committee as a high-ranking Soviet aircraft expert before his defection in 1948.

Sokolov told the committee the MiG-15 was designed by Prof. Seigfried Guenther, former head of the Henkel aircraft plant which built crack fighters and bombers for Nazi Germany.

Drama Groups Travel A Long Way

HAMILTON (CP) — Theatre groups from as far west as Trail, B.C., and as far east as Newfoundland will appear in the anpual Dominion Drama Festival here this week.

Of the eight groups to play at the Palace Theatre during festival week, the Newfoundlanders, the Northcliffe Dramatic Club have chalked up the most impressive travel record.

The Newfoundlanders, from Grand Falls, arrived in Hamilton Saturday after a marathon of five railway changes, plus a steamer trip. The novelty was double-fold since 90 per cent of the troupe has never been outside Newfoundland.

They will play "Juno and the Paycock," by Irish author Sean O'Casey on Tuesday night.

The festival opens tonight with a performance of "Rebecca," by the Hamilton Players' Guild, winner of the western Ontario regional drama festival. Governor-General Vincent Massey will welcome actors and playgoers before the opening curtain.

Ticket sales on "Rebecca," have already been reported a sell-out.

Bird Report Puzzles Officials

TIMAGAMI (CP) — Officials of the Ontario department of lands and forests said Sunday they are puzzled by the report of a United States fisherman that he saw a large, four-winged waterfowl in bushland near here.

The bird is supposed to have two sets of wings. They project from its body in tandem, much the same as an old-time bicycle built for two.

George B. Waterston of Philadelphia said he saw the bird as he drove along Highway No. 11 near this town about 60 miles north of North Bay.

"It seemed to be about the size of a canada goose, only longer," Waterson said. "It was jet black in color and it flew at terrific speed."

Wateron, his wife and 19-year-old son were trout fishing here.

Forestry officials said they would like to see the bird before they believed it. However, they said it was possible for a bird to be hatched with two sets of wings.

Two Scientists Drive Space Through Matter

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Two University of California scientists announced Saturday they have driven space through solid matter—the reverse of what usually takes place.

The space was an electron, which in this case was simply the absence of an electrical charge where one should be. They moved this blank space or hole from one orbit to another around the nucleus of a germanium atom.

It was done by Prof. Charles Kittel and Prof. A. F. Kip of the physics department. Although it may sound more like a stunt than a physics experiment it may be of value in learning more about the fundamental properties of matter.

Portland Youth, 17 Dies After Crash

SMITHS FALLS (CP) — Ronald Hewitt, 17, of Portland, Ont., died Sunday night of injuries suffered earlier Sunday in a two-car crash six miles south of here. Still in critical condition in hospital is John Atchison, 16, also of Portland.

Ivan Hewitt, 20, of Portland also was admitted to hospital, but his condition was not considered serious.

The trio were passengers in a car driven by Milburn Purcell of RR. 1, Lombardy, Ont., which police said backed from a side road and collided with a car driven by R.R. Thomas of Smiths Falls. The drivers, Mrs. Thomas and her two children escaped serious injury.

Urges Eisenhower Be Master In House

NEW YORK (AP) — Former president Truman Saturday night called on President Eisenhower to assert himself as "master in his own house" and "stem the growth of hysteria" about communism.

". . . Then perhaps our television sets can return to normal," Truman said.

Without referring directly to the McCarthy-army hearings, Truman declared the country cannot afford an attack on presidential powers by "today's version of the Radical Republicans" of post-civil war days.

Thamesville Man Outstanding Citizen

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—A native of Thamesville, Ont., has been named winner of the 1954 award as Newark's outstanding naturalized citizen by the Newark chapter of Unico National.

He is Charles Henry Watts, 73, president of the Beneficial Management Corp., of Newark, and a resident of Bronxville, N.Y. He will be honored at Unico's "I am an American Day" dedication dinner next Sunday.

London Paper Host To Circulation Men

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The London Free Press acted as host to more than 100 members of the Canadian Circulation Managers' Association at an informal reception here Sunday.

The circulation managers are here for the CCMA's 21st annual convention which starts here today and ends Tuesday.

D. T. Fleming, CCMA president and circulation manager of the Owen Sound Sun-Times, officially opens the convention at 9:30 a.m.

Waiting Audience

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP) — New Zealand to date has no television stations. But a company that sponsored an experimental broadcast from an exhibition to sets scattered in the grounds discovered a surprising number of viewers all over the city. Many of the sets belong to immigrants who brought them in the hope TV would soon start here.

Reporter Wins Scholarship

OTTAWA (CP)—William French, reporter for the Toronto Globe and Mail, has been awarded the fourth annual Canadian Associated Nieman Fellowship. The announcement was made here Sunday by the Canadian Nieman Committee.

The fellowship is open to journalists across Canada and provides an academic year of residence and study at Harvard University for the purposes of broadening professional background. Besides carrying a stipend for the holder, the fellowship provides tuition, travel expenses to and from Cambridge, Mass., and one month's travel in the U.S. for professional purposes.

Selection was made by a committee made up of members of the Canadian managing editors conference with R. W. Southam, published of the Ottawa Citizen, as chairman.

Towns Celebrate Start On Bridge

MACKINAW CITY, Mich. (CP)—Ground-breaking for the biggest over-water suspension bridge in the world ended Saturday. It was the biggest two-day whing-ding in the history of northern Michigan.

The first ground was turned Friday at St. Ignace, marked by a monster parade. St. Ignace is the northern terminal of the structure which will span four miles over the Straits of Mackinac, linking the northern and southern peninsulas of the state.

Mackinaw City set out Saturday to outdo St. Ignace, which had its celebration hampered by a heavy snowfall. The Mackinac parade had 25 bands, and 75 floats, a few more than the northern section, but some marched in both parades.

There was a drill team, Indian pageant and chorus before the ground - breaking ceremony and dancing in the streets afterward.

Oliver Favors Toll Roads For Southern Ontario

STURGEON FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Ontario Liberal Leader Farquhar Oliver said Saturday he is in favor of toll roads for southern Ontario if it will help speed up development of northern Ontario.

He told 200 delegates to a Liberal convention that the tax collected on gasoline and licences is not being used for the intended purposes. The needs of northern Ontario must be fully assessed against their contributions to the life blood of Ontario, Mr. Oliver added.

The convention was called to select a Liberal candidate in the event of a by-election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of William Harvey, Progressive Conservative member of the legislature for Nipissing.

Rene Bourassa, 33-year-old furniture dealer here, was unanimously chosen as Liberal candidate.

Mr. Oliver said the provincial government's plan to make Hydro a non-political body has failed.

HITS HYDRO COSTS

The estimated cost of Hydro conversion previously had been set at $192,000,000 but recent estimates set this at $475,000,000, he said. Farmers and urban residents were also forced to pay all the costs of conversion.

"It costs thirty cents out of every dollar to pay the interests on Hydro debt alone and there is no reason why Hydro should pay $1,000,000 for public relations."

Mr. Oliver said the Liberals are in favor of going as far as possible to meet the needs of the people, but he is not in favor of holding the umbrella of social legislation where the people's ability to pay is endangered.

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

VOL. CVII. No. 110 — MONDAY, MAY 10, 1954

Morrow Trustees Approve Site Of Memorial Centre

City clerk E. A. Outram, chairman of the Memorial Centre site committee, reported to the executive committee Saturday afternoon that the Morrow Trust had given their unanimous approval to a proposal to locate the Memorial Centre in the northeast corner of Exhibition Park.

The site was approved by the board of directors of the Peterborough Exhibition last Thursday.

A meeting of the Memorial Centre general committee has been called for Thursday at 7.30 p.m. to ratify the recommended site, which will also require endorsement by city council.

Next Thursday's meeting will also be asked to consider the resignation of general committee chairman D. A. McGillis. The executive committee received Mr. McGillis' letter of resignation with regret and forwarded it to the general committee.

Mr. McGillis announced his resignation last Wednesday on the grounds that he hadn't been asked to attend any committee meetings in connection with the Memorial Centre for six or seven weeks and charged that he had been "kept completely in the dark as to what's going on."

He took particular objection to a report in The Examiner that the site for the Memorial Centre had been sanctioned by the exhibition board.

DEEPLY CONCERNED

Mr. Outram told the executive committee Saturday he was deeply concerned over recent developments leading to the resignation of the general chairman. It had not been his intention to make any statement to the press regarding the proposed site and he had done so only under considerable pressure.

He said he had had many dealings with the general chairman and all of them had been conducted satisfactorily to his knowledge.

After recent developments, however, he felt he might be blamed for failing to inform the chairman of every step in the proceedings of the site committee. But it had never occurred to him, nor had it ever been mentioned to any of the committee members, that the general chairman should have been invited to attend. He was sorry if he had in any way been responsible for the loss of the general chairman.

Mr. Outram read a comprehensive report to the executive committee, outlining the meetings of the site committee, including the most recent one with T. J. Carley, QC, of the Morrow Trust, and John Kitney, of the exhibition board.

The proposal to erect the Memorial Centre in the north-east corner of Exhibition Park had unanimously approved by both the Morrow Trust and the exhibition board.

CONSIDER BUILDING

As the next step in erection of the centre, chairman Lionel Browne and his building committee will start to work on two or three tentative building plans.

The general public, through service clubs and other organizations and responsible parties, will be asked to prepare briefs and ideas as to what kind of building should be erected, including recommendations for design and cost.

The building committee have asked the public to submit their briefs as soon as possible for consideration by the committee. Mr. Browne observed that the size of the building depended on the amount of money available as well as the type of construction and design.

Don Loucks observed that the Morrow Trust and the exhibition board had shown much co-operation and good will in supporting the proposal of the site committee. Mr. Outram's motion of appreciation to both bodies was endorsed.

Boy Missing, Not In River Had Gone Home

Firemen spent a busy Mother's Day although most of the calls turned out to be false alarms or minor fires soon brought under control.

David Epston, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Epston, 256 O'Carroll Ave., caused a small sensation when he disappeared near the deer pen at the filtration park, Sunday afternoon. His father had taken the boy and his sister, Rosemary, 11, up to the park for a look around the zoo.

"He was playing near the deer pen when I last saw him," said Mr. Epston. "I told him to hurry back and then got in the car and turned around. When I got out again, there was no sign of him. I called and called, looking for him all through the park and along the highway. I must have checked the entire area a dozen times or more. Finally I met a friend and when I told him the story, we decided the only thing to do was phone the police."

Police detectives, constables and firemen were dispatched to the scene, but no one could be certain whether the boy was in the water, and if so, where. A crowd of Sunday drivers and fire reel chasers gathered at the river's edge, a life-saving boat was on hand, but since the boy's disappearance nearly three hours previous, no one knew exactly where to look for him. The water brooded silently.

At 7.12 p.m., a call came through the fire department radio: "Boy found safe at home. Come on in." Apparently young David Epston had misunderstood his father's call and had wandered home, taking his own sweet time and way.

FIRE IN TRAILER

An unidentified house trailer, parked in the McGinnis Trailer Ltd. yard, Sunday, received fire damage estimated at between $300 and $500. Firemen were alerted at 2.00 p.m., and two pumpers, a ladder truck and the chief's car were sent to the scene. Doors at each end of the trailer were removed and the booster pump quickly extinguished the fire which apparently started on the studio couch as a result of a forgotten cigarette.

At 2.15 p.m., a grass fire on the property of George Astell, 169 Hilliard St., got out of hand and required one pumper to bring it under control. Oil flooded a space heater at the home of Mrs. Max Vincent, 622 Park St., but soon burned itself out.

A little girl identified as Judy Gartner, 6, mistook the alarm box at Dalhousie and George St. for a mail box resulting in fire trucks rushing to the scene.

Some person thought the roof of a building at 382 George St. was on fire and sent in an alarm. Firemen arriving on the scene learned that the owner was burning some rubbish in the stove and there was nothing more dangerous than smoke.

A hand pump was used to extinguish a chimney fire at the home of R. J. McMurray, 195 Auburn St., following a call at 5.24 p.m.

GYM DISPLAY

The YMCA boys' department will hold a parents' night Saturday, May 15. Under the direction of Fraser Wade, displays of gymnastics will be given, and the junior leaders' corps will perform. The display begins at 7.00 and all parents are invited.

SUNDAY COLLISION

Only one accident was reported to city police Sunday. It was a collision between cars driven by Nick Chiplick of Oshawa and Mrs. E. Heffernan, 640 Reid St., which occurred at London and Downie streets. No one was injured but both vehicles sustained about $300 damage.

OLD FOLKS ENTERTAINED

Some 20 elderly citizens from the House of Providence and Anson House, were the guests of the City Police Association, which provided them with tickets for the Kitchener Salvation Army Band concert at the PCVS on Saturday night. Money which is collected from the annual police dance to be held in the Brock Ballroom on May 14, is used for such occasions as these.

Thrown Clear As Truck Rolls Driver Injured

Kenneth Cuthbertson, 22, of Queen St., Norwood, is in St. Joseph's Hospital with injuries suffered in a motor accident on Highway 7, about 12 miles east of Peterborough, shortly after 4 a.m. Sunday.

His condition was reported satisfactory today. He sustained a broken collar-bone, cuts on the forehead and concussion, when the 1948-model half-ton pickup truck in which he was driving landed upside down 400 feet from the edge of the highway in a field on the farm of Charles Heffernan.

Police said that the truck, which was travelling east, went off the north side of the highway, narrowly missing two apple trees, striking a hydro pole, breaking off a wooden fence post and rolling over and over for 155 feet before coming to rest with its rear wheels in the air. Cuthbertson was thrown from the truck and landed 38 feet away.

The accident was discovered by Mr. and Mrs. Harry English, R.R. 2, Indian River, who were driving by with Jack Delaney, R.R. 3, Norwood. Mrs. English went to telephone provincial police while her husband stayed with Cuthbertson, who was unconscious.

The injured man was treated by Dr. W. D. Blastorah, of Peterborough, and taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by Nisbett's ambulance. He regained consciousness at 12.15 p.m. Sunday.

The truck, owned by Merril Spencer, Peterborough St., Norwood, was completely demolished. The loss was estimated at about $600.

OPP Constable Stan Smith, who investigated, said that when he arrived he discovered a blanket from the front seat burning.

The accident occurred on a straight stretch of highway with a slight upgrade.

Injured In Blast, Has Heart Attack

OTTAWA (CP) — Tony Lacelle of Ottawa, whose left hand was blown off in a dynamite explosion May 1 while fishing at Ashby lake 60 miles west of here, suffered a heart attack Sunday and was taken to hospital in serious condition.

Lacelle and a companion, Wes Kempe of Kingston, were charged with fishing with dynamite.

1,500 Cadets Show Off Ability

Probably the largest concentration of cadets ever to collect in Peterborough, estimated at more than 1,500, participated in the first annual drumhead service at Morrow Park, Sunday. Cadet corps from PCVS, Kenner collegiate, Lindsay, Norwood, Fenelon Falls, Campbellford, Lakefield and Millbrook were in attendance with the last four represented by girls' as well as boys' corps.

Activities opened with a church service at 11:30 a.m. Roman Catholics assembled in the horticultural building and Protestants in front of the grandstand for services. Padres John Lavoie and John Rund led the services, respectively.

Of the six district high school cadet corps only the Lakefield corps was absent from the morning drumhead service. Village Protestant ministers, fearing Mothers' Day morning church service would be affected, wired Kingston military headquarters that the village corps should not be allowed to attend the mass service in Peterborough. Headquarters acceded to the request and the corps was sent by buses to the demonstration in the afternoon, arriving in the city about 1:30 p.m.

The afternoon was filled with military color as corps upon corps was put through its paces moving to the rhythm of five cadet bands. Heavy and light artillery action was demonstrated, and the afternoon was brought to a close with bag-pipe and vocal selections and short congratulatory addresses by officers in command.

BAND CONCERT

The PCVS band opened the afternoon program with a half-hour band concert, marching spiritedly before a packed grandstand with trumpets and drums pealing out favorite marches. The trumpet band of the 50th HAA Regiment led the assembled corps around

Outboard Motors Chain Saws Stolen From Shop

Two new outboard motors and two chain saws, altogether valued at more than $1,000 were stolen from Herb Cardwell's shop, on George St., sometime during the weekend.

The theft was discovered when the premises were opened for business today. Investigation showed that the thieves had punched a small hole in a rear washroom window and then used a screwdriver to slip the catch on the window.

Detective said today that some vehicle must have been used to cart away the heavy motors. The thieves left by a door at the rear of the building.

Sir Winston Churchill To Be Installed As Knight Of Garter June 14

By FERN RICH

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill will be installed as a knight of the Order of the Garter June 14 in a solemn and brilliant ceremony more than 600 years old.

It will be a day due him for more than a year and one brimming with appropriate pomp and circumstance.

On the day after St. George's Day (patron saint of England and of the Order of the Garter) April 23 last year Queen Elizabeth called Churchill to Windsor Castle and in a brief ceremony bestowed upon him the most exalted honor his country can offer.

He knelt before her and she, taking a sword, touched him first on the right shoulder and then on the left. When he rose he was no longer "Mister" Churchill but Sir Winston Churchill, K.G.

The Queen handed him the insignia of the order—a collar of 24 gold pieces each in the shape of a garter; the George, an enamelled figure of St. George on horseback encountering the dragon; the lesser George, a gold badge which bears the same figure; the blue velvet garter on which is inscribed the motto "Honi Soit Qui Mal y Pense (Shame to Him who Thinks Evil of it), and the broad blue ribbon.

He wore them proudly for the first time at the Coronation service. In June, however, he will be the star in his own right.

The ceremony consists of two parts: the investment, when the Queen will once more present the prime minister with the insignia, and the installation, a religious service in St. George's chapel, Windsor. For the occasion all the knights of the garter are mustered from all parts of the world.

The ancient words which the Queen will read for the first time in the new Elizabethan reign have come down six centuries from the days of Edward III, founder of the order.

One of the admonitions seems predestined for Churchill's ears. The Queen will tell the ruddy-cheeked statesman and soldier who has served his country in three wars "to be courageous and having under-taken a just war into which thou shalt be engaged, thou mayest stand firm and valiantly fight courageously and successfully conquer."

17 Musicals, Dramas Play Off Broadway

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP)—Broadway's bright lights tell only half the story of what's doing today on the New York theatrical scene.

Currently there are 24 musicals, comedies and dramas on the main stem. Seventeen are playing off Broadway.

Sometimes they are performed in formal, tiny theatres; at other times in hotel ballrooms or in upstairs lofts over butcher shops. One show now is playing in a church, another in a night club and a third, tiny venture is inviting audiences into a Greenwich Village living room.

Statistically, it's certain that there have been eight or more real hits in the little houses this year.

Two of Broadway's current shows began their careers in experimental houses—"The Girl on the Via Flamina" and "The Golden Apple." The latter hopped uptown last week following a six-week downtown run marked by its winning of the drama critics award as the best tuneshow of the season.

NEW THEATRE SUCCESS

"The Golden Apple" was the third production since December of a youthful pair of producers, T. Edward Hambleton and Norris Haughton, who took over a movie house on the lower east side and symbolically renamed it the Phoenix theatre.

The Phoenix has without doubt the most exciting and most successful off-Broadway venture in a long time. It is a deliberate trek off Broadway by a group of highly competent professionals who know their way around and who want more theatrical freedom than Broadway permit.

To wind up the Phoenix season, Houghton now is directing a distinguished cast including Montgomery Clift, Judith Evelyn, Will Geer, Sam Jaffe and Maureen Stapleton in rehearsals of Chekhov's "The Sea Gull," to open May 11.

The economics of New York theatrical enterprises are a heavy factor in staging non-Broadway shows. Hambleton, for example, estimates "The Golden Apple" cost about $75,000, contrasted with a probable $300,000 if it had first bowed on Broadway.

Mother's Day Service Held At Havelock

HAVELOCK (ENS) — "Our Christian responsibility to our boys and girls" was the subject of the sermon delivered by the Rev. R. G. Newman at the morning service on Mother's Day.

The theme of the order of service was "opening our homes to God". Mrs. Newman said instead of indulging in undue sentiment, we should seek to build a structure of sound living in the homes and communities that will provide a worthy heritage for the children.

The choir sang a Mother's Day anthem. Solo parts were taken by Misses Jo-Ann Kennedy, Shirley Jewell and Doris Newman.

Two infants were given the sacrament of baptism, Janet Marlene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stillman, and Michael Keith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wrightly.

Ontario Bishop Preaches Marmora Church

MARMORA (ENS) — "The ordinary immortal soul" was the subject of a sermon delivered by Right Rev. K. C. Evans, Bishop of Ontario at St. Paul's Anglican church at Evensong on Sunday. The Bishop having reminded his hearers the soul belongs to God and was created for [illegible] went on to speak of opposing interests which encroached upon its territory but could never claim title to it. It therefore should be inclined towards God who should be contacted through continual prayer.

He drew an analogy from Faust to illustrate the words of Jesus "what shall it profit a man, if he gain the world and lose his own soul?"

The interior of the church was decorated with a variety of spring and other blooms, some of which were donated by Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Whittemore in memory of Mr. and Mrs. E. Whittemore and Mr. F. Newell and others by Mr. H. R. and Mr. and Mrs. F. Pearce in memory of deceased members of the Pearce family.

CANON IN DUET

The service was conducted by the rector Canon J. M. Brownlie. The choir rendered the anthem by Bert F. Coupar "Holy Father Cheer our Way." Mrs. Robert Hatford taking the soprano solo and joining with Canon J. M. Brownlie in the duet. The choir also chanted the 47th Psalm.

The first lesson was read by Canon Brownlie and the second by the Bishop.

Bishop Evans expressed his pleasure at being able to participate with the congregation in their Evensong now an infrequent experience of his, since becoming Bishop.

At the close of the service, the congregation was welcomed at a reception in St. Paul's Parish Hall with the Ladies' Guild serving tea and refreshments, to meet the Bishop and Mrs. Evans, who was accompanying him on his visit.

Here also E. T. Nayler, church warden of St. John's, Madoc, and Mrs. Nayler, had escored their new rector, Rev. William Giovetti and Mrs. Giovetti to meet the Bishop and Mrs. Evans and the Marmora congregation two days after their arrival in Madoc.

At the reception, the Bishop expressed his appreciation at the strides which had been made in the renovation of the hall since his last visit and Mrs. Evans also extended thanks for the gracious reception given her by the parish.

Scientists Hope To Solve Many Age-Old Mysteries Of Planet Mars

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The red planet has an important rendezvous with earth this year during which man will try to solve some of its age-old secrets.

Is there life on Mars? Are there intelligent beings?

What is the meaning of the mysterious "blue envelope" which clouds the planet's surface?

Are there really "canals" on Mars as claimed by the Italian astronomer Schiaparelli in 1877? The passing years have not settled this controversy.

These are some of the mysteries scientists hope to penetrate this year—and in 1956— when the planet will approach closer than it has in 15 years.

Mars swings next beyond the earth in distance from the sun. When the two planets reach positions nearest each other in their orbits, at intervals of slightly more than two years, their average distance apart is 48,000,000 miles. At times, Mars is more than 300,000,000 miles from the earth.

OFF CENTRE

Mar's orbit is off centre, however, bringing it closer to the earth in regular cycles. In 1954 it will pass a distance of about 40,000,000 miles, and in 1956 a little more than 35,000,000 miles, closer than it has been at any time since 1939.

Last summer the International Mars Committee was formed to plan and coordinate astronomical work on the red planet. In the coming year, observations will be made on all major continents, from high flying planes and perhaps even from stratosphere-piercing unmanned missiles.

The chief attack upon the planet's secrets will be made by a team of astronomers sponsored by the Lowell Observatory, of Flagstaff, Ariz., and the National Geographic Society. The expedition will be led by Dr. E. C. Slipher, of Flagstaff, who has given a lifetime study to Mars.

It will spend nine months at the Lamont-Hussey Observatory at Bloemfontein, South Africa, where at 27-inch refracting telescope will be trained nightly at the planet.

IDEALLY LOCATED

The telescope is ideally placed for the work, being located at a latitude where Mars will pass almost directly overhead each night. The skies there are usually also clear in late spring and summer.

The committee hopes that by organizing round-the-world study of Mars, in which numerous amateur astronomers will participate, science will gain its most searching knowledge of the strange planet.

One goal is more exact measurement of the planet's diameter, about half that of the earth, and from it a better understanding of Mars' internal makeup.

Another is the photographic investigation of the so-called "blue envelope" that clouds the planet's surface at all except brief intervals.

Is there life on Mars? It has an atmosphere, with varying weather and climate. It has polar caps, which change in size with the Martian seasons. It has huge dark areas which extend toward the planet's equator. These change over the years and also with the seasons, although their general outlines remain relatively fixed.

The markings are dark greenish blue in the Martian summer, turning to a browner shade as fall and winter approach. This has led to conjecture that they are formed by vegetation.

WHAT ABOUT CANALS

Probably the most controversial thing about Mars, however, are the "canals" which Schiaparelli saw. Since canals would imply something dug by intelligent beings, they have excited man ever since.

Other astronomers have seen Schiaparelli's lines, thin and straight and tracing a grid-like pattern over vast areas of Mars. But still other astronomers, competent also, have failed to observe them. The overall network has never been photographed satisfactorily.

Galileo first observed the phases of Mars in 1610. The first sketches of surface markings were made in 1659. By 1783, astronomers had discovered that polar caps on Mars expanded and shrank in regular variation. In 1877, two moons, tiny satellites of Mars, were discovered.

Presbytery President Gives Talk To WMS

WARKWORTH (ENS) — The WMS of St. Paul's United church met in the church auditorium, with Mrs. W. Grant Allen, president, presiding.

Mrs. Glen Hancock, pianist, played quiet music for the prelude, followed by the opening hymn.

The devotional period was under the leadership of Mrs. A. L. Sisco and Mrs. Fred Platt. Mrs. Sisco lead in prayer and short scripture readings were given by Mrs. Fred Platt, Mrs. Lorne Evans, Mrs. Oscar Laver and Mrs. Martin Peterson.

Mrs. Sisco introduced the speaker, Mrs. Lincoln Elliott, president of the Belleville WMS Presbytery. Mrs. Elliott gave extracts from R. Smith's book, "New Lights From Old Lamps" and used Robinson Crusoe as an illustration. She closed her talk with prayer.

Mrs. Allen took charge of the business period and heartily thanked the speaker.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Don Knight. Mrs. W. A. Goodfellow of Codrington will give a travelogue of her trip to Bermuda. The Cramahe Baptist Mission Circle will be guests.

Mrs. G. Hancock played a piano solo while the collection was being taken.

The Mizpah benediction closed the meeting and Grace was sung. All went to the Sunday school rooms, where lunch was served at small tea tables attractively arranged and centred with a bouquet of flowers. Lunch conveners were Mrs. Harry Allen, Mrs. Douglas Rowe and Mrs. C. H. Greenly.

Catholic Teachers Hold Breakfast Meeting

Annual spring meeting of the Catholic Teachers of Peterborough and district took the form of a communion breakfast Saturday morning. Through the kindness of Mr. E. J. Boland, principal, the meeting was held at St. Anne's school. Mass was celebrated by the Rev. J. G. Maskey, after which breakfast was served in the school kindergarten.

Guest speaker, the Rev. Matthew Platt, CSB of St. Michael's College, Toronto, is a promising young lecturer whose force and clarity of intellect, precision of word and ease of expression held and impressed his audience. Father Platt commended the appropriate choice of Mary's Day for a meeting because "Our Lady Seat of Wisdom is the patroness of teachers whose high vocation is that of imparting wisdom."

"Father told the teachers that the solution of modern educational problems rest with the teachers who form the keystone of the educational fabric. A teacher must study, must have knowledge, in order to teach. For the christian teacher personal holiness is the first essential, right teaching of christian doctrine the second". Father asked the teachers to focus their attention on the principles of Christion education lest they give their students "so little for the mind and soul."

Sister Gabriella, principal of St. Alphonsus' school, gave a comprehensive report of the Easter convention with a discerning stress of the key points.

Sister Agnes Clare presented the report of the nominating committee which was unanimously approved. Officers for the coming year will be: president, Sister Stanislaus; past president Miss Justina MacMartin; first vice-president, Sister Marion; second vice-president, Miss Marion Downer; third vice-president, Miss Delphine Piggott; treasurer, the Rev. R. Hart; councillors, Sister Honora, Sister St. Rose, Mrs. G. Moore, Mt. A. LaJoie.

Annual Breakfast On Mother's Day

Our Lady of Fatima subdivision of the Catholic Women's League held the annual Communinon Breakfast on Sunday after nine o'clock mass. Breakfast was served at the Kawartha Country Club with arrangements in charge of Mrs. Jack Henry.

Mrs. Veronica O'Leary, president, extended welcome to the members. As the communion breakfast coincided with Mother's Day, a hymn was sung in honor of Our Blessed Mother.

Miss Loretta Sullivan introduced the guest speaker, Sister Fitzgerald, from the Sisters of Service, Toronto. The Sister outlined the origin and work of the Sisters of Service, founded in 1922 by Reverend Father Daly.

This community of Sisters has houses from Newfoundland to Vancouver. They are engaged in teaching and hospital work, but their chief work is looking after people who come to Canada from all parts of Europe. The Sisters give guidance and direction, especially to the young people far from home in a strange land, helping them to become good citizens of Canada, she explained.

Sister Fitzgerald showed a film of the work being done in the Peace River district. Miss Genevieve Murray expressed the appreciation of the members for her address and the film.

Mrs. J. O'Brien was at the piano for the singing of O Canada.

Armstrong-Lucas Nuptials Double Ring Ceremony

St. Peter's Cathedral, decorated with spring tulips and sweet peas, was setting for the marriage of Kathleen Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lucas, to Gerard Henry Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Robert Armstrong, all of Peterborough.

The Rev. John J. Hickey performed the double ring ceremony and said the nuptial mass. Mrs. R. G. Aman played the organ while Mr. Anthony DeNoble sang "On This Day O Beautiful Mother," "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus." The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a beautiful gown of Chantilly lace featuring a nylon net yoke sprinkled with iridescent pearls and rhinestone, long sleeves coming to points on her hands and full bouffant skirt with crystal pleated panels back and front. Her fingertip veil illusion was caught to a Quaker brim of lily of the valley with matching lace facing encrusted with the same beads as her dress. She carried a nosegay of lily of the valley and white roses.

Mrs. D. Dupuis, of Toronto, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor, and Miss Dorothy Anne Lucas, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. They wore similar dresses of seafoam blue nylon net and lace with moulded bodice banded with alternate rows of ruffled nylon net and pink forget-me-nots, with full floor-length skirts, and lace jackets, the junior bridesmaid having a slight variation of pink. They wore crescent shaped hats of lace and forget-me-nots with mittens to match and carried nosegays in the same tones.

The charming little flower girl, Bernice Burke, cousin of the bride, was in floor-length pink net and lace and wore a poke bonnet trimmed with forget-me-nots and tiny lace and net mittens. She carried a nosegay of pink rosebuds.

Jack Hayes was the groomsman and Emile Armstrong, of Ajax, and Kenneth Quest, of Toronto, were ushers.

A reception was held in the Kawartha Room at the Empress Hotel. The bride's mother received in navy bengaline with navy and white accessories and wore a corsage of Talisman roses. The groom's mother chose a dress of black and white figured crepe, pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong left on a trip to New York, the bride travelling in a navy taffeta dress in princess style with bois de rose camelhair topcoat and tiny velvet petal hat and navy accessories, and a corsage of pink roses.

On their return they will live at 592 Douglas Avenue.

Harwood Ladies Plan Auxiliary

HARWOOD (ENS)—Mrs. Garnet Isaac, the president, presided at the May meeting held in the community hall. Roll call was answered by a garden hint.

The Cancer Fund was voted $5.00. Penny round-up bags were given out, and it was asked to return the bags at the end of the month to Mrs. G. U. Isaac, the money to be given to the Canadian Mental Health Association to finance preventive work among children.

Letters of thanks for fruit and flowers were read by Miss I. Dennison The members re-organized the flower and fruit committee work to include more people.

The members then named their Sunshine sister for the year, and it was agreed to carry this on for another year, the names to be given out at the next meeting.

Miss Lottie Drope, historical convener, was asked to write-up the 35th anniversary of the Institute for the Tweedsmuir History. The plans for the 35th anniversary were then made, to be held the next meeting in June.,

The girls' club were in charge of the programme, with their leader, Mrs. F. Stephens. Mrs. Stephens was presented with a green teapot in recognition of her work with the girls' club for the past year. Each girl was presented with a silver spoon. The club members were present: Patricia Zufelt, Sharon Hogg, Helen Patea, Margo Hornby, Betty Isaac, Phyllis Isaac Rosalind Stephens, Lois Harris and Pauline Drope.

Betty Isaac spoke on their achievement and Phyllis Isaac spoke on 'ways of serving fruit'.

Doreena Patton Lovely Bride Of William W. Thompson

Baskets of pink snapdragons banked the altar of Mark Street United church Saturday afternoon as setting for the wedding of Doreena Albina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Patton of RR 11, Peterborough, to William Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Thompson of Peterborough.

The Rev. Dr. N. D. Patterson performed the ceremony. Organist Mrs. R. C. Searles played the wedding music and during the signing of the register accompanied Miss Margaret Chretien singing "Through the Years."

The bride wore a beautiful ankle length gown of white slipper satin with nylon tulle overskirt. Over the strapless bodice she wore a Chantilly lace jacket revealing finely pleated nylon tulle accented with tiny seed pearls and sequins. The three-quarter length sleeves were edged with tulle and matching lace mittens were worn. Her headpiece was of pleated nylon tulle with lace florets centred by seed pearls which caught the fingertip veil of silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias and stephanotis.

Given in marriage by her father, she was attended by Miss Gertrude Phillips as maid of honor, Miss Shirley McArthur as bridesmaid. Miss Nancy Lou Thompson, sister of the groom was junior bridesmaid and little Linda McNeil was flower girl.

The two attendants were in frocks of heavenly blue and romance blue nylon tulle over tafetta made in strapless, ankle length style. The matching jackets were of lace with stand-up collars and bouffant sleeves and they wore short mittens of lace. The headdresses were of matching nylon tulle caught with spring flowers and each carried a semi-cascade of pink carnations and blue corn-flowers.

The younger girls were dressed alike in romance blue nylon tulle over taffeta and wore headdresses of pleated tulle caught with spring flowers and matching short mittens. Each carried a nosegay of pastel sweet peas.

The groom's attendant was William C. Thomas. Ushers were Leon Patton, brother of the bride, and Edgar C. Thorpe, brother-in-law of the groom.

In the Kawartha Room at the Empress Hotel the bridal party received afterwards. The bride's mother was wearing a suit of navy gabardine, a white straw hat and navy and white accessories and had a corsage of yellow roses. The groom's mother also wore a navy suit and white straw hat and matching accessories. Her corsage was of red roses.

For the wedding trip to United States, the bride donned a navy wool gabardine suit, white straw hat and gloves, navy shoes and a grey plaid topcoat and her going-away corsage was of white gardenias.

They will make their home in Peterborough.

MR. and MRS. WM. THOMPSON

Memorial Held In Hospital Chapel

The annual Roman Catholic nurses' memorial service in the chapel at St. Joseph's Hospital took place at seven o'clock Sunday evening. The Rev. Francis J. Marocco, of Ottawa, conducted the Holy Hour.

In his sermon, Father Marocco spoke of "the power of supernatural grace which comes into the soul at baptism and raises it to a supernatural level, enabling it to practice the virtues of courage, humility and kindness."

"If the heroes being commemorated in this service have attained eternal bliss in heaven, it is because of these three outstanding virtues they practiced to a heroic degree," he said. "Although modern nursing has reached high standard of efficiency in technique, the kindness of the nurse is yet more important to the well-being of the patient. Often the kindly word spoken in passing, or a kind act suffices to arouse the creative power of those with whom they come in contact," the Father added.

The hour was closed with benedition of the Blessed Sacrament.

CITY OF SUN

Heliopolis, an ancient city of lower Egypt, was famous for its schools of astronomy and temples for sun worship.

Tucker-Hilker Wedding In Apsley Church

A double ring wedding ceremony in the Trinity United church at Apsley on Saturday, performed by the Rev. Mr. Hardy of Coe Hill, united in marriage Lee Ella Etta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Hilker, and David Manley Tucker, son of Mr. Joseph Tucker and the late Mrs. Tucker, all of Apsley.

White and pink 'mums decorated the church. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Hardy and during the signing of the register Mrs. Hubble sang "I Love You Truly."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white nylon net over satin, trimmed with chantilly lace in the ballerina skirt and topped with a bolero of the same lace. She wore a wedding veil of nylon net and carried a cascade bouquet of red roses. Miss Myrtle Tucker, sister of the groom, was the bride's only attendant. She wore a ballerina frock of powder blue nylon net over taffeta and matching headdress and carried pink carnations.

Mr. Kenneth Hilker attended the groom and ushers were Roger Tucker and James Rosebush.

The reception was at the bride's home where her mother received, wearing a pearl grey gabardine suit with mauve accessories and corsage of pink roses. The groom's sister, Mrs. Millar, also received and was wearing powder blue with a white straw hat and pink rose corsage.

To travel to Niagara Falls and points in the United States, the bride donned a powder blue suit and pink accessories, and wore a corsage of pink carnations when going away.

Mr. and Mrs. Tucker will live at 390 Rogers Street in Peterborough on return.

No Canadian, Stories Amuse Alexis Smith

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Film star Alexis Smith, sometimes called the "Penticton Peach," takes an amused view of occasional attempts to claim her as a Canadian.

The star of some 35 Hollywood films admits she was born in Penticton, B.C.—but she didn't stay long.

"I spent just five months there," she said in an interview. "I've never been east of Winnipeg and I've never acted in Canada in my life."

SCOTS BACKGROUND

Miss Smith, with a quiet, natural personality, is the only daughter of Alexander Smith, one of five brothers who emigrated to Canada from Scotland's Shetland isles.

Alexander went to Los Angeles. The other four, Fred, Malcolm, Duncan and Charles, settled in Vancouver and are still there.

"In fact, it's quite a family party when the Smiths get together for a hotel dinner in Vancouver," said Alexis, whose last visit was three years ago. She gets a kick out of listening to Uncle Duncan, a policeman, play the bagpipes.

Relaxing in a London hotel with her film star husband Craig Stevens, Miss Smith said: "If you want a Canadian angle, my husband is a better one than I am." Stevens has no Canadian connections, except by marriage, but unlike Alexis he has acted in Canada. He recently played the lead in "Mister Roberts" at Vancouver's Avon theatre.

ON LONDON SCREEN

Alexis came to London last November to appear in "Sleeping Tiger" with British actor Dick Bogarde and Alexander Knox of Strathroy and London, Ont. When the film was completed, she and Craig made a 4,500-mile, five-week tour of the continent.

Miss Smith has established a reputation as something of a screen "iceberg." In "Sleeping Tiger," however, she plays a "warm" part. She has been freelancing since 1950, choosing her parts carefully, spending the summers in stock and polishing her stage technique with an eye on Broadway.

Asked about differences in American and British film techniques, she said "people sound different." Technicians here, for instance, say "Morning, Miss Smith," instead of "Hi ya Alexis." She was also intrigued at the number of cups of tea consumed on the set.

How about that name?

"People always ask me that," she laughed. "It's all my own. No producer would think of anything so common as Smith." For the screen, she merely dropped the Margaret that used to come before Alexis.

Protestant Nurses Attend St. Paul's

Protestant members of Chapter C of the Registered Nurses' Association attended St. Paul's Presbyterian church evening service in a body on Sunday to pay tribute to Florence Nightingale and following heroes of their profession. The Rev. C. G. Boyd preached to them a sermon which he titled 'A study in Light and Shadow."

"Modern man is threatened by giganitc forces that dwarf him and make him insignificant," said Mr. Boyd. "We should give thought to the impersonal character of modern life.

"In order to do our best work we must have a christian understanding of the individual as a person. The person is not a "case" or a "thing" as is too often the attitude with modern man" he emphasized. "Whether we are persons depends on whether God is a person."

"The christian understanding of the precious nature of each individual goes back to the fact that God makes himself known in Jesus Christ as a person who lives, acts, loves and works here in this historical sphere" pointed out Mr. Boyd, "Nurses have a God-given opportunity to exercise christian concern for individuals as persons and to minister to the modern man's anxiety, fear, guilt, frustration and loneliness."

Following the church service, the nurses were guests of ladies of the church for a social hour.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Emphasis On Good Side Of People

Because I feel the need to alibi a little because I received so many Easter cards from you (for which I thank you) and sent out nary a one, I'm going to tell you how I'm spending my nights this week—and next probably.

I have an elderly neighbor whose husband is in hospital, leaving her alone. There's nothing much wrong with being alone, but she is not well, and her sick husband worries about her. So when bedtime arrives instead of sleeping in my own bed, I hang up my clothes, take a bath, don my night and dressing gowns, slip on a topcoat, kiss Pete goodnight and run over to sleep in Bob's twin bed beside Lil.

It must be quite a sight to the neighbors when I run home each morning—coat over housecoat over nightie. In that 50 yards that I run I bet I could give a sprinter good competition.

During last evening I visited another sick friend and was struck by her fortitude. She has two heart diseases—coronary thrombosis and angina pectoris, plus a gall bladder condition which requires a strict diet. Yet when you ask her how she is she says "I'm fine—how are you?" That's all you ever get out of her about herself.

Another dear friend of 62 years of age has Hodgkinson's disease, and neuritis in her left arm which pains all the time. Eleven years ago doctors gave her six months to live. She has so much faith and fortitude she will not submit to pain or doom. She has handwoven, on a huge piano-sized loom, drapes for her living and dining room windows, priceless dark grey-blue woollen material for a suit for her adored husband; also won a national award for color photography, which is another of her hobbies.

I talked to a doctor about a mutual friend of ours who has arthritis. He said that the patient had mother-in-law trouble, but at 50 years of age had met a man in Florida whose arthritis had been cured, and wondered if his could be. The doctor merely said: "Love your mother-in-law!" The arthritic patient tried. He succeeded. His arthritis was no more. The swellings in his joints even disappeared. This is a true story.

Readers append private notes to their cheery letters briefing me on their heavy burdens (crippled children, invalid husbands, never-ending series of operations), but admonish me not to print that, but just print the cheery parts of their letters.

I say it's a good world we live in. The bad can overcome the good. Salvation, health and happiness are all a state of mind. You can have them all.

QUESTION: Would you please print how to make cole slaw and also a Polish dish called 'perogi'. —Mrs. J. M.

ANSWER:

COLE SLAW

One hard young new cabbage about 4 or 3½ inches in diameter, ½ cup each rich cream and vinegar and ¼ (or ⅓) cup sugar, 1 teaspoon salt. With rotary or electric beater beat the cream until stiff, then beat in sugar and salt and stir in the vinegar. With your very sharpest carving knife shred the trimmed cabbage as finely as possible. This takes about 10 or 15 minutes—for the success of the slaw is in the finess of your shreds. Fold into the cream dressing just before serving.

PEROGI—Dough: Two cups flour, 2 eggs. Filling: One cup cottage cheese, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 1 beaten egg, 2 or 3 tablespoons sugar, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon, 3 tablespoons currants (or blueberries) optional. Make a well in flour, add eggs and beat and knead as a noodle dough. Roll out very thin and cut into 2-inch squares. Cream cottage cheese with butter and cream in other ingredients. Put small spoonful on each square of dough and fold over to make triangle. Moisten and seal edges. Boil in plenty of salted water 30 minutes—but gently. Drain. Serve on hot platter with melted butter and toasted breadcrumbs sprinkled over. Serves four.

PERT SPRING TOPPER, by Georgette de Treze is a split pillbox with a flat, head-hugging, extended back and a wired under-brim. In white waffle-weave straw-cloth it has a navy belting-ribbon platform, and is topped with two tabs of navy belting, ornamented with cut-steel.

Grandmother Makes Living As Clown In U.S. Circus

By DOROTHY ROE

Some grandmothers knit and others are Wall street tycoons. But Rose Hanlon probably is the world's only grandmother who makes her living as a clown.

Mrs. Hanlon is a sweet-faced, motherly little women who looks as if her most daring exploit would be trying out a new recipe for creamed chicken—until she gets into her clown suit. Then she's a jovial, roistering comic in white-face make-up and blinding giant polka dots, who loves to make children laugh.

Among her most ardent fans when the circus makes its annual call at Madison Square Garden are her three grandchildren, Robert, Anita and Judy Patton of Teaneck, N.J.

Mrs. Hanlon has been clowning with the circus for 10 years. Before that she sang and danced in various Broadway shows, and worked out pantomime acts for fun with her husband, William Hanlon, and his brother Bill, who used to be in vaudeville.

WEARS THE PANTS

Now all three Hanlons make up one of Ringling Bros.' most popular clown acts—and often it's Mrs. Hanlon who wears the pants in the act, and her husband who is made up as a woman.

Mrs. Hanlon doesn't think there's anything strange about her occupation. She says:

"It's show business. And I've been brought up in show business. The art of pantomime is pretty special, and I enjoy it. Most of all I like to see the happy faces of the kids in circus season."

For four months each year Mrs. Hanlon behaves like an average grandmother and housewife, cooking and taking care of the Hanlon home in Sarasota, Fla. But, each spring, she's ready to take off her apron, put on her clown suit and join the circus.

DOROTHY DIX

Boy Friend Pays Attention To Another

DEAR MISS DIX: For the past seven years I have been intimate with a man who had been a childhood sweetheart some fifteen years before. I am a widow. He is anticipating a divorce so we can be married. In the past six months I have discovered he is seeing another woman. He denies it, but I know it's true. He still declares his love for me. I have considered following him, to prove my suspicions. Do you think I should. I think your solutions to others' problems are perfect.

ANSWER: You endow your friend with praise, but he has cheated on his wife for seven years and is now deceiving you, lying in his teeth about it, yet you call him fine!" Well, his attributes show up under a far different and much less complimentary adjective in my estimation. Perhaps your reasoning runs along the line that since your own code of ethics is scarecly above reproach, his qualities are "fine" in comparison to yours. Have you really believed that you could hold a man after you had stolen him from his wife? There is even less honesty among adulterers than among thieves.

Oh yes! You had a question—should you follow the man so you could find him out in his betrayal of you? That would be a good idea. You'd discover exactly what you deserve to know—that a man who isn't true to one woman will not be true to another. You have it coming to you, and never can you look fate in the face and cry that you have been mistreated.

SAVE A LITTLE PRIDE

In order to save at least a bit of pride, why not get out of this mess before you're forced out? I'm afraid you won't consider this advice as "perfect" as some you have read, but certainly there is no perfect solution to your problem. You aren't a young girl; surely you've seen enough of life to know that happiness can never come from wrongdoing. If you want happiness again, re-establish your personal integrity and face the world. It won't be easy to throw off an obsession of seven years, but the reward will transcend any pain of readjustment.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 16 and have been going with Ray for two years. We went steady for a while, then broke up and, though we went out together occasionlly, he spent most of his time with girls from a group not too highly regarded in our town. Recently he was in an accident and I went to see him at the hospital. I told him he'd have to choose between me and the other girls. He claimed me really likes me best, but also is interested in someone else. He asked me to wait for him. I know I can't forget him. What should I do?

L. H.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are both too young to be involved in definite commitments. Don't promise to wait, and don't make it too obvious that you'll always be around when he's ready to date you. Go out with other boys, and tell Ray you don't think his vague promises are suffcient basis for you to tie yourself down to steady dating—or steady waiting. You're growing up, and life ahead will have many problems, small and large, for you to solve. "I can't!" will never do. Learn now that what you make up your mind to do can be done. Forgetting a boy who isn't worthy of you is one of the things that must be done.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a widow of 32, with two daughters. I have met a widower, also with two

McKEE HARVESTING SYSTEMS

Why not call on our Field Men to help you plan a Harvesting System for your Farm? We have the experience to assure guaranteed results. Our systems apply to every crop. Grass, silage, hay, grain threshing, and seed harvest. Use McKee Harvester to pick up swathed grain and haul it to your threshing machine. We manufacture special conveyors to elevate it into your thresher. Remember, ONE 25 H.P. Tractor, ONE McKee Harvester and Wagon, and ONE Man can bring in enough grain to keep a threshing machine running continuously. Two Men can do the job which formerly required 7 or 8.

HAVE YOU ORDERED YOUR McKEE HARVESTER?

Did you ever rise early on a quiet June morning to slip off to your favourite fishing spot only to find some one has been there before you? Rather frustrating, isn't it? The man that telephones up in June and expects to get a McKee Harvester could find himself in the same dilemma. Let's face it! We have about 25 in stock, but a carload is scheduled for Kelowna, B.C. Plus, a carload for Regina, Sask. We prefer to do business with Ontario farmers, but we certainly can't maintain a manufacturing plant on last minute orders.

Buy direct from the Company or Factory Salesmen.

Kitchener Band Shows Reason For Fine Regulation

Reputedly one of the best Salvation Army bands in the Dominion, the Kitchener Citadel band drew a large and enthusiastic audience to the PCVS on Saturday night.

In a short program, devoted to six band items and seven solos and duets, the 24-piece group thrilled the listeners with a grand performance.

The climax to the evening's entertainment was the cornet duet "Deliverance," given by Bandmaster William Gallagher and Bandsman B. Tillsley. With near perfect tonguing and a real understanding of each other, the two cornetists completely captured their audience. Bandsman Tillsley also played a cornet solo, "Boundless Joy. Although still a very young man, Mr. Tillsley proved himself an excellent performer, and one well appreciated by the rapt listeners.

Two vocal solos were given by Bandsman B. Tilley. A tenor, with a wide range, he was particularly pleasing in his rendition of "Father in Heaven" (Handel's Largo). His other number was "Lord of Every Perfect Gift."

A really polished instrumental soloist was Bandsman N. Wombwell who presented Leizden's "Happy All the Day" on the euphonium. Mr. Wombwell proved himself equally at home on the piano where his interpretation of "Minuet" by Paderewski, was well appreciated.

The band's other soloist was a trombone player, Bandsman W. Gallagher, who played "Hosanna." His rendition was not at all overshadowed by the previous excellent presentations.

From the outset it was plain to see that Banmaster Gallagher had complete control and the absolute confidence of his players. Doubtless there are many bands that could be judged better performers in a contest, but when an audience is so noticeably satisfied and thrilled, then the artists can be assured that they have done a good job.

Two of the band's best items were the short classics, "Short March" by Schubert and "Ave Verum" by Mozart. Both these arrangements demanded a high regard for the composer's intentions and a sound appreciation of orchestration. In these respects the Kitchener players can accept laurels for their good work.

To complete the performance, the band played "By Love Compelled" (Allen). A stirring melody, capably handled, it proved a fitting finish to an evening of fine music.

The Kitchener band also provided music at the Peterborough Salvation Army Temple on Sunday afternoon, to conclude the winter series of musicals. J. O.

daughters, who has asked me to marry him. I am seriously considering his offer, but have been advised against it because my folks don't think the two families will mix well. The ages of the four girls are 7, 9, 11 and 13. They all like each other and I am confident it would work out.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If you've known the man long enough to be sure of his disposition, if he can support adequately a sizeable family, and if you both are congenial with all the girls, there's no reason why the marriage should not work out. Just be sure to give careful consideration to the important matters.

Foreign Planes Over Sweden

STOCKHOLM (AP)—The Swedish defence staff Sunday reported another violation of Swedish territory by foreign planes of unnamed nationality.

A communique said a group of planes crossed into Sweden from Finland at a high altitude Saturday morning over the town of Juoksengi.

OSLO (AP)—Lt. Gen. Finn Lambrechts, Norway's air force commander, said Sunday unidentified planes have been observed in northern and central Norway during the last few days.

Commenting on similar violations of Finnish and Swedish air territory recently, General Lambrechts said that in at least one case the identity of the plane was established as American. He said Norway will ask Allied powers to see that Norwegian territory is respected by their military planes.

Italian Jet Spins Into Bottling Plant

NAPLES (CP)—An Italian air force jet plane spun out of a formation today and crashed into a Coca-Cola bottling plant, killing the pilot and an office worker. Nine other workers were seriously injured by explosion and flames following the crash.

The stricken plane, trailing smoke, plummeted into the plant at a steep angle through the roof and into the office of plant manager Antonio Mercio. An accountant was killed. Mercio was uninjured.

One wall of the plant was collapsed by the impact of the crash.

Chas. H. McCutcheon

HAVELOCK (ENS)—The funeral of Charles Howard McCutcheon, 54, took place today under the auspices of Royal Lodge IOOF 286.

The service in the Curtis funeral parlors was conducted by the Rev. R. G. Newman. Burial was in Maple Grove cemetery.

Belleville YPU Wins Trophy For Play In Drama Festival

The best was saved for the last as "To What Purpose", presented by the Bridge St. YPU in Belleville won the Baxter Trophy at the Bay of Quinte conference drama festival Saturday. This was the last of seven productions presented at the festival.

Groups from Cannington, Almonte, Harwood, Blackstock, Brockville and the St. James' YPU of Peterborough also competed. Adjudicator Miss Isobel Squires of Toronto found the Peterborough production of "Joseph of Arimathea" a close second to the Belleville presentation.

"To What Purpose" speculates on one of the most dramatic of Biblical stories, that of the woman of Samaria who anointed the feet of Christ. This was the woman earlier saved by Christ from a frenzied mob who screamed charges of adultery at her.

The action takes place in a perfume shop where the woman, Phaice, is trying to buy the ointment. The penny-pinching proprietress, Doyan, cherishing a self-righteous contempt for this woman of the streets jacks up the price of the ointment. She is, however, converted in the end and not only gives the ointment, but turns her own money over to a wandering begger woman.

MOST DRAMATIC

Adjudicator Squires felt that this production packed the most dramatic punch of the seven. Special mention went to Margaret Hillis as Phaice and Rosemary Hunter as Doyan.

A difficult and ambitious theme was attempted by the St. James YPU in their production of "Joseph of Arimathea." Orchids go to all concerned for their work, energy and dedication, but the production lacked polish and finesse. One could see that the cast felt the great import of the story, but could not quite get it across to the audience.

Major difficulty was in the title role. Joseph of Arimathea, according to the Biblical story, is a quasi-disciple of Christ who cowers in his home, afraid, when Christ is borne to the Cross. He gives his servant money to see if Christ can yet be helped with cash the nadir of his self-disgrace. But actor Bob Tamblin, who played this role didn't quite achieve the proper effect.

Ron Davis as Nicodemus and his wife, Marian, as Joseph's wife, Esther, handled their roles with a deft competence which is unusual in amateur productions. Miss Squires, too, singled them out for special praise.

Esther was best when she stopped being self-conscious about her hands. She was especially effective on the bleak day after the Crucifixion when she said that "the unsatisfied longing is back in my heart, and the earth has returned to eternal darkness." She had her audience with her and this, after all, is the first test of dramatic merit.

As the plot unfolds, Esther persuades Joseph to find a tomb for hCrist, to expatiate his sense of guilt. The tomb is broken open, Joseph thinks vandals have done it until he sees the light.

Meanwhile Nicodemis is recounting the difficulties of a Christian life pointing out very well that not all will be willing to pay the price. A Roman soldier (Don Stewart) is converted.

COSTUMES EXCEPTIONAL

Generally, the St. James production was well handled. Costumes were exceptionally well designed under the supervision of Mrs. A. L. Shorten, wife of the in the professional class. Sets and props designed by director Bill Piercy were also quite effective.

Miss Squires, executive secretary of the newly-formed Christian Drama Council of Canada is also director of the famed Five Oaks summer school for religious drama at Paris, Ontario. She paid tribute to all the casts, with particular emphasis on those mentioned and on Irene Bonnel of Cannington and Pauline Drope of Harwood.

Saturday afternoon, the Cannington group led off with "The Light of the Window," in which Miss Bonnel starred in a difficult character part. The Almonte YPU then presented "Ba Thane," the story of a Burmese lad of that name who is converted as he is in the act of murdering an American missionary.

Harwood's "The Friendly Church" was followed by the familiar Victor Hugo extract from "Les Miserables." This story of Jean Valjean, "The Bishop's Candlesticks" was presented by the Blackstock YPU, of the Oshawa Presbytery.

In addition to the Peterborough and Belleville plays, the evening performances featured a play from St. John's YPU in Brockville, written by members of the cast. Titled "The Denial," it told the story of Peter's denial of Christ.

The trophy was presented to the Belleville group by Eldon Guthrie, president of the Bay of Quinte conference. Welcoming remarks were given by the Rev. Arnold Mathews of George Street United church, where the festival was held, on behalf of his congregation and the Ministerial Association. The festival was under the general direction of Warren Buttars of Bewdley.

Complete cast of the St. James production follows: Bob Tamblin, Ron Davis, Marian Davis, Betty Piercy, Bob Pullyblank, Shirley Manley, Muriel Hall, Sylvia McIntosh, Don Stewart, Bill Piercy. Makeup was by Miss Alice Frey and Miss Audrey Sampson. D. C.

Wet Soil Holds Farmers Off Their Land

The range of seeding spring grain in Peterborough and across the Durham border ranges from "never started" to "half done."

"And I don't think there are many half done, from all accounts," J. J. Powell, implement dealer at Millbrook commented to the Examiner today. "Maybe they're further ahead over on the lighter land in Manvers, and thereabouts. I used to farm there myself one time, and we usually got the spring work done earlier than the people west of us."

Mr. Powell ventured an estimate of 20% of the Cavan work done, and "possibly not that much."

Harold Inman said that if 10% of the crop wasn't in the ground of Elgin county as reported toward the end of last week, "it would hardly be safe to suggest better than 10% here."

FAST START

"Most of the farmers I've been talking to said they were in the get on the land," Mr. Inman said.

"Then, you hear of special cases like Don Hayes of Omemee. He was ready for action, and some of his neigbors were not. So they turned in. and helped him, expecting he'd reciprocate when the chance came. So they seeded 32 acres in a day and a half.

If you have the equipment and the land's right you can get a lot done in fast time."

Cliff Curtis said J. F. Young of Ennismore "must have 60 to 70 acres in seed. They have three tractors and quite a lot of equipment, and the boys know how to tackle the job."

Time was beginning to press on farmers, Mr. Inman said, but there ought to be leeway of another ten days or so.

"I've put in seed up to the 24th of May and had good crops," Mr. Powell said.

The weekend brought a little improvement in the weather, but some further improvement is needed to help that 85 to 90%, many of whom "never get started."

Elgin review says not much of the seeding in that county was done after May 12 last year, and up to Friday last year the total planting in Elgin was not more than 10% as estimated by the agricultural representative, A. V. Langton.

Typhoon Hits Philippines

MANILA (AP)—President Ramon Magsaysay Sunday ordered relief supplies slown to the southern Philippines where an off-season typhoon struck during the week-end. Reports from Cebu city said at least eight had been killed and 90 persons were missing and feared dead. Most were fishermen caught in open waters.

THE RELIGIOUS DRAMA, "Five Bible Mothers," was presented in the George Street United church on Sunday evening. Directed by Mrs. May Thompson and written by Nancy Cleaver, those taking part were, left to right, Mrs. Jack Harris, Jochebed, mother of Moses; Mrs. Archie Townsend, Rebekah, mother of Jacob and Esau; Mrs. Art Long, Mary, mother of Jesus; Mrs. Harold Mesley, Salome, mother of James and John, and Mrs. George Hook, Hannah, mother of Samuel.—(R. Centenary WA Makes Donation To Blind

ROSENEATH (ENS)—A combined quilting bee and business meeting was held by Centenary WA in the Woodvale school Saturday afternoon.

President Mrs. Dawson Timlin presided, with Mrs. Arnold Elder as pianist.

Mrs. Reginald Timlin was in charge of the devotional period.

It was decided to give a donation to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

Treasurer Mrs. R. Timlin reported a balance on hand of $73.00. Articles of sewing were on display.

The meeting closed with prayer. At the conclusion of the quilting period, refreshments were served.

the track where they filed in front of the reviewing stand in the following order: PCVS corps and band commanded by cadet Lt/Col. John Carter; Norwood district high school corps and pipe band commanded by cadet Maj. Frank Lynch; Campbellford high school corps and band commanded by cadet Maj. Hilliard Jones; Lindsay CVS corps and band commanded by Lt/Col. David Thaxter; Millbrook high school corps commanded by cadet Lt. Bob Palmer; Lakefield district high school corps commanded by cadet Maj. Fred Barcroft; Fenelon Falls high school corps commanded by cadet Maj. Bill Griffin; and Kenner collegiate corps commanded by cadet Lt/Col. Ted Spearin.

Following an inspection by Lt/Col. H. R. Mammel, OC of the 50th HAA Regiment, RCA (RF), Lt/Col. G. A. Welsh, DSO, ED, of Toronto, and Brig. M. S. Dunn, OBE, ED, commander of the eastern Ontario area, the assembled corps marched past the reviewing stand with Lt/Col. Welsh taking the salute.

Next on the agenda was a heavy anti-aircraft demonstration by the PCVS and Lakefield corps. Two heavy guns were swung into firing position on the far side of the field, sighted on an imaginary target commanded by a radar detection crew, and the motions of firing, reloading and re-aiming carried out. Action was fast for on the grandstand side of the field a Lindsay crew were busy assembling and operating a 25-pound ack-ack cannon.

REALISTIC SHOW

People in the grandstand and on the reviewing stand were shocked for a moment when Campbellford Millbrook and Kenner collegiate cadets opened with a barrage of Bren gun fire. Of course the ammunition was blank, but the desciplined operation of the guns was effective.

A number of offerings by the Norwood cadet pipe band and the Fenelon Falls cadet choir brought the afternoon to a close.

Present on the reviewing stand were Gordon K. Fraser, MP, the Hon. Harold Scott, MP, Col. John A. Dewart, Sub/Lt. William Carr, QC of the Peterborough Sea Cadets, and C. S. Browne, principal of PCVS.

Commanding officers in charge of the parade were cadets: Lt/Col. Marsh Weir, of Peterborough, Lt/Col. Douglas Montgomery of Norwood, Capt. John MacLean of Lindsay and RSM Paul Hendricks of Campbellford. Co-ordinating staff included; Lt/Col. Hammell, Capt. T. W. Stanley, Capt. J. J. P. Londerville, Maj. Cummings and Maj. P. R. V. Carr-Harris.

The St. John Ambulance corps were keypt busy during the day treating 10 victims of heat prostration or slight lacerations.

"This fine display demonstrates all the aims of cadet work in the schools," said Lt/Col. Dunn, addressing the assembly. "I wish to congratulate all who took part in this demonstration, today, and particularly thank the teachers and members of the school boards who are making this training possible. It is this training in leadership, discipline and team play which developes qualities of good citizenship."

"This is Canada's greatest asset," said Lt/Col. Welsh. "The destiny of this country is in your hands, and it is in very capable hands. I am thankful for the opportunity of coming here to see Canada's future on parade."

OBITUARIES

ANDREW D. McCONKEY

After a lengthy illness, Andrew D. McConkey, 80, of 411 Wellington St. died in St. Joseph's Hospital Sunday. He had been retired from the De Laval for a number of years.

Born in Courtland, Ont., son of George McConkey and Muriel Dean, he resided in London, Ont., for many years before coming to Peterborough 25 years ago. His wife, the former Martha E. Hall, predeceased him in 1947. Surviving are: sons, A. R. McConkey of Salem, North Carolina and R. D. McConkey of Peterborough; brothers, James of Elgin and Hugh of Vienna, Austria; and one sister, Mrs. E. Heffer (Emma Jane) of Aylmer.

Mr. McConkey was educated in Tillsonburg, and was a member of the Gospel Chapel in Lakefield. Funeral services will be on Wednesday, at 2:00 p.m., from the Nesbitt funeral home with Mr. Glenford Murphy of the Lakefield Gospel Chapel officiating. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

MRS. ALFRED W. NICHOLSON

The death occurred Sunday in Civic Hospital, of Mrs. Alfred William Nicholson, formerly Eva Arzalla Munroe, 85, of RR 4, Peterborough.

Born in Oak Lake, Ont., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Munroe, she lived most of her life in the Peterborough district. Her husband predeceased her. Surviving are: daughters, Mrs. George Fader (Elizabeth) of Maple Lake, Mrs. Rose Chandler of Niagara Falls, Mrs. Albert Garratt (Clara) of Toronto and Mrs. Ward Martin (Etta) of Peterborough; son, Pierce of Oak Lake, and William of Maple Lake, and one brother, Bert Munroe of Toronto.

CGE Equipment To Help Mine Ore At Marmora

With the aid of equipment supplied by the Peterborough works of the CGE, the Bethlehem Mining Corporation hopes to begin production of Marmora magnetite deposits in November.

Huge crates of machinery are already on the way to Marmora, equipment the CGE has been producing for the Corporation since 1952. Large induction motors, mining hoists, switchgear, control and other equipment will aid in production, and it's expected that all the gear will be installed by June.

Since iron ore supplies are dwindling in the U.S. the corporation, a subsidiary of Bethlehem Steel, has been tapping Canadian reserves at Ungava and Steep Rock, as well as Marmora. Iron was discovered at Marmora a century ago, but exploitation has been fairly recent.

Iron ore deposits at Marmora were pinpointed in 1949 as the result of a 1,450 square mile areo-magnetic survey. Subsequent drilling indicated an ore body big enough for open pit mining and averaging about 40 per cent iron. This is not so rich as the Ungava and Steep Rock fields, but rich enough to make mining a profitable business in Marmora using new extraction processes.

A daily mining rate of 1,500 to 1,750 tons is planned, after 20 million tons of limestone capping have been removed from the field. Already 45 millions of overburden have been removed from the site. Initial tests showed at least 18 million tons of iron ore.

The ore will be partly processed at the site, and will be concentrated by a huge machine capable of producing 500,000 tons of 60 to 65 per cent concentrate annually. Then the ore will be shipped to the firm's Buffalo plants, via Picton and Lake Ontario.

Boy Disappeared Police Alerted

LINDSAY (ENS) — A Sunday alert among provincial police of the Lindsay area was caused by the disappearance of an Omemee boy on Saturday evening. According to police Larry Larose, 13, a ward of the Children's Aid Society in Lindsay went to Omemee on Saturday evening for a haircut. The barber reported he had been in the shop. The boy failed to return home that night and an alarm was sounded. Searchers investigated the rivers and creeks of the area on Sunday and provincial police wer alerted. The boy arrived home early today. He explained he had wanted to visit his parents now living in Toronto.

Elect Winnipeg Man President Of Veterans

BRANDON (CP)—Robert Lang of Winnipeg was elected command president of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans of Manitoba and Northwestern Ontario here Sunday, at the conclusion of the command convention. He succeeds W. Harry Morgan, also of Winnipeg, as president.

Other officers elected during the final sessions were: A. Forsythe, Winnipeg, honorary president; K. Davidson, Selkirk, first vice-president; S. Stillwell, Kirkfield Park, second vice-president; and R. McTavish, Winnipeg, third vice-president.

See Indo-China Events Affecting Policies In U.S.

LONDON (Reuters)—The Times suggests today that events in Indo-China may profoundly affect United States domestic politics.

The independent newspaper also says that the Indo-China war has stressed an "all too often ignored" fact—that American public opinion wants peace as long as there is a chance for peaceful settlement.

"This truth has in the past been disguised, as it suited Republican purposes to equate American caution with Democratic cowardice," the paper says in an editorial.

"The Republicans had miscalculated the mood of the country which . . . was overwhelmingly against the risk of war."

CHANCE TO BE REALISTIC

The result, the paper says, may be as great as the political change which brought the Democrats—who led the United States in two world wars—to be attacked as the party of appeasement while traditionally-isolationist Republicans called for firm measures.

The charges of appeasement may now end, The Times suggests.

"Now both American parties have the chance to develop and display more realistic—and more real—attitudes to foreign policy.

"Here may be the opportunity for an 'agonizing reappraisal' that is truly constructive."

Rush Of Mountaineers To Climb Himalayas

By HAROLD K. MILKS

NEW DELHI (AP)—If this keeps on, traffic policemen may be needed to control the rush of mountain climbing expeditions to the Himalayas.

This year a dozen parties will tackle the world's highest mountains, in the wake of last year's successful assault on Mount Everest, the tallest known peak. Some teams now are in the field, others are en route to Nepal, India and Pakistan.

There already is a waiting list for the 1955 climbing season.

The 1954 expeditions range from the "poor man's team" of California mountaineers who plan to climb without oxygen equipment to an elaborately outfitted and financed Argentine group under the patronage of President Peron.

Both these expeditions are trekking across Nepal to base camps from which they will race against time and weather. The Americans will try to reach the top of unclimbed 27,790-foot Makalu, while the Argentines, with Chile's outstanding mountaineer as a member of their team, have 26,795-foot Dhaulagiri as their target.

SPECIAL FORECASTS

To assist the many climbers, the Indian government's all-India radio system is broadcasting special weather forecasts for the Himalayan regions twice daily.

More than 100 climbers and scientists will participate in this year's climbs.

Eight of the teams have ambitions to scale some of the "eight thousanders"—the 14 peaks of 8,000 metres (26,248 feet) or higher.

In 1950 French climbers Maurice Herzog and Louis Lachenal broke the spell of the eight-thousanders when they defeated grim Annapurna. The eight thousanders had been unsuccessfully assailed since 1859. They had claimed 67 lives from 38 expeditions until Herzog and Lachenal's ascent.

The unprecedented interest in Himalayan climbing, which experts here attribute largely to last year's successful British assault on Everest, has created a shortage of trained sherpas and porters in both Pakistan and Nepalese areas.

Because of the influx of expeditions, taxing the facilities of tiny Nepal, the Nepalese government is studying means of limiting the number of climbers each season.

Petrov Affair Big Help To Menzies In Election

By LOUIS L. LECK

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—The amazing Petrov affair has enhanced the election prospects of the Menzies-Fadden government in the opinion of most political observers.

A general election for the Australian House of Representatives will be held on May 29 after a campaign lasting less than four weeks. At dissolution the Liberal-Country party coalition held 68 seats and the Labor Opposition 53.

Before the prime minister's dramatic disclosure that Vladimir Petrov, third secretary at the Russian embassy in Canberra, had sought and been granted political refuge in Australia, most observers considered that the government would be hard pressed to retain a workable majority in the new House of Representatives.

PRESTIGE WEAKENED

The 1952-53 recession, which was accompanied by a moderate amount of unemployment, considerably weakened the government's prestige. It is very doubtful whether the improvement in the economic scene since the middle of last year had enabled the government to recover all its lost ground.

It is true that unemployment has considerably declined. The latest figures (at the end of March) show that fewer than 10,000 people are eligible for unemployment relief benefits. Payable in most cases to people who have been registered as unemployed for 14 days.

It is true also that the budget which Treasurer Sir Arthur Fadden introduced in September granted, very substantial tax concessions. Nevertheless, the tide of electoral opinion seemed to be running against the government at the beginning of this year, though much less strongly than it was a year before. Experienced political observers believed that the election race would be close with the odds very slightly in favor of the government.

On April 13, in the last hours of the parliament which was elected in 1952, Prime Minister Menzies informed a dumbfounded House that Petrov had revealed the existence of a Soviet espionage ring in Australia.

Labor Leader Dr. Herbert Vere Evatt was caught at a disadvantage. Believing that only routine matters would be dealt with in the House that day he had left Canberra to make the 200-mile journey to Sydney.

POLITICAL TRAP

There is feeling in the Labor party that Mr. Menzies was not entirely scrupulous in allowing Dr. Evatt to leave Canberra without warning him that he would make an historic announcement in the House that evening.

Dr. Evatt quickly issued a statement assuring the government of the Labor party's full support in breaking up the Soviet espionage ring, but his statement—or so Labor leaders think—did very little to offset the electoral advantage gained by Mr. Menzies.

Labor men believe that the 200,000 or so "swinging" voters, who really decide elections in Australia, would be swayed in favor of the government by Mr. Menzies' announcement that the government would take firm action on the basis of Petrov's disclosures.

Less than a week later, Mr. Menzies faltered in his adroit handling of the Petrov affair. After Mrs. Petrov had been hustled aboard a Constellation airliner at Mascot aerodrome, Sydney, he issued a statement that there was no evidence that Mrs. Petrov had not boarded the plane voluntarily. This statement, based on reports of security officers, seemed contradicted by newspaper reports and pictures of the incidents at Mascot.

But Mr. Menzies retrieved his fumble by urgent messages to government representatives at Darwin which resulted in the disarming of the two Russian guards and in Mrs. Petrov's decision to follow her husband's example and seek political asylum here.

NO MAJOR ISSUE

The Petrov affair has suddenly made communism a live and important electoral issue. Mr. Menzies has promised to "fight Communists with whatever weapons we have."

But the prime minister has warned government candidates to avoid any mention of Petrov. The matter now is in the hands of a royal commission and any candidate using the case for electioneering purposes faces the possibility of being brought before the commission on contempt charges.

After the defeat of the referendum for a constitutional amendment to validate the anti-Communist legislation, which the first Menzies government passed in 1950, communism drifted into the political background.

The government was not anxious to revive the issue, one on which it had been decisively defeated. Labor believes that communism may or may not be a vote-winning issue for the government, but that it is almost certainly a vote losing issue for Labor.

When the Petrov affair became front-page news for every newspaper in Australia, the Labor party found itself in a dilemma. It dared not criticize the government for its handling of the Petrov affair lest it be accused of pro-Communist sympathies. On the other hand, to support the government meant that it was endorsing a policy which could easily win the election for the Menzies-Fadden ministry.

As a result, Labor's attitude has been to ignore the whole affair as much as possible. Its pre-campaign election propaganda has been concerned almost entirely with local issues of not much more than parish pump importance.

Pentagon, World's Largest Office Building

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP)—Imagine a small city with 17½ miles of circular roadways squeezed into a single building.

That's the Pentagon, America's military staff headquarters containing in its depths all the components of a busy shopping centre; departmental store and barber shop, laundry and cafeterias, bank and post office, radio station and drugstore, florist and rail and air ticket offices, and even a law court for traffic violators.

Daily this squat, impassive edifice, planning and caring for some 3,300,000 of Uncle Sam's men and women in uniform, swallows and disgorges 30,000 workers.

HUGE PARKING AREA

They shuttle back and forth from their homes in a fleet of commercial buses, cabs and some 8,000 automobiles parked in 64 acres near the five-sided building.

World's largest office building, the Pentagon contains three times the floor space of New York's Empire State building.

Standing five storeys high, with two subterranean basement floors, it was built 11 years ago at a cost of $83,000,000.

Five concentric rings of corridors and offices are spoked and ribbed by 10 crossing corridors leading to an inner court filled with trees and green shrubbery, park benches and an outdoor lunch stand.

44,000 TELEPHONES

Ramps, escalators and elevators connect the various floors. In the building is the world's biggest telephone switchboard, handling 280,000 calls a day over 44,000 telephones.

The Pentagon requires a kitchen staff of 675 to prepare meals in two restaurants, six cafeterias, nine beverage bars and the inner court stand. On an average day, the workers may consume a total of 35,000 cups of coffee, 3,800 quarts of milk and 7,000 soft drinks.

Some 600 carpenters, locksmiths, sign painters, electricians, mechanics and others are included in the maintenance. The Pentagon has its own railway to haul coal to its heating plant.

Are you a clock watcher? The Pentagon has 3,000 clocks. Perhaps you like looking out of windows. There are 6,700. Or perhaps you're thirsty? There are 550 water fountains.

JOHN NIAGARA Talks about:

LOWER RATES ON Niagara Loans

You might think that rates on loans are exactly the same from company to company. This is an idea that could cost you money, for Niagara Finance has a rate structure that is lower in many cases, and here's the reason why. It's a matter of policy with Niagara to believe that it is no more trouble to make a loan of say, $750 than it is $100.00 . . . and, if the rate of charge was exactly the same on both loans we'd obviously make more money on a $750.00 loan. So we work on the idea that on loans for larger amounts the rate should run "downhill", while at the same time rates on smaller amounts are standard. Besides that, we think you'll like our idea of having loans to $1500 life-insured at no extra cost to you. That's the sort of protection that a family man can appreciate. Come in and see us if you need money; we'd like to meet you.

Ask French Envoys Fly To Fort Discuss Wounded

HANOI, Indo-China (CP)—The Communist rebel command in Indo-China tonight invited the French to fly envoys into Dien Bien Phu to discusus evacuating wounded from the fallen fortress.

The rebel comander, Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, broadcast the offer to the French commander, Gen. Henri Navarre.

The rebel broadcast proposed the French should send envoys in by helicopters.

The rebel consent followed a French proposal for talks on the evacuation project, contained in a note parachuted into Dien Bien Phu earlier today by a French plane.

The evacuation was agreed upon by French and Rebel delegates to the Geneva Far East conference Monday.

PLANNING AIRLIFT

A French army spokesman earlier reported Gen. Henry Navarre, commander of the French Union forces in Indo-China, had orders to rush preparations for airlifting the more than 1,000 wounded soldiers from the fallen fortress.

The Communists agreed at the Geneva conference Monday that the French may fly out 1,300 severely wounded French Union troops the Reds said they captured when they seized the northwest Indo-China bastion Friday after 56 days of repeated attacks.

LANDING A PROBLEM

Once arrangements with Giap are made, the big problem will be landing facilities for the French transports. Dien Bien Phu is 175 miles northwest of Hanoi, nearest hospital centre big enough to handle such a large number of cases.

The fortress' two airstrips were churned to rubble by rebel mortars and artillery, and will have to be repaired. Whether the Vietminh will do this themselves, using war prisoners for labor, or leave it to French engineers is not known.

It is possible that helicopters might start bringing out the most gravely wounded shortly.

The Vietminh radio Monday night said every possible medical aid is being given the wounded.

The broadcast said most of the injured are being treated by their own doctors, who also are captives. More than 20 French doctors were in Dien Bien Phu when it fell.

The broadcast made no mention of Genevieve de Galard Terrabue, French Air Force nurse who was trapped in the fortress after rebel fire destroyed the helicopter which took her there for a visit last March.

Report Contracts Under Scrutiny Involve $4,000,000

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto paper says today six highway contracts totalling between $2,000,000 and $4,000,000 are involved in the highways department investigation which led Monday to charges against three firms and 11 men.

Its news page story says there has been no official indication what portion of these contracts is directly involved in the charges against the accused contractors and highways department employees.

"The three companies named have been awarded a total of 52 contracts, involving more than $17,000,000, in the last five years. Only six of these contracts are said to be involved in the suspected irregularities."

The paper says the charges involve contracts as far back as 1948. They are reported to arise from three contracts of Tomlinson Brothers Limited of Toronto and two of Bergmann Construction Co. Ltd. of West Hill, on the eastern outskirts of Toronto.

The province's public accounts show that during the period 1949-53, the Tomlinson firm received a total of $8,634,868 for 33 contracts. Standard Paving got $5,025,114 for 14 contracts, and the Bergmann company $3,679,993 for five contracts.

REMANDED WITHOUT PLEA

WHITBY (CP) — Six men charged with conspiring to defraud the Ontario government on highways contracts were remanded today without plea.

Five of the six men were released by magistrate F. S. Ebbs on renewed bail of $2,000 to $10,000.

They are Walter Bergmann, president, Bergmann Construction, West Hill; John A. West, company superintendent, Whitby; Cecil A. Nelson, suspended department of highways chief engineer, Port Hope; Donald S. Patterson, Huntsville division engineer, and W. L. Bredin, an instrument clerk in the Huntsville division.

The sixth, Harry Phipps, retired engineer at Fort William, did not have bail arranged.

The attorney-general's department Monday issued warrants charging 11 men with conspiring to defraud the government. They

FIRE IN THE ONTARIO HOSPITAL in Cobourg was brought under control by three fire departments Monday afternoon as some 500 women patients responded quietly to the alarm and walked away from danger. Firemen, seen here, poured water into the south end of the auditorium building where the blaze started, to prevent it breaking through the roof and leaping to another nearby. —(Murray Smith Photo)

3 Fire Departments Quell Fire At Ontario Hospital

COBOURG—Combined efforts of three fire departments saved the auditorium building of the Ontario Hospital here, from destruction when fire broke out Monday afternoon above the laundry, presumably caused by electric wiring.

The building, a frame and stucco structure, built during the first World War when the Ontario Hospital was a military hospital, is located near a dormitory wing of similar construction and had the fire broken through the roof it would have been very difficult to prevent it from spreading to a building about 40 feet to the south.

Realizing how vulnerable the other buildings were Fire Chief Ken Baird of Cobourg, called the ordnance depot fire department and also Port Hope fire dept.

Within a short time nine hose lines were fighting the fire which was between the floors between the basement laundry and the auditorium and had eaten its way underneath the stage. From early in the afternoon until after 3 p.m., water was poured into the building. Hose lines directed water into the attic to prevent the flames from working upward and breaking through the roof. Water ran down through the ceiling of the laundry and out the side basement doors in small rivers.

DANGER FROM ROOF

Fire Chief Baird said that had the fire got through the roof it would have been difficult to prevent it reaching the dormitory building to the south which is linked with the main hospital building.

Twenty patients and attendants were in the laundry and another ten patients and attendants were in the sewing room when the fire was discovered. A staff member, Margaret Cowin, saw smoke coming out of a fuse box in the laundry around one p.m. The lights flickered and smoke appeared in the ceiling.

She turned in the alarm and immediately, the fire alarm routine for 500 women patients went into operation. The hospital fire alarm whistle from the boiler room sounded and nurses and staff at once began to evacuate the patients. Some of the staff stood by in case the bed-ridden patients had to be removed but the fire did not at any time threaten the infirmary.

However, if it had been necessary, the sick could have been wheeled out on the special wheel beds and down a ramp to safety, the infirmary being on the main floor of the wing.

Bandits Rob, Badly Beat Two Brothers

THOROLD, Ont. (CP) — Two brothers were badly beaten early today and robbed of $50 by three armed bandits in the second armed robbery within an hour in this community about five miles south of St. Catharines.

Police said Ted and Sam Small, operators of a brick-laying firm, were beaten in the bedroom of their home when they refused to disclose the location of their savings.

The thieves struck one of the brothers with the butt of his gun and kicked him in the face. They tore out light fixtures and the telephone, police said.

SECOND ROBBERY

It was the second time the Small home has been broken into recently. A few weeks ago thieves stole a safe containing $13,000, most of it in government bonds.

The other armed robbery today took place at the Regent taxi office where Mrs. Walter Darby, wife of the owner, and driver Henry Salton, were held up by thieves who took $8 from the till.

End $200,000 Extortion Scheme Against Jews

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — FBI agents ended a $200,000 extortion scheme against 20 Jewish families here Monday night by arresting a mud-spattered man as he picked up a package supposedly containing the money.

The agents closed in on the man as he scrambled down a railroad embankment to retrieve the package. The man fired one shot at close range but missed.

Disarmed and taken to FBI headquarters, the man would say only that he was James Hollis Jones, 49, and unemployed, and that he wanted to talk to his lawyer.

SINGLED AS COLLECTOR

Singled out for the role of collector of money among the 20 families, was Julius Schepps, a civic and sports leader.

Classified advertisements inserted in the Dallas Morning News, along with a series of letters, notes and telephone calls, were part of the negotiations.

'Pirates' Rob CNIB Fund

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian National Institute for the Blind, conducting a campaign to raise $3,150,000 for a new headquarters centre here, said today that during the last two weeks "pirates" have plundered a considerable amount of money which unsuspecting persons intended for the fund.

William Dies, CNIB sales manager, said that from a headquarters somewhere in the metropolitan Toronto area, honey-voiced women telephone to beg money "for the blind" and try to sell goods they say have been made by the blind. Then other members of the group go to the homes of persons taken in by the sales talk.

"The CNIB never uses the telephone to solicit funds or sales at campaign time or any other season of the year," said Mr. Dies.

A $50,000 grant to the building fund was announced today by the National Trust Co. Ltd., trustees of the J. P. Bickell Foundation. It will cover cost of furnishings and equipment for the residence building of the proposed new centre near Sunnybrook Hospital.

Two Miners Killed

ROUYN, Que. (CP)—Two miners were killed Monday in an underground accident at the Noranda mine.

Dead are Real Bressard of Evain, Que., and Manfred Walter, 26, of Rouyn.

The accident occurred in stope 1053 of the big mine, but inspectors and company officials said no details were immediately available.

An inquest was set for today.

Big Three Meeting Needed–Churchill

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Churchill said today he still believes in the need of a Big Three meeting between himself, President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Malenkov.

He told the House of Commons he is "exactly of the same opinion" as when he first issued his call for such a meeting 12 months ago. "Unhappily," he added, "my opinion does not rule in every respect."

Persistant Labor questioning on the proposed southeast Asia security pact failed to draw any substantial response from Churchill.

Massey Pays Kitchener Visit

KITCHENER (CP) — Governor-General Vincent Massey got a busy greeting today on his first official visit to the twin community of Kitchener and Waterloo.

He stood in the shadow of flag-decked city hall, received civic leaders by the score and visited with scores of well-scrubbed school children.

The schedule was a demanding one. From 10:31 a. m. when he alighted from an auto at Kitchener's city hall, until he departed, every moment was planned. But the lean, 67-year-old scholar seemed to enjoy every moment of it.

The weather stood aloof, however, chill winds making crowds sparse.

In reply to the Kitchener welcome, Viscount Massey said the soldier-engineer after whom the city was named would have been proud of his namesake.

No-Raiding Agreement Signed By UAW

TORONTO (CP) — A no-raiding and mutual assistance agreement, believed to be the first of its kind in Canada, was signed Monday by top officials of the United Auto Workers (CIO-CCL) and the international association of machinists (AFL-TLC).

The pact, which covers about 117,000 workers, provides that both unions will cease raids on plants already organized, will not "sling mud" at one another in unorganized plants and calls for mutual co-operation in dealing with the common problems, common employers and common industries.

It was signed by George Burt, Canadian director, UAW, and George Schollie, Canadian director, IAM.

An adjudication procedure in case of dispute between the two is set up in the agreement.

GO AHEAD WITH PACT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The CIO decided Monday to sign a "no raiding" pact with the AFL despite the fact some maor AFL and CIO unions apparently won't go along with the plan.

The CIO executive board authorized its labor unity committee to exchange signatures as soon as possible with the AFL for whatever unions in both organizations may be willing to ratify the agreement.

The "no raid" pact will bind whatever unions sign it to refrain from trying to seize members already organized by unions of a rival federation.

About 70 of the AFL's 110 unions and most of the CIO's 35 unions are reported ready to sign.

Fund Flopping

MELBOURNE (AP)—Australia's Empire Games fund appeal is flopping so badly that its organizers fear only 20 to 25 athletes will be sent to compete at Vancouver this summer. Originally it had been planned to send 38 team members.

House Agrees To Set Up Special Vets Committee

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons has agreed to set up a special veterans affairs committee on the government's terms, after repeated opposition demands that its agenda include a study of war veterans allowances.

Members of all three opposition groups Monday reiterated requests that the 31-member comittee be empowered to consider more than the legislation proposed by the govenment.

Following a day-long debate, the House adopted the motion of Veterans Affairs Minister Lapointe that the committee be formed to study two bills dealing with war service grants and servicemen's benefits.

The chief topic of opposition speeches was that the War Veterans Allowances Act under which "burned out" veterans — those whose earning capacity has been lessened by war service—are paid allowances of up to $50 a month for single veterans and $90 for married.

As of March 31, 30,650 veterans received allowances.

Opposition speakers urged the government to boost the allowances this session. They also asked that the veterans affairs committee be put on a permanent basis to permit an annual review of veterans' problems.

CHARGES POLITICS

Clarie Gillis (CCF—Cape Breton South) accused the government of introducing politics into veterans legislation by stipulating what the committee shall consider.

Mr. Gillis, a wounded veteran of the First World War, said the Commons should return to the veterans committees of a few years ago, which were non-partisan and had the power to initiate veterans legislation on their own.

Lt.-Col. Lapointe said all parties have acted together in the past to benefit war veterans. He hoped the situation would continue. He said a permanent committee still would require definite instructions from the Commons at each session.

During the debate, two opposition amendments to the government's motion were ruled out of

Joint Election Plan Proposed

GENEVA (Reuters) — South Korea today proposed reunification of the country through North Korean participation in elections scheduled May 20.

Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai told the 19-nation Far East conference here that if North Korea permits her population to vote in the South Korean elections on that date "the problem of reunification is solved."

Pyun spoke after Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov and Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak.

So far in the conference, North Korea has refused to consider UN supervision of elections. It has proposed instead that a north-south commission "free from foreign influence" be formed to arrange and supervise elections.

Pyun appealed to the Communists to "let down the barriers and permit this expression of the will of the people to be genuinely and completely nation-wide."

Eden, Pearson Have Dinner Meeting

GENEVA (CP)—Anthony Eden, Britain's foreign secretary, dined Monday with Canada's External Affairs Minister, L. B. Pearson in the Canadian delegation headquarters at the Hotel de la Paix.

The two dined alone and had a general discussion of Far Eastern conference subjects.

Mr. Pearson will leave for London Wednesday to attend private sessions of the sub-committee of the United Nations disarmament commission.

Chester Ronning, Canadian minister to Norway and Iceland, will lead the Canadian delegation at the talks here.

The disarmament commissions sub-committee starts work Thursday. Britain, the United States, France, the Soviet Union and Canada are represented on it.

General's Aide Hurt By Mortar Shell

HANOI (AP) — A Vietminh mortar shell exploded on an airstrip 75 miles southeast of Hanoi today just a few minutes before Lt.-Gen. Rene Cogny, French commander in northern Indo-China, arrived to board a plane. Cogny's chief aide, Brig.-Gen. Jean Masson, and two other persons were wounded by fragments.

The French air force today announced it had opened an offensive against the rebels in the delta and had "destroyed" three villages used by the Vietminh as attack bases.

The Vietminh radio reported new details on the fate of the Dien Bein Phu garrison. In a broadcast heard in Hong Kong, the rebel radio said a new count of French Union prisoners taken there totalled 11,000, over 1,000 more than the previous total announced by the Vietminh.

Offers Thailand As Allied Base

BANGKOK (AP) — Thailand's defence chief said today that anti-Communist powers may use his country as a military base if this becomes necessary to halt Communist expansion in Indo-China or elsewhere in southeast Asia.

Luang Dej Fraiyugh, chief of Thailand's defence general staff and deputy interior minister, said his government wholly supports a United States proposal for a southeast Asia treaty organization. But he insisted that Britain and France must co-operate to assure successful united action against Communist aggression.

Luang Dej said that before Thailand is used as a military base the countries concerned would have to reach agreement with the Thai government on terms and conditions. He did not elaborate.

Think Young Couple Hiding Near Guelph

GUELPH (CP)—Police said today they think a young district couple who disappeared Friday night may be hiding in this area.

Officers hold a warrant for the arrest of Donald Raibideau, 18-year-old factory worker, on a charge of abducting Irene Margaret Coltman, 15.

The girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Coltman, expressed belief the couple eloped and possibly headed for North Bay.

However, police said the fact the girl took no clothes other than those she was wearing suggested she and the youth may still be somewhere near here.

Blames U.S. Imperialism

Molotov Denounces Plan For Security Bloc In Asia

GENEVA (Reuters) — Russia's Vyacheslav Molotov today denounced Western plans for a collective security system in southeast Asia.

Conference sources reported that he devoted a large part of his speech on the Korean settlement question today to attacking "American imperialism" in Asia.

Molotov, the sources addedl completely backed the plan of Gen. Nam Il, the North Korean foreign minister, for a joint commission of the North and South Korean governments to arrange all-Korean elections.

Molotov said this plan offered the most reasonable chance for a Korean settlement.

Molotov was the first speaker today as the 19-nation conference to determine Korea's future held its first general session since last Friday. British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden presided

Others listed to speak were Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault. However, after the session began, Bidault withdrew his name from the list without explanation.

Meanwhile, a French spokesman said France is willing to discuss the Communist plan for an Indo-China armistice along with its own plan, but declared strong opposition to major provisions of the Communist proposal.

The spokesman made it clear that France has no intention of breaking off the Indo-China talks in Geneva despite the apparent East-West deadlock.

He explained France's position at a press conference as the National Assembly in Paris prepared to debate the government's policy on Indo China.

He obviously was concerned over headlines which appeared in some Paris newspapers on the eve of the debate, indicating that the Geneva negotiations were regarded by the French as hopeless.

Some observers think the new French reaction to the Communist terms represents a softening of their position, but it is clear that the main provisions of the Vietminh plan are far from acceptable to France.

Slight Socialist Gains In Week's Elections

LONDON (Reuters) — First results of this week's municipal elections in England and Wales showed slight Socialist gains today as politicians scanned the outcome for hints of the national voting atmosphere.

Final results may provide Sir Winston Churchill with a clue on whether it would be wise to call a national election this year. If the outlook proves favorable, Churchill could call a full-scale voting test to strengthen his Conservative party's hold on Parliament.

With full results of the first balloting not yet published, the Labor party scored net gains of 13 seats in 324 urban council contests.

Borough elections will be held in 395 districts Thursday. No seats will be contested in London this year, but borough seats are at stake in many of the larger provincial cities.

Rail Bandits Raid Two Cars On Fast Freight

Police Believe Tip-off Men Work On Railway

TORONTO (CP) — Two cars on the fast CPR freight from Montreal to Toronto were raided early today by railway bandits.

Full extent of the loss is not yet known.

Police said they believe it to be the work of an organized gang, responsible for a series of similar robberies.

They suspect the existence of tip-off men in the railway organization.

The police theory is that through leakage the thieves know where freight cars will be stopping. They are able to pinpoint the car carrying cigarettes, said police, who blame the gang for theft of several thousand dollars worth of cigarettes form freight cars

Some of the robberies have taken place in the Whitby area, 25 miles east of here.

Bannister To Fly To U.S. For Program

LONDON (AP) — Roger Bannister, the four-minute miler, will fly tonight to the U. S. at the request of the foreign office to appear on television in the U. S.

"He has no plans to run while in the United States and any proceeds from his activities will be devoted to charities which he will nominate," a foreign office spokesman said.

Princess Anne Steals Show

Runs Up Ship's Ladder Refuses To Come Down

GIBRALTAR (Reuters) — Little Princess Anne stole the show today as her mother, Queen Elizabeth, sailed for home on the last lap of a six-month global tour.

The excited three-year-old, her curly, blonde hair blowing in the strong breeze, darted from her mother's side aboard the royal yacht Britannia and climbed a steep ladder to join the ship's band.

The band was playing "Rule Britannia" at the formal farewell ceremony.

Thousands standing on the docks saw a sailor rush after the princess but she kept going until she reached the top of the ladder.

At that point, her father, the Duke of Edinburgh, broke ceremony, too, and shouted to Anne, "Come down, come down."

She refused. So he ran up the ladder, caught her tiny hand and led her down to join the Queen and her brother, Prin Charles, who stood obediently at his mother's side.

It was a surprising start to the five-day voyage to London which brings the Queen home looking slimmer and deeply tanned after hundreds of receptions and thousands of handshakes on the tour.

The Queen faces a day of welcome in London already assuming the proportions of the Coronation "fever."

Her two-day visit to Britain's bastion here was the last official engagement of the six-month tour.

The sovereign did not appear tired this morning as she laid the foundation stone of the King George VI Memorial Hospital.

Among the farewell gifts for the Royal Family was a silver flash for the Duke of Edinburgh. The Queen received a diamond coat of arms of Gibraltar from the British garrison and residents.

Committee To Consider New Insurance

Property committee of the city council has been asked by the committee of the whole to consider the advisability of applying the option of co-insurance to civic properties for the advantage of the lower rate of premium.

The proposal was made by Ald. J. A. Dewart who said at a recent meeting that industrial and mercantile properties adopted this plan quite generally. If it was satisfactory to them and their investments, why should it not be acceptable to the municipality.

"I can't see any disadvantage to us, provided the property values are established each year," Ald Dewart said.

His proposal was that this matter of co-insurance could at least be discussed, that the property committee might call in T. C. Ephgrave as adviser and also representative of the insurance brokers association. If the method was desirable and practicable to the municipality, then the council would have the considered report of the property committee, and could proceed from that stage to determine whether the council should adopt it. Ald. Gordon Powell seconded the Dewart motion.

The suggestion followed the report by Ald Stan McBrde that the Civic Arena committee wished to direct the insuring of that city property, to adopt the co-insurance plan, and thereby, he said, save in premium something more than $1,000 a year. His approximation was a saving of about $3,300 in three years.

REDUCING DEBT

The committee had been reducing its debt to the council since 1948.

"We feel that until the debt is paid off we would like to administer the entire program in a manner satisfactory to the council," Ald. McBride said.

Committee of the whole recommended that the arena committee be authorized to arrange for the insurance as it wished. After that introduction of the subject Ald. Dewart said the property committee could be asked to investigate the plan of insurance for the entire municipal insurance.

Essence of co-insurance is the undertaking of the insured to maintain insurance up to 80% (some cases 90 or 100%) of the value of the insured property, and the company gives a reduced rate of premium.

It does not mean that the insurance company will only pay up to 80% of loss.

So long as insurance is maintained at 80% (for example) of the value of the property, the company will pay the whole of any loss up to the limit of the policy. If the insured fails to carry the agreed amount of insurance then the company and the insured bear the loss proportionately.

order. One by Lt.-Col. A. J. Brooks (PC—Royal) would have allowed the committee to study the War Veterans Allowances Act. The order by Rev. E. G. Hansell (SC—Macleod) would have let the committee decide its own agenda.

The measures to be referred to the committee cover amendments to a number of separate acts.

Among other things they extend the deadline for applying for re-establishment credits to Jan. 1, 1960, or 15 years after discharge, whichever is the longer period.

At present, Second World War veterans can apply up until the end of this year or 10 years after discharge. As of last June 30, 187,000 veterans still had not applied for re-establishment credits valued at more than $37,000,000.

Another amendment will extend rehabilitation benefits to 22,000 regular force members who served in Korea, provided they left Canada for Korea before July 27 of last year, the date of the armistice.

TWICE AS HOT

It was nearly twice as hot a year ago as it was today. The temperature, May 11, 1953, reached 84, just 42 degrees higher than the temperature at 9 a.m. today. However by noon today, the mercury had climbed all the way up to 45 and citizens were thinking and soon now they would be able to consider putting away their winter coats.

Second Crew Stages Strike

MONTREAL (CP)—Crew members of a second British freighter Monday night defied the threat of mass arrest and staged a wildcat wage-sympathy strike.

The 30 ratings of the coastal trader Cibou decided to stop work in sympathy with 13 union mates of the freighter Shelldrake who were arrested Saturday for allegedly refusing to obey the order of their captain to put the ship to sea.

They pleaded not guilty to the charges laid in court Monday by the Shipping Federation of Canada. They are scheduled to appear in court again today.

After his crew had notified him they also were refusing to work the Cibou, Captain D. S. Whittet, master of the vessel, told reporters he will seek to have the men arrested.

CREW STANDS FAST

Meanwhile the crew, like the seamen of the Shelldrake, members of the National Union of Seamen of Great Britain, stood fast.

"This ship won't leave Montreal harbor until something is done for those 18 men in jail," said a spokesman.

Seamen receive a monthly salary of $90, together with free berth and board. In contrast Canadian sailors on similar jobs have a $204 a month minimum wage.

The Cibou crew said this is the main grievance.

"Imagine trying to live on about $90 a month in Canada," said the spokesman. "In England it's not so bad but here the price of everything is much greater."

include a federal highways inspector, a top official in the provincial highways department and officials of three contracting companies.

The warrants brought to 15 the number of persons charged since the investigation started. Minor highway employees, senior department officials and contractors have been arrested in the government's crackdown.

The federal highways inspector charged is R. F. Petursson, whose job was to supervise construction in the Fort William area of sections of the trans-Canada highway to which the federal government contributed 50 per cent. It was the first time a federal government employee had been accused in connection with the alleged irregularities.

Cecil N. Nelson, of Port Hope, suspended chief engineer and No. 3 man in the highways department, was also charged Monday.

Those under arrest now include two highways employees who had not been previously named as involved in the irregularities. They are William Bredin, an instrument clerk in the Huntsville division whose superior, Donald S. Patterson, division engineer, was suspended but not charged until Monday and Harry Phipps, retired engineer at Fort William.

The firms, whose officials now are charged, are three of nine companies whose books had been seized by provincial police two months ago. Government officials said Monday it is not likely that any further warrants will be issued.

Eight of the 11 men charged Monday have been arrested. Petursson is federal supervising engineer at Victoria, B.C. The warrants for W. S. Tomlinson, who lives in Fort William, and Birdsall have not yet been served.

HELD AT LAKEHEAD

Phipps and Arthur M. Mills, former division engineer at Fort William who is named in three charges, were arrested at Fort William Monday. The former division engineer has already been committed to higher court on charges of trust and fraud. The charges are slated to be heard at the fall assizes in Fort William.

Nelson was arrested at Port Hope Bergmann and West at Pickering, Patterson and Bredin at Huntsville and Taylor at Fort William. Nelson, West, Bergmann, Patterson and Bredin appeared before a justice of the peace in Whitby Monday and were released on bail ranging from $3,000 to $10,000.

Mills and Taylor appeared in police court in Fort William Monday and were remanded to May 31. Bail of $5,000 was continued for Mills and bail for Taylor was set at $5,000.

Those charged at Standard Paving will appear in a Toronto court; Tomlinson in Fort William and Bergmann and Nelson in Whitby.

Four sets of irregularities were charged against the companies and highway employees; three in Fort William and one in Huntsville. The Standard and Tomlinson companies are involved in the Fort William charges and Bergmann in the Huntsville division of the department.

WHY UNREVEALED

A source close to the investigation said the amount involved in the charges covered by the warrants was not revealed because the charge is conspiracy rather than a straight fraud count.

A select committee set up by the Ontario legislature to augment investigations into reports of irregularities will meet next Monday.

IN OTHER AREAS

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal leader, said Monday night alleged irregularities in the department of highways are not confined to the Fort William district, but have taken place in every highways division in the province.

Mr. Oliver, speaking to the London Liberal Association's annual meeting, claimed the head office of the department in Toronto knew of the practices going on and measures taken to keep contractors from going broke, especially on Trans-Canada highway work.

There must be a realization by taxpayers that much of the money they have paid for licences and gasoline taxes in the last few years has not been going to the maintenance of roads but "into other directions," he said.

IN ALL DIVISIONS

"This thing isn't confined to Fort William. What went on there went on to a greater or lesser degree in all divisions in this province," Mr. Oliver said.

The Liberal leader said the basic trouble with the department is it has outgrown its administrative practices.

"Today we are spending $150,000,000 a year on highways but trying to spend it the way they used to spend $25,000,000 some years ago," he said.

He said he hoped the government would not make a goat out of a subordinate but put the blame directly on the proper men, no matter what position they happened to be in.

A. Stewart Thompson Jr., was re-elected president of the Association.

Bonn Enjoys Smart Wedding

BONN (AP)—Crowds jammed the streets of Bonn today to watch Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany escort his daughter Lotte to the Roman Catholic cathedral for her church wedding. She was married in a civil ceremony April 24 to Heribert Multhaupt, an Aachen architect.

The 29-year-old bride has been Germany's first lady, acting as hostess for her widower father. Today's cathedral ceremony was conducted by her brother Paul, a priest.

The slender, brown-haired bride is a doctor of philosophy. Since 1952 she has been teaching German and history in a girls' high school in Honnef, across the Rhine from Bonn. She accompanied her father on his tour of the United States and Canada last year and his recent visits to Greece and Turkey.

The bride's 10 child attendants, four boys and six girls, were all grandchildren of the chancellor.

Foundation Head Goes To Ottawa

STRATFORD (CP)—H. A. Showalter, Stratford business man and president of Stratford Shakespearian Festival of Canada Foundation, has accepted the position of chief chemist, inspection branch, department of national defence, Ottawa. He will be leaving Stratford, probably within the next two months.

Announcement of Mr. Showalter's resignation as technical director of Kist Canada Limited, a position he has held since 1936, was announced at the company's annual meeting here Monday. He indicated his willingness to continue as director of the company.

Mr. Showalter has been active in many community projects in Stratford.

Injured Man Taken To Toronto

MARKDALE, Ont. (CP)—James Entwhistle of Toronto was transferred to hospital in Toronto Monday night from Centre Grey Hospital in Markdale where he had received preliminary treatment for a fractured pelvis. His condition is serious.

Entwhistle was injured when the car in which he was riding went out of control on loose gravel and crashed into a hydro pole on the road between Eugenia and Flesherton.

Two other occupants of the Toronto car, one slightly hurt returned to Toronto with Entwhistle.

Anglican Diocese Meets In Kingston

KINGSTON (CP) — The 88th annual session of the Incorporated Synod of the Anglican diocese of Ontario formally opened today with delivery of the bishop's charge by the Rt. Rev. Kenneth C. Evans, Bishop of Ontario, at a communion service in the Cathedral Church of St. George.

The major portions of the charge dealt with the international situation today and the threats to freedom in the United States by what the bishop termed "the American demagogue." He said he was alarmed by the attention and following various anti - Communist movements are getting and said they threaten to be as great a danger as communism itself.

At the communion service in the cathedral this morning, Robert A. Pringle, Napanee, was installed as chancellor of the diocese. Rev. Canon J. B. Creegan, Belleville, was installed as archdeacon of Ontario and Rev. Stanley H. Coleman, Westport, Rev. E. N. Grant, Augusta, Rev. A. S. McConnell, Trenton, and Rev. W. J. Minto Swan, Kingston, were installed as canons of the cathedral.

Mrs Wm. Corbey

NORWOOD (ENS) — Funeral services were held today for Mrs. William Carbey of Norwood, widow of the late William Carbey. She died at her home Sunday in her 85th year.

The former Emma Burkell, Mrs. Carbey was born in Roseneath where she lived 35 years. In Norwood, she was active on the affairs of the WA and the WMS.

Mrs. Carbey is survived by two sons, William Nellis of Islington and Hubert of Newcastle. Three brothers, Edward of Calgary, George of Hannah, Alta., and Oscar of Weyburn, Sask. also survive.

Funeral services were from the McConnell-Warner funeral home to Norwood United church. The burial was in Norwood cemetery. Rev. H. K. Wright officiated and burial was in Norwood cemetery.

Pallbearers were Walter Bitten, Arthur Bitten, Jack Stewart, Gerald Baker, Armor Weir and Herbery Caskey.

FIRE PROTECTION

The finance committee of city concil Monday night recommended granting authority to the fire department to answer alarms from the Ross L. Dobbin electric substation at Lily Lake. Ald. Harold Rehill said if the substation were destroyed, Peterborough would be without electric power. Other properties outside the city protected by the fire department are Mount St. Joseph convent, the Kawartha gold club and the CGE power house at Nassau, operated by the PUC.

Accused Denies Owning Beer

Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC, reserved judgment on a charge of having liquor illegally which was brought by the OPP against Bazel Reid 87 Leahy's Lane, in court today.

OPP Constable Thomas Armitage said that he and Cpl. Fred Rawlings had visited Reid's house on April 24. Reid had not been home when they arrived, but acting on a warrant, they had searched the house.

In an attic, which was situated above the kitchen, two full cases and two empty cases of beer had been found.

The constable reported that Reid had arrived home at this time and had said: "This is what happens to you when you try to get a drink in for yourself."

The officers told the court that Reid's house and property had been declared a public place on July 21 of last year. (This prevents anyone from possessing or drinking liquor on the property.)

Reid, who conducted his own defence, told the court that he had admitted ownership of the beer, because at the time his wife had been in a hysterical condition. However, in court he denied owning the liquor, or even to having known that it was in the attic.

He called a man who board's at his place, James Nicholson, who testified that the beer was owned by him. Nicholson said that he had put the beer in the attic without Reid's knowledge, and that he had left the house and forgotten temporarily about it being there. He did not know then that Reid's property had been declared a public place.

Crown attorney John A. Bradshaw told the magistrate that Reid's evidence had not been very convincing and that of his witness even less so.

The magistrate reserved his decision for a week.

Senior Base Metals Have Only Strength

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials were hit by the biggest wave of early-session profit-taking of the last month in brisk stock market trading up to 1 p. m. today. Other groups were also weak.

Senior base metals and Bathurst issues had the only strength. Volume was 1,021,000 shares.

Weakest industrial group was constructions, but utilities, foods, refining oils, financial institutions, and motors were also down. Papers, steels, liquors and manufacturers were steady, with only the miscellaneous group showing a slight gain.

Standard Paving led the constructions drop. It was at $20.25.

Sherritt and Steep Rock led senior base metal strength. Quebec Metal was the heaviest loser in juniors. Manitouwadge losses outnumbered gains two to one. Bathurst gains were in pennies, as were western oil losses. Junior golds were steady but seniors, prospects and holding companies were off.

Royal Commission Asked For Highways

TORONTO (CP) — A royal commission to investigate the Ontario Highways Department irregularities was urged today by CCF leader Donald MacDonald.

In a letter to Premier Frost the CCF leader said that disclosures in the department have now reached such magnitude that public confidence cannot be restored through an investigation by a select legislative committee made up of men active in politics.

Mr. MacDonald said his suggestion did not cast any reflections on the committee members but the whole matter of highways irregularities should be lifted out of the field of politics.

Asks To Have 3 Men Kept Away From Hotel

"I want these men denied the right of coming to the South Beach hotel. I can't afford to have them around there anymore".

So said the hotel proprietor, Thomas Lawlor, to Magistrate W. R. Philp QC today, at the conclusion of a hearing against four men who admitted fighting in the hotel on April 29.

The men were Hiram B. Coulter, RR 1, Bobcaygeon, Lorne Taylor, Lindsay, Roger Coones, Lakefield and Irwin Frank Matthews, RR 2, Lakefield. They all pleaded guilty to charge of causing a disturbance in a public place.

The magistrate fined them each $15, costs $2.50.

Three Fire

Only one injury occurred, Bill Skitch, hospital employee, was inserting a hose through a hole in the stage up in the auditorium when a flash of fire broke through and scorched his face and arms. He was treated at Cobourg General Hospital for severe burns.

Fire Chief Baird said Monday night that he was very grateful to the ordnance depot fire crew and Port Hope fire department for their speedy response. Most of the damage will be from water although smoke damage will be considerable. The fire was confined to the north end, underneath the auditorium and stage.

Hold Meeting To Launch Israel Bond Drive

Today, May 11, is the sixth anniversary of Israel's independence. The chairman of the Peterborough committee for the State of Israel bonds, Jacob Low, announced that a meeting celebrating the event will be held at the Beth Israel Synagogue tonight.

Jan Bart, comedian and singing star of stage, radio and television, will be guest artist at the meeting which begins at eight o'clock. He recently returned from an extended visit to Israel where he was the guest of David Ben-Gurion, former premier of the young state.

Tonight's meeting will also mark the launching of Israel's second bond issue—the "Development Issue."

Mr. Low states that more than 650,000 Canadian and American purchasers of Israel bonds have given special significance to the sixth anniversary of Israel.

Mother Recovers Voice On Way To Visit Son

Derek Pulsford of 585 Chamberlain St., took time off from his assembly work at Outboard aMrine on Thursday for a very special occasion. He planned to meet his mother in Montreal whom he had not seen for three years since he left his home in Tiverton, Devon. He learned beforehand that his meeting might be dampened, somewhat, because his landlady, Mrs. Nellie Deyer, had received word from his mother two days before her boat docked at Quebec. Mrs. Pulsford had lost her voice 18 months ago and she wanted someone to warn her son.

However, things became confusing again because after writing the letter, Mrs. Pulsford suddenly regained her speech in her ship's cabin. Her affliction came after a bad attack of flu and the ocean voyage to Canada was to help alleviate her general health. It did more than that, apparently, because something happened en route to enable her to talk again.

Derek met his mother in a Montreal station at 7 p.m. Sunday. She talked normally and Derek wondered if someone had been pulling his leg. His mother finally told him of her miraculous recovery. She will visit with Derek in Peterborough until the end of October.

Inspector Shocked When Charge Laid

VICTORIA (CP)—Federal highways inspector R. F. Petursson was shocked when informed he had been charged in connection with alleged irregularities in Ontario road-building contracts.

"I can't understand it," he said Monday night when informed by reporters of the charge. "When I was east recently I was told I might have to appear as a witness.

"I think there must be some mix-up."

Mr. Petursson is charged with conspiracy to defraud the Ontario government. He now is British Columbia supervising engineer for the trans-Canada highway.

"I can't see how I can be involved," he said. "Inspectors don't deal with contracts. My duties were simply to see that construction engineers kept certain schedules."

Liquor, Traffic Charges Held Over To May 25

Geoffrey Feeley, 1035 Western Ave., who was last week arrested and charged with selling liquor illegally, appeared before Magistrate W. R. Philp QC in court Monday. Feeley, who is also charged with dangerous driving, was remanded to appear for trial on May 25. He is at present on $1,000 bail.

The Peterborough taxi-driver, Wilfred Phillips, who was charged with illegal possession of liquor on the same date, is also due to appear on May 25.

Royal Children Enjoy Visit To Apes

GIBRALTAR (Reuters) — Queen Elizabeth today drove through the narrow streets of Gibraltar crowded with cheering people for a last tour of her fortress-colony before sailing homeward on the final leg of a six-month global tour.

With the Duke of Edinburgh, she also called on some "very important persons," the 40 rock apes of Queen's Gate park. Legend has it that if they disappear Britain's rule on the rock will end.

Prince Charles, 5, and Princess Anne, 3, Monday had the happiest time of their trip from Britain feeding peanuts to the apes.

There have been no Spanish demonstrations against the royal visit, though Spaniards just across the frontier could hear the cheering of the big crowds who greeted the Queen on her arrival Monday.

Spanish authorities at the frontier post of La Linea imposed a 24-hour ban preventing visitors to Gibraltar from making brief trips across to Spain.

OBJECT TO VISITS

They apparently objected to newspaper correspondents, and others here for the Queen's visit making frequent visits to Spanish territory to check on conditions there.

As the Spanish demands for Gibraltar are a constant topic here, the 22,800 people of the rock were pleased at the Queen's statement on its future Monday. She told a luncheon of Britain's determination to ensure the "safe-keeping of the colony and fortress of Gibraltar."

Talk On Groceries

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—A classification talk on the retail grocery business by Hector Macmillan occupied a portion of the noon luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club here on Monday. Mr. Macmillan, who operates a grocery business in the town, told of the problems involved in operating such a business, and methods employed to make it a success.

Rotarian William McComb gave a report on the district convention held in Toronto on May 3, saying that 55 out of 60 district clubs were represented. The delegates were entertained by Ray Tippett, district governor-elect.

American Envoys Confer

ISTANBUL, Turkey (Reuters)—Thirteen United States Middle East envoys started a four-day conference today in the closely-guarded American consulate here. Observers believe the envoys will discuss the attitude of Arab states to the recently - signed Turkish-Pakistani pact which pledges "friendly co-operation" in economic and defence affairs. It is thought they will also consider Arab-Israel relations.

DANTE RACE, 26, of Campbellford, suffered a broken ankle, shock and bruises when this light panel truck skidded on some loose gravel and turned over at least twice. —(Bill Reid Photo).

Truck Skids In Gravel Driver Suffers Broken Ankle

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) —A Campbellford man was taken to hospital and another was shaken up late Monday afternoon when the truck they were riding in went out of control and rolled over twice on the Campbellford-Hasting road, two miles west of here.

Dante Pace, 26, driver of the light panel truck, is in Campbellford Memorial Hospital with a broken ankle, shock and bruises.

Pace, driving east along the gravel road in his delivery truck, was passing an eastbound car and his vehicle skidded on loose gravel when he tried to avoid a collision with an oncoming car driven by Cecil Bedell, about 51, of Campbellford.

The careening truck missed the Bedell car, and turned over at least twice on the south side of the road. Pace was temporarily knocked unconscious. Heavy damage was caused to the truck which came to rest upside down and on its right side. The roof and left side were crushed and the right front fender and hood were flattened.

Pace was taken to hospital by a passing motorist.

OPP Constable Archie Eady is investigating.

Golden Rule Lodge Hold Ladies' Night

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — A successful ladies night, sponsored by the Golden Rule Lodge was held at the Masonic Temple on Friday evening, when a large number of brethren and their ladies attended.

George Airhart, master of the lodge welcomed the guests to the banquet, which was provided by the ladies of the Parish Guild.

Morley Petherick proposed a toast to the ladies, to which Mrs. T. H. Burgis replied. Gordon Whitehouse thanked the ladies. George Nicholls acted as chairman for the program, which was as follows:

Geyle Meyers, vocal solo accompanied by Irene Stephen; Bob Cowell, piano solo; Francis DeCarrol, vocal solo accompanied by Mrs. George Nicholls; Jim Baker, trumpet solo, accompanied by Irene Stephen.

Following the banquet and musical program, dancing and cards were enjoyed. Prizes for bridge went to Mrs. E. C. Roberts and J. P. Archer. Dancing was to the music of Barnum's orchestra.

Observer Dies

GENEVA (Reuters) — Agatha Harrison, English Quaker who came here as an observer at the Far East conference, died in hospital Monday after about a week's illness. She had been a friend of Mohandas Gandhi, Prime Minister Nehru, and other Indian leaders.

U.S. Cities Face Vast Amount Of Seaway Work

CHICAGO (AP)—A vast amount of engineering work faces numerous U. S. Great Lakes cities before they can fully accommodate the ocean-going ships that will churn inland through the St. Lawrence seaway.

An Associated Press survey shows that Great Lakes cities are in various stages of preparation for handling such commerce. The cities will spend millions of dollars on harbor dredging, port construction and other improvements.

The year 1960 is the goal of many engineers.

Martin W. Oettershagen, Chicago port manager, said many believe the entire project can be completed by then, even though estimates have ranged up to 10 years.

Chicago is planning a $20,000,000 project to be started this winter.

The U.S. got into the long-planned Atlantic ocean to Great Lakes project last week when Congress sent a $105,000,000 St. Lawrence seaway bill to President Eisenhower.

TO BUILD CHANNEL

The measure authorizes the United States to participate with Canada in building a 27-foot-deep channel in the International rapids section of the St. Lawrence and into Lakes Ontario and Erie as far west as Toledo, O.

Senator Edward Thye (Rep. Minn.) said Congress also will be asked to approve the deepening of connecting channels into Lakes Huron, Michigan and Superior. Navigation to these lakes now is restricted to 21 feet for inbound ships and 25 feet for downbound vessels.

The survey showed:

Chicago: Work is expected to be started this winter for developing 1,300 acres of Calumet harbor into a modern ocean port. Plans call for a series of docks 1½ miles long, designed for 29-foot vessels, and sheds and other facilities. Maxim M. Cohen, general manager of the Chicago regional port district, said eventually 800 to 1,200 ocean ships should reach Chicago yearly.

Cleveland: Shipping men say 80 per cent of ocean-going ships now could ply between world ports and Cleveland, which already has a 25-foot deep channel. Deep dredging plans for Ashtabula and Lorain harbors are well advanced.

Toledo: An $8,000 survey was started a month ago to determine what changes a seaway will require. A previous study indicated the need for a general cargo terminal, additional warehouse space and facilities for handling freight. A channel 27 feet deep and 400 feet wide to parallel Maumee bay also was proposed.

MILWAUKEE SITUATION

Milwaukee: The Milwaukee port authority, first on the Great Lakes, claims to be 30 years ahead of Chicago and most other Great Lakes ports. The port plans a $7,000,000 to $10,000,000 shore improvement, including deepening the outer harbor from 25 to 27 feet.

Detroit: Engineers say present large docking facilities for the port of Detroit commission will serve adequately until two years after the seaway is completed. The commission said the present smallest terminal will be enlarged by the time the seaway opens to handle five large ships at a time instead of one. The Rouge river, which empties into the Detroit river, will be deepened from its present 21 feet to 27.

Buffalo: The port division says Buffalo harbor, with a channel 23 feet deep, could handle some ocean shipping, and would need to be dredged only four or five feet more on the soft bottom for a stretch of about a half mile. But the only docking facilities for heavy ships are at the Bethlehem Steel Co. terminal in the south harbor. The city owns about 1,000 feet of shore near the Bethlehem docks, where general dock facilities could be built. No action has been taken on this, but the port division is considering a survey of upstate New York and western Pennsylvania to see how much foreign commerce might be handled through Buffalo.

Erie, Pa.: Nothing is planned to improve port facilities, which already can handle ocean-going vessels. The Chamber of Commerce is considering a plan to engage professional port engineers.

NO PLANS YET

Gary, Ind.: No plans are in prospect for expanding the facilities at Gary or Indiana harbor. Both are almost exclusively iron-coal ports for Inland and U.S. Steel Companies and present facilities are considered adequate.

Duluth, Minn.: Entrances to Duluth-Superior, Wis., harbors already are 27 feet deep, sufficient to accommodate ocean-going ships. Bills are in congress to deepen the Duluth-Superior channel basins, now 25 feet.

Ogdensburg, N.Y.: A city planning is working on the problem but little has been done about port facilities.

Oswego, N.Y.: Oswego will ask the 1955 New York state legislature to create a port authority to negotiate with private shipping concerns for construction of Port facilities.

Minister Dies

WATERDOWN (CP)—The Rev. Gordon Sinclair Jury, 69, Baptist clergyman and member of the staff at McMaster University, Hamilton, died at his home here Monday. He was born at Bowmanville, Ont.

Libel Trial Starts

NEW YORK (AP)—Writer Quentin Reynolds' $500,000 libel suit against columnist Westbrook Pegler went to trial in federal court Monday after more than four years. A jury of four women and eight men was chosen to hear the case.

Urge Polio Victims Pay First 14 Days

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Medical Association council urged Monday that polio victims pay the cost of the first 14 days of treatment.

The Ontario government now pays the costs of treatment for polio victims in the province. The council recommended that patients bear the cost of the first 14 days so that more funds will be available for long-term costly cases.

The recommendation headed a list to be submitted to the general membership of the association later in the week. The list will then be forwarded to the Health Minister Phillips.

Rescued From Mountain

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—A United States Air Force helicopter pilot, manoeuvring gingerly in the air currents, swirling around lofty Mt. McKinley, Monday rescued a flier and his wife marooned for four days on the peak's snowy slopes. Capt. Ralph Searle of the 74th Air Rescue Squadron landed the 'copter at the 7,500-foot level of McKinley and picked up Mr. and Mrs. Dick Collins of Fairbanks, who crashed last Thursday as he attempted to land supplies to a party climbing the highest peak on the North American continent.

Firms Miss Quota

BERLIN (Reuters)—East German industries failed by three per cent to reach their production target for the first quarter of this year, though heavy industry surpassed it by one per cent, Taegliche Rundschau, the Soviet high commission newspaper, reported today. Inadequate supplies of raw material and bad organization were responsible for the coal industry and industries producing rolled steel for consumer goods falling short of their goal, the newspaper said.

Says Britons Jealous Of U.S. Power

LONDON (Reuters) —Jealousy over the fact the United States is "exactly" what Britain used to be —the richest and most powerful nation on earth—is a "bitter pill" for Britons and one of their main difficulties in getting along with Americans.

That was one of the main conclusions drawn by the mass-circulation Daily Mirror in the second instalment of a report on what Americans here think of the British people and "what the British think of the Yanks."

The Mirror's top columnist William Connor, reporting on what galls Britons about Americans, said that Britons dislike Americans "chummy, chummy brotherhood and sisterhood" and their "fear" of not being liked.

NOT EVEN JUNIOR

Beyond this he said "the failure of the United States government to consult or inform the British people on 'important decisions'" made them feel as if they weren't even "a junior partner in the common problem of world affairs."

Two such "decisions" cited by Connor were the bombing of the Yalu river between Korea and China and the development of the hydrogen bomb.

Another British gripe listed by Connor was "the fun you make of our domestic habits, the way you despise us for being dull."

"A cup of tea," he said, "is more enjoyable to us than the garish delights of the juke box."

To Pay Half

BONN, Germany (AP)—Britain has agreed to pay off about half of her $800,000,000 debt to the European Payments Union and settle the rest within seven years, British officials said here Sunday.

Would Restrict Trade To Canadian Ships

HALIFAX (CP)—Premier Harold Connolly declined today to say point-blank whether he will be a candidate for leadership of the Liberal party of Nova Scotia at a convention later this year.

Mr. Connolly, sworn in as premier following the sudden death of Angus L. Macdonald last month told a press conference he would not commit himself on whether he will seek the nomination or stand if nominated.

"It will depend on a number of factors," he said.

Capture 'Most Wanted'

SEATTLE (AP) — Working swiftly after receipt of an anonymous tip, FBI agents Monday took into custody Alex Whitmore, 44, an elusive ex-convict whose name was added to the list of the 10 most wanted men only last Jan. 11. Whitmore, whose black hair had been dyed red and who told officers he had "worked up a set of ulcers" in 3½ years as a fugitive from a charge of assault and robbery, was arrested unarmed, and without a struggle, as he stepped from his car in front of an apartment-house here. He readily admitted his identity.

Girls' Quarters Raided

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—University of Nebraska men students, estimated to number more than 500, shouted down and watered down chancellor John Selleck and their student affairs dean, J.P. Colbert, Monday night in a "spring riot." Using ladders and water hoses, and with some throwing stones, the students attempted a mass storming of women's dormitories and lit bonfires in the streets. A few managed to get into the dormitories and make off with feminine underwear before being ousted by campus police.

Union Fight Ended, Plant Closing

STELLARTON, N. S. (CP)—The D. Porter and Son woodworking company announced today it is breaking off a seven-months' running fight with its CCL union local by going out of business.

Plant manager Clarence Porter said in a 600-word prepared statement the company can not go along with the course adopted by the union. He said he "will not rest" until employees who stuck by the firm throughout the bitter battle are "re-established in other employment."

The card-holding members of Porter's staff have long demanded wage increases and holiday benefits which the company refused to grant. The wrangle recently has been marked by fist-fights and demonstrations and several assault charges are pending.

There was no immediate comment from union leaders.

Porter charged last month that his plant had been "taken over by the mob." He appealed for police protection for non-union employees.

The company normally employed between 25 and 30 persons.

Not The Palm Of Peace

We hear a great deal about the unceasing barrage of anti-democratic propaganda which the Soviet Government promotes and puts before the people of the U.S.S.R. When examples of it are brought to our attention we are angry, or grieved, or simply amazed by the stupidity and wilful malice of mankind. But we do not pay much attention to the barrage of anti-Russian propaganda which reaches us from a number of agencies, which is part of the climate of our thought, and which undoubtedly affects Russians in exactly the same way.

* * *

Last week the Pulitzer Prizes were awarded in the U.S.A. for work which was considered distinguished, chiefly in the realm of journalism. The prize for political cartooning went to Herbert L. Block, who works for the Washington Post and Times-Herald; he received it for a picture of Joseph Stalin; carrying a blood-drenched sickle, walking into oblivion under the guidance of the Spirit of Death; the caption was, 'You were always a great friend of mine, Joseph'.

True? Yes, and true of a great many other national leaders, some of them supposedly democrats.

* * *

Likely to dispose people who saw it to think reasonably about Russia?

Likely to make the Russians think that any true understanding or peace can be reached with the western capitalist- democratic states?

What do you think?

Watch For The End Of The World

There is rarely any lack of people who are prepared to predict the end of the world, but we think that their numbers will grow, and that all the foretellers of doom will be particularly industrious during the next forty-five years. After all, the year 2000 is now in sight; plenty of people now living will celebrate its coming. And, to the type of mind which deals in prophecy, it is a date of the utmost importance.

A thousand years ago, when the year 1000 was within hailing distance, great numbers of fanatics appeared in France, Germany and Italy who preached that the thousand years of the world's duration, as set forth in the Apocalypse, were drawing to an end, and that the Day of Judgement was surely coming. The Church of Rome discouraged the idea so far as possible, but it was impossible to control it.

The idea spread that the scene of the Last Judgement would be Jerusalem, and by the year 999 there were extraordinary numbers of pilgrims bound for that city, presumably to get good seats for anything that might turn up. Most of them sold all their property before setting out for the Holy Land, and they lived luxuriously upon the proceeds. The tourist business in those days was not much different from what it is today, and accommodation of all kinds in Jerusalem fetched unheard-of prices. Meanwhile, in Europe, much business was left undone, and many buildings were permitted to fall into ruin. The year 1000 came, and every heavy storm during its 365 days threw thousands of people into fits of terror. But at last the year 1001 came, the world was still exactly where it was before, and the ruined pilgrims returned from the East, with red faces.

And now another thousand years have rolled by, and we have the Hydrogen Bomb which could, we are told, bring about the end of the world if it were used in sufficient quantity. Whether it will do so or not, we cannot tell; we have a stubborn faith, however, that it will not quite finish a story which began, so far as we know, several millions of years ago. But there will certainly be plenty of people, who are powerfully influenced by numbers, who will hold out the year 2000 as the year of our general doom. If you don't believe it, wait and see.

Housing

May 1st has become the traditional moving day for many Canadians throughout the land. However, May 1st, 1954 was not very hectic in Canada from a moving standpoint. It has been reported that only in Ottawa, Montreal and Quebec City was there any real frenzy of activity over moving.

In Ottawa, where rents are approximately 50% higher than the 1939 level, and where accommodation is at a premium, movers have reported very much activity. In Toronto, where the City instigated the Regent Park development scheme by which municipal subsidization would make 1,289 housing units available to those in a low income bracket (at an average rental of $59.88 per month)—the demand for low-rental housing is termed "very acute". It is understood that another low-rental housing scheme (some $15,000,000.) is mooted for this area. Both in the Maritimes and in the West, it is reported that there is a great shortage of houses to rent, although rents in Winnipeg are up approximately 30% over last August when rent controls were lifted.

In the past, man's home was his castle, and the very zenith was to "own your own home", become classed as a "solid citizen" etc. Nowadays, when many people call "home" wherever they can find employment, there is not as much incentive to become a house owner. Again, they do not want their travels hampered by the responsibilities of ownership. While the Federal authorities started approximately 104,000 housing units in 1953, and expect that 125,000 units will be built in 1954, there is little prospect of individual home ownership until such time as the employment situation improves. Many men would be quite content to buy a home and settle down if they were reasonably certain of steady employment. Many persons can make a down payment on a home, but with some talk of depression they feel that they must husband all their resources until some future time when employment becomes more certain.

Sports Ordeals

In former years, it was the fashion to engage in sports for the love of the game itself, or for the "honour and glory of Wahoo High." This spirit has given way to one primarily based on finance—a star hockey player is more prone to accept a lucrative contract than to play for the love of the game.

With a mind on attendance returns, both the officials in the National Hockey League and the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association have steadily increased the number of games in its schedule, until it has now reached the point of absurdity. In the Memorial Cup series, St. Catharines have now played over 80 games (including playoffs) since last October. This incredibly heavy schedule means that a hockey game was played on an average of one every second day. All players were agreeable to such a heavy schedule, hoping that an "all out" effort would be recognized and evoke favourable comment from N.H.L. scouts. Promising junior hockey players are thus induced to burn themselves out hoping to land a "pro" contract.

In the N.H.L. the prolonged schedule of 70 games makes it imperative that only those players capable of lasting out the schedule will be retained. It would appear that the so-called amateur schedules are designed to weed out those of unsatisfactory stamina for future N.H.L. clubs.

The promoters of junior hockey who have been willing to turn the sport into an ordeal—whether at the behest of the N.H.L. or in order to squeeze an extra few dollars from a prolonged schedule—should be more concerned over the well-being of their athletes. In the mid-40's, the so-called Golden Age of Hockey, when the Memorial Cup gates equalled those of the Stanley Cup finals, the champion was decided early in April, not late in May, as will be necessary this year.

Canadian Talent

Addressing a Belleville Service Club, Hiram McCallum, the General Manager of Toronto's C.N.E. said: "One reason the CNE does not hire Canadians to headline the grandstand shows is that established radio and television stars are afraid to work in front of a live audience and possibly destroy what they have built up on radio or TV." To Mr. McCallum's speech, Frank Shuster, of the radio team of Wayne and Shuster emphatically replied with one emphatic word—"Ridiculous!"

The saying that a prophet is not without honour save in his own country is never more aptly demonstrated than in the Entertainment World. The entertainment potential of Bernie Braden was not recognized when he was in Canada, but he has become a headliner since going to England. Allan Jones and several others were certainly not considered outstanding entertainers until they moved to the U.S. There, their latent potential was developed, with the result that they became headliners. Then there was much regretting, rueing, etc. that such and such an artist had seen fit to seek other pastures. You can't blame the artists, but it seems too bad that our finest talent cannot be induced to remain here. What became of the many recommendations contained in the Massey Report—re culture? What suggestions have been carried out?

When radio comedians first tried radio, it was found that the comedians themselves missed an audience to laugh at their jokes. A phlegmatic and unresponsive microphone showed no appreciation of the comedian's efforts, and it was necessary to provide the now familiar "Studio Audience". To maintain that "Canadians are afraid to work in front of a live audience", would appear to justify Frank Shuster's cry of "Ridiculous".

Inside The Soviet Empire

By EDWARD CRANKSHAW

NO SOVIET institution has undergone more organizational changes since the Russian Revolution than the apparatus of State security, including the secret police. But with all these changes it has maintained its supreme position. The creation last week of a special committee of State Security to report directly to the Cabinet — that is, to Premier Georgi M. Malenkov was the fifth change since the inauguration in 1918 of the Cheka — the extraordinary commission to fight counter-revolution. In 1921 the Cheka became the Ogpu — the unified political State administration. In 1934 the Ogpu was taken over by the NKVD — the People's Commissariat for Internal Affairs. In 1946, when all the People Commissariats became Ministries, the NKVD became the MVD, or Ministry for Internal Affairs.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE MVD was placed under Sergei Kruglov, and the security side of its function was taken by the new MGB — the Ministry of State Security, under Comrade Abakumov, who disappeared shortly before Stalin's death. Both these Ministries had Lavrenti P. Beria as their "overlord." Then, when Stalin died, the MGB was abolished and the MVD took over its functions with Beria as formal head of the combined Ministries. When Beria himself was dismissed, Kruglov came forward and took over his formal title. (Beria was charged with "high treason" on June 26, 1953, before a secret session of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet, and was executed December 23, 1953.)

✧ ✧ ✧

NOW, presumably, Kruglov's Ministry will be supervised by the new committee under Col. Gen. Ivan Alexandrovitch Serov, an old NKVD chieftain. To say that this new development is a response to the unsatisfactory state of affairs in the MVD revealed by the recent defection of responsible officials — above all of Vladimir M. Petrov, Third Secretary in the Embassy at Canberra in Australia — would obviously be inaccurate. A highly unsatisfactory state of affairs has clearly existed since Beria's dismissal, and a great deal of purging has been going on in the ranks of his old organization. For a long time it has been expected that some new rearrangement of the security services would be carried out.

✧ ✧ ✧

BERIA, when all is said, was one of the most powerful men in the Soviet Union. It was improbable that the colossal apparatus of security and oppression which he had gathered up into his own hands would be left in control of a man of Kruglov's comparatively insignificant calibre. And so it has proved. It now seems likely that the committee of State security will grow into an organization much larger than its name suggests and, responsible to the Cabinet as it is, its creation may well be Premier Malenkov's personal bid to gain control of the apparatus of security for greater safety in his dealings with ambitious colleagues—perhaps especially as a counterweight to the immense power now wielded by Nikita S. Khrushchev, supreme boss of the Communist Party.

✧ ✧ ✧

ONE thing is clear: the relegation of the MVD to control by a comparatively insignificant figure was in a sense a curtailment of the powers of the security police. It could be argued that an effort was being made to put the security forces in their place and to deprive them of some of the terrible power they had gained. Although the nature and composition of the new committee is now known, it is plainly intended to lift the security out of the ruch of ordinary ministerial departmentalism and once more emphasize their privileged and unassailable position.

✧ ✧ ✧

WE MAY know a good deal more about the inner workings of the MVD when the Petrov inquiry is completed. Petrov was a key man, the MVD's chief representative in Australia. Nikolaie Khokhlov, the MVD captain who recently sought asylum in Western Germany, on the other hand, in spite of his sensational trimmings, was simply a glorified "leg man" who carried out assignments devised by others — until one day he stopped carrying them out. The only mystery about his assignment to murder Georgi S. Okolovich, the leader of N.T.S., a Russian anti-Soviet emigre organization is why the Russians thought it worth their while to go to all that trouble.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS is the kind of thing that has been done by the MVD in all its forms since the inauguration of the Cheka. Before then the Czarist Okhrana carried out the same sort of activities. The Russians always have had a fondness for assassinating opposition elements operating in foreign countries. But in so far as Petrov was an agent protected by diplomatic privilege in a foreign country, he was engaged in a conspiracy. His evidence should go a long way to fill up some of the more tantalizing gaps in the evidence provided by Igor Gouzenko, who quit his position as code clerk in the Soviet Embassy at Ottawa in 1945 and bared existence of a Soviet atomic spy ring in Canada and the United States in World War II. All Gouzenko could tell about in detail was the Soviet war office intelligence network.

✧ ✧ ✧

ABOUT the far more commanding and elaborate MVD net he could speak only in the broadcast terms. But the MVD net is the one which includes all the more spectacular aspects of the Soviet Security apparatus. Capt. Khokhlov's activities formed only one small part of the various sabotage, terrorist, espionage and counter-espionage activities of this astonishing set-up with its picturesque-sounding sub-divisions — such as Smersh (death to traitors), KRU (counter espionage and the liquidation of anti-Soviet opposition abroad,) INO (political espionage, etc).

✧ ✧ ✧

THESE are the elements which will come under the special care of the new security committee. It is no doubt the knowledge that the Petrov documents will give away the secrets of activities to which no government in peace-time could possibly admit that has forced Moscow to denounce in advance any such documents as forgeries and to suspend diplomatic relations with Australia.

READY TO WORK

Take the story of the boy in a long line of boys who had applied for a job. He was asked, "Is there any particular reason why you should have this job?"

He had one thing none of the others had. "Yes, sir," he answered. "I'm the only boy who brought his dinner." He was prepared to stay.

An American Opinion: THE AGRARIAN REFORMER TILLS THE SOIL

Literate Brides

(HAMILTON SPECTATOR)

A dispatch in the Stockholm newspaper Svenska Dagbladet, a translation of which has reached us rather deviously via New York, reports that serious economic and social disruption is being caused in Nigeria by inflation in the price of brides, the going rate having risen to $600 for a literate one and $450 for a non-reader-and-writer.

This bothers us on a couple of counts. For one thing, we should have thought that breaking the law of supply and demand was purely a prerogative of civilization and that in a primitive society the price of wives would automatically adjust itself to the amount that would-be husbands could afford to pay.

More importantly, however, we are baffled by the premium placed on literacy. While a case can perhaps be made for a North American wife being taught to decipher simple words, at least to the point of following the recipes on the prepared pastry mix box or spelling out, with moving lips and a following forefinger, the instructions for operating the new dishwasher, it would seem to us that the Nigerian male would be better off by far with an illiterate spouse.

We very much doubt whether prepared pastry mix and dish-washers have yet penetrated darkest Africa, but if wives there are becoming literate other products of civilization certainly will, and with the women's magazine in the vanguard. Thus the African buck, having already coughed up an extra $150 for a wife guaranteed able to read, will find himself caught in a veritable tornado of an inflationary spiral.

The little hut in the jungle will no longer be "gracious" enough—there must be a patio; the thatch roof must be replaced with quaint pantiles. Nor will the simple domesticity of primitive marriage be sufficient; there must be Conflict and Fulfilment, with capitals. The family witch doctor will no longer be acceptable; a psychiatrist must diagnose Junior's reluctance to hunt heads. And so it will go . . .

Next thing you know, the poor devil will find himself civilized.

Teaching French In Public Schools

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

The Management Committee of the Municipal Board of Education has decided to recommend adoption of a proposal that instruction in French be given in Grades 7 and 8 in Kingston public schools. The report containing the proposal says that "such a move is feasible in this community," and adds that the purpose is to develop the oral and aural habits of the pupils at this level. The recommendation of the committee will come before the Municipal Board of Education at its meeting this evening.

On a number of occasions, this newspaper has advocated that instruction be given in French in public schools. We believe that instruction begun in high school begins too late to be of any practical value. Furthermore, it begins without the foundation essential in the vast majority of cases for successful application of whatever might be absorbed in high school. The same may be said of instruction in French given at university, we believe, at least insofar as the required language courses are concerned. We refer to the fact that the English-speaking pupil does not begin to learn French as he begins to learn his own language; he is pitchforked into it at an advanced level.

We think, then, that the express purpose of developing oral and aural habits among the pupils is admirable. An effort should be made to teach them to talk French and to understand spoken French. The ability to converse in French should precede any attempt at instruction in French grammar by as long a period as in the case of French-speaking pupils brought up in French-speaking schools. This would probably mean beginning instruction in French very much earlier in the public schools of Ontario, but we still hope to see the experiment undertaken, if it is considered essential to practical bilingualism.

Canada is a bilingual country, under its constitution. We believe that fact imposes an obligation upon educational authorities to make an effort to see that pupils are able to speak and understand both English and French. In the nature of things, pupils would probably be more proficient in one language than the other, depending upon locale, no matter how nearly perfect the system of education. That, however, is no reason why all schools should not do their best to give effective instruction in the "second" language, whichever one it may be. And it should be noted that, whether due to an educational system or some other reason, larger numbers of French-speaking Canadians are able to carry on a conversation in English than the reverse.

It is to be hoped that the Municipal Board of Education gives favourable consideration to the recommendation to try this experiment. It has been tried before, and apparently with a fair amount of success. It should prove feasible here, as claimed, and it should help to spread bilingualism in this country of two languages.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And out of the ground made the Lord God to grow every tree that is pleasant to the sight, and good for food; the tree of life also in the midst of the garden, and the tree of knowledge of good and evil. (Gen. 2:9.)

These are the words of the covenant, which the Lord commanded Moses to make with the children of Israel in the land of Moab, beside the covenant which he made with them in Horeb (Duet. 29:1.)

✧ ✧ ✧

See, I have set before thee this day life and good, and death and evil; in that I commanded thee this day to love the Lord thy God, to walk in his ways and to keep his commandments and his statutes and his judgements, that thou mayest live and multiply: and the Lord thy God shall bless thee in the land whither thou goest to possess it.

But if thine heart turns away, so that thou wilt not hear, but shalt be drawn away, and worship other gods, and serve them; I denounce unto you this day, that ye shall surely perish, and that ye shall not prolong your days upon the land, whither thou passest over Jordan to go to possess it. I call heaven and earth to record this day against you, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing: therefore choose life, that both thou and thy seed may live: that thou mayest love the Lord thy God, and that thou mayest obey his voice, and that thou mayest cleave unto him: for he is thy life, and the length of thy days. (Duet. 30:15-20.)

He that glorieth, let him glory in the Lord. (II Cor. 10:17.)

IMMIGRATION AND ONTARIO INDUSTRY

SIR: Immigration has been an important factor in the development of our country. Here are some figures covering the period of the past decade; About 1,000,000 immigrants have come to Canada during this period and from well-informed sources, a yearly average of 175,000 will yet be coming in for quite a long period. This million consists of: 318,000 British, 115,000 Germans, 93,000 Dutch, 91,000 Italians, 58,000 Polish 19,000 French, 9,000 Belgians and 225,000 from 34 other countries. 52% of all immigrants came to Ontario; 19% to Quebec; about 9% to B.C.; 15% to the Prairies and the remainder to the other provinces.

Sixty-one per cent of all immigrants were under 30 years of age. Protestants and Catholics were predominant and both were about the same in number.

From these figures, two prominent observations can be made: A high percentage of those settling in Ontario, and a low percentage of those settling in Quebec. Of these two discrepancies, it can be said without much chance of error, I presume, that the first is due to the high level of industry in Ontario as well as its favourable location in Canada and the second to the general indifference which the provincial authorities of Quebec have shown up to now toward immigration to Canada.

Sound And Fury Dominate "A-Bomb" Games

Went Joyriding In Brother's Car, Jailed Month

Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC, today sent 18-year-old Lakefield youth, Gordon Jessop, to the county jail for one month because he went joy-riding in a car belonging to his brother Maurice.

The magistrate said that he could not consider a suspended sentence owing to the fact that Gordon had already been convicted for another case of joy-riding and also of theft of gas.

"A judge in an English court was recently speaking on suspended sentences," said the magistrate. "About consideration for suspended sentences he said: 'The first time, yes; the second time, perhaps; the third time, never'."

"I think that your driving licence had better be suspended for six months, as well," continued the magistrate.

Gordon: "I haven't got a driving licence."

Magistrate Philp: "Well, you'll have quite a hard time trying to get one for the next six months. And I think you had better leave cars alone for a while."

"Well . . . I guess . . .", was Gordon's only comment as he was escorted out of the courtroom.

Maurice Jessop originally laid a charge of theft against his brother. However, when the magistrate advised him that the minimum penalty for that offence was a year in prison, he was more than ready to change the charge to joy-riding.

Gordon said that he had been making some repairs to his brother's car at Lakefield. He had his brother's permission to drive the car to the garage in order to have it checked for oil and grease.

"But I didn't say which garage," said Gordon, who admitted that he had taken an overnight trip to Bancroft to get spare parts for a friend's car.

WEATHER TESTING—A U.S. Air Force "Moby Dick" weather balloon is released at the Grenier Air Force Base in Manchester, N.H. Dance Pupils Give Recital

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—A capacity house greeted the presentation of the dance recital given by the Lakefield and Havelock pupils of Mrs. Christina Hinde in Memorial Hall. The Lakefield class was formed only about three months ago.

"Chicken Dance" was presented by Wendy Keller, Margaret Bronson, Peggy Jewell, Glenna Wiles and Wendy Madill; one little duck, Rosemary Goodswan; Highland Fling Gail Wood; tap dance Carolane Bestard; Highland Fling, Anne Delaney; flower dance, Joan Howe; Highland Fling, Linda Witherstone; sword dance, Jill Lacey; vocal duet, "Alice Blue Gown", Carol Whitney and Joan Howard; Highland Fling, Linda Farrow and Barbara Lean; clog dance, Mary Pulcine; Highland Fling, Ann Gastle; accordion solo and Highland Fling, Louise Anderson.

The second half of the program began with a flower dance by Rosemary Goodswan. Other numbers were: sailor's hornpipe, Helen Anderson; clog tap, Carolyn Loucks and Carollynn Pratt; Irish jig, Carolyn Anderson; cake walk Betty and Beverly Lynn; sword dance, Helen Anderson; clog by Kenny Hink; Highland Fling, the Havelock class; tap dance, Mrs. C. Hinde.

Mrs. Hinde was presented with a bouquet of flowers by the children who took part in the chicken dance. Mrs. J. Lacey, on behalf of the mothers, expressed to Mrs. Hinde their appreciation for her teaching.

Music was supplied by Pipe Major Harry Anderson and Piper David Newman of Havelock, Mrs. Kink, also of Havelock, and Mrs. John Twist of Lakefield. Spot lights were supplied by A. W. Stewart and the platform by the Kingdon Lumber Co.

Pays Tribute To French Troops

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent and Opposition Leader Drew Monday paid tribute to the defenders of Dien Bien Phu, the French fortress of Indo - China which fell to Communists last week after a gallant stand.

Prime minister St. Laurent said in the Commons:

"Saturday, our ambassador in Paris was asked to convey a message to Prime Minister Laniel to express on behalf of the prime minister and Canadian government to the French government and people the sincere and heartfelt tribute of Canadians for the matchless heroism of the soldiers of France and Viet Nam. . . ."

Mr. Drew said all Commons members join in the feeling of admiration of those who died in defence of freedom.

Will Test Helicopter Against Ambulance

TORONTO (CP)—A test to determine which is faster—a helicopter or an ambulance—will be made Wednesday between the provincial parliament buildings and the site of the New Queensway Hospital.

At the same time as the helicopter, with Ontario Health Minister Phillips as passenger, takes off for the Queen Elizabeth Way and Highway 27, an ambulance will leave Queen's Park for the same destination.

The hospital, when completed, will have a flat roof suitable for the landing of helicopters, expected to be more useful where minutes count in getting patients to the hospital.

Say Small Group Escaped From Fort

PARIS (AP) — Agence France-Presse in a dispatch from Saigon, Indo-China said Monday that it apparently is true that a group of Dien Bien Phu defenders managed to escape.

The AFP dispatch said the number of the group probably was small and the direction of its flight was unknown.

The dispatch said any such group would face long days of marching through a jungle infested with Vietminh rebels and natural dangers before it could hope to reach friendly forces.

Retain Basic Coal Subventions

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal subventions on the movement of Canadian coal to market are being retained basically on existing levels but with some regional changes.

Orders-in-council passed late last week, it was learned Monday, cut some Alberta and Saskatchewan coals from the subsidy list and add on some Maritimes products for regional sale.

Earlier, some other Alberta coals heading for Ontario had received a boost in subventions, and this will remain in effect through the fiscal year ending March 31, 1955.

The subventions—amounting to some $6,000,000 a year—are paid from the federal treasury towards the haulage costs of eastern and western coals as they move to market. The changes are not expected to affect that figure much this year, though they will make some difference in the varieties of coal coming under assistance.

Canadian Woman Honored As Doctor

NEW YORK (AP) — Canadian-born Dr. Mary J. Ross Monday was named the outstanding general practitioner of 1953 by the New York State Medical Society.

Dr. Ross, 76, a veteran of 47 years' practice at Binghamton, N.Y., was born in Ingersoll, Ont. A slender, grey-haired woman, she has attended delivery of more than 5,000 babies since she graduated from Johns Hopkins University medical school in 1907.

She is the first woman to receive the honor in the five years the society has made the award.

Won't Stand In Way National Health Plan

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. C. W. Burns, president of the Canadian Medical Association, said Monday that while the association opposes "state medicine" or "compulsory health insurance" it will not stand in the way of a national health insurance plan in which premiums are voluntary and financial resources pooled.

In an address to the annual meeting of the Ontario Medical Association, Dr. Burns said "state medicine" implies a plan under which taxation pays for all medical care for all individuals.

This, he said, would bring doctors under the control of the state "on the basis of civil servants."

The CMA estimated a national health plan for Canada would cost about $700,000,000 a year rather than the $500,000,000 estimated by the federal government.

Would Create Authority

TORONTO (CP)—The creation of a regional conservation authority with extensive land control powers within a 35-mile radius of metropolitan Toronto has been recommended to the provincial government by a special conservation committee. The regional authority would eliminate four existing local conservation authorities: Etobicoke - Mimico, The Humber, the Don and the Rouge.

E. Crough Loses Main Bout To Toronto's McKinnon Mason Wins Split Decision

Emmett Crough learned Monday night that a boxer can win and lose in the same bout. It sounds crazy, but it's true.

Fighting in the main bout of the Alpha club's bimonthly card, Crough punched John McKinnon almost at will about the ring. Several times in the third round he had McKinnon defenceless; all he needed was one little tap.

But McKinnon held on and with six seconds left in the third round, he landed a desperate right to Crough's jaw. That punch as well as winded from his wild flurries earlier in the round sent Crough down.

As he sank down, Crough hit the back of his neck on the second strand, stunning him even more. He was just able to reach the corner at the bell.

AWARDS TKO

But that was all. Even though he was far ahead on points, had McKinnon in trouble from the opening bell, Crough couldn't come out for the fourth round. The bout was promptly awarded to McKinnon on a technical knockout.

Crough bewildered McKinnon in the first round with his flurry fighting. McKinnon started to hold, realizing it was dangerous to step out. He continued to hold throughout the second, causing Crough to complain twice to referee Gord Beatty. But in the third he stunned McKinnon three times, had him spinning on the ropes. Then McKinnon threw the desperation punch. That was it.

A tired Bill Cridland just managed to stay until the final bell in his semi-final heavyweight bout with experienced and well-conditioned Duke Mason. Mason the agressor in every round but the fifth, was awarded a split decision.

Mason, jabbing with a long left and punching with a solid straight right, kept Cridland off guard in the first round. Just the same the Alpha boxer came back with left jabs, jolting Mason, but his power right was bothering Mason.

Cridland easily took the second round as he raced across, met Mason coming out of the corner. He blistered the Toronto fighter for the first minutes with wild rights and lefts. Mason, still fresh, landed a long right which staggered Cridland just before the bell.

After staggered a second time, again by Mason's right in the third, Cridland rallied, boxing and feinting with the Bagnato boxer.

HOLDS OWN

Tiring badly Cridland just managed to hold his own throughout the fourth and fifth. Mason landed several hard rights but couldn't throw many punches as Cridland tied him up.

The card opened with the season's third knockout. A well-conditioned RCN sailor, Ray Howson, battered Alpha's Clem Woodcock, into submission at the 1:30 mark of the third round.

Woodcock, making his second appearance for Alpha, took the first round with his left jabbing and short rights. But he began to tire quickly in the second round and gradually Howson took command.

KNOCKED OUT

Howson, still fresh despite the first round, kept working on Woodcock's tired body early in the third. Finally when Woodcock could hardly hold his fists up, Howson switched to the head. Woodcock slumped against the ropes and then down for the 10-count.

Ray Bloom, who hasn't shown well in his first two appearances, went well against Lindsay's John Angiers, now boxing with Alpha. Well-matched both fighters mixed in all three rounds and the judges called it a crowd-pleasing draw.

The night's big disappointment was Alpha's KO artist, Bill Twomey's bout with Toronto's Johnny Roe. It ended abruptly in the first round when referee Beatty ruled a no contest.

TUMMY HURT

Roe doubled over near the end of the round and sank into his corner, head against the ropes. He was holding his stomach and couldn't continue. It was either a Twomey left hook or a head butt which hurt Roe's tummy.

Lakefield's Tom Birch unanimously defeated a heavier Sid Woods of Toronto. Woods with long jabs held Birch off in the first round but the Alpha boxer worked in close in the second, nearly finishing Woods. Both boxers were so tired in the third they held each other to keep from falling.

In the other preliminary bouts Pete Howe easily decisioned Pat Fitzgerald of Toronto while Bill Smith unanimously won from Mike Hennesssy of Lindsay.

Ray Bloom (right, right photo) appears to be doing a step dance with Lindsay's John Angiers but they fought to a three-round draw. Believes Russia Expected Canada Win

By DON MATHESON

VANCOUVER (CP) — Even Russia expected Canada to win the 1954 world hockey championships, says W. B. George, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

He addressed a banquet of the association here Monday night on his observations while attending the world tournament in Stockholm last March.

Earlier, in the first day of full sessions, the CAHA's annual five-day meeting moved swiftly through 23 resolutions and financial, playoff and registration reports. The convention opened Sunday with committee meetings.

Approved in principal Monday was a measure allowing trasfer of juvenile and junior players east and west across a line running north-south through the Lakehead.

RESOLUTION LATER

An actual resolution and wording of the rule change, conforming with negotiations with the National Hockey League, will come before the convention later.

One resolution expected to touch off any convention fireworks is expected to come under discussion today.

It is an Ontario branch resolution asking that the 1954 Allan Cup champions represent Canada in the 1955 world tournament.

Toronto East York Lyndhursts lost the 1954 championship in the feature match with Moscow Dynamos in Stockholm March 7. The defeat was described at that time as "a national calamity, a national disgrace."

He described the 7-2 loss to Russia as a "letdown," after the Yorks had built up to defeat Czechoslovakia two days earlier. The Czechs also lost to Russia but "in political relationships you can come to your own conclusions."

MET IN FINAL

Canada and Russia met in the final game of the tournament. If Canada won, Russia would have had to replay Sweden to break a tie for the European title.

His only objection to East Yorks was that he felt they lacked maturity and stability under the political pressures in Europe.

First vice-president Jimmy Dunn of Winnipeg also described the tour of Japan by Kenora Thistles.

In other business Monday, the convention approved Newfoundland as a member of the Maritimes association.

Softball Practice

Planning Open Meeting To Pick Orfuns' Official

An open meeting of the Orfuns Football Club will be held next week, May 20 if the general committee room at City Hall is available, to present annual reports and elect officers for this year. This was decided at an executive meeting held last evening, with club president Dr. Don Aitken in the chair. It was felt that the annual session should be open to any of the public interested in the gridiron sport and in the executive handling the team, ORFU intermediate "A" champions the past two years, and once Eastern Canada victors.

If a good grid film can be obtained (possibly one of the Grey Cup game) this will be shown at the meeting, as an entertainment sidelight. The annual meeting must be held before the ORFU group meeting takes place in Toronto on June 5. Local delegates to it will be Don Bark, Gord Beatty and Bill Shadgett.

CARRY 30 PLAYERS

Minutes of the last Ontario Rugby Football Union (intermediate section) meeting were read by Dr. Aitken, and he outlined some of the CRU rule changes which would apply in this division this year. Clubs can carry but 30 players at a time now, and but 26 when in CRU semi-final or final playoffs. It is expected that intermediate clubs will be required to post a $500 bond before the schedule starts to ensure a club meeting its game obligations. The Orfuns had trouble with Oshawa and Toronto in this respect last season.

Various other matters came up for discussion, including finances, and the sale of TV tickets going on at present in an effort to wipe out a deficit from last year. There was talk, also, on coaching prospects for 1954, with no decision being made on the Orfuns' pilot for the coming season. Nothing definite will be known on the teams in the '54 group or the opening date of play until the June 5 meeting of Intermediate clubs in Toronto.

Syracuse Nips Richmond 3-2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Syracuse Chiefs still rule the roost in the International Baseball League after taking their first three games of the season with Richmond Virginians.

Syracuse, leading by two games over Rochester Red Wings, ran their winning streak to nine games by nipping the Virginians 3-2 Monday night.

In the only other game, Buffalo Bisons scored four runs in the ninth inning to defeat the Sugar Kings 8-6 in Havana.

Syracuse scored all its runs in the fourth inning on three walks and two singles off Tommy Fine.

Jack Wallaesa's three-run homer in the top of the ninth proved the winner for Buffalo.

CHARLES BEGINS

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP)—Ezzard Charles opened training Monday for his June 17 heavyweight championship fight with champion Rocky Marciano, and announced confidently:

"I'm sure I'll be the first world's heavyweight boxer to regain the title."

Calgary Fans Crowding To See Hockey Playoffs

CALGARY (CP)—The Quebec-Calgary Edinburgh Cup series for Canada's minor professional hockey championship is confounding the skeptics, who said its length and lateness in the season would be lucky to draw even fleas.

Baseball bats are cutting the spring air and golfers are touring the links in sunshine, but hockey is more than holding its own.

The Calgary Corral was crowded with 7,841 fans when the home-town Stampeders shellacked Quebec Aces 8-1 in the series opener last week. Another 7,314 of the hockey faithful were on hand for the second Calgary game, won 2-1 by the resurgent Aces. And Saturday night, when the series shifted to Edmonton Gardens, some 7,000 fans turned out although they had no hometown club to cheer.

The attendance figures dispelled fears that financial support wouldn't be forthcoming.

East-West rivalry always is good for gates—this is the first for pro hockey in the postwar era—but the high-calibre hockey has proven the clincher. The Edmonton game was about the spiciest hockey entertainment of the long season.

Wolves Have Chartered Plane Standing By

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP) — Sudbury Wolves have a chartered plane standing by to fly them—and the Allan Cup—back to Ontario after Tuesday night's game here against Penticton V's.

Max Silverman, coach of the Wolves, says his team plans to arrive in Sudbury for a civic welcome some time Wednesday when they bring home the cup, blue ribbon of senior amateur hockey in Canada.

His confidence is based on the fact that Wolves hold a 3-1 edge in games over V's and could wrap up the best-of-seven series with a Tuesday victory.

However, Penticton hockey fans aren't cancelling any bets yet. Winnipeg Maroons at one time stood within 17 seconds of winning the western championship and also made plans for a triumphant return home. They needed only a tie to win the series while the V's were two-and-a-half games off the pace.

SUPERIOR BENCH STRENGTH

Wolves, who won the first game 2-1 in Penticton, lost the second 6-2 in Vernon, won the third 3-1 in Kelowna and the fourth 8-2 here, have established bench strength as the measure of superiority. V's are basing their victory hopes on the premise that the Saturday-to-Tuesday lay-off will give Penticton time to regain their legs.

A doubtful starter for Tuesday's tussle is Bill Warwick, winger on the V's "brother-line" with playing-coach Grant and Dick. Bill, a 50-goal man over the regular season, was injured slightly Friday, but infection developed in his foot and he lasted only two periods Saturday. Since then he has been in hospital.

To win the Allan Cup, V's would have to take three straight games—such as they did against Maroons in the western final and such as they did against Nelson Maple Leafs in the interleague playoff with the Western International League kingpins.

GRANT'S SPORT CORNER

By DON GRANT

The OLA and the senior committee have the shakes. No, it's not from boozing in Toronto saloons but from fear. They fear that the Trailermen may withdraw from the senior league.

Although it isn't generally known, the OLA has been making plans, just in case the Trailermen do drop out. They've been looking the intermediate field over, hoping to come up with a strong enough team to compete with Hamilton, Mimico and St. Kitts.

Believe it or not, an official named such places as Fergus, Orillia and Owen Sound as possible replacements. These centres are attempting to keep lacrosse alive with homebrew talent on intermediate clubs.

Since the Ross Powless-Roger Smith affair with St. Catharines, and the hint then that Peterborough may withdraw, the other clubs, especially the Athletics and Mimico Mounties, have been making inquiries.

It follows that these clubs are worried. They have opening games with the Trailermen.

Thursday Deadline

Their frowns have been eased a little. The Trailermen were given a deadline of last Thursday to advise the official bodies (some are dead) whether they'd operate or not. If the bodies didn't hear from the city club, they would assume the Trailermen were staying in.

There was no word from Peterborough and the senior clubs are assuming that the Trailermen are operating.

It would be childish for the Trailermen to withdraw, especially after three successful years. But then adults have been known to do childish things.

Since the players are working out, generally sweating off excess weight in the YMCA, it's generally believed the Trailermen are getting ready for Friday night and the Athletics.

Who'll the Trailermen have for that game? That's a very interesting question.

With Powless and Smith away to St. Kitts, Nip O'Hearn to Victoria, Ike Hildebrand unable to play, and last year's team captain, Dootch Vitarelli in retirement, the Trailermen's ranks look rather moth-eaten.

It looks rather black but there's still a silvery lining with veterans such as Curly Mason, Rusty Slater (who's looking for work since bumped from the CGE), Harry Wipper, Jerry Fitzgerald, Lou Nickle, Don Ashbee (arrived Sunday), Moon Wootton and Bob Thorpe (even though he's persistent about retirement).

Of these there'll be a few in rather poor shape. The Whip, Fitz and Ashbee haven't seen many workouts if any, and won't be playing their usual brand.

The addition of Bob Curtis, Bob Allan and Denny Peterson (rated high among all-Canadian players) makes up for a few of those moth holes. But are they enough to carry the Trailermen through to the Mann Cup again?

Meeting stone wall, then the iron curtain, thrown up by the OLA and the senior committee, the Trailermen are having troubles securing four other players.

Same Old Story

It's the same old story every year, squabbles between clubs, players holding out, getting money from two or three clubs, clubs threatening to quit. You'd think they'd have remedied all this years ago.

A commission or commissioner seems to be the answer. It should be composed of neutral members, people who know business, respect rules and have good judgment. Its or his decision would be final and accurate.

Rules seem to be the big problem. The biggest of these is the residence rule, one which other sports have mastered but one which lacrosse (the senior clubs) have jumbled in 57 different ways.

The poor management of lacrosse is the trouble at present in senior lacrosse. No one can agree on anything. It's always a humble, jumble affair.

There's no reason why lacrosse couldn't be as popular as hockey or football. It has speed, skill, body contact, everything appealing to the average sports fans.

No business is successful if the partners are always slinging mud at each other.

Track Meets

Peterborough hasn't a Roger Bannister but it has many would-be Bannisters. These lads and gals will be beating the tracks this week in the annual track and field meets. Each school, PCVS, St. Peter's and Kenner are holding meets this week in preparation for lakeshore and COSSA meets. The big meet, the COSSA, will likely be in Peterborough late this month.

St. Peter's athletes will also be entering the Ontario Catholic Conference meet, facing others from St. Michael's, DeLa Salle and St. Jerome's.

Harry Theobald provides this info: Gideon Sebring (Gid) Litt, 73, veteran Ontario racehorse owner, breeder and driver, died Monday at his home in Sebringville, five miles west of Stratford.

Gid operated racing stables at Goderich and Mitchell for many years. He retired from active participation in racing a few years ago after suffering a heart attack but has never given up his interest in racehorses.

Many district owners, drivers and racing fans knew or have known about Gid who raced in Peterborough and district.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN.

by Elmer Ferguson

Thirty-nine years ago this week at the New York Polo Grounds, a young man wearing the showy garb of the Boston Red Sox stepped up to the plate, casually hit a home-run into the upper tier of seats and trotted around the base-paths to a polite smattering of applause.

The big young man who sent the ball hurtling into the upper tier of seats for his first home-run in the major leagues was George Hermann Ruth, the Babe," as he later became affectionately known to millions.

Babe Ruth had moved up to the major leagues from the Baltimore club of the International, where his southpaw pitching had attracted attention. It was the third inning of a game runless, up to that point, that this young rookie stepped up to face the veteran right-hander of the Yankees, Jack Warhop. Perhaps Warhop held the youngster in light esteem. At any rate, Warhop pitched a ball that was a little too good, and away it streaked, into the far reaches of the distant stands, a tremendous drive.

It was the first of 714 home-runs in major league play, and Babe Ruth changed the course of baseball from the careful play for a single run to the "big inning," when the sluggers suddenly gang up on a weakening pitcher, and hammer home-runs in droves.

But it is an even greater feat, one which you won't find in the records, which goes to the eternal credit of the brawny Babe. When the Black Sox scandal broke, and in 1920 it became known that the Chicago American League team had conspired to "throw" a world's series, the sports world was stunned, and baseball trembled to its foundations.

It was undoubtedly a crisis. Baseball was at the forks of the road, facing the possibility of public ostracism and disfavour.

Then along came Ruth. His big black bat started to pound out home-runs at prodigious pace. Sold to the Yankees that year, he hammered out 54 home-runs, batted .376.

The next year, he hit 59 home-runs, and the scurrilous Sox were forgotten amid the thunder of Ruth's big bat, that lured millions of fans back to the stands, that carried on for another 14 seasons, and saved baseball from disaster. That was Babe Ruth's greatest feat of all.

Your comments and suggestions for this column will be welcomed by Elmer Ferguson c/o Mr. J. R. G. Ouimet, Calvert Representative, Peterborough district, Sherbrooke Street West, Peterborough, Ont.

Indians Bounce Yankees 8-7 In Cleveland Tilt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Al Lopez' writers obviously have given the Cleveland manager a new script for the Indians' series with New York Yankees in the American League this season.

Last spring the Indians played the meek little lambs being led regularly to slaughter by the big bad Yankees. The 1954 script casts the Indians in a different role.

The first time, in New York, the Indians scored five runs in the 10th inning for a 9-4 triumph. The next day the Indians came off with a 10-2 victory.

But the version unveiled in Cleveland Monday night topped anything so far as the Indians won 8-7.

Cleveland spotted the Yankees three runs, then roared back with seven before the New Yorkers could get anybody out in the home half of the first inning.

Almost everybody got into the act as umpire Bill Summers thumbed Yogi Berra and then Casey Stengel from the game during the uprising.

With seven runs home, Jim Hegan on third, nobody out and Whitey Ford and Bob Kuzava shelled from the mound, in came Yankee rookie Bob Grim.

HELD COMMAND

The youngster promptly started pitching a no-hitter. Hegan got home on a sacrifice fly, but one after another Grim fooled the Indians. They got only two more harmless hits.

Meanwhile the Yankees cut their 8-3 deficit to 8-5 after two innings and 8-7 after three. At this point Don Moss checked them.

Only one other major league game was played Monday. Baltimore Orioles rallied for four ninth-inning runs and shaded Philadelphia Athletics 7-6. The run total was the highest for the Orioles this season.

Say Layoff Has Crippled Edmonton Team

By JIM PEACOCK

TORONTO (CP)—The Memorial Cup, emblematic of Canadian junior hockey supremacy, is headed for the east for a sixth straight year UNLESS. . . .

And here the general opinion of hockey writers and observers centres on the obvious: Unless Edmonton's "Go-Go" Oil Kings get back the ingredient which gave them the nickname, they're through.

St. Catharines TeePees, 8-2 winners in the cup opener here Sunday, are heavily favored on the eve of the second game in the best-of-seven final series.

The odds had been even before Sunday's slaughter, primarily because of the Oil Kings' record of but four losses in 55 regular-season and playoff outings. They were reported the strongest club out of the West in years.

The TeePees dispelled anythought that they might be legweary after 91 league and playoff games that saw them extended to the limit all the way.

NOT SELLING SHORT

However, observers here, including general-manager Jack Adams of Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League in whose farm system the Kings operate, are not selling the westerners short.

Sports Editor Jim Vipond, writing in the Globe and Mail, said time had played an important part. "Edmonton Oil Kings discovered they've had far too much of it on their hands" he wrote. A three-week layoff between the western final and the Memorial Cup round had "left them easy marks for the reported play-weary" TeePees.

But Vipond added: ". . . It is hard to imagine that a team which lost only five out of 62 games (including exhibitions) in the West will fall before the East in the minimum number of games."

Coaches Ken McAuley of Edmonton and Rudy Pilous of St. Catharines said they expect Oil Kings to improve steadily as they get back into a "hockey-mood" after three weeks of idleness.

NOT THAT BAD

"There's nothing that hurts a club more," McAuley said. "But the boys felt pretty bad after Sunday and their interest has picked up a lot. They're not that bad."

Pilous, who took TeePees back to St. Catharines Sunday, was making no predictions. "We expect a lot of opposition yet."

ST. CATHARINES WINS—Brian Cullen, of St. Catharines Teepees, stands ready to accept a rebound of his blazing shot at Edmonton goalie Al Jacobson in the first game at Toronto of the best-of-seven Memorial Cup hockey finals. The St. Catharines juniors, Eastern Canada champs, walloped the Oil Kings, Western titlists, 8-2. Two Edmonton defencemen sandwich an unidentified Teepee player to keep him out of play. —(CP Photo).

Oil Kings Seeking Financial Compensation For Long Playoff Delay

VANCOUVER (CP) — Edmonton Oil Kings want financial compensation for the two weeks they waited before eastern Canada Memorial Cup finalists were declared.

Art Potter of Edmonton, a delegate to the annual meeting here of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, made the request Monday.

Oil Kings lost the first game of the cup final to St. Catharines TeePees in Toronto Sunday night. They were out of action two weeks while the eastern winner was decided.

"Junior hockey costs a lot of money these days, and Oil Kings feel someone should pay compensation," Potter said.

The request will be considered in later sessions.

COULDN'T GET DATES

M. L. Gregg of Wingham, Ont., president of the Ontario Hockey Association, said that while Edmonton playoff series were completed in minimum games in most cases, eastern series went seven and eight games.

Part of the delay in declaring the eastern winner, he said, was the impossibility of getting playing dates in eastern rinks.

"We in the OHA know our clubs were wrong," he said, but the situation could hardly be overcome. In another year, if the clubs are not ready for the playoffs, they will be ignored.

"The OHA feels we should adhere 100 per cent with the schedules set down by the CAHA and in the future any CAHA action will be strongly upheld."

Earlier Monday, delegates heard that player registration throughout Canada in the 1953-54 season increased 2,451 over 1953 to a total of 67,729. Only Alberta and Ottawa and district showed a loss, Alberta dropping from 3,310 to 2,487 and Ottawa from 3,263 to 2,537. Ontario led Canada with 32,297 players registered, up from 30,641 in the 1952-53 season.

Frank Sargent of Port Arthur reported on western junior playoffs. Registrar-Treasurer W. A. Hewitt of Toronto reported assets of $149,000 in the CAHA trust fund.

Receipts from 1953 playoffs had totalled $135,124 against expenses of $46,325. The CAHA receives 75 per cent of playoff gates.

Grants to branches, member clubs and playoff finalists totalled $75,750, leaving a surplus on the year's operations of about $9,000.

Boston Sox Rained Out In 10 Out Of 14 Games

BOSTON (AP)—A gloomy band of Boston Red Sox—who've found Old Man Rain their toughest foe so far—rolled toward Chicago Monday after being rained out of 10 of 14 scheduled Fenway Park games.

A 24-hour rain capped the Red Sox home stand last Sunday by washing out a scheduled doubleheader with Washington. Boston hopes to get back into action tonight in Chicago against the White Sox.

From the Boston viewpoint, the picture is dark—but not black—at both the box office and the managerial department.

The Bostonians have managed to play only 14 games so far, fewer than any other major league baseball club. Many of the youngsters aren't getting the work they need to develop.

Eddie Mathews Nailed By Police Cruiser

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee's Eddie Mathews, a young man with a problem at the plate, provided himself with a couple of the pocket-book variety Monday when he tried to outrun a police cruiser at 3 a.m.

The Braves' third baseman, the major leagues' home run king last season who has an undistinguished .275 batting average so far this year, pleaded guilty to reckless driving.

And after he was fined $50 and costs by justice Edgar Bark—who lectured him, then got his autograph — Mathews was plastered with another $100 fine by Milwaukee manager Charlie Grimm.

Grimm said Mathews admitted he had broken the club's midnight curfew, in effect after day games at home. The Braves lost Sunday afternoon to Chicago, 5-3.

Sports Can Be Practised Only By Free Men

ATHENS (AP) — Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, declared Monday night that sports can "be practised only by free and independent men."

In a prepared speech on the slopes of the Acropolis at the opening of the 60th anniversary meeting of modern Olympics, Brundage recalled that in Greece the dignity of man was first proclaimed.

The Chicago hotel man who heads the Olympics added: "Present generations, seduced by the false promises of so-called social security, would do better to cultivate the fiery independence of the ancient Greeks."

The meeting had just been officially proclaimed open by King Paul of Greece who spoke briefly in welcome to the representatives of nearly 40 countries.

Remember When—

Lefty Grove, later one of the great pitchers in the American League, tossed a three-hit shutout for Baltimore against Toronto in the International League 32 years ago today. Three years later Grove went to Philadelphia Athletics with whom he won the AL pitching championship in 1929, 1930, 1931 and 1933, and repeated the feat with Boston Red Sox in 1939.

126 Families Forced Out By Gov't

OTTAWA (CP)—Mayor Charlotte Whitton said Monday that 126 families living in the Rockcliffe emergency shelter will be forced out as a result of a federal government order to demolish four unoccupied buildings.

She said the demolition is to take place immediately and will cut off light, heat and water services to the remaining buildings.

Buildings are required by RCAF.

90 Canadian Radio Stations Cut Night Power

OTTAWA (CP)—Ninety Canadian broadcasting stations are required to reduce their power or coverage at night.

This information is contained in a written reply tabled in the Commons Monday for A. E. Robinson (PC—Bruce) who asked a series of questions last month concerning limits to radio station coverage.

All 90 stations are required to use devices reducing power or limiting coverage to protect frequencies used by stations to the southward.

Department To Table White Paper

OTTAWA (CP) — The defence department's white paper on Canada's armed services will be tabled in the Commons late this week.

Defence Minister Claxton said Monday in the Commons that the paper, a summary of the country's defence program, will be available in a few days. It is expected that Mr. Claxton will table the document Thursday or Friday.

Soviet Policy Annoys Israel

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli Prime Minister Moshe Sharett said Monday the current Soviet policy of backing Arab states in disputes with Israel is bound to injure vital Israeli interests. He said it threatened either to paralyze the United Nations Security Council or turn it into an anti-Israel organ.

Speaking at the opening of Parliament's summer session, Sharett said the Russian attitude also is promoting a trend in American [illegible] policy, increasingly noticeable of late, of showing greater leniency to the Arab states while turning a stern face toward Israel."

The prime minister told the lawmakers his government is "ready at any time to enter into negotiations with any of the neighboring Arab states concerning either a final and comprehensive settlement or any partial or interim arrangement aiming at paving the way to peace."

However, any settlement must leave Israel boundaries where they are now and be "without the introduction of Arab refugees." The Arab states have insisted Israel must take back the Arabs who fled from the area during the Palestine war of 1948 before any settlement can be arranged.

Mankind's Problem "To Live Together"

TORONTO (CP) — Donald C. MacDonald, Ontario CCF leader, said Monday night "we seem to be able to do anything, absolutely anything, except to live at peace with our fellow men."

In a speech prepared for delivery over a free-time CBC broadcast over a provincial network, Mr. MacDonald said "this is the problem that baffles mankind, so much so that the human family is faced with a major crisis."

He said human brotherhood is in part a product of environment and will be achieved through education.

Politics and Christianity have "for too long been regarded as worlds apart," he said. "The CCF, like the democratic Socialist movement throughout the world, seek to build a social and economic order built on those basic principles."

Rescued At Sea

PORTSMOUTH, N. H. (AP)—George Ramsdell, 30, is "feeling fine" after his rescue Saturday by a fisherman from a planned Easter Sunday sail that turned into a 20-day nightmare voyage out to sea in a disabled 22-foot sloop. He lost 40 pounds during the voyage. He went without food for three days when his supply ran out.

Fire Sweeps Oven

MONTREAL (CP)—Fire swept through a coke company building in suburban Ville Lasalle Saturday, causing an estimated $40,000 damage. Cause of the fire, which badly damaged the two-storey brick building housing a gas purifying unit, was not known. It broke out following an explosion. No one was injured.

Approve Permits

TIMMINS (CP) — Building permits totalling nearly $155,000 were approved by town council here Saturday. Most of the permits are for new houses.

If you feel ALL-IN

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "tired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Unemployment Drops, More Jobs, Fewer Workers

Unemployment decreased considerably in April throughout Peterborough and district, according to figures released today by the National Employment office.

This is the first time since early last fall that a decrease has been reported by the office. In fact the unemployment increased monthly throughout the fall and winter until a post-war peak was reached in March.

James Sharp, district manager, said that at the end of April the office had registered only 2,007 men and women looking for work. These people were throughout the city, Peterborough and Haliburton counties, parts of Victoria, Durham and Northumberland.

In March there were 2,706 persons job-hunting, the third record peak in three successive months. January's total, 2,530, broke other previous post-war records, and that record peak was broken in February when 2,583 were out of work. The final peak was reached in March.

HIGHER THAN 1953

While the April total was 700 fewer than in March, it was still higher than a year ago when 1,443 people were looking for work.

Coupled with this decrease was a second drop this time in the number of persons drawing funds through the insurance scheme. Mr. Sharp reported 1,394 people on claims at the end of April, a drop of 886 since March. Again this is the first decrease reported since early fall.

At the same time the number of people drawing money in April was still higher than April 1953 when 1,176 were on insurance claims.

The percentage of people on claims in city and district in April was identical with 1953 April percentages. Fifty-four per cent of the claims were by people in the district and 46 per cent from Peterborough.

Mr. Sharp explained that the decreases were due to three factors. Supplementary claims, provided several years ago by government legislature for those whose claims had run out, ended April 15. He has also found that unemployed are "drifting out of the district, finding jobs out of this district." Also fair spring weather has helped provide more jobs in the district centres.

MORE JOBS

There were also more jobs available in the city and district at the end of April than a year ago and in March. Mr. Sharp said the office had 45 jobs for men and 127 for women at the end of the month as compared with a total of 148 in March and 100 a year ago.

Resort jobs are beginning to open up in this district. These are mostly for cooks, kitchen workers, dish washers and cabin girls at present. There are also other jobs open for qualified stenographers, experienced waitresses for local work, domestics to live in and also farm workers.

City Decides Not To Fight In Court Hearing

The finance committee of city council Monday night recommended that city engineer A. E. Chalmers should be instructed to continue to refer to the planning board all applications for building permits which do not conform to the restrictions embodied in the proposed zoning bylaw.

At the same time, the committee instructed the engineer to issue a permit to John Conlin to erect a service station on Parkhill road, between Reid and Donegal streets.

The city was earlier served with a notice that Mr. Conlin had applied to the Ontario Supreme Court for an order of mandamus requiring the engineer to issue him with the permit. The decision to grant the permit before the Supreme Court hearing got under way was taken at the advice of city solicitor W. F. Huycke, QC.

The question of whether or not the city ought to withhold building permits which conflicted with the provisions of the proposed zoning bylaw came as a result of an order by Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of the Ontario High Court last Thursday to issue a permit to Neil R. Sloggett to enable him to erect a motel at 390 George St. S.

NUMBER OF ENQUIRIES

Mr. Chalmers asked the committee whether or not, in view of the decision of the chief justice, he should continue to follow the instrutcions given him by council two or three years ago, to refer to the planning board all applications which conflicted with the land-use map. Mr. Chalmers said a number of people had asked him about it since Thursday.

"It's a question of how many of these orders of mandamus you want to fight," Mr. Chalmers said.

Mr. Huycke said that, with the exception of a couple of bylaws, passed a number of years ago prohibiting the erection of service stations in certain areas, "there isn't any zoning at all, to put it bluntly."

The two old bylaws did not apply to Mr. Conlin's application, Mr. Huycke said. Meanwhile, until the new zoning bylaw was passed, they represented the only legal zoning restrictions in the city.

"The engineer has been holding the line chiefly by moral persuasion," the city solicitor said.

"When there's no zoning bylaw in existence, all the city can do is to ask the judge to use his discretion and adjourn the hearing to give council time to complete the bylaw," Mr. Huycke continued. "But since 1921, the judges have changed their thinking on the question of the balance of rights of the individual compared to the probability of getting the bylaw passed in a reasonably short time."

ONLY ONE EXCEPTION

With the exception of one case, the courts had refused to grant such an adjournment, Mr. Huycke said. In another case where this had been done, the court of appeal had "upset the apple-cart" and over-ruled the discretion of the high court justice.

"I feel most definitely the city would be in for a trimming in the Conlin case," Mr. Huycke said. "It's all the more reason for getting the zoning bylaw passed as soon as possible."

City Clerk E. A. Outram said it was possible the municipal board would be able to approve the bylaw in its ultimate form by June.

The proposal to have the engineer continue the practice of referring to the planning board all applications which did not conform with the proposed zoning bylaw was made by Ald. Art Burrows. His motion was endorsed.

"Once the city has been served with a notice of motion for an order of mandamus, the city solicitor can always advise us whether or not to issue a permit," Ald. Gordon Farquharson said.

OPEN-AIR SERVICES

The finance committee of city council Monday night recommended granting the request of the McDonnel St. Gospel Hall to use Confederation Park each Sunday evening during July and August for open-air services.

HIS 87TH BIRTHDAY

Friends of Alpine Macnab, former CNR agent in Peterborough, will be interested in knowing that he quietly celebrated his 87th birthday in Montreal in April. He is in good health, active and cheerful.

PULSE OF PETERBOROUGH

Another in the series of public service programs entitled "The Pulse of Peterborough" will be broadcast over CHEX tonight at 7:30. The panel will consist of Aldermen Art Burrows and Harold Rehill and city engineer A. E. Chalmers, who will discuss the duties, problems and plans of the board of works department.

LOSE TREE PRUNERS

The fire department are hoping that somebody who found a pair of tree pruners on a city street sometime last week will hand them over. It seems that the firemen use the pruners to snip off branches that are interfering with their fire alarm wires. Last week they were taking a load of branches to the North Monaghan dump in their half-ton pickup when the pruners fell off. Appropriately enough, they are painted red and have PFD initialled on them.

Shriners Plan Pilgrimage

The first Shrine pilgrimage to be held in Peterborough will take place on Saturday, May 15, when members of Rameses Temple Toronto and Hamilton will join brothers of the Kawartha Shrine club from the city, Campbellford, Norwood, Havelock, Lindsay, Fenelon Falls and Bobcaygeon. Toronto members will arrive by CPR. A parade which will include the patrol, patrol bands and Oriental bands will march north on George St., to the city hall at 2 p.m.

Illustrious Potentate Fred Midgley of Toronto will take the salute at this point and will in turn receive official welcome for all the shriners from Mayor Norman Graham. Demonstrations of patrol and band drills will be given in Confederation Park followed by a dinner at Brock Street Summer Gardens.

An evening parade will also be held from the Brock to Aylmer, Sherbrooke, George and back to Brock St., where a full drill and demonstration will be staged at the gardens. The Kawartha Shrine club works directly under Rameses Temple in supplying hospital aid for crippled children.

Walter Mortlock Lions Club Head

Walter Mortlock was elected president of Peterborough Lions Club at the annual election of officers on Monday evening. Other officer elected were Lynn Morrison, 1st vice-president; Clarence Harloff, 2nd vice-president; Jack Smyth, 3rd vice-president and two-year directors, George Murray and Jack Duncan.

Directors elected to one year were Harold Freeman and Norton Buell. Ronald MacGee is secretary and Harvey Weidner, treasurer. Frank Scott was elected Lion tamer and Dee Sproule, tail twister.

Three new members—Orm Wilson, George Ariss and Jack Dewey—were initiated.

S.D. And Gs To Hold Reunion In Kingston

Annual reunion of the Stormont Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders will take place Sunday June 6 at Kingston. Canon W. E. Kidd, former army chaplain, will dedicate a bronze plaque that is being placed in the Centre by the local association of SDG Highlanders in memory of members of the regiment who died on active service.

There will be a reunion dinner at the armory Saturday evening at which the guest speaker will be Brigadier M. S. Dunn.

Canon Kidd took the first wartime regimental parade of the Glens in September 1940. He was chaplain of the 21st battalion in the First World War.

Property Sold For Taxes During War, Man Seeks Title

A man whose property was sold for unpaid taxes while he was overseas 13 years ago, was in Ontario Supreme Court today asking that his right to the land be ascertained, and the costs of the action be paid by the township.

Martin Graves, now of Peterborough, is seeking clear title to 198 acres of bushland on Faraday township in Hastings county. It was sold in 1941, on the grounds that the 1938 taxes had not yet been paid.

Called as a witness by the plaintiff's counsel, W. C. Grant, Mrs. Ida Horsepool, clerk of the township since 1949, said she believed the tax rolls for 1936 and 1938 had been destroyed when fire destroye the home of reeve John W. Anderson. She did, however, produce a list indicating what lands were in arrears on taxes at the time.

Monday afternoon Martin Graves testified that he had obtained title to the property in October 1938 and had stayed on it until he joined the services in 1940. He said he received a notice in 1943, while he was in England, that the land would he sold for tax arrears if payment for unpaid taxes were not forthcoming. He further testified that he wrote the county treasurer, and subsequently sent $22.80 to cover 1940 taxes.

Introduced as evidence was Mr. Graves' army paybook in which this deduction was made. Later, while in Sicily, he found it had been sold for unpaid 1938 taxes.

MADE DEPOSIT

When he returned from overseas, said Mr. Graves, he contacted the township treasurer Harold Skuce (since deceased). He said he was told by Skuce that attempts would be made to get his land back, and that he made a $30 deposit for this purpose.

Asked by W. J. A. Fair, counsel for the township if there were any "strings or conditions" attached to the township's offer of assistance, Mr. Graves said: "I was to pay only the unpaid taxes. I have stated that I don't know how many times."

"I wouldn't pay them to buy my property back," said Mr. Graves, commenting on his refusal to meet the township's request for $141.45, which would have represented taxes to compensate two subsequent owners of the propery who had made some payments. Mr. Graves further stated that "the taxes the land was sold for were paid."

There were several heated exchanges between Mr. Fair and Mr. Graves, counsel at one time asking the witness to "please wait until I ask my question before you answer it." At another point, Graves said that one question "is going too far in my estimation."

(This question referred to Mr. Graves relations with his wife, who left the land when her husband moved overseas, moved to Alberta for a while and divorced him shortly after the war.)

NO RECORD

Key plaintiff witness this morning was Mitchell Graves, brother of the plaintiff. He said he went to the township treasurer, while his brother was overseas and said he was told there was no record of any tax payment. According to Mitchell Graves, treasurer Skuce told him there was "no point" in his checking county records, because they would agree with township ones. "I'm not going to Belleville (the county seat)" Mr. Graves recalled saying "but to Ottawa."

From a pay phone booth on George St., Mitchell Graves continued, he put through a personal call to J. L. Ralston, then minister of defence. Col. Ralston, said Mr. Graves, "promised he would look into it right away."

Mr. Graves was accompanied on these expeditions by his father James Graves. He said his father offered to pay all taxes due but was turned down by Skuce. He further added that tax payment receipts for 1937 and 1938 had been in the hands of his mother-in-law, now deceased.

The impression he got, said Mr. Graves, was that the property had not been sold and that there was a motion pending in township council to have it returned to his brother.

CUT TIMBER

James Graves, who is somewhat deaf, testified that when his son Martin returned from overseas, he joined him at the land to cut some timber. "just a little birch," although Martin no longer had title to the land. On cross-examination, Mr. Fair stressed this timber cutting aspect, wondering if it had been "perhaps 60 or 70 thousand board feet" although Mitchell Graves had earlier testified it was no more than a cord.

Mrs. Edith Graves, the plaintiff's divorced wife, said she too had made a tax payment on the property while she was in Alberta. She said she also saw Harold Skuce and in 1942 remitted a tax payment. She said Skuce had denied receiving any payment, but had given her her money back after she produced a money order stub.

Although she seemed clear on these details, Mrs. Graves could not remember when she was divorced by her husband. "I don't exactly remember the year. I think it was 1946 or 1947."

While on the stand, Mrs. Ida Horsepool produced a letter from A. W. Gordon, clerk at the time of the tax sale, which said that the "unfortunate situation" had resulted from Mr. Graves' "lack of interest" in his property.

Martin Graves was at a 1947 meeting of township council, when she was a councillor, Mrs. Horsepool testified. She said Graves told council the land never should have been sold. She said there was an oral arrangement to get the land back, but there was nothing in the minutes to indicate this.

STOPPED CUTTING

Minutes for June 21, 1947, did, however, indicate that the township constable had been authorized to restrain Graves from any further timber cutting and had ordered seizure of timber already cut. (Graves apparently thought the matter was under advisement at this time).

The case is continuing.

CCL Unions Quit Committee

Object To UE Plan To Form Own Committee

Irked at the presence of the leftish UE on the unemployment committee set up three weeks ago, the CCL unions voted on Monday night to resign.

This breaks the brief unity that the three trade union bodies achieved at a public meeting on April 19 to try and deal with the problem of unemployment in Peterborough. At that meeting three representatives from each of three groups—the CCL labor council, the TLC labor council and the UE—were appointed to prepare a series of resolutions on upemployment that would be sent to the city council and federal government.

Another public meeting has been called for 8 p.m. Thursday in the Legion Hall, but apparently the CCL unions will not be officially represented.

STORMY MEETING

At a stormy two-hour meeting of the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL) on Monday night the delegates from the city's CCL unions voted to withdraw from the joint resolutions committee. This still leaves the TLC and the UE.

The Peterborough and District Labor Council delegates followed this up with another motion. They will hold a meeting next Tuesday night to discuss setting up their own unemployment committee.

No similar action is likely on the part of the TLC who held their May meeting last Wednesday. This group heard the report of John McPhee, president, without comment. At that time it was explained that the resolutions committee on April 19 was appointed at a public meeting. Anybody was eligible for appointment.

This palsy-walsy setup lasted only three weeks. Delegates from two strongly anti-UE unions, the rival IUE and the Steelworkers, come into a labor council meeting Monday night determined to put an end to the link with the UE. And they succeeded.

(The UE were tossed out of the CCL on the grounds they were communist dominated. Since then the IUE and the Steelworkers, in particular, have fought the UE in plants throughout the United States and Canada.

SOUNDING WORKERS

(An ironic aside, too, is the fact that Steelworkers' organizers are in town sounding out the workers at the De Laval Co. on whether they would switch from the International Association of Machinists (AFL-TLC) to the Steelworkers' union, a CCL body. To date this embarrasing situation has not queered the relationship of the AFL unions to the CCL unions on the unemployment committee.)

Only three delegates voted not to dissociate themselves from this joint committee. They were Jack Benstead of Local 570 IUE, and William Triggs and Yvonne Glen, both of Local 293, UPWA. Ed Humphrey, vice-president was chairman in the absence of Alfred Barber, president.

Then the labor council voted to set up their own labor council—separate from both the AFL and UE unions.

Fixtures Taken From Resort

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — OPP Constable Archie Eady is investigating a break-in that was discovered this past weekend at Villa Trent, a summer lodge on the Trent river.

A quantity of plumbing and electrical fixtures was stolen, including two toilets, several sinks and basins, and a variety of electrical fixtures.

The lodge, the main building in the summer resort owned by Mrs. Jennie Rappaport of Toronto, is on the northern outskirts of Campbellford. The break-in was discovered during the weeking by Mrs. Rappaport's son, Marcus, when he arrived from Toronto to look over the property.

A number of windows and sashes on the lodge were broken. The thieves got into the building by climbing through one of the broken windows.

MOH Holding Up Licences On 8 Businesses

The city's medical officer of health, Dr. J. P. Wells revealed to the finance committee of city council Monday night that he had held up reports by the sanitary inspector on eight applications for renewal of business licences, five of which were from lunch counter proprietors.

Dr. Wells admitted that renewal of the licences was overdue but said his department was attempting to persuade the applicants to comply with the provisions of The Public Health Act. In most cases this meant they would have to install washroom facilities.

Until the last year or two, no reference had been made to provincial regulations, in spite of the fact that the city's regulations say that all the requirements of the Public Health Act should be observed, Dr. Wells said.

DOUBLE DUTY ALLOWED

Dr. A. E. Berry, director of sanitary engineering for the department of health, had said it would be permissible for lunch counter proprietors to let the public use the sanitary facilities which they used for themselves and their staff.

Dr. Wells suggested that the licences might be granted probationally if the proprietors agreed to carry out the requirements of the act within a reasonable time. Council would, as usual, retain the power to revoke the licences at any time.

Dr. Wells said he had interviewed some of the proprietors and, although some had failed to co-operate and refused to install washrooms, others said they simply couldn't do it.

"I'm satisified it would work a hardship in some cases," he said. "I'm going to refer them to the board of health on Friday because I don't want to take the responsibility of an outright refusal.

"To my knowledge, we have refused only two applicants; we're still trying to persuade the recalcitrants. I asked them to come in and see me to talk it over. Some of them did but others didn't.

"I feel we shouldn't be too harsh with these people. I think we should give them every opportunity. At the same time, we are trying to set a standard of sanitation which the province requires and which the people of Peterborough would appreciate."

"A lot of these lunch counters probably don't take in enough money to justify the expenes of installing a washroom," Ald. Gordon Farquharson suggested.

"They are required throughout most of the United States and I think our American visitors expect it," Dr. Wells said.

Dr. Wells said several applications for renewal of licences had gone through without a report from the health department but he didn't know why. City Clerk E. A. Outram said he would find out first thing in the morning.

SHOULD BE CHECKED

Ald. Gordon Powell said he thought all people employed in handling food in the city should be required to pass an annual medical inspection. His suggestion was made in connection with the application of James Goudis for a licence to operate a push-cart for selling candy apples and popcorn.

"I think it should apply to all people who dispense food," Ald. Powell said, "not just these push-

Consider Request To Disband Civil Defence

Before acting on the request of the advisory committee on civil defence for permission to disband, the finance committee of city council Monday night decided to ask the provincial government "what importance they attach to the request and whether any financial assistance to municipalities for civil defence would be forthcoming in the near future."

At the suggestion of Ald. John Dewart, who is chairman of the civil defence committee, the finance committee decided to hold over the request until a reply is received from the province.

Ald. Dewart said council had appointed the civil defence committee at a time when there was no government policy at all. A great deal of voluntary work had been done preparatory to a time when the government made up their mind what they were prepared to do.

About two years ago, the federal government had offered to pay 50 per cent of the cost to municipalities and it had been anticipated the province would supplement this amount.

TWO NOT JOINED

So far, eight provinces had entered the joint scheme, with Manitoba paying the other 50 per cent and the other provinces 25 per cent. Ontario and Quebec had not joined.

Only about six municipalities in Ontario were doing anything about civil defence, with budgets ranging from $6,000 to $16,000 annually. The local committee did not feel that the citizens should be given the impression that something was being done about civil defence when, actually, no facilities or equipment were available.

"You can't ask the public to participate unless you have something for them to do and we haven't," Ald. Dewart said. A nucleus of properly-trained personnel with a suitable headquarters and a complete communication system were essential.

Ald. Dewart said Peterborough was classed as a mutual aid area. In event of an H-bomb attack on a target area such as Toronto, the proposal of the federal government was that the mutual aid areas should render assistance to the stricken area.

The government had available to mutual aid areas such equipment as pumpers, rescue trucks and first aid vehicles for use of mutual aid columns which would prepare to proceed to the stricken area once a warning had been sounded.

Santee Says Marines To Be His Big Job

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Wes Santee, the top U.S. miler, said Monday he was more interested in doing a good job with the U.S. Marines than participating in a proposed "dream mile" race at Toronto in late summer.

At the same time the long-legged University of Kansas senior said he would like to challenge Roger Bannister of England, who whipped the four-minute mile in 3:59.4 last week, and a couple of swift Swedes who will be in the U.S. next month, to a mile race at the Los Angeles Coliseum June 10 or 11.

The Swedes are Ingvar Eriksson and Sune Karlsson.

SENDING INVITATIONS

Earlier Monday George Duthie, sports director of the Canadian National Exhibition, said he had invited Bannister and was sending invitations to Santee, John Landy of Australia and Murray Halberg of New Zealand to match spikes in Toronto in late August or early September.

Santee, in Kansas City for a television appearance, said he is going into officers' training with the Marines June 13.

"I wouldn't be interested in competing in track and military training at the same time," Santee said. "I owe an obligation to the marines. Of course, I'd like to get back in running competition as soon as possible, but that is up to the marines. I hope I'll have my military training cleared in time to prepare for the Olympic Games."

TRABERT BEATEN

ROME (AP)—A towering Argentine who doesn't scare easily, Enrique Morea fought off four match points and upset top-seeded Tony Trabert of the United States Monday to gain the final round of Italy's international tennis tournament.

Booming his service and matching the American at the net, the Argentine player won the 2½-hour marathon 0-6, 6-4, 6-3, 1-6, 7-5.

He will play Budge Patty, who defeated Jaroslav Drobny today in a marathon match. This contest was stopped by darkness Monday night and resumed again today, with Patty winning 7-5, 7-5, 9-11, 9-7. Drobny had been seeded second; Patty sixth.

TO TRY HALF MILE

LONDON (AP)—Roger Bannister announced Monday he will return to the track May 20 and may try to add the world half-mile record to his monumental 3:59.4 mile mark.

The lanky, 24-year-old medical student said he would run the half-mile for London University against Oxford University at Hotspur Park, Surrey, in an inter-universities meet.

Mal Whitfield of the United States holds the present world record of 1:48.6 for the half-mile. Track experts contend the time is well within the scope of a runner of Bannister's capabilities.

Originally Bannister was a half-mile specialist.

HORSE WAS HURT

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., (AP)—Correlation, a disappointing sixth in the Kentucky Derby, ran the race with a blind splint on his right foreleg, his owner disclosed Monday.

Robert Lytle, Los Angeles oil producer, said the injury was discovered when the Derby favorite's legs were being examined two days later. However, Lytle added, he expects the colt to be okay for the Preakness at Pimlico May 22.

All thoroughbreds have splint bones. They are behind the cannon bone between the knee and the fetlock or ankle. When a splint causes trouble an enlargement appears on the cannon bone.

GAUDAUR SURPRISED

HAMILTON (CP)—Jake Gaudaur president of Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four Football League, said Monday he was surprised to learn of the report that tackle Bob Cross has been traded to Los Angeles Rams by Chicago Bears of the National Football League.

Cross, a six-foot, four-inch, 243-pound tackle with Tiger-Cats last season, left Hamilton a few weeks after the club won the Grey Cup. It was expected he would be back with the Tiger-Cats this year.

Gaudaur said Cross "certainly figured in our plans for this year."

NBC Will Televise Canadian Football

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP) — Canadian football will make its debut before a new audience of millions of U.S. television viewers next fall when the NBC begins regular Saturday telecasts of Interprovincial Rugby Football Union games.

The NBC announced the deal Monday night after an Ottawa meeting with officials of the IRFU and the CBC, which will make its TV coverage available for U.S. consumption by microwave facilities from Toronto to Buffalo. Financial terms were not disclosed but the Toronto Globe and Mail estimated that the deal would cost the NBC $320,000. CBC will televise 28 games and NBC 13.

The meeting also arranged the first full season of TV coverage for Canadian viewers.

DETAILS NOT SETTLED

Details of the agreement have not yet been worked out but it was believed that there would be a TV blackout of the city in which a game is played from the live telecast. A filmed version would be carried later.

The Globe and Mail quoted Lew Hayman, general manager of Montreal Alouettes and chairman of the IRFU's football committee, as saying Buffalo's station WBEN would also be blacked out on Toronto and Hamilton home games to avoid affecting the gate in those cities, both within easy range of the Buffalo station.

The agreement covers Saturday games throughout the entire schedule, beginning Aug. 28, and league playoffs.

The CBC will supply only the visual portion of the telecasts for U.S. consumption. U.S. commentators will "translate" the action for their viewers, unfamiliar with Canadian rules.

SCORING DIFFERENT

Most fans will be getting their first look at the rouge, the single point scored in the Canadian game when a ball-carrier is brought down behind his own goal line, and the single point scored when a kick goes beyond the dead-ball line. Under U.S. rules there is no score when a kick goes into the end zone and the ball is given to the defending team on its 20-yard line.

They will also need explanation of Canada's stricter interference rules, allowing blocking only 10 yards beyond the line of scrimmage, and the rule requiring tacklers to give a punt-receiver five yards' leeway until he catches the ball.

The difference in point-scoring also is likely to cause some initial confusion as U.S. viewers accustom themselves to the idea of a touchdown being worth five points instead of six. They also will need to be reminded that a Canadian team has only three downs in which to make its 10 yards instead of the U.S. team's four.

But quite a few of the faces will be familiar. Former National Football League players like Gene (Choo Choo) Roberts, Avatus Stone; Ray Poole and Tex Coulter and a large number of U.S. college graduates have found their way on to Big Four fosters.

SECOND-GUESS SCOUTS

They will have an opportunity to second-guess NFL scouts for passing up unheralded college players like Ulysses Curtis, the swivel-hipped Toronto Argonaut back; quarterback Ed Songin of the Canadian champion Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Hamilton's pair of pass-interception wizards, Vito Ragazzo and Lou Kusserow.

NBC made its Canadian deal after the National Collegiate Athletic Association, governing body of U.S. college football, transferred its "game-of-the-week" broadcasts to the American Broadcasting Company.

Hayman saw the deal as a tremendous boost in prestige for Canadian football and an asset for Big Four clubs in their dealings with U.S. players.

"Now, when we talk to a kid in Little Rock about coming to Canada he'll know he won't be forgotten by the home folks when he comes up here," he told The Globe and Mail. "They'll be able to follow him on TV."

Rockets Take Top Spot In Loop

Rockets took top honors as the Wednesday afternoon bowling leauge for girls wound up its season at Playfair, having high three of 2511 and best single of of 1023 on the final night of play. They led the loop with 77 points, followed by Dinkies with 70, Terrors 67, Whizz Bangs 65, Happy Gang 56, Cisco Kids 51, Tornadoes and Eager Beavers 48, Bombers 35, Ramblers 32, Playfair 25 and Wild Cats 20. The windup banquet will be held May 12.

High three for the season was taken by A. Lucas with a 775 mark, as O. Waton's 297 single was best, and E Ranesbottom rolled high average of 181. The final night saw O. Watson hit 649, including 231 and 223 games and D. Peconi got a 280 single. The 3-0 wins went to Eager Beavers, Happy Gang and Ramblers over Wild Cats, Dinkies and Playfairs in that order; the 2-1 victories were taken by Tornadoes, Rockets and Whizz Bangs against Terrors, Bombers and Cisco Kids.

Good scores on the night included L. Harris 643 (254 and 268), D. Peconi 632 (280 and 243), V. Triggs 619 (221 and 210), P. Doig 599 (251), M. Andrews 586 (251), H. Mesley 575 (233), D. Martin 572, L. Woods 571 (222), M. Young 560 (241); E. Ranesbottom 542 (274), G. Blondin 538 (209), R. Hewitt 533 (204), A. Lucas 521, V. Allan 520 (216), Marg Downer 513, E. Roberts 502 (218), and singles of H. Bleakley 235 and M. Wiley 204.

Tide teams won 115 games and went to six post - season bowl games.

Trailing Stamps Rally, Defeat Quebec Aces 7-4

CALGARY (AP)—Calgary Stampeders, trailing 4-2 late in the second period, rallied strongly Monday night to defeat Quebec Aces 7-4 before 6,813 fans. The victory gave Calgary a 3-1 lead in the best-of-nine series for the Duke of Edinburgh Trophy.

Fifth game is scheduled here Wednesday night and the sixth Thursday night.

Stampeders started strongly and looked as though they would have things pretty much their own way when they moved into a 2-0 lead late in the first period.

Aces, however, bounced back with four straight goals in an eight-minute scoring spree late in the opening session and early in the second period to gain a 4-2 bulge and force the Cowboys to come through with a powerful attack for the victory.

Sid Finney and Archie Scott led the Calgary scoring parade with two goals each and singletons were notched by Max Quackenbush, Bill Shvetz and Ray Barry. Fred Hucul, Larry Regan, Gerry Cabana and Jean Talbot scored for Aces.

Referee Scotty Morrison handed out only five penalties—four to Quebec. Aces' penalties proved costly as two Stampeder goals came when the Cowboys had the edge in manpower.

Name Winners In Bowling

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Winners of three classes in the ladies' competitions of the 28th annual Ontario Bowling Association's five-pin tournament were decided here during the week-end.

Toronto Hardmans won the open team competition with a score of 3,602. Vic Warren and Ann Miller of Toronto took the doubles with 1,497 points and Vera Ward of Hamilton won the singles championship, posting a score of 854. She also won the high aggregate with 2,241 points.

In the men's singles, J. Renton of Brantford is leading the singles event with 872. His high aggregate of 2,489 points is also best so far.

In the men's B section, Welland Welsbys top team play with 3,289 points. Cunningham and Rives of Welland pace the doubles with 1,323.

T. Hawks aw of Galt is leading the section C singles with 396 and the high aggregate with 1,626.

Legion Team Ends Atop In Carpetball

The semi-final President's Cup between Lawn Boys No. 2 vs. Legion No. 3 was played Friday night and the play was close. First game saw Legion No. 3 come from behind and by scoring a deuce in the last frame won it 6-5. The second game was also won in the last end, with the score 5-4 for No. 2. No. 2 broke up a close battle by scoring a trio in the final frame to win 84. The third and deciding game saw No. 2 jump into an early lead 120 but No. 3 came alive then and scored in every one of the last four frames and failed by two to tie it up. They were eliminated 12-0.

PRESIDENT'S CUP

The finals for the President's Cup was played Monday night between Lawn Boys No. 2 and Legion No. 9. The first game went to No. 9 when they came from behind to make it 5-all with one end to go. Then in the final end they scored a deuce to win 7-5. Lawn Boys No. 2 were the hot team of this series; in the second game with the score 6-5 for No. 2 and one frame to go they scored a single to win 7-5 and make a third game necessary. The third saw No. 2 come from behind to make it 4-4. Then they scored a single. No. 9 was not to be denied and in the next end made it 5-all with two ends to go. Lawn Boys rose to the heights by taking both those frames and winning 10-5.

The two postponed games, Legion No. 1 and Lawn Boys No. 2 against Post Office No. 14, are now reported. No. 1 defaulted to No. 14 and Lawn Boys grabbed two wins over No. 14 by scores 12-8 and 16-2.

Wants Sudbury To Represent Canada At Next World Hockey Tournament

VANCOUVER (CP)—Max Silverman wants Sudbury Wolves to represent Canada in the next world hockey tournament—if they win the Allan Cup.

Silverman, president, general manager and coach of the Allan Cup finalists, attended the annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association convention here Monday and put his request into the record.

Silverman told the meeting that Sudbury is only interested in playing in the tournament. They did not want to make a pre-tournament tour of Europe.

"We are only interested in competing in the world championship for the benefit of Canada," he said.

Silverman won the championship in 1933 with a junior Wolves team, and lost in 1949 with[illegible] alls a "makeshift, monkey team."

He said [illegible] ew that he "wouldn't ma[illegible] tour even if they paid [illegible] $ [illegible] Ive had two tours, and I know."

He also suggested that if Sudbury is not chosen that any of the Allan Cup semi-finalists this year—Winnipeg Maroons, Matane Red Rocks or Penticton — would be good Canadian representatives. Penticton has also asked for the right to represent Canada in the world tourney.

The whole subject of Canadian overseas representation will come up in later sessions, and may provoke fireworks.

Toronto East York lost the 1954 title to Russia in the final match of the tournament in Stockholm. The CAHA has been criticized for sending the team to the championships.

STILL UNBEATEN

BROOKLYN, N.Y. (AP)—Undefeated Floyd Patterson of Brooklyn racked up his 13th victory Monday night with a decisive and unanimous eight-round decision over Jesse Turner of St. Louis in a telecast bout at Eastern Parkway Arena.

Patterson weighed 165½, Turner 157¾.

Toronto Loses No Time On Seaway Plan

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto harbor commission officials said Monday they are advising prospective Canadian shippers that Toronto has port facilities for shipping their goods direct to Europe by sea.

The action is part of the commission's plans to attempt to make Toronto a great export harbor even before the St. Lawrence seaway provides the link to the Atlantic ocean for big ocean-going vessels.

Small ocean-going ships of many foreign nations put into port here but more cargo is unloaded than is picked up for shipment overseas. The commission is hoping to change this. If successful, freight now shipped from New York, Halifax and Montreal will be placed aboard ocean-plying vessels in Toronto to begin the voyage overseas.

So many ocean-going vessels are touching here that the commission now is preparing a regular sailing list of these ships.

Since April 19 when the Great Lakes canals opened for the 1954 shipping season 32 overseas vessels docked at Toronto—a record for the period not equalled by any other port on the Great Lakes.

Last year 286 foreign vessels cleared through the Toronto harbor compared with 180 in 1952. All indications point to the 1953 record being broken.

Says Tension Eases

REGINA (CP)—A senior Canadian diplomat says world tension will ease without a major war. Hon. T. C. Davis, Canadian ambassador to West Germany for the last four years, said in an interview Monday that time is working in favor of the West in the cold war.

QUEBEC LAUNCHING—Andros Fortune, 28,000-ton supertanker, slides down the ways of the Davie Shipbuilding Ltd. yards at Lauzon, Que., at Saturday's launching. Built for Andros Shipping Company, Ltd., the vessel can carry 240,000 barrels of crude oil and cruise at 16 knots.

Begin Hearings On Contempt Charges

DETROIT (CP) — A Michigan grand juror Monday started hearings on contempt charges against two suspended Detroit policemen in spite of a Michigan statute which prohibits grand uries from trying persons cited by the same jury for contempt.

Judge John P. O'Hara is making a special investigation as a one-man grand jury, of graft activities involving Detroit police.

Contempt charges were laid against patrolmen Lee Roy Murchison, 36, and John Marchall Eberhardt, 34. The men denied visiting the home of a man believed to be a numbers racket chief. Movies were produced in evidence to show both had been at the house. Judge O'Hara said both perjured themselves.

25 Minutes Not Enough Time To Get Drunk

The possibility that a man could get himself good and drunk in the space of 25 minutes, was not considered very likely by Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC, in court today. He was considering a charge of drunk driving brought against 66-year-old John F. Leahy of 1065 High St.

Leahy was sentenced to seven days in jail, with his car impounded for three months.

Constable Robert Menzies said that he had visited the scene of an accident at Albert St. on the night of April 23. Only one car had been there and no driver. The car, which was damaged, was later found to be owned by a CGE employee who had left it parked on the side of the street.

The constable said that he had driven around the area in the cruiser. About 25 minutes after the accident occurred, he had found Leahy's car parked outside 1066 High St. Pieces of metal found at the scene of the accident, fitted to damaged areas of Leahy's car.

When Leahy answered the constable's knock on his door "he was in a very drunken condition." The constable said that Leahy remembered the collision, but said he had not thought it worthwhile stopping at the scene.

DRUNK LATER

Norman Crook, defending, said that it had not been proved Leahy was drunk at the time of the accident. Admittedly he was intoxicated when interviewed by the constable, but that had been at least 25 minutes later. He considered that Leahy should have the benefit of any doubt in the mind of the magistrate.

The magistrate, however, appeared to have no doubts.

No Easing In Defence Emphasized By Indo-China

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—The crisis in Indo-China re-emphasizes for Canada that there can be no slackening in the defence build-up.

During his western inspection tour two weeks ago, Defence Minister Claxton stressed constantly that Canada can't afford to lower its guard.

The need for defence expenditures, he said, must continue at around their present level—some $2,000,000,000 annually—for possibly years to come. If the defence effort faltered, "we'd be sitting ducks."

The fall of Dien Bien Phu merely adds more weight to Mr. Claxton's argument, defence officials said Monday. Communist aims for world domination have not changed.

In 1950, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization decided on a "crash" defence program on the supposition that Russia would attack the West by mid-1954. A "crash" program meant big and rapid defence build-ups in NATO countries.

Russia had a number of opportunities to start a major war in the early years of NATO but didn't.

So last December, NATO reasoned that the immediate threat was less urgent and decided on a defence policy known as the "long pull." This will mean maintenance of present strength and a gradual increase in the quality of that strength over a long period of time—and without wrecking the economies of some NATO members.

When Canada launched its "crash" program four years ago the cost was estimated at $5,000,000,000. This amount plus more millions have been spent and expenditures are continuing at about the same rate.

Freighters Tie Up

SARNIA (CP)—Two freighters here are idle because of lack of grain and ore cargoes. The carriers, C. A. Bennett and Howard L. Shaw, tied up at the winter storage basin last week. Sixty seamen were paid off and left for home.

2,000 Different Cars Produced But Only 20 Survive In America

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

To re-live some of the memories of a past motoring age, pull up a chair beside T. J. Emmert, executive vice-president of Ford Motor Company.

He has done a lot of research on early Canadian motoring history and, in a recent speech in Toronto, drew some of the shadows out of the past and put them back on the road again.

Here are some of the items:

More than 2,000 different cars have been produced in North America, but only 20 survive.

As early as 1893, Dixon carriage works built electric carriages in Toronto; while the first gasoline-driven car, a U.S. Winton, was imported to Toronto in 1898.

In 1904 Ford set up its first Canadian factory in a former wagon works at Windsor, Ont. The McLaughlins followed at Oshawa, Ont., progenitors of General Motors in that city. Chalmers started at Windsor, later became Chalmers-Maxwell, and in 1925 Chrysler.

Among early ventures was E. R. Thomas Motor Company, Toronto, later Canada Cycle Motor Company, then Russell Motors, finally Willys-Overland.

MANY NAMES

Stratford, Ont., had Brooks steam motors; London, Ont., Ruggles truck; and Montreal Parker Motor Company.

Then, over the years in Ontario were Durant at Leaside; Gotfredson at Windsor; National at Hamilton; International at Chatham; Tudhope at Orillia. Everett-Metzger-Flanders made EMF at Windsor and in 1911 became Studebaker.

The Universal Giant and Oxford were produced at Montreal; McKay at Amherst, N.S.; Maritime Six at Saint John, N.B.; Winnipeg Six at Winnipeg; Hayes-Anderson Truck at Vancouver; and, in Ontario, the London Six at Ottawa; Fisher and Regal Underslung at Windsor; Schacht at Hamilton; Reo at St. Catharines; Galt at Galt; Superior at Petrolia; Graham at Ottawa; Atlas at Brockville.

For each company in Canada, 100 appeared in the United States.

SOUND ENGINEERING

The Duck, produced in 1913, looked like an ordinary touring car except that its steering wheel was mounted in the rear seat and the passengers at in front.

However, if there are laughs out of the past, there was also sound engineering. Mr. Emmert reminds us:

"Automobiles were built nearly 60 years ago that could travel 90 miles an hour, surmount almost any hill in high, and were so well built that some of them are running today, even if with expert attention and loving care."

Denies Immigrants Get Sub-Standard Jobs

OTTAWA (CP) — Immigration Minister Harris said Monday his department is not placing immigrants in jobs at sub-standard wages.

He was asked in the Commons if his department has been bypassing the government's National Employment Service in an effort to get jobs for immigrants at lower-than-standard wage rates.

"No," he told H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay East).

The question developed from a speech made Friday night by Leslie Wismer, president of the Ottawa and District Trades and Labor Council. Mr. Wismer alleged the immigration department has been undercutting NES by offering immigrants for jobs at lower wages than the employment service offers.

Radio Men Fling Challenge To High Schools

A basketball team (???) from CHEX demands (1) the ball at all faceoffs; (2) free shots "whenever nothing else of interest is happening; (3) opponents to shoot from no nearer than 30 feet; (4) a 20-point handicap, and (5) the right to play the last period with no opposing players on the floor, when they tackle a group of high school lads at the YMCA Thursday at 8 p.m.

Proceeds from this unique event will go to Peterborough's ornamental swimmers. The high school team, picked from the Campus Cavalcade Saturday broadcasts, will include six lads from PCVS, six from St. Peter's and five from Kenner Collegiate. CHEX wants at least 30 men, to operate on a platoon basis.

It has been rumored that at least one member of the CHEX crew has handled a basketball, though not recently. Program director Bill Straiton will be taking the floor for the first time. Long George Ludgate may be drafted for a new position, that of goalie, to keep the score down. Dave Clarke will attempt to coach the radio squad.

For those still able to stand, a dance will be held after the game.

Discuss Fare

OTTAWA (CP) — The Ottawa Transportation Commission is discussing increases for cash fares, Dave Gill, general manager of the OTC, said Monday, but it is "not even close to a decision as yet."

Planners To Meet

HALIFAX (CP)—The navy said Monday Canadian and American defence planners will meet in Halifax this week to discuss matters of common interest.

To Ease Parking

MONTREAL (CP)—City council voted Monday to spend nearly $2,000,000 on parking lots to ease traffic congestion in the city's east end.

Metropolitan Council Rejects Fluoridation

TORONTO (CP) — The works committee of Toronto metropolitan council Monday reported fluoridation of the water supply as a measure to combat tooth decay has been rejected by a majority of the 13 municipalities in the metro area.

Four have voted against fluoridation, five want more information before making a decision and three are in favor.

Toronto's board of health favors the move but city council has never endorsed fluoridation.

The council said it will shelve the fluoridation question until further scientific studies have been made by provincial authorities.

Plan Showdown On Alternate Hearing Plans

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Efforts to shorten the McCarthy-Army hearings appeared headed for collapse today barring an unexpected change of mind by Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens.

Stevens appears to be standing fast on his insistence that all the principal figures in his dispute with the Wisconsin Republican senator should be heard in public, televised sessions.

And Senator Karl Mundt (Rep. S. D.), presiding at the hearings, put a virtual clincher on the collapse of the shortening efforts by saying he would not vote for any proposal "if any side feels it does violence to justice and fairness."

The Senate investigations subcommittee scheduled a showdown today at its 14th day of hearings on alternate proposals by Senator Everett Dirksen (Rep. Ill.) and Senator John L. McClellan (Dem. Ar.).

OBJECTS TO PLAN

Stevens objected Monday to Dirksen's plan to recess public hearings after hearing testimony by McCarthy and to postpone a decision on whether to resume them until after a month's survey of testimony and witnesses by Ray H. Jenkins, special sub-committee counsel.

This would have the effect of delaying, if not washing out entirely, testimony by four other principals to the dispute—army counsel John G. Adams, H. Struve Hensel, assistant secretary, of defence, and two aides to McCarthy's sub-committee, Roy M. Cohn and Francis P. Carr.

McClellan said the effect would only be to prolong the inquiry and would deny the right of some principals to reply in public to charges made against them publicly.

BLASTS PROPOSAL

McCarthy blasted at McClellan's alternate proposal to limit future examination of witnesses to one hour for each senator, four hours for opposing counsel and unlimited questioning by Jenkins. He said it would present witnesses with "an invitation to filibustering"—giving long and unresponsive replies to questions.

Senators and lawyers have had unlimited opportunity to question Stevens about his charges that McCarthy and his aides brought improper pressure to bear on the army to get favored military treatment for a former sub-committee consultant, Pte. G. David Schine.

McCarthy, who would supplant Stevens on the stand immediately under Dirksen's motion, has accused Stevens and his aides of using Schine as a "hostage" in efforts to halt or divert the McCarthy sub-committee's hunt for Communists in the army. McCarthy has stepped off the sub-committee for the inquiry.

Rotarians Addressed By Hon. H. R. Scott

HAVELOCK (ENS)—Municipal night was observed Friday when the Havelock Rotary club entertained the councils of Havelock and Belmont and Methuen townships, the local public school board, the rink and park boards, B. Haryett, Havelock representative on the Norwood District High School board, and H. W. Roche, secretary - treasurer of that board.

The event took the form of a banquet in the Sunday school auditorium of St. John's Anglican church, served by the women's Guild.

Guest speak was the Hon H. R. Scott, MPP, who spoke on the work of the department of lands and forests, particularly in connection with conservation, especially forest reserves. T. P. Lancaster, ex-MPP, was also a guest and gave a short address.

Mr. Scott was introduced by Reeve E. J. Leeson. A vote of appreciation and thanks was extended to him by Rotarian Ernest Sanderson.

Charged In Slaying

LETHBRIDGE (CP) — Michael Kuzmack, 48, of Windsor, Ont., appeared in court here Monday and was charged with the murder of a 41-year-old widow from Winnipeg. He was remanded to May 18. Mrs. Minnie Engel was stabbed to death with a butcher knife Sunday in the Lethbridge house where she was living.

To Have Operation

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur Godfrey told his radio and TV audience Monday he's going to have a new hip operation. He said there is "something mechanically wrong" with the hip, originally injured in an automobile accident years ago, but that he did not know what.

HMS ARK ROYAL, Britain's latest aircraft carrier, eases into a Liverpool dockyard to get propellors fitted for her Clyde trials next month. The 36,800-ton ship with the famous name stands as a symbolic question mark in one of the most controversial naval disputes of our time: Does atomic war render the carrier an obsolete weapon, or does it confirm the flat-top as the kingpin in any fleet?

Mill President W. Mitchell Dies

KINCARDINE (CP)—William H. Mitchell, 76, president of four western Ontario textile mills, died in hospital here Monday night after suffering a heart attack.

Mr. Mitchell founded the Circle Bar knitting Company here in 1914. In 1926 he founded a branch in Owen Sound and in 1932 he established another textile plant here. In 1937 Mr. Mitchell acquired the Imperial Clothing Company of Listowel.

He was active in municipal affairs, serving as chairman of the school board, councilor and mayor. In 1930, as a Progressive Conservative, he unsuccessfully contested the federal riding of Bruce.

He is survived by his widow, four daughters and two sons.

Mayor, Controller Get Threatening Letters

HAMILTON (CP)—The lives of Mayor Lloyd D. Jackson and controller Sam Baggs were threatened Monday in a letter received at city hall condemning the city's all-out warfare against starlings.

The unsigned note stated "a bomb is almost completed" for controller Baggs and that another one will be completed for the mayor in "a couple of weeks."

Controller Baggs said he and the mayor are not too upset about the threatening letter which was "badly written." It had a Hamilton postmark.

Some 10,000 starlings have been cleared out of the city so far this year, plus 3,000 pigeons killed unintentionally.

Lascelle's Condition Remains Serious

OTTAWA (CP)—The condition of Tony Lacelle, who suffered a heart attack Sunday as the result of injuries from a dynamite explosion May 1, remains serious, relatives said Monday night.

Lacelle and a companion, Wes Kempe of Kingston, were in a boat on Ashby lake, 60 miles west of here, when the blast occurred.

Lacelle's daughter, Mrs. N. Sawchuk of Ottawa, said in an interview that although it was first reported the two men were charged with fishing with dynamite, authorities in the area later decide the charges unwarranted.

She said neither man had been fishing.

Wheat Crop Good In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite drought in some areas and government crop restrictions, 1954 production of wheat in the United States may be large enough to meet all market demands and add some grain to a record surplus.

This prospect was indicated Monday by an agriculture department crop report which forecast winter wheat at 707,000,000 bushels, an increase of 29,000,000 over the agency's April estimate.

No official forecast has been made on spring wheat, but a planting survey has indicated a crop of at least 225,000,000 bushels. The combined winter and spring crops would thus be 932,000,000 bushels—perhaps 50,000,000 bushels more than the markets will take.

Hamilton Goes All Out For Drama Festival Week

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP)—Hamilton, the city of heavy steel mills and growing industry, went all out Monday night for the opening of the Dominion drama festival.

The first night audience of more than 2,900, many of them dressed in black tie and evening dress, saw a hometown drama group perform. Hamilton Players' Guild production of Rebecca by Daphne du Maurier started off the weeking festival of eight plays picked from across the Dominion.

Governor-General Vincent Massey officially opened the festival.

Mr. Massey, patron of the festival, was elected its first president in 1933 and has followed its progress "with great interest since."

Following the first night performance, part of which was televised, Hamilton's Mayor Lloyd Jackson and the governor-general met festival actors at a civic reception.

CRITICIZES ATMOSPHERE

Adjudicator Hugh Hunt lauded Dorothy Berner who played the part of Mrs. Danders, the twisted housekeeper in Rebecca. She delivered "the best performance I've seen in a long time on the amateur stage."

Mr. Hunt, who has a distinguished record as a freelance producer-director in England, criticized the company for missing the atmosphere. He said the setting of the all-traditional English home was not well portrayed—"it looked more like an hotel suite." He said the play could have been more carefully directed.

Although the adjudicator found several of the characters "stiff" he said the two leads, played by John Frid and Jeanne Bentley, improved as the play progressed. "I was very impressed with their performance in the last two scenes."

Villain Ken McLachlan, playing Rebecca's lover, spoke with a rather mixed English-Canadian accent. Mr. Hunt said he sounded "a bit transatlantic."

"But there is no reason why Rebecca could not have loved transatlantically," he said.

Tonight the Northcliffe Dramatic Club of Grand Falls, Nfld., will present the Irish tragedy, Juno and the Paycock, by Sean O'Casey.

Circulation Managers Honor Bert Cowan

H. B. (Bert) Cowan of Toronto was presented with a silver tray at the annual convention in London Sunday of the Canadian Circulation Managers Association.

For years circulation manager of The Examiner, Mr. Cowan recently retired as first vice-president of the association. He moved to Toronto two months ago to become general manager of Garfield News Company who have the news stand concession at the subway stations.

In making the presentation at a pre-convention luncheon, Guy Angers, circulation manager of Le Droit, Ottawa, said of Mr. Cowan: "He is a man who has done his best as a member and an officer of this association,—a man of humor and wit."

Snagged By FHA Fund

Plans to erect a $30 million coliseum at Columbus Circle near New York City's Central Park have hit a snag. Federal funds for the project were approved by the FHA. But Robert Moses, Triborough bridge chief, wanted to add a 20-storey office building. Housing Administrator Albert Cole sent Moses a blistering letter warning that federal funds are now up in the air because of that change in original specifications. Picture at right shows location of the project which is due to be completed in 1956. Coliseum will be bounded by Columbus Circle on the east (foreground), Columbus Ave. on the west (background), and by 58th and 60th Sts. on the sides; 59th St. in the centre will be wiped out.

Dash-enclosed area will be cleared to make room for the coliseum.

Choice For Commander Between Two Brigadiers

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—The choice for commander of the army's 1st division—Canada's first peacetime division—apparently lies between two brigadiers.

The two are Brig. Jean Victor Allard, DSO and two bars, and Brig. John M. (Rocky) Rockingham, DSO and bar. There may also be a dark horse. Whoever is appointed will be promoted to major-general.

The army itself appears slightly in favor of Rockingham, but the cabinet, which will make the final decision, may name Allard. There are comparatively few French-speaking Canadians in top defence posts.

Both men, big in stature and personality, have eminent qualifications. Both commanded infantry battalions and then brigades during the Second World War. Both [illegible] Canadian infantry brigade in Korea.

Brig. Allard, due home in June from Korea, will be 41 June 12. Born at Njcolet, Que., he joined the Trois-Rivieres tank regiment in 1939 as a major. He won his first two Distinguished Service Orders while commanding the Royal 22nd Regiment in Italy—at the battle of the Arielli river near Ortona in December, 1943, and the breakthrough of the Gothic line in September, 1944.

COMMANDED INFANTRY

Brig. Allard was promoted to his present rank in 1945 and appointed commander of the 6th Canadian infantry brigade in The Netherlands. He won his third DSO at Groningen.

He was Canadian military attache at Moscow from after the war until 1948, then became commander of eastern Quebec area. He later attended the Imperial Defence College and was vice-quartermaster-general.

Brig. Rockingham was born in Australia Aug. 24, 1911. He was commissioned in the Canadian Scottish in 1935 and in 1942 became a major in the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry.

He took command of the 9th Canadian infantry brigade in August, 1944. His unit fought at Caen and Boulogne and were the first Canadians to cross the Rhine into Germany.

He joined the British Columbia Electric Company at Vancouver after the war, but came out of army retirement in 1950 to command the 5,000-man special force in Korea. He later became director-general of military training at headquarters, attended the Imperial Defence College and now is commander of the 3rd Canadian infantry brigade.

HARVESTING WITH ARMS — Alert armed Ghurka soldiers guard native Malayans as they harvest their crop in the Kuala Selangor rice bowl area. The troops are necessary because Communist terrorists constantly attempt to harass the efforts of the natives.

Freed In Death

MONTREAL (CP) — Thomas Shipton of Verdun was freed Monday in Court of Queen's Bench where he faced a manslaughter charge arising from the fatal shooting March 26 of his neighbor, Albert Leroux. Evidence was the Shipton household had been bothered by prowlers and that Shipton shot Leroux thinking he was a prowler.

Moscow Subway Stations Underground Cathedrals

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Compared with the Moscow subway, the one in Toronto looks like a skimpy well-tiled bathroom with trains running through it.

Moscow subway stations are underground cathedrals dedicted to beauty as well as efficient handling of vast crowds.

As subways go it is relatively young, and still growing. It was started in 1932 and three years later the first line opened—a 13-station route about six miles long between Sokolniki and Culuture Parks. Work continued through the war, even during the fighting near Moscow. In less than 20 years the system has grown to 41 stations and about 36 miles of double track.

Four stations were added last February.

125-MILE PROJECT

The whole Moscow subway project is for 125 miles of double-track service. Present extensions are taking it under the Moscow river for the first time to Moscow University, 10 miles outside the city.

The subway in Moscow, a city of 6,000,000 population, is geared to handle crowds far larger than those moved on Toronto's 4½-mile subway, opened last March. Every station has three or more ticket-sellers on duty all the time and wickets are available for two or three more at rush hours. In addition there are batteries of ticket-vending machines which take the 50-kopek fare (12½ cents at the official exchange rate), in all combinations of coins—from three to 20 kopeks.

For 50 kopeks you can ride the system all day, but cannot transfer to any bus or street car without paying extra. Two million of the 3,000,000 who use Moscow public transport daily use the subway.

For beauty of construction, Moscow subway leaves far behind every other subway I have seen: London, Paris, New York, Boston and Tokyo, as well as Toronto.

FINISHED IN MARBLE

Even the simplest Moscow station is finished in highly polished marble. Most have specific themes worked out in murals, mosaic, sculpture in stone and bronze, and metal. The stonework is usually marble. In some stations it is lapis, garnet and onyx.

A Canadian in Moscow said: "The Russians used to build churches. Now their churches are underground stations. They lavish the same wealth upon them."

Subway tickets are collected at ground level, at barriers leading to the escalators. There are no turnstiles. A ticket collector at each barrier tears the passenger's ticket so it cannot be used again.

Each station has three or four reversible escalators from ground level to the trains 300 feet below. There are almost 13 miles of escalators in the Moscow subways now. Only a few stations have steps, and none more than 20.

Platforms are wide and there are no advertisements. No whistles blow. Platform attendants signal train drivers by holding up colored traffic indicators. On most lines there is a train every 90 seconds, but on some there is a three-minute gap. A clock at the end of each platform shows when the last train left.

PRECISE REGULATIONS

Traffic regulations posted in Toronto subway cars merely "forbid" smoking, spitting, creating a nuisance and interfering with equipment. Moscow specifies many more offences and lists the penalties. Intoxicated or sick persons may not be carried nor may anyone wearing clothes or carrying bundles likely to soil other people's clothing.

One child up to five is carried free, two for half fare. Children up to 10 pay half fare. Passengers must pay full fare for baggage over certain measurements. Failure to have the proper ticket renders a passenger liable to a fine of five rubles ($1.25).

Spitting, smoking or pulling open the automatic doors is a 25-ruble offence. Carrying inflammable substances such as kerosene, benzene or motion-picture film brings a fine of 100 rubles.

Pulling the emergency handle when there is no emergency can cost "three years' loss of liberty"—the pilote Soviet term for detention in a labor camp.

Any subway employee spotting a minor offence is authorized to levy the fine on the spot. If she has to call a state militia man (there are two or three on every platform) the fine may be trebled. If the passenger hasn't the money handy, the bill is sent to his state employer, which docks it from his salary—at the triple rate.

Moscow subway crowds are well behaved.

Canon Hinchcliffe Dies In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canon Joshua Hinchcliffe, 83, who climaxed an outstanding career in mission work, law, politics, music and architecture by serving as B.C. minister of lands and education in the Tolmie government, died Saturday.

He was elected to the provincial house as a Conservative for Victoria in 1920 and again in 1924 and 1928. He served as minister from 1928 to 1933. While he was a member he studied law and was admitted to the bar at the age of 53.

He retired from public life in 1933 but in 1941 accepted the rector's post at St. Clement's church, Lynn Valley, B.C., and stayed on until final retirement in 1952.

THE ACCUSED—Russian Air Aides Maj. Ivan Pupyshev (right) and Maj. Andrei Gudkov have been alleged by the British in London to have been caught at "attempted espionage." The British have asked USSR diplomats for the pair's immediate withdrawal. Observers believe they had been trying to steal jet aircraft secrets.

During the nuptial mass, Mr. Dionne Hurtubise sang "On This Day" and "Bring Flowers of the Rarest," and at the signing of the register he sang "Ave Maria." Mrs. R. G. Aman was at the organ.

Pink and white tulips and sweet peas decorated the altar table.

The bride was in a floor-length gown of white net over satin with white Chantilly lace bodice with mandarin neckline and a row of tiny covered buttons to the waist. Her veil of net was caught to a seeded pearl coronet and she was carrying a bouquet of red roses. She was given in marriage by her father.

Maid of honor was Miss Joyce Meagher and bridesmaids were Misses Alice Davidson and Margarette Moher. They were in strapless gowns of net over taffeta with matching boleros, Miss Meagher wearing lime green with a matching headdress, Miss Davidson in mauve with roses and lily of the valley in her hair and Miss Moher in yellow with a similar headdress. Each carried a nosegay of roses with white sweet peas.

Groomsman was LAC Raymond Moher, and ushers were Donald Burke, brother of the bride, and Hugh Davidson.

The reception was held in the Assumption Hall, Otonabee. Mrs. Burke received her guests, wearing navy with white accessories and a navy straw hat trimmed with white. The groom's mother was in a black suit and wore white accessories and a white straw hat. Each had a corsage of red roses.

The bride and groom are going to St. Anne's and Quebec City on their honeymoon and afterward will go to Goose Bay, Labrador, where the groom is stationed.

The bride's going-away outfit was a navy dress with white trim, white hat and gloves and navy shoes and handbag and she carried a pale blue shortie coat and wore a corsage of red roses.

Holiday Fashions To Be Shown By YW '38 Club

"Two weeks holiday with pay" enjoyed each summer by Peterborough business girls are now set as to time in most cases and there is just the matter of "where to go" and "what to wear" to be decided.

The '38 Club may have the answer to both these for you in their "Holiday Fashion Show" to be presented at the YWCA this Wednesday evening.

They have arranged for a half-hour showing of sports clothes including bathing suits, shorts, sun dresses, etc., and a half-hour showing of suits, gowns and coats for dressy wear, with in between them an amusing show titled "The history of make-up" depicting the change in holiday costumes and make-up from 1900 to 1954.

Modelling the holiday clothes suggestions will be Misses Joan Gardiner, Betty Dalton, Wilma Watson, Joan Hastie, Pauline Hudson, Jean Elgett and Mrs. J. A. McNeil and the commentator will be Miss Elizabeth Bruce.

Models in the history of make-up will be Misses Jackie Rose and Margaret Ingram, Mrs. Russell Cole, Mrs. C. Bulger and Mrs. Graham Donaldson.

Pianists for the show will be Misses Gwen Pomeroy and Doris Ackford.

General convener of arrangements is Miss Hazel Wilson and the fashions are being looked after by Mrs. Roma Brindle and Miss Geraldine Dunford. Props including a runway for the models have been set up by Mrs. E. Boate and Miss Annie Williams is in charge dressing rooms.

Tickets will be taken by Miss Aileen Patton and Miss Ruby Leach will be in charge of ushering.

Draw for door prizes will be made between the shows.

Craig-Jones Rites

St. Anne's Anglican church at Bewdley was setting on Saturday for the wedding of Phyllis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Jones, to David C. Craig of Ireland. The Rev. Mr. Nind of Port Hope performed the ceremony and Mrs. Harry Goss of Bewdley played wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in feather white Chantilly type lace and tulle. The fitted strapless bodice featured a gathered tulle inset, edged with scallops of the lace, and the floor length skirt fell in crisp fullness fashioned with star-pointed appliqued lace above the deep hemline of the tulle. Her fingertip veil was gathered to a pointed lace and net cap and she carried a bouquet of pinnochio roses and forget-me-nots.

Miss Lois M. Jones and Miss Patricia Bingham were the bridesmaids, wearing blue and yellow ballerina length gowns, white hats and white lace-gloves and carrying colonial nosegays of carnations and sweet peas tied with bows to match their dresses.

Mr. Murray Jones attended the groom and ushers were Wm. Benson and Allan Beavis.

A reception was held in the church basement with the bride's mother receiving, attired in a navy suit dress and white hat and wearing a corsage of pink pinnocchio roses. Mrs. Wm. Benson received for the groom and she was wearing a blue and grey stripe dress with white accessories and corsage of white roses.

The bridal couple are spending a honeymoon in the Niagara district after which they will live in Bewdley until September, then go to Ireland.

Going away the bride was wearing a navy sleeveless dress with white and blue box style jacket, white hat and accessories and a gardenia corsage.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)— For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only $1.19 a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly.

DOROTHY DIX

Home Bores Wife, Gets Chance To Work

DEAR MISS DIX: I guess some time or another almost every mother gets a bit weary of the daily grind and wishes she could go back to the glamorous (or so she thinks) business world. Perhaps my little story will help them.

After ten years of struggle and pennypinching I was so tired and bored with my family that I became a nagging wife. I was cross with my four adorable children and impatient and surly with my husband. I kept telling Bruce what an easy life he had, just going to work, coming home and taking it easy in the evenings, while all day long I cooked, cleaned, shopped, cared for the babies.

He finally got a bit fed up, and made this proposition: When vacation time came around, he'd stay home on his two weeks off, and let me go to the office to fill in for one of the girls. I grabbed at the chance; but, alas, I was soon disillusioned. The interesting people I had expected to meet just didn't show up; office routine was much more boring than home duties; I missed the children and the friendly cups of tea in the afternoon with neighbors. At the end of the first week I was ready to quit, but stuck it out for the two weekks' trial, and was I glad to finish my stint! Home never looked so good. My husband, on the other hand, hadn't had a bad time at all.

COMPETENT HUSBAND

A little applied efficiency cut down quite a bit of work; he thoroughly enjoyed the youngsters and they loved having him home all day. The work was all finished by noon, and out they went to the zoo, the park or a short trip. He also managed to do some home repairs that had needed attention for quite a while. With his help, my time is now budgeted so I do get more out of the day and am not so tired at night. This was one experiment that worked out to everyone's satisfaction.

MRS. A. B.

ANSWER: Your letter proves many things, not the least of which is that two people with understanding and mutual consideration "topsy-turvy" to solve a problem. The most necessary step when men react to a wife's crankiness with the caustic comment, "Well, the house is your job and there's no reason why you can't take care of it." Or, "How can you be tired; all you do is sit around?" And so on and so on. Harmony reigns in the home where both husband and wife appreciate the difficulties of the other's job, and do everything possible to keep the domestic machinery well oiled so it runs without friction.

It isn't necessary for every household to undergo an "Operations Topsy-Turvy" to solve a problem. The most necessary step is for the man to appreciate his wife's difficulties and do what he can to alleviate them—with a word of praise or encouragement, an occasional dinner out, or an evening of dancing. The wife's part is to listen attentively to his "day at the office" and show that she realizes his routine isn't a bed of roses, either.

Congratulations to Mrs. A. B. and family for being wise, understanding people.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Hal is a Navy man, 21 and three years older than I. We are very much in love with each other. He drinks quite a bit and I'm uncertain whether to marry him or not.

E. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If only newsprint had some magical means of transmission to convey my urgent advice—to you and every other girl in a similar position—not to marry a man who drinks too much. The most hopeless, hapless women in the world are wives of drunkards, and many of them knew their husband's failing before marriage. Promises of reform are utterly worthless. Make the boy prove his love, and good intentions, by actions now.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I will graduate from elementary school in June. My mother wants me to continue school, taking typing and shorthand. I'm not interested in that; I want to get into advertising, or announcing on television or the radio. I sing and play several instruments.

B. N.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your dreams are those of almost any teen-ager, but alas, dreams don't come true without work. You aspire to jobs that are particularly exacting as to education. I wish you could see the pile of applications in the personnel files of any advertising agency—and most of them are from college graduates. Your little letter was very well writen and certainly indicates a young lady who would make very good use of further education. Your mother's advice is splendid. There is no better entre into interesting jobs than through a business course. Your musical talent may help you get into television or radio, but a sound educational backgground will be an asset there, too.

Woman Rat Catcher Finds Relatives, Friends Shocked

By RON EVANS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Every morning at 8 Mrs. Kay Thorburn leaves her suburban Ruislip home, climbs into a green truck and drives off—to hunt rats.

This slim, 40-year-old housewife is a professional rat-catcher, and so far she has killed about 2,000.

Mrs. Thorburn, whose mother, Mrs. Ida Little, lived for many years in the Winnipeg suburb of Fort Rouge and who still has "dozens" of relatives in Canada, started her unusual occupation nine months ago. She spotted a government advertisement for a "trained rodent operative" and answered it.

"Most women have a secret fancy," she explained. "This was mine. I've never been afraid of rats. I started chasing them when I was 14."

After three months training, Mrs. Thorburn went into business on her own with the truck, 1,000 pounds of poison and a stack of stationery boldly embossed: Kay Thorburn—Rat-Catcher.

"No high-faluting stuff about rodent operative for me," she chuckled.

RELATIVES SHOCKED

Mrs. Thorburn says friends and relatives were somewhat shocked when they learned of her new job. Some shocks have been registred also in Ruislip's social circle, Mrs. Thorburn explained:

"You should see the looks when I break the news casually over a cocktail.

"Some people hastily change the subject; others think I'm trying to be funny. But, after an awkward pause; most are tremendously interested—in a morbid sort of way."

Mrs. Thorburn's working garb is a long suit jacket and a pair of baggy, tweed trousers. Her dark hair is tucked under a broad-brimmed felt hat.

Most of her calls come from farms and sports grounds where rats and moles pock the fields with their homes. Mrs. Thorburn locates the holes and fills them with poisoned food.

"Working on a farm I sometimes see them on the third day after poisoning. Then every piece of wood or machinery I pick up will have a dead or dying rat hanging on.

"It just doesn't bother me, though I'm not a tough type—in fact, I'm rather soft. The poison I use kills the rats painlessly, thank goodness, and is harmless to other animals."

Mrs. Thorburn's family does not share her interest in rodents. Her husband is an inspector of factory machinery and her 16-year-old son detests rats.

Canada's Radio City Display Draws Big New York Interest

NEW YORK (CP) — Canada's show window in the concourse of Radio City will give New Yorkers an idea of the latest in Canadian-made sportswear.

For more than two years, the 560-square foot display of products has been an experiment in trade promotion which the Canadian trade department says is paying dividends in helping Canadian manufacturers and designers break into United States markets.

In 1952, the department took a three-year lease on the display space which an estimated 35,000 people are said to pass every week. The main aim is to show goods not yet on the U.S. market.

Displays are changed every six weeks. The sportswear show starts May 18. Previous exhibits this year have featured wood and paper products, toys and shoes. An attendant is on duty to quote prices and put buyers in touch with the manufacturers.

Showings aren't limited to new products. Sometimes articles already being sold in New York or other American stores are shown. The card stating where the goods can be bought encourages repeat orders from the retailer.

GOOD LOCATION

The location of the showroom—on the downstairs concourse of Radio City—is believed to favor the promotion of sales of consumer gods such as sportswear, shoes, bicycles, boats and furniture.

The layout and decor is studied and designed in Ottawa at the commission workshops. It is then shipped to New York.

Usually at the opening of each new exhibit a reception is given to prospective buyers and the trade press. Publicity material and photographs are distributed.

KEYS TO SUCCESS

The trade department says variety of products and the selectivity in putting the show together are two keys to the success of the showroom. Articles must have quality, new design and originality, characteristics as far as possible removed from the type commonly available from U.S. mass production.

Sales are aimed at select areas of the U.S. mraket where Canadian manufacturers can meet the demand. Even so the volume of demand sometimes gets out of hand. One piece of furniture displayed some months ago brought orders beyond the manufacturer's capacity to supply from his anadian plant and he had to license its production in the U.S.

NEW YORK DISPLAY—Dorothy Ball of Ottawa models one of the attractive sportswear costumes on display at New York May 18-June 30 in the Canadian showroom at Rockfeller Centre. The showroom, sponsored by the trade department, is for displays by Canadian manufacturers interested in United States markets. Miss Ball wears a fine wool sweater and a circular skirt made by a Montreal firm.—(CP Photo).

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Chicken Salad Most Popular Dish

QUESTION: Have really gotten more practical and unusual recipes from you than any other place, and I am an avid recipe reader and trier. You mentioned a splendid roll or bun recipe in your column that I have missed. I wonder if you would send it. I tried the orange salad Baby Doll's wife makes and liked it refreshingly different, but could make a nice salad plate to combine with this? Have you any suggestions for something different in salads? Something different in fancy cakes, small or large, gooey or otherwise, for a bridge club?—Mrs. Jack C.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I'll tell you what I did with that orange mould. I used endive as a bed on green grass salad plate, centred the plate with the orange mould. Placed three large ripe olives at one side, two large dessert dates stuffed with white cream cheese at the other. At the top I put a small canned peach half, and dropped a maraschino cherry in it. At the other side I put a ball of yellow cream cheese rolled in chopped pecans. I stuck four perfect large pecans in the spaces between these last four items.

A main course salad that I find very popular is chicken salad (two parts diced cooked chicken to one part diced inner celery and plenty of mayonnaise) on lettuce, garnished with toasted shredded almonds and quarters of hard-cooked eggs, two or three stuffed olives and two or three spears of asparagus. Serve these with hot rolls (recipe for which I am mailing you) or cheese hot rolls to which add ½ cup finely grated old cheese (using hot roll recipe).

PETIT FOURS

Bake a pound cake in a shallow pan so that finished cake is not more than one inch thick. When cool slice in one-inch strips. Then cut into various fancy shapes, half moons, cricles, triangles, etc. Cut each small cake and fill with whipped cream or cream filling. Where a large number are prepared it adds to their beauty to color the tiny cakes different pastel shades by tinting the FONDANT ICING: 2½ cups sugar, one cup water, ⅛ teaspoon cream of tartar. Combine ingredients and heat to boiling, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Continue boiling, brushing syrup from sides of pan until temperature is exactly 238 deg. Fahr. (soft ball). Remove and stand pan in shallow dish containing cold water. When lukewarm stir until white and creamy. Add any desired flavoring or coloring. Cool. When ready to use for icing, warm slightly by standing over hot but not boiling water, stirring. Have cut out cakes on wire rack and pour fondant icing over, letting it drip through to wax paper below. Salvage the drippings and return them to pan. Serve these cakes in little colored fluted paper cups.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: My sister has to prepare (with assistance, of course) a supper for 200 young people at their church. They would like to have spaghetti and meat sauce (no chili) and she is rather at a loss as to quantities. She intends to farm out the ground meat for browning first and then assemble the sauce in the church kitchen. Do you know whether one can get very large cans of soup for such purposes?—Mrs. L. A. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Since I live so close to your sister I suppose I know the very church for which this supper is being served. Tomato soup comes in 48-ounce tins and may be bought by institutions or church organizations at grocery wholesale prices for $5.75 per dozen tins. Your sister would have to purchase 12 tins to get them at this price. Large groceterias sometimes carry this size too. Eighteen pounds spaghetti will serve 200. To make eight meat balls per pound of meat and to serve two balls to each person your sister will have to purchase 50 pounds ground beef even though she does add fillef like breadcrumbs and milk. Or for meat sauce 30 pounds meat and equivalent of 52 pounds of sauce. So you see she could easily use up the 12 48-ounce tins of tomato soup if she uses it for the bulk of the sauce.

GEISHA QUEEN RETIRES

TOKYO (Reuters)—The queen of Japanese geisha girls has decided to retire—at the tender age of 21. Two Students To Be Cited For Contempt

LANSING, Mich. (CP)—A faculty member and two graduate students of the University of Michigan will be cited for contempt of Congress for refusal to testify before a House of Representatives un-American activities sub - committee, committee chairman Kit Clardy (Rep. Mich.) announced Monday.

University authorities immediately suspended the faculty member, Dr. H. Chandler Davis, and two other professors who also refused to answer questions before the sub-committee.

One of the graduate students, Edward Shaffer, 31, of Pittsburgh, is the student upon whom Daphne Price of Ottawa said she spied for the FBI. Miss Price, who has since left the university, said later she was sorry she spied on him.

The FBI has never confirmed Miss Price's story, which she told reporters after the Detroit News and the Michigan Daily, U. of M. student newspaper, attributed to her an affidavit containing the purported account of the spying.

The other two faculty members suspended were Dr. Mark Nickerson, 37, and Dr. Clement Markeron, 37. Clardy said the sub-committee will study their cases further before deciding whether they should be cited for contempt.

Driving Impaired Man Fined $75

A charge of impaired driving was denied by William Walter Cowling, 48, of 364 Park street, when he appeared before Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC, in court Monday. Cowling was fined $75, costs $2.50, and in default one month in jail.

"Can you take into consideration the fact that I have been in custody since May 1?" Cowling asked the magistrate.

Magistrate Philp: "I'm sorry, but I am unable to do that."

Constable W. G. Scott told the court that he had seen Cowling parked at Charlotte and Water streets in a manner that was obstructing traffic. Driving down towards the CPR freight yards Cowling's progress had been rather erratic and on arrival at the yards he had attempted to park in a space that was far too narrow.

The constable said that Cowling had been unsteady on his feet and smelt strongly of alcoholic beverage. In his opinion Cowling was intoxicated.

6,000 Viet Namese Helped Defend Fort

GENEVA (Reuters)—About 6,000 Viet Namese soldiers took part in the defence of the French union fortress of Dien Bien Phu, an authoritative Viet Namsource said today.

He added that about six weeks ago, the Viet Namese chief of staff, Gen. Nguyen Van Hinh, proposed commander-in-chief, that he be given 15 battalions to drop by parachute 100 miles from Dien Bien Phu. These battalions would have tried to cut their way towards the fortress to relieve the French union defenders.

Van Hinh proposed that he himself command the 15 battalions. Navarre, with an exact knowledge of the situation at Dien Bien Phu, declined the offer, the source added.

The French union forces opposed to the rebel Vietminh in Indo-China totalled about 300,000 VietNamese troops and some 60,000 French.

Yesterday's Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Batting—Dave Philley, Cleveland Indians, hit a grand-slam home run as the Indians scored eight runs in the first inning and beat New York Yankees 8-7.

Pitching—Bob Grim, Yankees, gave up just two singles in seven innings of relief against Cleveland after the Indians had knocked out two pitchers in the first inning without making an out.

To Honor Engineers

KINGSTON (CP) — Honorary doctor of laws degrees will be given at the faculty of applied science convocation at Queen's, May 22, to Alex E. MacRae, Ottawa professional engineer and patent agent, and Dr. J. F. Thompson, a metallurgist and board chairman of the International Nickel Company of Canada Ltd.

Shelter Rent Losses Mounting Alarmingly

OTTAWA (CP)—Mayor Charlotte Whitton said Monday the amount missing in Rockcliffe shelter rent monies was "mounting distressingly" as the two-week investigation continued. She declined to say how much is missing.

She made her remarks after a preliminary auditors' report was turned over to board of control.

Jean Paul Beaulieu, 36, Rockcliffe shelter administration, gave himself up to police last week to face a charge of conversion of city funds. He was remanded without plea until May 12.

Plowing Match Rules Changed

KITCHENER (CP) — Starting this year, anyone is eligible for the International Plowing Match if the entry is in at least a week before the contest, the Ontario Plowmen's Association has decided.

Rules previously provided that entries could be made up to opening day and were limited to those who had won first or second prize at a branch match.

F. A. Lashley, association secretary-manager, told the local committee here Monday night all entries in the plowing classes and applications for teams and tractors must be in by Oct. 5.

The match starts at nearby Breslau Oct. 12.

2 Works Projects Urged For Sault

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) To ease the problems of unemployment and help development in this area, the federal government is being urged to undertake two public works projects.

The West Algoma-Sault Ste. Marie Liberal Association, in a letter to city council, said two resolutions are to be forwarded at once to the appropriate federal ministers.

One requests immediate undertaking of a major renovation of the northeast pier of the Canadian ship canal. The other asks immediate consideration of the construction of an airport on the Canadian side of the St. Mary's river.

The Sault is served only by the Kinross airport, 20 miles to the south in Michigan.

Committee Considers Central Registry

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario legislature's committee on document registrations decided Monday to study the practicability of establishing a central registry office for the province to help protect those who are likely to be dupes in, fast financial deals.

Chairman Robert Macaulay, Progressive Conservative member for Riverdale, told the committee it is easy to chisel people under present legislation.

A central registry office would put an end to the present system of having a registry office in each of the 41 counties in Ontario. Legislation proposed by the committee would require, for instance, a car owner to produce a certificate of ownership on which would be registered all charges, liens, qualifications or conditions which would interfere with giving a clear title to the vehicle.

T. E. Rorabeck

Funeral for the late Thomas Edward Rorabeck, who died near Havelock on Saturday following a short illness was held on Monday at the McConnell-Warner funeral home, Norwood. The Rev. G. E. Downing of Norwood Baptist church, assisted by Mr. Glenford Murphy of Lakefield, officiated.

Pallbearers were Ray Peters, William Bannon, Percy Elliott, Archie Stewart, Bert Moore and Lloyd Crapp. Flower bearers were William Clark, John E. Murphy and Earl Crapp. Burial was at Norwood cemetery.

Mr. Rorabeck was born at Warkworth 91 years ago, son of the late Thomas Rorabeck and Cornelia Hicks, and lived most of his life in the Norwood district until his retirement 15 years ago. His wife, the former Abagail Cross, predeceased him.

He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Nelson Wellman (Stella) of RR 4 Havelock, and Mrs. John Murphy (Winnifred) of Lakefield, and one son, Henry Rorabeck, in Oshawa. There are nine grandchildren and ten great - grandchildren. Mr. Rorabeck was a lifelong member of Norwood Baptist church and an honorary deacon.

Accident Victim K. Grieve Buried

Funeral sevices for Kenneth Campbell Grieve were held Saturday, with the pastor, the Rev. V. M. Gilbert officiating.

A family service was held at MacFadyen's funeral home, Cobourg, at 2 p.m. and a public service at 3 p.m. in St. Paul's United church, Coldsprings.

Death came suddenly last Thursday as the result of an accident. Mr. Grieve fell from a farm cultivator behind his four-horse team and was killed instantly.

Mr. Grieve was 64, a son of the late James Grieve, and Orilla Brisbin, and was born on the Grieve homestead, one quarter mile west of Coldsprings where he had lived his entire life. He was well known in the district.

In 1922 he married the former Beatrice Lindsay who survives him.

Mr. Grieve was a member of St. Paul's United church, and had belonged to the Masonic Order of St. John's Lodge No. 17 since 1929. Friday evening a Masonic service was held at the funeral home conducted by the Worshipful Master F. L. Searanke.

Surviving besides his widow, are two brothers, Percy of Coldsprings and Merwin, of Camborne.

Pallbearers were Norman A. Lindsay, Percy E. Grieve, Newton McIntosh, Merwin E. Grieve, Ewart Wylie and Fred A. Grieve.

Flower bearers were Harvey Brisbin, Bruce McIntosh, Gerald Conroy, Graydon McIntosh, William Christie, Milton McIntosh, Laughlin Hayes, Clarence Christie, Leslie McIntosh, Albert Willis, Bert Vanclief, Frank Eagleson, and Paul McIntosh.

Burial was in St. Paul's United church cemetery. Relatives and friends, including the Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, attended the service from Chicago, Detroit, Buffalo, Owen Sound, Oshawa, Beaverton, Chesley, Chatsworth, Port Hope, Cobourg, Codrington, Bewdley, Baltimore, Harwood, Fenella, Precious Corners and the surrounding community.

French Arrest Pole On Espionage Charge

PARIS (Reuters)—Bohren Zadora Ladikowski, a Pole, has been arrested for alleged espionage on behalf of the Polish embassy here, police announced today.

Ladikowski is accused of selling confidential economic and political information to the embassy for about $1,500.

French security officers had been watching Ladikowski for some time. He was reported to have entered France last year claiming to be a political refugee.

Ladikowski was formally charged with harming the external security of the state. French authorities said only economic and political information appeared to be involved.

Wilfred Kitching New S.A. General

LONDON (Reuters) — The high council of the Salvation Army today chose its commissioner for Britain, Wilfred Kitching, 61, as the organization's next chief executive.

Kitching will take over as general of the Salvation Army on the retirement July 1 of General Albert Orsborn.

Students Help Teacher

MAHOMET, Ill. (AP)—The senior class of Mahmoet High School voted Monday to give $800 its 25 members had saved for a vacation trip to a teacher whose home burned Friday. The students had planned to make a six-day trip to the Ozarks with Mrs. C. S. Sifferd, the senior class adviser. But when her house near Champaign was destroyed, they decided to give her the money.

Pins Harm Teeth

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—A study of teeth among Santa Fe school children showed a large number of cases of "bobby pin notch," or wearing down of irreplaceable enamel by opening bobby pins with the teeth. Dr. David Striffler, public health dental director, said "an amazing number" of cases of notches in the front teeth were found in the survey, especially among junior high school girls.

Deputy Chief Dead

TORONTO (CP) — T. Frank Norman, 69, deputy chief of the York township fire department for 25 years, died at his home Sunday. He leaves his widow, five daughters, including Mrs. Stanley Watson of Orillia, and a son.

MISS BY-LINE 1954 is pretty 17-year-old Joan Hunter, of Toronto, a high school girl who was crowned queen of the newspaperman's annual ball at Toronto Saturday night. Planes, Ships Extend Search

HALIFAX (CP) — Eight planes and a dozen ships today extended their search for a missing Royal Canadian Navy aircraft and its four men southwest toward Cape Cod.

The anti-submarine avenger disappeared last Thursday on a flight from Bermuda to Summerside, P. E. I.

Dulles Stresses Need For Alliance

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. State Secretary Dulles said today the United States wants a south east Asian alliance which would pledge member nations to fight if openly challenged by Communist aggression.

While Dulles said he hopes such an alliance will cover all of Indo-China, he asserted firmly that the loss of some or all of that country would not necessarily bring the loss of all southeast Asia.

He noted that President Eisenhower once advanced the theory that southeast Asia might go down like a row of dominoes if Indo-China falls. Dulles said that in conversations with friendly nations the U. S. is trying to create a situation in which this will not happen.

Obituary

WALLACE SPEARS

Wallace Spears, 51, of Baltimore (Northumberland county), a brother of Mrs. Fred Montgomery of Peterborough, died Friday and was buried Monday in Cobourg Union cemetery.

Mr. Spears, a farm worker who was in poor health for the last four years, was born in Baltimore and lived there a lifetime. He died in Cobourg General Hospital and the funeral was Monday afternoon at the McFadyen funeral home, Cobourg, the Rev. Mr. Kelloway of Cobourg United church officiating.

Pallbearers were Lloyd, Glynn and Wayne May, and Howard Robertson, Fred Montgomery and James Spears.

Mr. Spears' parents were the late William Spears and Martha Hie. He leaves two brothers, Albert of Cobourg and John of Grafton; and three sisters — Mrs. Richard May (Louise) of Cobourg, Mrs. Ike Muspratt (Glaays) of Bailieboro, and Mrs. Fred Montgomery (Margaret) of Peterborough.

He was a member of Cobourg United church.

"Bloody" Scene

BRADFORD (CP) — Horror-stricken motorists Monday watched police direct traffic at the "blood-spattered" scene of a two-vehicle accident on Highway 400 north of here. The "blood" was paint, mostly red, spilled from some 30 cans which were hurled out of a truck. Ray H. McGinnis, 26, Toronto motorist, has been charged with dangerous and careless driving.

Speed Up A-Power

KITCHENER (CP) — Ira G. Needles, president of the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company of Canada, said Monday atomic power will comprise 20 per cent of power used in industry 10 years from now. He told Kitchener-Waterloo Rotary Club that development of atomic power for peacetime use is progressing much faster than originally expected.

Ask $1 Minimum

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto and Lakeshore Labor Council (CIO-CCL) today approved resolutions calling for a provincial minimum wage of $1 an hour, unemployment insurance payments of at least $40 a week and a moratorium on the mortgaged payments of the unemployed.

Mrs. Bruce Heard Hostess To WA

FAIRVIEW — (ENS)—The regular meeting of Fairview W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Bruce Heard. There were eighteen ladies present. The worship service was conducted by Mrs. Milton Kidd, leader of group 2. The worship theme, was in keeping with the thought of "Mothers Day". Mrs. Cephas Heard read the scripture and Mrs. Kidd the lesson thoughts. She also led in prayer president Mrs. Stanley Boyce, led the business period.

A beautiful guilt was brought to the meeting completed by Mrs. Frank Trude and offered for sale.

Mrs. Fred Brown extended an invitation to the ladies to meet in her home for the June meeting to be held June 8.

Mrs. Henry Sharpe expressed thanks to the hostess.

Lunch was served at the close of the meeting.

Housewives Protest Workers' Wolf Calls

COOKSVILLE (CP)—A delegation of 20 women appeared before the Toronto township council Monday and charged that workers in a lumberyard near their homes whistled and gave wolf calls when the housewives went outside to hang washing.

Council said that under zoning bylaws it cannot order removal of the yard where lumber for new homes in the area is being stored and cut. Operators said the yard will be removed next fall.

Pilot Bails Out Of Disabled Plane

KENOSHA, Wis. (AP)—A pilot of a United States Air Force Sabre jet bailed out of his disabled plane into Lake Michigan Monday night and was found early today uninjured in his one-man life raft.

The pilot, Lieut. Theodore R. Miller, of O'Hare air force base, near Chicago, was picked up by coast guardsmen about 12 miles off Kenosha. He had been spotted by searching planes.

5 Children Baptized

HARWOOD (ENS) — The Rev. Loughead, of Port Hope, held a baptism service in Bethesda United church on Sunday morning, when the following were baptized:

David Franklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Shearer; James Richard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Johnson; Douglas Paul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melville Harvie; Warren Glenn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hogg; Catharine Elaine, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Ronald Lawton.

Probe Too Costly

OAKVILLE (CP)—Oakville town council Monday night rejected the idea of asking for a judicial investigation of its financial troubles, claiming such an investigation would cost $20,000, the equivalent of 1½ mills. The department of municipal affairs had requested that three Oakville councillors ask for an official investigation.

Says Is Communist

WASHINGTON (AP)—The justice department charged Monday that the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, Inc., is a Communist front and concealed this fact so well it obtained congratulations from the country's leaders during the Second World War.

Raises Offered

WATERLOO (CP) — Salary increases ranging from $100 to $276 a year will be offered to the city's police, the Waterloo police commission decided Monday.

Rules Methodist Church Exists

TORONTO (CP)—The Methodist church in Canada still exists, the Ontario Supreme Court ruled Monday.

Mr. Justice J. L. McLennan said the 1925 act of union that merged the Methodist church with the Presbyterian and Congregational churches to form the United Church of Canada did not end the "existence of the Methodist church in express terms and for all purposes, but merged the Methodist church in a larger body."

He had been asked to decide the validity of a $200,000 bequest made to the Methodist church by the late Charles Kappele, a Toronto barrister. Next-of-kin said the gift had lapsed because the church ceased to exist and because the will expressed no general charitable intention.

Banner Year For Architects

MONTREAL (CP) — Raymond Brunet, president of the Canadian Construction Association, today predicted next year will be "another period of bounty" for architectural and construction firms.

He warned, however, only teamwork between designers and builders can overcome threatened competition from firms selling ready-made plans and specifications for buildings, and those offering "package deals" in construction.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the 47th annual assembly of the Royal Architectural Institute of Canada, Mr. Brunet said that even ignoring the St. Lawrence seaway and power projects and other public works, the number of important projects now being planned indicates construction will have "another very active 12 months."

Mr. Brunet said construction expenditures fell short of expectations in the first quarter of this year due to a prolonged winter in many parts of Canada, and to uncertainty about national housing laws and building cost fluctuations.

Local Swim Clubs Up On RLSS Awards

The annual report of the Royal Life Saving Society (Ontario branch) lists 117 awards coming to five Peterborough swimming clubs during 1953. Forty went to the YMCA, under instructor Gord Minty; 33 were taken by the Collegiate girls, coached by Audrey Hustwitt; 17 were taken by Betty Merrett's Lions Club swimmers; 14 went to the Ornamental girls, tutored by Pansy Forbes; and 13 were taken by the YWCA, directed by Rosilyn Stone.

Camp Comak was third among provincial camps with 207, the large number of swimmers there being handled by Ralph Wood of Peterborough and Bob Smith of Toronto. Scott Pearton of this city put through 23 awards at Bancroft.

Anne Fanning Heads Fenella Red Cross

FENELLA (ENS)—The meeting of the Fenella Junior Red Cross was held in the school, May 7, to elect new officers.

The following were appointed: President, Anne Fanning; vice-president, Elmer Davis; secretary, Emily George; treasurer, Ronald Macklin.

Redecorate Church

MARMORA (ENS)—A service to mark the redecorating of Zion United church, North Marmora, drew a large congregation on Sunday evening. Visitors were present from Marmora, Deloro and Cordova, as well as Belleville.

The Rev. K. J. Crawford, who officiated, spoke on "The Body of Christ, His Church."

Aided By Neighbors

ALVINSTON (CP)—The William Stovers have started anew. Saturday, Bill and Marg Stover opened a new restaurant built on the site of one destroyed by fire in January, and which took the life of their five-year-old son, Billy. Friends collected $2,500 to get them started again.

Letter Sorter Jailed

OSHAWA (CP)—Kendal Jackson Waddell, 23, a mail sorter, monday was sentenced to six months in jail when he pleaded guilty to stealing postal letters containing money. Det.-Sgt. Frank Fawbert said he found 45 letters in the room where Waddell boarded.

To Check Operation

BOSTON (AP)—Radio-television star Arthur Godfrey will have a check made of his year-old hip operation within a week or 10 days. Bone specialist Dr. Otto Aufranc will go to New York for the check-up.

Start New Hospital

WOODSTOCK (CP) — Mayor Bernadette Smith turned the first sod for a $1,343,000-addition to Woodstock General Hospital Monday. The addition is expected to to be ready by May, 1955.

Social Credit Group To Meet In Winnipeg

OTTAWA (CP). — The national board of directors of the Social Credit Association will meet in Winnipeg May 21 to deal with national organization matters, it was announced Monday.

An official said a major purpose of the meeting will be to extend Social Credit organization to all provinces and to improve the organization in those provinces where the party now is active.

Noted Composer To Hold Clinic

A music clinic in which Eric Ball, noted composer of brass band music, and conductor of Salvation Army in England, will demonstrate techniques in teaching bands and choral groups will be held Wednesday night in the Salvation Army temple at 7:45 p.m.

One of the top men in his field, Mr. Ball is on a tour through Canada and the United States.

In the clinic in Peterborough he will work with a group of musicians from Peterborough, Fenelon Falls, Oshawa, Belleville, Lindsay and Tweed. He will also demonstrate his method with a choral group, before offering a short recital.

Won't Give Decision About Leadership

TORONTO (CP)—The time has come to close up Woodbine race track and turn it into a public housing development, David Archer, president of the Toronto Lakeshore Labor Council (CIO-CCL) said Monday night.

"To stick a race track in the centre of city traffic is just nonsense," Mr. Archer said.

Giving the Ontario Jockey Club land further out would not hurt attendance at the races, as experience in the U. S. has proven, he said.

Syria Screens Editors

DAMASCUS, Syria (Reuters)—Legislation aimed at punishing newspaper editors who collaborated with the deposed Shishekly government was passed by the Syrian Parliament today. It cancelled editors' permits and called on them to apply for new ones within 15 days. Ex-president Adib Shishekly was deposed by a military coup in February.

Starts June 9

WINDSOR (CP) — Ontario Supreme Court Justice W. F. Schroeder Monday wired Local 200, United Automobile Workers, that hearings on a contract dispute with Ford Motor Company of Canada will proceed June 9.

Kept House In Subway Room

NEW YORK (AP)—A 'teen-age runaway, who for 12 days kept house in an unused subway cable-splicing room, has been evicted from his hideout 20 feet below a busy street intersection in Brooklyn.

Robert C. Lindahl, 15, had equipped his neat bachelor quarters with an old auto seat for a bed, a rickety wire chair and other comforts salvaged from a dump.

The boy told police he had discovered the underground room while playing with friends, and decided to move there in order to escape school and his father's rule about being home by 8:30 at night.

Police discovered Robert asleep in his secret lodgings after a friend who had been entertained there let the boy's family know where he was.

It had been a lot of fun, Robert said, "but I won't do it again. The police said they'll put me in a real hole—with bars—next time."

During the day Robert would head for Manhattan where he collected as much as three dollars a day in handouts and tips for running errands. However, he had only two cents when sent home.

1956 Olympic Games Set For Australia

national olympic committee today confirmed that the 1956 Olympic Games will be held in Melbourne, although the equestrian events will be held elsewhere.

Melbourne was first awarded the games five years ago. Domestic controversy in Australia held up preparations for a time, and there was a further complication because Australian laws prevent horses from entering the country without a six-month quarantine.

Today's formal decision to hold the equestrian events elsewhere means that the committee has decided that Olympic rules can be adapted to meet the situation.

New Auto Tire Gives More Mileage

DETROIT (AP)—United States Rubber Company Monday announced a new automobile tire which it claims gives 25 per cent more mileage and does not squeal or hum.

Called the U. S. Royal 8, the tire was engineered for both tube and tubeless construction. Howard N. Hawkes, general manager of the tire division, predicted the tubeless version will be original equipment on several 1955 model autos.

The new tire is in the regular non-premium price range.

Say Boy Soldiers Working Out Well

By DAVE McINTOSH

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — The Canadian Army's "beardless battalion" is required, paradoxically, to shave every day.

"On the parade square even peach fuzz shows up, especially in the sunlight," one NCO said, not in the manner of a man poking fun at the boys but rather of one long accustomed to parade-ground niceties.

The army started enrolment of 16-year-old boys in January 1953 to overcome a shortage of tradesmen. About 500 of these "soldiers apprentices" now are in service and another 500 are to be recruited this summer.

Before the First World War, boys of 14 and up were enlisted and trained as "boy soldiers." This practice is still carried on in the British and Australian armies.

BOY SOLDIER — About 500 soldier apprentices have enrolled in the Canadian Army since the army started recruiting 16-year-old boys in January, 1953. Another 500 are to be recruited this summer. Under the scheme the boys are trained at various corps schools for two years and then join particular units. About 158 of these boys are training at the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals at Kingston. Harold Swan, 16, of Toronto, has been with the signal corps for only five months and already is familiar with the basic fundamentals of wireless operation and procedure.

—(CP Photo).

But under the present scheme the boys are trained at various corps schools for two years instead of going to particular units.

At nearby Camp Barriefield, 106 soldier apprentices are training in the Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers and another 158 in the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals. The rest are training as engineers and transport and ordnance workers at Chilliwack, B.C., Camp Borden, Ont., and Montreal. French - speaking soldier apprentices get a working knowledge of English at Valcartier, near Quebec City, before they go to corps training schools in other provinces.

The boys sign on for seven years, with the option of quitting after five. They must possess a Grade 8 education and have parental consent to join up.

An apprentice is paid $46 a month until his 17th birthday, when he gets $92, a regular private's pay. When qualified, he also receives trades pay. A boy can go back to Civvy street at 21 with a trade or stay in the service and retire on pension at 36. After 20 years, a serviceman who retires receives a pension equal to two-fifths of his pay averaged over the preceding six years.

WEAR ARMY UNIFORM

The boys wear the regular army uniform, with a green stripe on the epaulets denoting soldier apprentice. They are allowed off camp until midnight four nights a week. They can have week-end passes if they live within travelling time of home and they get the regular soldier's 30-days annual leave.

Capt. G. A. Wright of Middleton, P.E.I., training officer for apprentices at the RCEME school, says about half the boys, before enlisting, were "wanderers," many from broken homes.

"We find that the best soldiers come from happy families," he said. "They seem to adjust themselves better—and it is quite an adjustment."

"We have problems the regular army doesn't have as a rule. For instance, some of the boys get pretty homesick. If we can, we try to get them home for a few days."

BROAD TRAINING

At the RCEME school, half the training comprises academic subjects, a quarter military subjects and a quarter trades.

Trades taught at all schools include clerk, driver, gun or engineer mechanic, armorer, wireless operator, radio mechanic and cook.

A few complain they are shoved into trades they don't particularly want to learn because these trades will be of little use in civilian life.

The boys take better to the military and trades training than they do to academic subjects.

"LIKE OTHER KIDS"

The boy put it this way: "We're just like other kids. We're not fussy about school. We don't like being bossed around too much, either."

Discipline is not as strict as in the regular army. "But," one officer said, "we have to chew them out now and then; if you don't, they'll fool you faster than an old-timer."

Four or five boys in each platoon don't make the grade and go back to civil life.

At the RCEME school apprentices live four to a room. Each boy has his own bed, locker, rug and a table with reading light. The rising hour is 6 a.m. Classes start at 8 a.m. and end at 4.15 p.m.

The building is steam-heated and boys look after their own rooms.

Another building has a dry canteen, television room, library, pool tables and a theatre where three movies are shown weekly. There is also a hobby shop and camera, model and angling clubs.

"If you can stand the army, it's not bad here," one boy said.

Sees Newspapers Using Color

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Television will never take the place of newspapers, but as color television becomes popular color also will have to come to newspapers, Charles F. McCahill of Cleveland, O., told the Canadian Circulation Managers' Association annual convention here Monday night.

He said many newspapers already are recognizing the need for color pictures and some are "making every effort to improve their production."

Mr. McCahill, a publishing company executive, said television has not destroyed the growing interest in news and events as reported in the daily newspaper.

"Television only whets the public appetite for more news, more interpretation."

He said last year newspaper circulation and retail advertising revenue hit an all-time high. Some executives think a "drop of as little as 10 per cent in advertising volume could mean the difference between operating in the black or red."

Ask Fire Marshal To Aid Inquiry

AURORA (CP) — Police said today the Toronto fire marshal's office has been asked to aid in investigation of a fire which caused $1,500 damage Sunday to the home of Earl Campbell.

A farm laborer who works near the Campbell farm, James Thomas Ransom, 26, was charged with having an unlicensed loaded luger pistol.

Mr. Campbell said he was awakened early Sunday by an explosion in the kitchen where 100 rifle shells were located.

"At first I though someone was shooting from outside, then I smelled the smoke and gunpowder."

While his wife ran to a neighbor's home to call firemen, Campbell's daughters carried buckets of water from a spring and he doused the fire.

Big Tanker Launched

LAUZON, Que. (CP)—A flag-bedecked, 28,000-ton oil tanker, the Andros Fortune, twin of the largest ship ever built in Canada, slid down the ways here Saturday at the Davie Shipbuilding Company yards. She will join the Andros Venture, launched last September, to haul oil for the Esso Export Corp. of New York.

Held In Stabbing

Pay Tribute To Pearson

LONDON (CP)—An independent London newspaper Sunday paid tribute to the part played at the Geneva conference by External Affairs Minister Pearson of Canada.

The Observer said that with the United States delegation cramped by domestic political considerations, including the possibility of investigation by the U. S. Congress, it has been left to the Commonealth team to save the West from an appearance of "cold defensiveness."

"Mr. Pearson of Canada could not look impassive, withdrawn and hostile if he tried, and in fact he has tried to look his ordinary, cheerful, friendly self.

"In the private conferences, he has played his usual invaluable role. . . ."

GM Lay Off Workers

OSHAWA (CP)—About 1,200 auto workers at the General Motors plant here will be laid off Friday, it was reported Sunday. Nearly 9,500 are employed at the plant. A company spokesman said the layoff results from the transfer of car-manufacturing operations to the new assembly plant in south Oshawa. Some of those laid off will be employed installing equipment in the new plant.

Thousands See Blooms

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Eliz Gergely Palmer, who sang in more than 1,200 performances of "The Student Prince" on Broadway in the 1920s, died Sunday at her Manhattan home. She retired from the stage 15 years ago to marry banker Russell Palmer.

Left For West 45 Years Ago Buck Saw Great Changes

"If we could come back in 50 years and see the west . . .", is the implication of his estimate of its expansive future as expressed today by George Buck of White Rock, B.C.

He has seen "its tremendous changes" in the 45 years since he left Asphodel for Alberta when opportunity was beckoning adventurous easterners. Opportunity is still there although altered in its aspects, and the era of pioneering has been left behind.

The 800 people in White Rock twelve years ago have multiplied to 8,000, and the municipality is planning incorporation as a city.

Vancouver's population will exceed 500,000 and in ten years should leave Seattle behind. It will be one of the leading cities of Canada, Mr. Buck believes.

Calgary and Edmonton were straggling towns when he first saw them, but their citizens of those days had both spirit and vision, qualities that have never faltered even during the depression years.

The Alcan development at Kitimat is one of the new enterprises in British Columbia that is going to become an important development. And, Alberta may pass all the other provinces in its per capita wealth.

WHEAT, OIL, CATTLE, WATER

Wheat, oil, cattle and water power are Albertan assets that built up Edmonton and Calgary and other cities of that province with remarkable progress.

George Buck is now a retired business man in White Rock, and one of its confident boosters. He was in retail drygoods in High River and Vulcan, Alberta, for 30 years, and then like so many others he quit the prairie country and moved to the coast.

Circumstances permit him to travel back to the east, particularly to Peterborough county, visiting his brother, Sam Buck, near Norwood, and his sister, Mrs. W. J. Scott, 680 George St., and then on to Baltimore, Md., arriving back home around the beginning of June.

New England Flood Damage Heavy

BOSTON (AP) — New England rivers, swollen by a week of rain, spilled over highways and lowlands today causing damage in the millions of dollars. Ten deaths were reported, mostly from highway accidents.

New Hampshire's Governor Hugh Gregg, after conferring with highway commissioner Frank D. Merrill, placed damage to state roads at $2,000,000.

Had your aluminum today?

CHANCES are you have, because practically everything we eat — grains, vegetables, meat, milk, eggs — contains aluminum. This is not surprising, since one-eighth of the earth's crust is aluminum.

Aluminum is most readily available commercially, however, in the form of bauxite ore. Alcan ships this ore from South America to feed its pot lines at Arvida, Isle Maligne, Shawinigan Falls and Beauharnois, P. Que. When the huge new Kitimat development is completed in B.C., refined ore will be shipped up the West Coast from South American or other abundant sources. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Refuse To Let City Issue Debentures For Utilities Deficit

The Peterborough utilities commission are meeting today to decide how they are going to raise $52,000 to cover a deficit in the gas department.

On Tuesday the Ontario municipal board rejected an application by the City of Peterborough for permission to issue debentures for that amount. Though it was the PUC that incurred the indebtedness the city was involved because they issue debentures for PUC projects.

In refusing the application, board members expressed doubt as to the legality of the transfer by the PUC of surplus funds from the waterworks division to make up a deficit in the gas section.

"We don't know yet what we're going to do," said Fred Hills, chairman of the PUC. "The matter will be discussed at the regular meeting today at 1:30 p.m."

Howard Powell, general manager, said they would have to consult legal counsel on an alternative method of financing the indebtedness.

If no alternative method of financing the $52,000 can be found, presumably the money will have to be raised by higher gas rates.

In all, the city asked for permission to issue debentures of $88,000.

The board, however, approved expenditure of $29,000 for construction of new generating equipment by the public utilities commission and a further $7,000 for miscellaneous capital expenditures.

The transfer of funds had been made during the period from 1947 to 1953 without prior approval of the board or an application for approval.

OPERATED AT LOSS

During this period the publicly owned utility was operating at a loss which amounted to an accumulated deficit of $25,126.49 at the end of 1952.

"Apparently no increase in rates was made to meet deficits in operations," the board decision said, "but withdrawals were made from invested reserves which should have been kept available for the capital expenditures being undertaken in the same period. When no further funds were available from this source, it is admitted that surplus current funds available in the water department were transferred to the gas division and in addition bank loans of $15,297.01 were obtained by overdraft."

Board members said they were satisfied officials of both the utility commission and the municipality must have been aware that neither the municipality or any local board had any legal power to undertake capital expenditures for which funds were not available in the current year without the prior approval of the board.

Wren Asks Doucett Give Testimony On Highway Probe

TORONTO (CP)—Albert Wren, Liberal-Labor member of the provincial legislature for Kenora, said today he has uncovered new evidence of irregularities in the provincial highways department and urged that highways minister George Doucett give evidence under oath.

He said in a statement he will seek to have Mr. Doucett recalled as a sworn witness before the legislature's select committee investigating highway contracts. Mr. Doucett has already appeared before the committee, not under oath, to describe the highway department structure.

Mr. Wren said he has uncovered "even more evidence of irregularities in the highway divisions outside of Fort William and Huntsville" where 11 men and three companies are now facing conspiracy charges.

HAS MANY QUESTIONS

He said he wished to swear in Mr. Doucett "because I've a lot of embarrassing questions ready for him to answer." In addition, he said he will ask the select committee to call "several prominent contractors—including some now facing trial on conspiracy charges."

Tuesday, in a speech on the highways department, Ontario Liberal leader Farquhar Oliver said a cabinet minister who can't run his department should resign.

However, he said later he was not calling for the resignation of Highways Minister Doucett. "I am not going to suggest to the premier what he should do with his ministers."

In another development, Donald C. MacDonald, Ontario CCF leader, sent a letter to Premier Frost asking for a royal commission investigation of the highways department. So far 11 men and three companies have been charged with conspiracy in connection with the department.

LIKE COMMISSION RULE

Mr. Oliver told a meeting of the Toronto Liberal Business Men's Association the appointment of a special construction committee to supervise government contracts was taking administration out of Mr. Doucett's hands.

"This makes some semblance of commission government," he said.

Mr. Oliver said: "I believe in ministerial responsibility. I believe you should say to a minister: 'If you can't run your department properly, get out of the road and I'll find someone who can run it to the public satisfaction.'"

In an earlier address in London, Ont., he said the irregularities which caused five men to be charged last winter in Fort William went on "to a greater or lesser degree in other divisions."

Warrants Tuesday named the three companies as Tomlinson Brothers Limited of Winnipeg and Fort William, Standard Paving Limited of Toronto and Bergmann Construction Co. Ltd., of West Hill, just east of Toronto.

Six contracts totalling between $2,000,000 and $4,000,000 are reported involved.

Ontario Provincial Police at Port Arthur said W. S. Tomlinson, president of the Tomlinson Company, will report to them on his arrival there from the west coast, possibly today.

Questions Right To Encourage Greater Imports

OTTAWA (CP) — Senator W. Rupert Davies (L—Ontario) suggested today that rather than assisting exporters, the Canadian Trade Fair may be encouraging greater imports, increasing competition against Canada's shrinking textile and other industries.

"Why should we encourage those people who come into Canada to undersell us?" the Kingston publisher asked during a Senate trade committee discussion of exporters' problems.

Some 70 Ontario textile plants have been closed and workers thrown out of jobs, he said. Perhaps it was a problem of high costs in Canada, but how could Canada continue to pay high wages if she allows people to come to offer goods in Canada at low prices.

"Why should we encourage them at the trade fair?" he added. The international fair is conducted at Toronto each summer under government auspices.

S. A. MacKay-Smith, president of the Canadian Exporters' Association, said in some cases foreign exhibitors make deals to have their goods produced in Canada.

SPURS EFFICIENCY

R. B. Spiro of Toronto, an association director, said some Canadian producers may not be sufficiently progressive, and foreign competition helps increase production efficiency.

The trade fair idea is comparatively new in Canada and the Canadian government had been concerned at the outset that there were far more foreign exhibitors than those from Canada.

But the complexion was changing. About 60 to 70 per cent of the exhibitors now were Canadian firms.

Senator A. L. Beaubien (L—Manitoba) said that Canada needs grain markets. There are great opportunities for selling wheat and barley in Japan. But to pay for the grain, Japan must sell her products.

He could not see why Canada should not import textiles from Japan if Japanese prices are lower than those in any other country.

Three Canadians Indicted On Tax Swindle

NEW YORK (CP) — Three former Canadian distillery directors, one of them the owner of a professional baseball club, were among nine men indicted Tuesday by a federal grand jury on charges of failing to pay $17,400,000 in taxes on profits made from the sale of Canadian whisky in the United States.

The Canadians involved in what was said to be the largest income-tax evasion conspiracy in U.S. history, are George Norgan, Albert McLennan and Isidore J. Klein, all of Vancouver. They formerly were directors of United Distillers of Canada Limited, which was sold last year to a subsidiary of Distillers Corporation-Seagrams.

Norgan is the owner of the Portland baseball club in the Pacific Coast League.

All nine defendants were charged with conspiring to evade the huge sum in taxes by setting up foreign corporations in Cuba and Panama to receive profits from the sale of Harwood's whisky in the United States during the Second World War and post-war years.

The indictment said that Isidore Klein, McLennan and Norgan conspired to evade $13,000,000 in taxes for the years 1944 through 1946. Hyman Klein, a brother of Isidore, who was linked with Henry Grunewald, Washington mystery man and reputed fixer, was charged with failure to pay $4,400,000 in taxes for the same period.

OPA RULING BLAMED

U. S. attorney J. Edward Lumbard said the profits resulted from a 1944 order by the Office of Price Administration, U. S. wartime price control agency, which permitted the whisky to be sold at a price "greatly in excess of that which should have been granted by the OPA under then-existing regulations."

Some of the details of the case first came to light in the spring of

50 Sabre Jets Fly To Europe

MONTREAL (CP)—More than 50 Sabre jet Mark V fighters, Canada's most up-to-date defence aircraft, are scheduled to leave the nearby St. Hubert RCAF base next Monday in a $25,000,000 hop to Europe, an air force spokesman said Tuesday.

The planes represent the largest mass flight yet undertaken to supply the Canadian air divisions overseas.

Commanded by Sqdn. Ldr. Bob Middlemiss of Montreal, the ferry operation will be handled by pilots of the RCAF's No. 1 overseas ferry unit and fliers from the air division in Europe.

The fighters, built by Canadair Limited here, will be handed over to RCAF units at North Luffenham, England, Gros Tenquin, France, and Baden-Sollingen and Zweibrucken, Germany.

They will replace older model Sabres, which will be handed over to other NATO countries under joint defence plan agreements.

Canadian Newsman Dies In Geneva

GENEVA (CP)—Eric Gibbs, 43, chief of Time magazine's Paris bureau and former Canadian newspaper man, died early today in his hotel room apparently of heart disease. He had been covering the Geneva conference.

A graduate of the University of Alberta, Gibbs worked for newspapers in Edmonton, Toronto, and Windsor.

During the Second World War he held the rank of lieutnant-colonel as deputy director of public relations at Canadian military headquarters in London. He enlisted in the Canadian army overseas and was commissioned a lieutenant in June, 1940.

In 1944 Gibbs received the OBE and he was awarded the bronze star medal by the U. S. government in 1945.

His widow survives.

Clerical Ask H-Control

CANTERBURY, Eng. (Reuters) Senior British churchmen led by the Archbishop of Canterbury have called on statesmen to seek agreement urgently on the control of hydrogen and atomic weapons. The Upper House of the Convocation of Canterbury — "southern parliament" of the Church of England—passed the resolution Tuesday without dissent.

French Planes Blast Vietminh Rebels

By LARRY ALLEN

HANOI, Indo-China (AP) — Squadrons of French B-26 bombers plastered the Vietminh rebels today inside the Red river dalta, which France has put on the top danger list in the Indo-China war.

The planes smashed bases of the Communist-led rebels in the hills of the southern areas of the delta—keystone of the French-held bastion around Hanoi and the port of Haiphong.

Infiltrating rebels continued harassing action, the French reported, blowing up two freight and passenger trains about eight miles east of this tense north Indo-China capital. The French said the railroad was restored to operation soon afterward.

Officials claimed 49 Vietminh were killed and 26 captured today in scattered mop-up actions around the delta.

FRENCH MAY NEED AID

These activities followed a warning by a top French commander that his forces may need foreign help if the Vietminh unleash all their power against the Hanoi defense perimeter.

Gen. Pierre Louis Bodet, chief aid to the French commander-in-chief in Indo-China, Gen. Henri Navarre, told a press conference Tuesday night:

"The situation in the delta is serious but far from hopeless or desperate. We may need help from outside if the Vietminh attack the delta with all their means and with their forces from Dien Bien Phu."

Bodet specified no country in his mention of additional foreign aid. The United States was reported to have refused a French request for air force help to Dien Bien Phu after Britain said she could not consider joint military intervention until the outcome of the Geneva conference was known.

Bodet's description of the situation in the delta as "serious" was the first such estimate from any member of the French high command in Indo-China.

Viet Nam Table Peace Plan

By MAX HARRELSON

GENEVA (AP)—The Viet Nam government has prepared its own Indo-China peace plan for inspection by the Geneva conference today. The scheme, reported to call for complete independence, further complicates France's problems.

Informed quarters said Viet Nam's foreign minister, Nguyen Quoc Dinh, would base his plan to end the Indo-China fighting on independence demands for the three associated states, Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia.

The French contend they already have given the associated states their independence. But many Viet Namese claim it is largely on paper and that they do not enjoy true autonomy, economic or otherwise.

France's foreign minister, Georges Bidault, is going through one of the most trying phases of his long career. He is being pressed on one side by the Communists to accept terms which the Western powers regard as surrender, and on the other by the United States to stand firm.

FACES CONFIDENCE VOTE

In Paris, Premier Joseph Laniel's government faces a new vote of confidence Thursday on the Indo-China issue. Observers consider it the most serious threat so far to the government. The cabinet conferred far into the night, and was reported to have moved to ask State Secretary Dulles of the United States to clarify his statement Thursday that loss of Indo-China would not necessarily bring the loss of all Southeast Asia to the Reds.

Some cabinet members, fearful that the U.S. has written off Indo-China, are said to be warming to the Communist Vietminh rebels' peace plan, and are expected to relay this change of heart to Bidault.

The French have proposed (1) a halt in the fighting, (2) withdrawal of all opposing forces in Viet Nam to zones set by the conference, (3) liberation of war prisoners and civilian internees, (4) evacuation of Vietminh forces from Cambodia and Laos and (5) international supervision of the armistice.

WANT RECOGNITION

The Communist plan calls for (1) withdrawal of all foreign troops from Indo-China, (2) country-wide elections to be held without foreign supervision and (3) recognition of the Communist "governments" of Viet Nam (the Vietminh), Laos and Cambodia.

Caught between the outspoken U.S. opposition to the Red proposals and the growing desire at home for peace, the French delegation has tried to appear conciliatory toward the Communists without accepting any of their major demands.

A French spokesman called a special press conference Tuesday to emphasize that France had not rejected the Red terms but was willing to have them discussed along with France's own armistice proposals.

Govt. Making No Inquiry Works Department Activity

OTTAWA (CP)—Works Minister Winters indicated Tuesday that the government is making no inquiry into the operations of the works department branch responsible for the trans-Canada highway.

The issue of alleged irregularities in contracts for the trans-Canada highway in northern Ontario was raised in the Commons by Opposition leader Drew.

He asked whether any move has been made to inquire into the operations of the branch of the federal public works department concerned with the highway.

Mr. Drew indicated that his question referred to a charge against R. F. Petursson, federal highways inspector, of conspiracy to defraud the Ontario government. Petersson, supervising engineer of the Victoria district of the trans-Canada highway since June, 1952, was formerly inspecting engineer in the Lakehead area.

NOT INFORMED

Mr. Winters replied that the federal government has not been informed formally of the arrest of Petursson or the purpose of the arrest.

He said it may well be that the arrest does not relate to any federal government operation and until the government was notified by the provincial government he could give no further reply.

Mr. Drew asked whether federal inspectors of the trans-Canada highway have any responsibility for examining highway plans.

Mr. Winters said the federal government is responsible only for seeing that the completed highway meets federal specifications and for paying half the cost.

The federal government had stopped payments in areas where there had been questions of contract irregularities. Enough money had been held back to pay any deficiency that might occur because of irregularities.

Neither Mr. Drew nor Mr. Winters mentioned Petursson by name. However, he is the only federal employee who has been charged following provincial investigations into highway contracts in northern Ontario.

Elect Local Man To VON Board

OTTAWA (CP) — All Ontario branches of the Victorian Order of nurses have become incorporated into a provincial body.

The move came as delegates and proxies for most of the 63 Ontario branches approved and adopted by-laws at a meeting held in conjunction with the annual meeting of the Canadian VON, now in progress.

British Columbia units obtained a similar charter a year ago.

J. C. Preston, of Brantford, was elected president of the Ontario body. Among representatives on the board of management are Mrs. W. A. Tinsley, Sarnia; Miss B. Souter, Sudbury; H. R. Waldon, Welland; Mrs. J. C. L. Ransom, Ottawa; C. E. James, Belleville; V. A. Ellis, Collingwood; T. E. McKay, Peterborough; G. Cardinal, North Bay; and R. C. E. Bray, Porcupine.

2 Boys Injured In Accidents

TORONTO (CP) — Two small boys were seriously injured by car ornaments Tuesday night in suburban East York.

John Tripp, 5, is in critical condition after being struck by a car and having his head impaled on a sharp hood ornament. Police said the lad ran from behind a parked vehicle.

Peter Mathewson, 7, suffered head injuries when hit by the metal and plastic shield over the headlight of a car police said was driven by Ross Lee, 32, of Pickering.

Report Rhee Rejects Unification Plan

SEOUL (AP) — A high South Korean government source said today that President Syngman Rhee has rejected a new Allied plan for unification of Korea.

The source said the plan called for United Nations-supervised general elections throughout the country before the withdrawal of Communist Chinese troops.

The source reported that talks between Rhee and United States envoy Arthur H. Dean reached a deadlock Sunday.

Dean quoted Rhee: "As long as any Chinese remain in North Korea, it would be a Communist election."

Pearson Extends Stay At Geneva Talks

He decided to stay over one more day. This will enable him to attend a meeting here Thursday of the 16-country Korea committee and then fly to London for an afternoon meeting of an atomic energy sub-committee of the United Nations disarmament commission, which he is scheduled to address.

Russia Rejects British Charges

LONDON (AP) — Russia today rejected British charges that two Red air force majors tried to spy on Britain's military secrets.

The foreign office announced, however, that Soviet ambassador Jacob Malik has told the British government the two Soviet officials, assistant air attaches here, will be withdrawn from the embassy in London.

Britain on May 7 gave the pair 10 days to leave the country, charging they had "abused their diplomatic status" by attempting to engage in espionage activities.

They were identified as Maj. Ivan Pupyshev, 36, and Maj. Andrei Gudkov, 37.

PC Member Proposes Study Of Industrial Research

OTTAWA (CP)—A Progressive Conservative member has proposed that a Commons committee launch a study of ways to boost industrial research in Canada.

J. W. Murphy (PC—Lambton West) said in the Commons Tuesday night that a government bill to amend the Research Council Act is a pitiful answer to the crying need for an accelerated research program.

He moved that the bill be referred to a select committee which would study the whole field of research.

Speaker Rene Beaudoin said the motion was out of order, but postponed his ruling at the end of the day's sitting when Opposition Leader Drew asked for an opportunity to discuss the ruling later.

Mr. Murphy said a study of industrial research is needed in the face of rising unemployment, lost markets and increased foreign competition. The committee should meet regularly and recommend ways of promoting research activities and assuring a steady supply of scientists.

The government should offer tax inducements to industry to extend research. Improved methods which lowered production costs would help Canada compete in world markets.

Earlier this session, Mr. Murphy sponsored a similar resolution to establish a Commons committee on research, but it did not come up for consideration and he later withdrew it.

Trade Minister Howe, introducing the legislation on the National Research Council, said Canada has made more progress in scientific and industrial research in the last 10 years than any other country.

He said the proposed amendments to the Research Council Act are designed to remove ambiguities and clarify financial arrangements that have assumed importance with the growth of NRC. They did not change its principles and procedures.

CCF leader Coldwell said his party can not support the PC motion because it came so late in the session, although the party would have supported it earlier. There was not enough time for NRC officials to prepare material and give it adequate study by a committee.

'Missile Mile' Mystery Solved By Engineers

LONDON (Reuters) — The two-year mystery of Britain's "missile mile" was exploded Tuesday.

A spokesman for the Automobile Association announced that engineers have discovered the reason more than 100 car windshields have mysteriously shattered on the stretch of highway between the nearby villages of Esher and Cobham.

The windshields disintegrated on the hilly road because they were made of an inferior type of glass and couldn't stand up to severe jolting, the spokesman said.

Small Boys Find Gold Coins Buried In Mud of City Sewer

John Schott, 11, Billy Dembie, 8, and John Cooper, 12, weren't dismayed when their ball rolled through a grating and into a catch basin. They crawled right down after it.

On top of a layer of mud in the bottom of the basin they found 13 gold coins. Under six inches of mud were many more.

The youngsters started digging excitedly, but before they could get away with their find, bigger boys heard their shouts, pushed them away and grabbed the coins —all but the four John Schott clutched in his hands.

John's mother later showed the coins—all $20 pieces—to Dr. John Gluck, a collector. They were dated 1860, 1880 and 1889. Gluck paid Johnny $36 each for them.

Police had no idea how the coins got in the sewer. The last gold coins were minted in 1933, the year they were withdrawn from circulation.

The bigger boys apparently didn't fare as well as Johnny. Some sold their coins, but most gave them away as curios or presented them to their girl friends.

One lad, thinking they were phony, amused himself by tossing his coins off a bridge.

Baby Boy Dies In House Fire

TILLSONBURG, Ont. (CP)—A five-month-old boy died Tuesday when fire ripped through a frame house near the Norfolk county hamlet of Frogmore, 15 miles southeast of here.

Donald Wayne Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wilson, died when fire destroyed the house. His grandmother, Mrs. Violet Wilson, 45, was admitted to hospital here with face, arm, leg and body burns. Her condition was described as serious.

Coroner Dr. W. J. Nicholson of Langton said the fire apparently started when a wood-burning stove exploded.

Mrs. Wilson saved 20-month-old Sheila Wilson but was prevented by spreading flames from re-entering the house.

The parents were not home at the time.

Rumor U.S. Trying Long Term Plan Check Communism

By ALAN HARVEY

GENEVA (CP)—The United States is believed to be working on a long-term plan for checking the spread of communism in Southeast Asia, whatever happens in Indo-China.

This was one of the interpretations placed on the series of recent statements about U.S. policy in Asia, including Tuesday's declaration by State Secretary Dulles. Dulles said in Washington he thinks Southeast Asia can be defended without Indo-China.

What the U.S. has in mind, some delegates suggest, is a military and political system, linked if possible with the United Nations charter, in which associated countries would come to the help of any member of the group requiring it.

The plan might be so loose that aid would be afforded any country which felt it needed protection from communism. Thus Thailand, for instance, might be given military support by the Americans in advance of any aggression.

Conditioning U.S. thinking is the conviction, firmly held by many top U.S. officials, that any appreciable spread of communism in Asia will seriously endanger countries like Japan. At the worst, all Asia might succumb, placing two-thirds of the world under Communist control.

DETERMINED TO RESIST

This the United States is determined to resist through a grouping of friendly countries, possibly including Britain, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand and perhaps Burma.

Thus, it is felt, U.S. thinking now has passed beyond the "crisis" phase of two weeks ago, when immediate military intervention in Indo-China was considered. Now the emphasis is on saving what can be saved through long-term planning.

U.S. planning is probably based on an analogy of the experience in Greece. There the U.S. moved in when Britain could no longer hold on, and the action, Americans would say, saved Greece from communism.

If the long-term plan applies to parts of Indo-China, the Americans would be taking over from France. This would almost certainly cause resentment in that country.

Every effort would be made to associate as many Asian countries as possible with the mooted defensive bloc. It is recognized that many obstacles will have to be overcome. One of the great difficulties in Asia, independent commentators stress, is that broadly speaking Asian Communists are active and Asian non-Communists passive.

CRUSADE UNPOPULAR

A crusade against communism, as such, will be difficult to sell in Asia. The predominant emotions among neutral countries in the Far East are nationalism and anti-colonialism, creating a climate of opinion in which communism is regarded as a secondary danger.

Some delegates feel, nevertheless, that the presence of the U.S. might be less unwelcome than that of Britain and France, which tend to be regarded as the old colonial oppressors.

It is unlikely Canada would be asked to join any Far East defensive group such as that now planned.

She may, however, be less opposed in principle to the idea of long-term planning to resist aggression than she almost certainly was to last month's short-term proposals for an air bombardment of Dien Bien Phu.

Senate Approves Revised Criminal Code

OTTAWA (CP) — The Senate Tuesday night approved the principle of Canada's revised Criminal Code amid opposing views concerning three controversial sections and their possible affect on labor unions. The legislation was sent to a committee for further study.

Senator A. W. Roebuck (L—Ontario) said sections dealing with sabotage and mischief should be stricken out of the code because saving clauses put in at labor's suggestion protected "organized groups" and not the public generally against possible prosecution.

The bill was referred to the Senate banking committee after Senator Salter Hayden (L—Ontario), sponsor of the bill, said the suggestion that the sections on sabotage and mischief should be struck out of the code meant, in effect, that sabotage and mischief should not be considered a criminal offence.

The saving clauses were put in for "very sound reasons" to protect labor. The saving clauses provide that, under certain conditions, the clauses do not apply to unions going on strike.

To Discuss Tolls On Ont. Roads

HAMILTON (CP)—A brief urging toll charges on Ontario highways will be discussed at an executive meeting of the Ontario Good Roads Association in Toronto Saturday.

The brief, expected to be submitted to the federal and provincial governments, is being prepared by Thomas J. Mahoney, managing secretary of the association. Mr. Mahoney says he feels that United States tourists and all Canadians should pay for the highways they use.

"Ontario is surrounded by six of the wealthiest states—New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota," he said. "In those states there are 48,000,000 people with about 18,000,000 cars."

He said there are about 1,500 miles along the boundary line adjoining the six states and added that all persons using the highways should pay. Americans pay toll charges and "they think we are boobs for not doing the same."

New Firm To Sell Hogs Sent To Quebec

TORONTO (CP) — All Ontario-produced hogs sent to Quebec will be sold, directed and settled by a new company beginning May 17.

The company, United Livestock Sales Quebec Ltd., is a separate charter company but will operate under contract with United Livestock Sales Ltd., sales agency for the Ontario hog producers marketing board. It will be located at the Montreal stockyards.

C. D. Black, general manager of United Livestock Sales Ltd., said the new firm will establish salesmen for Ontario hogs closer to Quebec markets and will provide faster settlement for Ontario producers.

A weekly average of 5,000 Ontario-produced hogs are marketed in Quebec province.

Senate Suggests 382 Marriages Be Dissolved

OTTAWA (CP) — The Senate divorce committee has recommended that Parliament dissolve a post-war record of 382 Quebec and Newfoundland marriages at this session.

Senator A. W. Roebuck, committee chairman, reported today to the upper chamber that this figure exceeds the 350 divorces granted by Parliament at two sessions in 1949, the record year for divorce from these two provinces which are the only ones without divorce courts.

The divorce bills are at various stages in the Commons and Senate. The committee's recommendation to dissolve a marriage is rarely rejected by either chamber. However, at least one—a case to which CCF members objected earlier in the session—is likely to be rejected.

The recommendations at this session exceeded those of the previous session by 100. This was the fourth year since the Second World War that the number of divorce cases has exceeded 300. In 1947, 348 divorces were granted and 312 in 1952.

THREE PETITIONS DENIED

At this session, the divorce committee heard and rejected three petitions for divorce. Fourteen were withdrawn and 63 not proceeded with. The latter may be considered at the next session.

Wives outnumbered husbands in seeking divorce by more than two to one, totalling 263 against 119. Eight divorce petitions came from Newfoundland and 374 from Quebec.

Fees paid to parliament jumped to $80,220 at this session.

Nifty Blonde Used Lure Workers

NORTH BAY (CP) — A nifty blonde worked from North Bay to lure lumber workers into being shanghaied to distant lumber camps, the North Bay advisory employment committee was told Tuesday night.

The committee discussed the problems created by the fly-by-night lumber company agents who by-pass the facilities of the national employment service.

The committee was told taxi firms act as hiring agents for various lumber firms to get lumberworkers in the cities. The taxi firms drove the men to the camps and had the fares guaranteed. While most taxi firms worked with the national employment service and treated the men fairly, the system was open to abuse.

The operator employing the blonde has been requested to leave town. It has been learned that he has since set up business in a nearby city.

H. F. Dann, North Bay district manager of the employment service, told the committee there are 1,740 district persons listed as unemployed while in 1954 there were 755 listed. He said, however, that district unemployment is on the decline.

INCREASE ATTACKS

Seeking to exploit their victory last week at Dien Bien Phu, the rebels throughout the rich rice lands stepped up their attacks on thinly manned French and Viet Namese defence posts.

The French retaliated with massive bombing assaults Tuesday on key centres of Vietminh activity in the region. They said 50 bombers wiped out three villages in the southeast part of the delta. From these, the French claimed, the rebels had staged big raids on the highway and railway linking Hanoi and Haiphong.

Though the Vietminh has an estimated 70,000 regular, regional and guerrilla forces throughout the delta, their activity so far is still confined to the usual scattered attacks on French communications and isolated posts.

Bodet did not think the Vietminh could hurl any forces from Dien Bien Phu against the delta sooner than within six to eight weeks. Rebel losses in the siege of the bastion have been estimated as high as 35,000 killed and wounded.

Viet Nam

The Viet Nam terms were laid before the nine-member Indo-China conference by Foreign Minister Nguyen Quoc Dinh. They were said by a French spokesman to have the backing of all the non-Communist delegates participating in the talks.

The plan covered both military and political aspects of the armistice. It called for a political settlement based upon free elections under United Nations control.

DEMAND GUARANTEES

The main conditions for ending the fighting were:

Any agreement must include sufficient guarantees to insure a "real and durable peace and prevent any new aggression."

The agreement must not lead to a direct or indirect, definitive or provisional, partition of national territory.

It must foresee international control of the execution of the cease-fire conditions.

In opposing any partition, Dinh's proposal ran somewhat contrary to France's plan for setting up armistice zones for the opposing forces. The Viet Namese have expressed the belief the French plan would leave the way open for partition, giving valuable territory to the Communist-led Vietminh.

Dinh also declared Viet Nam's relations with France would be based on declarations foreseeing full independence for his country. He was reported also to be basing his armistice proposals on the independence demands of the sister Indo-Chinese states of Cambodia and Laos, although they were not named in his statement.

British Runner Refuses TV Appearances

NEW YORK (AP) The British information office announced today that all commercial television appearances in the U. S. had been cancelled for Roger Bannister, England's world record mile-holder, in order to safeguard his amateur status.

The decision was made after consultations with American and British amateur athletic authorities.

Bannister, who ran the mile in 3:59.4 last Thursday at Oxford, was flown to New York today specifically to appear on the Columbia Broadcasting System's "I've got a Secret" program at 8:30 p.m. EST.

He has been scheduled for other television appearances during a today-day stay. All proceeds were to go to charity.

VETO FOLLOWS CHECK

"We decided after a thorough examination that it was best Bannister should appear on no commercial television programs", John Russell, director of the British information office, said. "He will remain in New York until Friday afternoon. In the meantime he probably will appear on a couple or so non-commercial television programs.

"We don't know now what these might be."

"Bannister came over at the direction of the British foreign office," Russell said, "and he also had clearance from our own amateur athletic association.

"But they might have misunderstood because in Great Britain there is no commercial television. It is government-sponsored."

Bannister said he was confused by the whole situation and accepted the offer at the insistence of the British foreign office. He had no intention of running while in the United States.

Toronto Trading Groups Lower

TORONTO (CP)—Led by weak western oils, the stock market moved into lower ground in early afternoon trading.

Industrials continued to decline. Weak groups were constructions, utilities, refining oils, and miscellaneous stocks. Golds showed more strength than in many recent sessions. Base metals and Bathurst issues were off, and uraniums and Manitouwadge issues were stronger. Volume at 1 p. m. was 1,512,000 shares.

Pacific Petroleum and Peace River Gas led western oil losses with drops of more than $1 each. Twelve other western oil issues had losses ranging from 10 to 20 cents.

Foods and steels were the only strong industrial groups and papers, agricultures, liquors and textiles were steady. Most industrial losses were in minor fractions.

Senior base metals gained. Junior continued to lose fractions.

Three Canadians

1952 when a U. S. congressional committee began investigating possible corruption in the internal revenue department and turned up the notorious "Klein case."

Witnesses testified that Grunewald and Senator Styles Bridges (Rep. N. H.) were among several prominent persons who had tried to settle Klein's tax difficulties with the justice department.

When called before the committee Grunewald refused to testify and was cited for contempt of Congress. He was convicted, served 90 days in prison and paid a $1,000 fine.

Klein took the stand March 24, 1952 and denied that he ever asked Gruenwald or Bridges to help him. But he told how he parlayed a wartime cash investment of $1,000 into $5,000,000 in profits.

PROFITABLE INVESTMENT

Klein, his brother and the three Canadians each threw $1,000 into the pot and it grew into 17 or 19 corporations. The group purchased and distributed Harwood's whisky, a Canadian product, in the U. S. and made a net profit of $20,000,000, or $5,000,000 each for the initial investment.

Klein testified that he bought the whisky for $8.05 a case and sold it for $19.05 a case to R. C. Williams and Company, an American firm.

The profit was netted between April, 1944, and September, 1946, Klein said, and he sold out in January, 1947.

The five-count indictment was believed to have resulted from the sub-committee investigation. If convicted the defendants face a maximum sentence of 25 years and a $50,000 fine each.

Also indicted were Ellis Rosenberg of Washington, Hyman Klein's personal lawyer; Maurice Haas, lawyer and certified public accountant of Mount Vernon, N. Y., who told the committee that he had transferred $1,500,000 for Hyman Klein from New York to associates in Canada; Morris O. Alprin, general counsel for the Greater New York wholesale liquor dealers; Irving A. Koerner of Great Neck, L. I., general manager of the Canadian company's local office; and Albert Roer of Brooklyn, salesman for the company.

Fraserville News

Mr. Roy Hutchison of Trenton has been the guest of his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Fallis of Fraserville. On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Fallis' family were all home for Mother's Day. Visiting were Mr. and Mrs. Don Fallis and family, Mr. and Mrs. Max Fallis and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Fallis and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. Sutton and Mr. and Mrs. James Carrol and family all of Peterborough. There were 12 grandchildren present.

Mrs. Ernest Moore visited over the weekend with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Hickson of Raeboro. She also visited her mother, Mrs. J. A. Carl, who is convalescing at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hickson.

Cancer Society Reaches $7,600

The Lakefield unit of the Canadian Cancer Society has collected $799.60 and reports that there is more coming from the village.

Today's total reported by Peterborough unit of the Cancer Society is $7,600, just $400 short of their objective. The society had asked that anyone who has not been contacted by a canvasser send his contribution to the society's office at 440 Water St. A shortage of canvassers has made it impossible for the society to call at every house in the city as originally planned.

Mrs. A. A. Waddell Hostess To Auxiliary

NORWOOD (ENS)—The Evening Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church met at the home of Mrs. A. A. Waddell. There was a large attendance and the president, Mrs. Wilson Small, presided at the meeting. The scripture passage was read by Miss Isabel McMillen and the prayer was offered by Mrs. Cecil Cuthbertson. Mrs. R. Duncanson gave the report of those who attended the Presbytery meeting in Keene.

Mrs. Earl Spencer displayed the articles of clothing which she had purchased to send to the Birtle Indian School.

The program for the evening was under the leadership of Mrs. William Golloher, those assisting her were Mrs. H. Morgan, Mrs. A. A. Waddell, Mrs. I. Sexsmith and Mrs. G. Rothwell. Their subject was 'Church Kindergarten Schools'. Lunch was served by the joint hostesses Mrs. L. Burtt and Mrs. A. A. Waddell.

Sunday School Service Held At Fraserville

FRASERVILLE (ENS)—At the Fraserville Sunday school service on Mother's Day, May 9, an order of worship service, "The Christian Family Day," issued by the Ontario Council of Christian Education, was followed, with the superintendent, Ray Finlay, taking the lead in the responsive readings and the prayers.

Special scripture lessons were read by Edith Carl and Herbie Hewitt. A story, "He Lived Next Door To Jesus," was read by Earl Lackey, and following the meditation and prayer period, Miss Leona Moffat read a story. The lesson period followed.

Little Mischief At Ball For Debutantes

By FERN RICH

LONDON (Reuters)—There was nary a mouse in the house, and little of other traditional mischief, at this year's coming-out party for London's debutantes last night.

Last year a flock of demure debs in white gowns and gloves released an army of equally dazzling mice, to the consternation of the Duchess of Gloucester who presided at the annual Queen Charlotte's Ball.

But last night more than 1,000 guests, anticipating excitement at any moment, were slightly disappointed. The only unconventional gate-crasher was a toy zebra who came to the plush ball tied to the shoulder strap of Miss Susan Clark's gown.

"I never face any ordeal without Baron Mathew Van Cinzano," she explained.

DEB DIDN'T SLIDE

Another deb, Elizabeth Webb-Brown, had fully intended to make her formal entrance by sliding down the elegant bannister. The idea was not received kindly and she walked down, sedately, with her friends.

Escorts for the ball were carefully screened this year by the mothers, who took extra pains to keep the "wolves" on the other side of the door.

The ball ended without mishap at 1 a. m. But most of the girls disappeared into night clubs and didn't get home until dawn.

Inspectors' Convention

SUDBURY (CP) — Electrical inspectors from across Ontario are expected this week-end at the annual convention of the Ontario chapter of the International Association of Electrical Inspectors.

The three-day convention will include a tour of the International Nickel Company smelter and refinery at Copper Cliff and a banquet Saturday night.
